INVITATION TO BID

NOTICE TO BIDDERS — Bids are requested on two grain elevators formerly utilized by L&L Farmers Elevator Company of Lancaster and Lake Bronson, Minnesota.

The elevators are situated in Lancaster, Minnesota, and Lake Bronson, Minnesota, on property leased from the Soo Line Railroad Company.

Bids may be submitted in person or may be mailed, at bidder's risk, to Roger C. Malm, Attorney at Law, 217 South Birch Avenue, Hallock, Minnesota 56728. All sealed bids must be received prior to 9:30 a.m. April 5, 1983. If a party wishes to bid on only one of the two elevator properties, that elevator location should be stated on the bid envelope submitted. If a party wishes to bid on both elevator properties, two separate bid envelopes must be submitted with each envelope stating the elevator location.

Bids submitted as to the Lake Bronson elevator facility shall be read at 10:00 a.m. April 5, 1983. Bidders submitting written bids shall be allowed to orally raise their bid after the written bids have been read.

Bids as submitted as to the Lancaster elevator facility shall be read at 1:30 p.m. April 5, 1983. Bidders submitting written bids shall be allowed to orally raise their bids after the written bids have been read.

Bids submitted must include a statement of the intended purpose in the use of the elevator properties, to allow the owner to determine the Soo Line Railroad Company agreement in transfer of leases.

After bidders have made their highest bid, owner shall be allowed 48 hours within which said bids may be accepted or rejected. During the 48-hour period, the high bid submitted shall be irrevocable and this bidder shall submit as part of the bid the sum of $2500 in certified funds payable to Karlstad State Bank. If the bid is rejected, the $2500 submitted with the bid shall be returned. If the bid is accepted, the $2500 shall be applied towards the purchase price and upon acceptance of the bid, the bidder shall deposit with the owner or owner's agent 10% of the purchase price.

The balance of the purchase price shall be for cash only with closing to take place not more than 30 days from the acceptance of the bid. failure on the part of the bidder to comply shall be grounds of cancellation of the sale, however, all monies paid prior to the failure may, in the discretion of the owner, be retained, in the event the owner is unable to close the sale, all earnest and deposit monies shall be returned to bidder and all agreements shall be rescinded.

Further details regarding this sale may be obtained by contacting Roger C. Malm, Brink, Sobolik, Severson and Vroom, P.A., 217 South Birch, Hallock, Minnesota 56728, telephone (218) 843-3686 or David H. Luhman, Executive Vice President, Karlstad State Bank, Karlstad, Minnesota 56732, telephone (218) 436-2151.

GAINING CONFIDENCE necessary to master a backward somersault is easier with a little individual instruction, and Gayle Waale, elementary physical education instructor for Marshall county central schools, seems to find a little time for each of her students. She says that she tries to provide opportunities for each child to be successful, to help them in development of a good self image and positive attitude toward life. Mrs. Waale is the school's nominee for Minnesota teacher of the year.

Career Month For Teaching Noted In April

April is teaching career month (TCM) in Minnesota, the 25th annual observance.

The desperation in the education community during the past decade, says President Donald C. Hill of the sponsoring Minnesota Education association (MEA), is intensified by education budget cuts at the federal and state levels.

"So this April isn't much different from others," Hill says, "except that the problems are more desperate. We predicted years ago that, given the current approach to education, we would continue to experience severe financial difficulties that impinge on the quality of education.

"Anyone who listens to the news or reads newspapers is well aware that we were not crying wolf."

Another aspect of the problems the education community faces, Hill continues, is the impending shortages of teachers, despite overall declining enrollment, "which makes teaching career month even more pertinent." Purpose of TCM is to focus public attention on the need for retaining quality teachers in the profession.

"And today," Hill asserts, "that's more difficult than ever. We must do everything possible to assure that Minnesota maintains its high quality of education, preschool through post-secondary.

"This effort is a difficult and sensitive undertaking that requires the best the teaching profession can provide. It is of critical importance to continue quality education, especially now."

Movie Planned At Life-Line

"The Cross and the Switchblade" will be the movie showing at the Life-Line Christian center, Newfolden, on Saturday at 8 p.m.

The movie is based on the life of David Wikerson and his work with urban gangs in New York. Everyone is welcome to attend and lunch will be served.

Cooperation In School Districts Favored By CA

Cooperation between neighboring school districts is a perferred alternative to the closing of schools because of budget problems, according to a recent survey of Minnesota communicating for agriculture (CA) members.

CA, a nonprofit, nonpartisan rural avocacy organization for farmers, ranchers and rural business people, recently polled its Minnesota members and posed the question, "If your local school faced closure due to budget shortfalls, would you favor consolidation, cooperation with a neighboring district or the raising of additional funds?"

Fifty-eight per cent said they would choose cooperation (such as pairing, the sharing of specific services, or sharing administrators and-or other personnel), 26 per cent would rather raise the necessary funds (by increasing taxes) while 16 per cent would opt for consolidation with another district.

A Plainview member, for example, said he would like to see "sharing administrative responsibilities" and "sharing subjects where class size would normally be too small for one school."

In their comments, several respondents said they would prefer to avoid consolidation so as to keep class sizes small,er transportation distances shorter and community spirit intact.

"I grew up in a country school, and I say you have much better chances to learn from small schools," said a Tyler resident. "You get more help from teachers and classmates." Another member said, "We do not favor. . . having children going still farther from home, riding buses for hours."

Closing of schools "not only hurts the children but also the town and the businesses and rural activities shared by all," according to a Hartland CA member.

However, some said they feel that schools must be large enough to support adequate curriculums. "The world keeps getting more technical and it will take a well-rounded education," said a Kiestre resident.

A Morton member whose school (in nearby Mogan) is consolidating with that in Franklin said, "If that doesn't work, I'm in favor of raising funds". However, a Verndale resident whose school is in a cooperative arrangement with Bertha said, "Fund raising is all right, but the people of this community help with so many things, it may be asking more than they can bear."

Eighty-nine per cent of those who answered the survey said they favor the use of community volunteers in the classroom.

Seventy-eight per cent said they favor the use of advanced technology (such as interactive television and computers) in order to provide certain subjects where class sizes would oridinarily be too small to support a variety of offerings.

In the most unanimous answer on the survey, 100 per cent of the respondents said they feel it is good for young people to be given community leadership opportunities.

On the other hand, there was an almost even split (50.5 per cent no; 49.5 per cent year) in the answers to the question, "Do you feel your local school's daily or weekly schedule could be more flexible?".

Eighty-eight per cent of the respondents said they feel people living in urban areas do not have an adequate understanding of the rural economy. Eighty-four per cent think urbanites lack an adequate understanding of the rural way of life.

Agriculture is a part of the general curriculum in the schools of 81 per cent of the people who answered the survey. Local history, customs and geography are studied in the local schools of 71 per cent of the respondents.

Sixty-three per cent of the respondents presently have children attending schools, with the majority in the upper grades.

Questioned about the frequency with which they visit their local schools (other than for sporting events, parent-teacher conferences, etc.) 49 per cent said once per year or less, 29 per cent said between two and three times annually, seven per cent said between four and five times each year, and 15 per cent said more than five times annually.

Communicating for agriculture bases its activities on member-approved resolutions which are formulated as a result of frequent surveys on a variety of issues. CA is currently cooperating with Southwest State University in a national effort to "Put The Rural Back Into Rural Education" in which local school districts adopt policies which develop community education and spirit.

FANCY THAT!

The Value Of Postage Stamps

Two postage stamps may appear to be alike and yet, to the practiced eye of the philatelist, entirely different. That difference could spell dollars in value. It's all in the perforations. Identical appearing stamps can vary from as few as seven "perfs" to as many as 17. Some with unusual perforations have become valuable collector's items.

Even though these stamps have a face value of only 20¢, they have a catalog value of $1,600.

Most of today's postage stamps (and those of yesteryear as well) are either square or rectangular in shape. Some postage stamps have been issued only to add "philatelic charm" and colorful variety but experienced collectors dismiss them as postage stamps.

Watermark differences in stamps can add to their value. Watermarks can be detected by an experienced eye and a watermark detector. If you'd like to know more about this fascinating hobby and get a starter stamp kit, send $1.25 to Collect, American Stamp Dealers' Association, Five Dakota Drive, Lake Success, NY 11042.

Information On '83 Sign-Up Given By ASC

Leo Orpen, chairman of the Marshall county ASC committee, recently released sign up information on the 1983 wheat and feed grain programs in Marshall county.

Orpen stated that there are 435,638 acres of wheat base in Marshall county and that a total of 432,461 acres are enrolled in either the 20 per cent set aside program or the PIK program. This represents a base acreage participation of 99.3 per cent which would be the largest percentage ever enrolled in a program in Marshall county.

No wheat bids were opened or accepted for whole base bids as the sign up in the PIK program was over 45 per cent of the total county base. USDA determined that counties with over a 45 per cent sign up would not be allowed to accept bids.

Marshall county did open and accept whole base bids on corn as the sign up for corn under the PIK program did not equal 45 per cent of the county's 18,746 acre corn base. A total of 880 acres of corn were accepted from 28 farms for whole base bids.

110 Women Attend Town, Country Forum

One hundred and ten women participated in the town and country women's forum held in Crookston on Saturday, March 19.

Event was sponsored by the combined efforts of the agricultural extension service, Minnesota women for agriculture and the University of Minnesota, Crookston.

Forum registration began at 8:45 a.m. followed by a welcome by Stan Sahlstrom, provost at the University of Minnesota, Crookston. Participants then selected three workshops including such topics as: building self-esteem, legal rights of women, retirement and estate planning, basic and advanced marketing, and the future of the farm home computer.

Sisters Kay O'Neil and Michelle Meyer from Hutchinson, were keynote speakers at the noon luncheon. "People Growing: Hugs, Smiles, Touches and Caring Assertions" was the title of their talk which suggested that people should compliment themselves and others in their homes three times a day.

Goals of the forum, based on others done in the state, were to explore the roles of women concerning management decision making processes, leadership and other personal and family concerns.

The first use of a suggestion system to improve productivity was by the Yale and Towne Manufacturing Company in Stamford, Conn., in 1880, according to a publication of the U.S. Department of Labor.

Homes Needed For Students From France

Homes are needed for French teenagers who will arrive at the Minneapolis-St. Paul international airport on July 2 for a four-week visit in Minnesota communities. Students will be coming from all parts of France with the common desire to learn more of the American way of life.

All families are eligible to apply for this program. Participation involves sharing your home with a French student aged 13 to 16 for a period of four weeks between July 1 and July 30.

For more information on this exchange program, write to Allen and Clare Hibbard, 4043 Birch Knoll Drive, St. Paul, MN 55110.

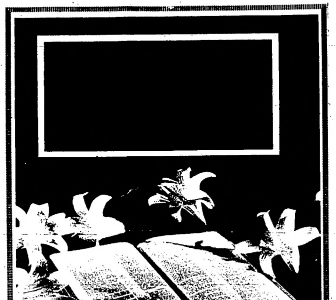
"A Day of Celebration to Our Risen Lord"



It is not a pretty picture

The crosses in the shadows were real. Three hung there and died in agony . . . two for their own wrongdoing . . . one for yours.

That chapter to which the Book lies open — it tells of the scandal . . . the indignity . . . the injustice — and the pain.

The lilies? . . . symbols of what men call Easter Day! When the women found the tomb empty . . . and were afraid to believe He was risen . . .

IT is not a pretty picture. IT is the stark reminder of man's distrust of God . . . and God's love of man.

And you'll let nothing keep you from worshipping your Lord when you stop thinking of IT as a pretty picture.

IT happened.

For you — IT happened.

A Modest Proposal

Viewpoint does make a difference in how a person considers what is necessary and what is not. Consider this letter written to an administrator at the University of Kansas by Professor Charles Hallenbeck, an active member of the National Federation of the Blind:

In his recent memorandum, executive vice chancellor Cob outlined the current difficulty in meeting utility costs, and invited that suggestions for further reductions of service be directed to you.

With the removal of air conditioning except for priority areas, such as animal facilities and computers and with the elimination of telephones from unnecessary locations, such as the offices of graduate teaching assistants and many faculty, it is not easy to identify further reductions which will contribute to recovering the anticipated $1,000,000 shortfall.

However, in my experience, there is an obvious solution which I calculate would go more than half way toward meeting that goal. It is the removal of light bulbs from all classrooms, corridors and offices at the university. It has been my experience that these devices serve no useful purpose whatsoever, and in fact, only aggravate the need for heat removal which is bad enough without light bulbs pouring their excess energy into the thermal environment.

This may place some visually dependent members of the university community at a slight disadvantage until they have achieved some accommodation to the situation. But I can assure you that I and my colleagues in the Douglas county chapter of the National Federation of the Blind of Kansas will be ready and willing to conduct "orientation and mobility" seminars, provide cane-travel training, instruction in the reading and writing of braille, and similar non-energy dependent alternative techniques to the costly and wasteful ones now in general use.

I am confident that we could reach agreement on terms for such training seminars which would be agreeable to our group as well as to the university, and would still constitute a net gain for the university and take us all a step closer to true energy independence in the 1980s.

I hope you will find the above suggestion constructive and in keeping with the new policies of conservation and sound budgeting which are now in vogue on our campus. Thank you for giving this suggestion your consideration.

Judge Salaries

Following editorial is from the Minneapolis Star and Tribune:

When a citizen goes to court, almost nothing is as important as a competent and fair judge. But a society dedicated to justice must be willing to pay for it. For too many years, Minnesota's judges have been underpaid. Their salaries haven't kept pace with inflation and compare unfavorably with the salaries of their private-sector peers. The Minnesota Bar Association argues that judges deserve a substantial pay raise. The Legislature should grant one.

Minnesota's judges haven't received a raise since 1980. District and county judges make $48,000. A state supreme court justice earns $56,000; the chief justice, $59,000. Those figures may seem generous, but they are lower than the salaries of federal judges and county attorneys and below the average for lawyers in private practice. Judges' salaries have increased at a lower rate than those of nurses, professors and other professional workers. Most judges could double their incomes by quitting and selling their skills elsewhere.

The bar association's report offers some troubling comparisons: In 1971, no lawyer employed by Hennepin County received a higher salary than district judges. But by 1982, 52 per cent of the lawyers employed by the county earned more than district judges. A federal district judge's law clerk, recently out of law school and without any experience in private practice, receives a starting salary of $42,000. But a Minnesota trial court judge with years of experience in private practice and on the bench receives just $6,000 more. Most vivid is the difference between the earnings of trial court judges and Midwestern attorneys with 16 to 20 years experience in private practice: In 1983, the judges earned $48,000; the lawyers, on average, earned more than $100,000.

Few would argue that judicial salaries should match the top of the private-sector scale. Public service requires personal sacrifice. But the pay inequity is too great. Chief Justice Douglas Amdahl says that the salary gap has caused nearly 10 trial judges to resign. It has probably deterred qualified lawyers from seeking judicial appointments. At a time when judges' caseloads are growing, the wage gap has surely affected judges' morale.

Minnesota judges deserve more money. The bar association recommends $67,500 for district and county judges; $70,000 for judges in the soon-to-be-created intermediate court of appeals; $72,500 for associate supreme court justices and $75,000 for the chief justice. The bar's proposal would cost the state an additional $9 million in the next two years (in a budget of about $9 billion for the biennium). State Sen. Donald Moe, DFL-St. Paul, and Rep. Wayne Simoneau, DFL-Fridley, are chief sponsors of bills calling for a pay increase.

Good pay alone does not assure judicial quality. But a pay increase would likely retain some competent judges who would otherwise be compelled to quit. It would also encourage good lawyers to apply for judicial appointments and inject more competition into judicial elections. The Legislature should make clear that judges are among Minnesota's most highly valued public servants.

May Pay To Conform

Following editorial is from the St. Cloud Daily Times:

To those of us who live in the city and buy our dairy products in the supermarket, milk is probably just milk. We are more concerned whether it's 2-per cent, whole or skimmed. But to farmers, there are two major types of milk sold in bulk — Grade A and Grade B.

As you might imagine by the lettering system, Grade A milk is the most pure and used almost exclusively for drinking, and that's where our 2-per cent, whole and skimmed milk comes from. The Grade B milk can be used for drinking too, but is a manufacturing-grade milk most commonly made into cheese or butter.

All this is very interesting and informative but what does it have to do with anything? Not much, except that the state of Minnesota has never adopted the U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) standards for Grade B milk. Other Mid-western states have adopted the USDA standards and last month the director of New York milk control wouldn't allow Minnesota milk to be shipped to Buffalo, N.Y.

Because Minnesota Grade B milk isn't covered by USDA standards doesn't mean there is anything wrong with our Grade B milk, it just means Minnesota farmers don't have to comply with some federal requirements such as storing Grade B in bulk tanks instead of milk cans. And the main reason the Minnesota Legislature hasn't required Grade B to conform was to save farmers the expense of building separate milk houses and bulk tanks.

Many farmers, of course, have already built the milk houses and bulk tanks. In fact, according to the state Department of Agriculture, of the 14,898 dairy farmers in Minnesota who produce Grade B milk only about 3,000 still use the cans. So it's not a matter of unsuspecting New Yorkers being subjected to possible poisoning. It's a matter of doing things the way they are expected to be done. Forcing the remaining 3,000 dairy farmers who use cans to build milk houses and install builk tanks would not guarantee New Yorkers safer milk, it would just conform Minnesota Grade B to that of other states.

Frankly, we see this whole issue as a bit ridiculous. One thing makes it important. If there is a perception that Minnesota Grade B milk is not up to standards Minnesota farmers could lose their competitive edge. So while it may be ridiculous, it's probably best for the Minnesota Legislature to write a bill adopting the federal standards for Grade B milk.

Then the New York milk control director can breathe a gigantic sigh of relief, knowing the federal bureaucracy is watching over the people of Buffalo, and Minnesota farmers can continue to sell the same quality Grade B milk they have always sold.

Borrowed Nonsense:

Teacher (trying to unfasten the coat for a kindergarten youngster): "Did your mommy hood this coat for you?"

Youngster: "No ma'am, she bought it."

Tourist: "Say, Rube, what's the speed limit through this little burg?"

Native: "We don't have any mister. You city folks can't go through here fast enough to suit us."

CAPITOL COMMENTARY

by LeRoy Stumpf

State Senator — District I

A special farm crisis commission appointed by Governor Rudy Perpich recently completed an important study of the severe financial problems facing our state's farming community. The commission recommended several steps that the legislature could take, both immediately and in the long-term, to help ease those problems.

The 11-member commission was made up of both farmers and lending officials, and it was headed by our district's former state senator, Marv Hanson. The members spent two weeks reviewing reports and touring the state to hear firsthand from farmers, rural lenders and agricultural supply dealers.

The commission concluded that immediate emergency action is needed to prevent the financial failure of a significant number of Minnesota farms and to restore confidence and predictability to farm finances.

Specifically, the commission found that there are a growing number of foreclosures, bankruptcies, farm sales and judgments issued against Minnesota farmers. While farm foreclosure rates in Minnesota are still relatively low, they are two to five times higher than foreclosure rates in the mid-1970's.

Depressed commodity prices, a decrease in the value of U.S. agricultural exports, a significant erosion in the equity value of farmland and equipment and excessively high interest rates all were cited by the commission as contributing to the farm depression. The combined effort of lower land prices and inflation resulted in a decline in the real value of Minnesota farmland of approximately 15 per cent, just during the one-year period between July, 1981 and July, 1982.

As a result of the financial turmoil, a significant number of Minnesota farmers still are uncertain as to whether or not they will be able to get operating capital for the 1983 planting season, according to the commission's report.

The commission called on the legislature to take several steps immediately to help farmers this year. These recommendations include:

+ Hiring emergency clerks within the Farmers Home adminstration to handle the current backlog of farm loan requests and renewals before the spring planting season.

+ Establishing an office of state farm finance ombudsman to ensure that farmers and lenders throughout the state receive financial advice and counsel.

+ Enacting a state-guaranteed farm operating loan program that would provide guarantees covering 80 to 90 per cent of losses incurred, in those situations where credit could not be obtained without the guarantee.

+ Setting up a state guarantee forebearance loan program available to farmers whose real estate mortgage or contract-for-deed loans are in default.

The commission urged the legislature to implement these four proposals by April 15. If they are not implemented, and the farm income situation continues to deteriorate, then the commission called for a real estate foreclosure moratorium to be enacted next fall.

The long-term solution to our state's depressed farm economy depends on higher commodity prices. However, the commission found that the legislature could help promote long-term recovery by taking the following steps:

+ Expanding and changing the adult farm management program so that more farmers can participate.

+ Avoiding any changes in agricultural credit or homestead credit tax law that would place an additional economic burden on farmers.

+ Passing a state law that would provide a 60-day period of written notice in all cases of farm real estate mortgage defaults or foreclosures and judgments.

+ Modifying farm real estate foreclosure procedures so that a mortgage will be reinstated if the payment in default, and subsequent payments due during the period of redemption, are paid to the mortgagee prior to the expiration of the redemption period.

I know that the statistics in the commission's report could not describe the hardships that some of you are experiencing as you try to hold on to your farms. I will study all of the commission's recommendations carefully during the coming days, and I will work hard to ensure that the legislature addresses the critical problems facing Minnesota farms during this session.

I would like to hear from you about the commission's report and other issues of concern. Please write to me at my office (306 Capitol Building, St. Paul, Minnesota, 55155) or phone (612) 296-8660.

There's a word to describe farmers who carry All-Risk Insurance.

They're secure because they know All-Risk Insurance not only protects their farm income against total losses from natural disasters, it works to minimize your losses as well.

And that's good risk management. Because when you're protected against major losses, your basic net worth is more secure. And, when borrowing money, that's a more important consideration today than ever before.

All-Risk premiums are 100% tax deductible, too. And by marketing several insurance programs, PCA can also provide the flexibility farmers require.

All-Risk Insurance.

It's like a security blanket for farmers. Except it's worth a lot more. Call your local PCA for more information.

Savory, Flavory Gumbo For Two

"Jambalaya, a piece of pie and a filet gumbo" have been Southern favorites, honored in both song and legend. This super supper soup is a canned pasta in tomato sauce which gives it extra body and flavor. Add a bit of chicken and okra and the Southern accent comes forth.

This version of the famous gumbo will make just enough for two people. It avoids having leftovers that often go to waste. It can be ready in just minutes using off the shelf convenience foods.

SOUTHERN STYLE MACARONI GUMBO

- ¼ cup chopped onion
- ¼ cup chopped celery
- ¼ cup sliced carrots
- ¼ cup chopped fresh or drained canned tomatoes
- 1 tablespoon butter or margarine
- ¼ teaspoon salt
- 1 cup water
- 1 can (7½ oz.) Chef Boy-ar-dee® Beefaroni (macaroni with beef in tomato sauce)
- ½ cup chopped leftover chicken or shrimp
- ¼ cup defrosted frozen okra or drained canned okra
- 2 tablespoons parsley
- dash hot pepper sauce

In 2 quart sauce pan, sauté onion, celery, carrots and tomatoes in butter. Add salt and water. Cover, simmer for 10 minutes. Add Beefaroni®, cover and simmer for 10 more minutes. Add chicken or shrimp, okra, parsley and pepper sauce; simmer for 10 minutes. One serving for two, or two servings for one.

COOKING CORNER

Ideas from Betty Crocker's Working Woman's Cookbook

Recipes for quickly prepared, tasty dishes are treasured by working women everywhere — and, many point out, every woman is a working woman. As their numbers grow (there was a 2.9 percent increase in the number of women working outside their homes in just the last year), America's nearly 50 million working women like to know that they're not skimping on appetizing meals or important nutrition.

The new Working Woman's Cookbook from Betty Crocker will help them accomplish that goal. This 160-page illustrated volume offers quick-and-easy recipes and dishes that can be done ahead and refrigerated or frozen. There are loads of timesaving tips for menu planning, shopping and storage.

The book is from Random House. It's priced at $10.95 and is available at department and bookstores.

Vegetables and cheese... a tasty team for hot, satisfying sandwiches

Here's a sample do-ahead recipe:

HOT VEGETABLE SANDWICHES

- 6 unsliced whole wheat or white hamburger buns
- 1 1/2 cups shredded Swiss cheese (about 6 ounces)
- 1/4 cup mayonnaise or salad dressing
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 1/2 teaspoon dried basil leaves
- 2 small zucchini, thinly sliced (about 1 cup)
- 1 large tomato, chopped (about 1 cup)
- 1 medium onion, chopped (about 1/2 cup)
- 1 can (2 ounces) sliced ripe olives, drained

Cut thin slice from top of each bun; reserve. Remove center from each bun, leaving 1/4-inch wall. (Use removed bread for crumbs or stuffing.) Mix cheese, mayonnaise, salt and basil; spread about 1/4 cup in bottom of each bun. Mix zucchini, tomato, onion and olives; divide among buns. Top with reserved tops of buns. Wrap each sandwich in heavy-duty aluminum foil. Refrigerate no longer than 24 hours.

About 35 minutes before serving, heat wrapped Hot Vegetable Sandwiches on oven rack in 350° oven until hot and cheese is melted, about 30 minutes. 6 servings.

NOTE: The book also gives directions for making this recipe to serve immediately.

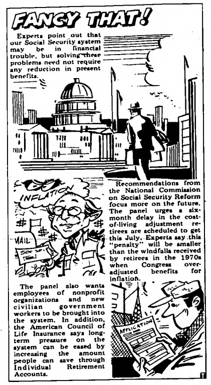
FANCY THAT!



Experts point out that our Social Security system may be in financial trouble, but solving these problems need not require any reduction in present benefits.

Recommendations from the National Commission on Social Security Reform focus more on the future. The panel urges a six-month delay in the cost-of-living adjustment retirees are scheduled to get this July. Experts say this "penalty" will be smaller than the windfalls received by retirees in the 1970s when Congress over-adjusted benefits for inflation.

The panel also wants employees of nonprofit organizations and new civilian government workers to be brought into the system. In addition, the American Council of Life Insurance says long-term pressure on the system can be eased by increasing the amount people can save through Individual Retirement Accounts.

BOOK DONATIONS for the sale to be held from noon to 9 p.m. Thursday, April 21, at Northwest regional library, began coming in slowly at first, but have picked up recently, assuring that a varied selection will be available. Money raised by the sale will be used to purchase magazine covers for the library. Among those placing used books in the donation box at the entrance of the library recently were Gerry Nelson, left, and Scott Broughton. Library director Barbara Jauquet notes that donations will be gladly accepted by the library at any time.

Daffodil Days Proclaimed For Cancer Society

Daffodil sales will be conducted by volunteers of the Pennington county American cancer society April 7-10 and those four days have been proclaimed "Daffodil Days" in Thief River Falls by Mayor Bob Carlson.

"There is great need for additional funds for cancer research, education and service and rehabilitation aids for cancer patients," Mayor Carlson said. "The American cancer society has innumerable vital cancer research projects and its volunteers provide important and life-saving education programs to our citizens.

"The society also provides needed services for cancer patients and their families and supports rehabilitation programs for recovering patients," the mayor added.

"Because of advances in cancer treatment and prevention, the American cancer society's official symbol of hope is the daffodil — first flower of spring."

In proclaiming the daffodil days observance, Mayor Carlson urged all residents of the community to join the volunteers of the cancer society in aiding cancer research and education through purchase and display of daffodils.

The flowers may be ordered in bouquets of 10 by businesses, restaurants, hospitals or individuals and make colorful gifts for employees, family members, occupants of nursing homes or other friends.

According to chairman Arnt Aune, the flowers will once again be delivered to Thief River Falls by the "99's", an organization of women pilots. "Last year these women flew 14,340 miles, landed at 56 airports and donated the $6,719 cost of gas and plane rental to deliver more than half a million daffodils," Aune said.

Aune can be contacted for orders at 681-4601. Anyone needing more information or willing to volunteer for helping in this special event is also encouraged to call.

State Farmland Values On Decline

Value of Minnesota farmland dropped 10 per cent from 1981 during 1982 to a statewide average of $1,170 per acre, according to the Minnesota crop and livestock reporting service of the U.S. department of agriculture.

Farmland values in northwest Minnesota fell from $813 per acre in 1981 to $748 in 1982. The east central part of the state showed the biggest drop in value, a loss of 14 per cent from $679 to $584. The southeast was next with a 12 per cent drop from $1,709 to $1,504. Although they had the greatest decline in 1982, those two areas of the state had the smallest percentage increase in 1979 and 1980.

The cash grain districts of western Minnesota showed drops of eight to 10 per cent. In dollar terms, the southwest district again led the state in average value of an acre of farmland at $1,875 per acre. A year earlier, however, the southwest averaged $2,083.

According to the University of Minnesota's annual land value survey, farmland values across all of the state dropped sharply last year. The study indicated that one-third of all farmland sales in 1982 were by farmers who retired. Second most frequent reason given was to reduce the size of the farmer's operation, a reason most often cited in the southeast and southwest.

Nine Township Boards Change After Election

Township election results compiled by the Pennington county auditor's office reveal that few changes resulted to most township boards. Out of 21 townships holding elections for treasurer (two-year term) and one supervisor (three-year term), seven townships elected new officers, and two others recorded internal changes resulting from reorganization of existing officers.

Townships electing new officers included the following: Black River township elected Mark Naplin, treasurer, replacing Douglas Steiger, and reelected supervisor Bryan Steiger. Goodridge township elected Gerald Olson treasurer, replacing Ernest Race, and reelected Jerome Mutnansky supervisor. Mayfield township elected Dennis Wilde supervisor, replacing Frank Nelson, and reelected treasurer Glen Osbjornson, Numedal township elected Jeanne Bach treasurer, replacing Ralph Berg, and reelected supervisor (chairman) Leonard Waswick.

River Falls, township elected two new people, with Jerry Hasnedl replacing David Stroh as supervisor (chairman, and Mrs. Dale (Marjorie) Carlson replacing Dennis Wilkens as treasurer. In Smiley township Phyllis Koropatnicki replaced Jean Bruggeman as treausrer, and Lyle Bjorge was reelected supervisor and chairman. Star township elected Danny Johnson supervisor, replacing Leonard Johnson, and reelectd Norman Adams treasurer. Star township's board of supervisors named Robert Parnow as chairman, replacing Chester Solberg who remains in a supervisor position.

Townships which had only internal rearrangement of their boards included Bray, which reelected supervisor Curtis Swanson and treasurer Arlo Scholin. The board then named William Sylvester to replace Swanson as chairman. Cloverleaf township reelected supervisor Dale Svendsgaard and treasurer Roger Hruby. The board then named Kenneth Sanders to replace Svendsgaard as chairman.

All other township boards remained essentially unchanged, with Deer Park reelecting treasurer Malcolm Stucy and supervisor Milan Rustan; Hockory reelecting treasurer Dwight Carlson and supervisor Ernest Mostrom; Highlanding reelecting treasurer Lynn Vad and supervisor Richard

Filings Open Here Today For School Board

Filings for Thief River Falls board of education officially open today and will remain open through Tuesday, April 26, according to Arnt Aune, clerk of School District 564.

Terms of Lawrence McDowell, Myrle Carlson and Greg Pribula expire this year and all have indicated they intend to file for reelection. Other board members are Harry Sjulson, Archie Cameron, Harlan (Hank) Hallstrom and Aune. Members will be elected for three-year terms at the annual election to be conducted Monday, May 16.

Sparby Named To National Ag Committee

Speaker of the Minnesota House of Representatives Harry A. Sieben has appointed State Representative Wally Sparby, District 1-B, to a two-year term on the agriculture, food policy and nutrition committee of the National Council of State Legislatures.

Sieben said, "I chose Rep. Sparby for this important committee because of his strong commitment to agriculture in our state and his interest in state and federal policies affecting farmers."

This committee is one of the 10 committees of a state-federal assembly in the council of state legislatures. Committees are set up to allow state legislatures to speak with a unified voice in public policies which affect both state and federal governments.

Sparby said, "I am pleased to be appointed to this committee, because it deals with agricultural exports, farm credits, the Farmers Home administration, farm prices, costs and price supports, foreign ownership of farmlands, the farm economy and other issues which concern the people of my district as well as other rural Minnesota districts and the whole country.

"I believe, too, that serving on this committee will mean that I'll get first hand knowledge of agriculture issues in other parts of the country, and will help me judge Minnesota agricultural policies better, the Thief River Falls legislator said.

Tierney Wins Toastmaster's Speech Contest

Carletta Tierney, Thief River Falls, was selected as the area winner at a recent Toastmaster's speech contest held in Crookston. Six contestants from Bemidji, Thief River Falls, Crookston and Grand Forks, ND, competed.

Tierney now advances to district competition in Bismarck, ND, on April 23. Her speech is entitled "To Float or Not to Float."

Prenatal Class Is Offered At NW Hospital

Five-week series of prenatal education classes will be offered at Northwestern hospital chapel starting at 7 p.m. Tuesday, April 12, and Thursday, April 14. Instructor is Evadell Tangquist, R.N.

These classes are a community service of Northwestern hospital and the Thief River Falls area vocational technical institute.

Topics which will be discussed the first week include signs and symptoms of pregnancy, discussion on fetal development, and prenatal nutrition.

In the second week, warning signals during pregnancy, prenatal exercises, personal care in pregnancy, and breast and bottle feeding will be discussed.

There will be a lecture and discussion on labor and birth, Cesarean birth, and relazation and breathing the third week.

Week four will include a tour of the labor and delivery area, post partum care and birth control.

Final session will be on infant safety, care for the newborn, infant CPR, and parenting.

Class size is limited so students should pre-register by calling the office of patient education, Northwestern hospital, 681-4240, extension 359.

30 YEARS OF SERVICE has been logged by Gay Warnecke at the LP gas plant now owned and operated by Land O'Lakes, Inc., in Thief River Falls. The plant was previously owned by Consumers Cooperative association and is located on the north edge of Thief River Falls, just east of highway 32. Warnecke pioneered the bulk delivery service here and has participated in expansion of the operation to now include branch plants in two other communities. He is an avid sportsman and for many years was a mainstay in the Pennington county sportsmen club. He anticipates devoting a good deal of his retirement time to hunting and fishing pursuits.

Used Uniforms Being Sought

District scouting program is seeking used uniforms on a continuous basis. Uniforms are needed for scout leaders, boy scouts or cub scouts.

Those having either complete or parts of uniforms are asked to call Louise McLean, committee member of Voyageur Trails at 681-1937. Uniforms may also be brought to Trinity Lutheran church the first Tuesday of each month from 7:30 p.m. to 9:30 p.m.

The 922-square mile drainage area of the Snake river includes parts of Marshall, Polk and Pennington counties.

Mediation In Divorce Topic Thursday Night

Divorce mediation, a new program offered through Lutheran Social Services of North Dakota, will be explained by mediator Bonnie Thompson at the April meeting of the Northwest Family Rights association Thursday at 7:30 p.m. at the Thief River Falls city auditorium meeting room.

The mediation program is seen as "a non-adversarial method of marriage dissolution" when it is agreed that the marriage cannot successfully continue. Goals of the program are to restructure the family so that parenting is a cooperative venture, find solutions to replace destructive legal battles, help couples let go of the past and direct energies toward independent futures and to mutually negotiate an agreement acceptable to both parties.

The mediator will not take sides on issues, assume the role of lawyer, serve as a marriage counselor, therapist or financial advisor. The mediator will teach communication and negotiating skills, assure that negotiating is in a win-win context, keep the parties talking until issues are resolved, remain neutral and allow settlement to belong to the couple and assist in achieving an acceptable agreement.

Divorce mediation, new in this area of the country, has existed for some time in metropolitan areas.

Early Frost Cost St. Hilaire Elevator 1982 Profit

Don Loeslie, National Wheat Growers Association president, speaks at St. Hilaire Elevator annual meeting.

What elevator manager Bob Miller referred to as "two lousy hours of frost" on August 26th cost the St. Hilaire Cooperative elevator an estimated $500,000 of business and resulted in a $103,467 loss in the buckwheat portion of the operation. Miller summarized the situation in his report to the annual meeting of the cooperative Thursday at the national guard armory in Thief River Falls. About 500 people were in attendance.

Guest speaker at the meeting was Don Loeslie of Warren, president of the National Association of Wheat Growers. Robert Wald of rural Thief River Falls was reelected to a three-year term on the board by acclamation and the annual report was reviewed by office manager Marshall Vagle. Wald was reelected to his third three-year term.

Officers reelected at a reorganization of the board following the annual meeting include Glenn Haugen, rural Red Lake Falls, president; Arlo Scholin, rural Thief River Falls, vice president; Ronald Anderson, rural Red Lake Falls, secretary-tresurer; Don Mosbeck, rural Red Lake Falls, and Wald, directors.

Operations of the elevator, which annually handles one of the largest volumes of grain in northwestern Minnesota, showed the effect of poor crop production in the area in 1982. Miller pointed out that the total volume of 9,671,660 bushels of new grain received was down substantially from the record of about 12.5 million bushels established in 1981.

"A lot of the farmers weren't able to prepare their ground for planting the previous fall because of the wet condition," Miller pointed out. "Some weren't able to get much of any crop planted at all and others got the crop in but weren't able to harvest it. All in all, it just wasn't a good year."

The elevator showed gross

Vatthauer And Schmitke Marriage Vows Spoken

Renate Vatthauer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Vatthauer, Plummer, and Greg Schmitke, son of Mr. and Mrs. Irvin Schmitke of this city, exchanged marriage vows on Saturday, December 4, at 2:30 p.m., at the Evangelical Free church in this city.

Rev. Curtis Anderson officiated at the double ring ceremony with Rev. Eugene Enderlien, a friend of the couple, giving the invocation and devotional meditation. Mrs. Joel Carlson was the organist and Becky Kangas, the pianist. Soloists were Deb Christopherson, Darwin Anderson of Fosston, and the bride, who sang a contemporary wedding song to the groom.

Attending the bride were her sister, Mrs. David Vigstol, Phoenix, Ariz., as personal attendant; Tammi Dahl, Fargo, N.D., as matron of honor; Dawn Machovsky, Minneapolis, the groom's sister, Kristi Schmitke of this city, Deb Rafteseth and Lila Johnson, Grand Forks, N.D.

Alan Nagel, Eden Prairie, was best man. Groomsmen were Mark Schmitke, Minneapolis, brother of the groom; Neilden Vatthauer, Rochester, brother of the bride; Randy Moe, Moorhead, and Rick Wold, a cousin of the groom. Serving as ushers were Edlyn Vatthauer, Fargo, brother of the bride; Vern Hall, Jr., St. Paul, cousin of the groom; Chuck White and Don Balmer.

Honor guests were Mrs. Agnes Vatthauer, grandmother of the bride, and Mr. and Mrs. Carl Aune, grandparents of the groom.

The groom's uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Rueben Wold, were host and hostess at the reception that followed. Laurie Peterson, Pine City, registered the guests, and Mr. and Mrs. Craig Benson, Moorhead, were at the punch bowl.

The wedding cake, made by Jeanette Reierson, Holt, was cut and served by Jan Hanson, Newfolden, and Doris Hall, St. Paul, an aunt of the groom. Kristi Lindstrom and Kari Brekkestran served the kransekake, the traditional Scandinavian wedding cake; and Loreen Hanson and Millie Horien, Holt, aunt of the groom, were at the coffee service.

Waitresses were Val Christensen, cousin of the bride; Heidi and Yvette Schmitke of Virginia, and Janine Halvorson, cousins of the groom; Andrea Hanson and Joy Enderlien, Minneapolis. Assisting in the kitchen were Dorothy Trontvet, Clarise Trontvet, Anna Marie Hestad, Elna Hanson, and Laura Erickson. Flower attendants were Dora Brekkestran and Chris Mathson. At the gift table were Robbin Thompson, city and Vrenda Brengston, Mayville, N.D.

Anorexia Nervosa Workshop Set By District I MNA

Anorexia Nervosa will be studied at the continuing education workshop for nurses scheduled for Thursday, April 14, at Crookston at Northland Lodge, the former Best Western. The workshop is being sponsored by Riverview hospital, Crookston and District I, Minnesota Nurses association (MNA) with Lou Nelson, RN, as program coordinator.

The workshop, which offers two contact hours, will include definition of anorexia nervosa and bulemia; description of those at risk, symptoms, course of illnesses, medical aspects, psychosocial aspects, family issues, treatment approaches, and the videotape, "A Patient's perspective of anorexia nervosa."

Leading the workshop will be Judith Flynn, RN, BSN, Human services coordinator at Riverview hospital, Clinical instructor in psychiatry for the school of Medicine, University of North Dakota, and Psychiatric nurse consultant at Northwestern Apt. Inc.

The workshop is open to all registered nurses and licensed practical nurses. Registration and coffee will be at 7:00 p.m., at the meeting room by the pool. Workshop hours will be from 7:30 to 9:00 p.m. All District I Minnesota Nursing Association members, who are current with membership dues, may attend at no additional fee. Non-member registration fee is $5.00.

Pre-registration is needed to help assure adequate materials. For further information or pre-registration, call Mary McEnelly, Thief River Falls, 681-6565 or 681-4240, ext. 349; or Lou Nelson, Crookston, 218-281-2418.

If former members of District I wish to meet for a reunion no-host dinner prior to the workshop, interested persons are asked to contact Lou Nelson by April 10. With sufficient interest, arrangements will be planned with the Northland lodge.

Sons of Norway Business Meet Set for Wednesday

Regular business meeting of the Sons of Norway will be held Wednesday at 8:00 p.m., at the Eagles hall.

All members are encouraged to attend.

Cancer Society Has New Toll Free Number

Cancer information service (CIS), toll-free telephone for anyone needing information about cancer, has a new number, according to the American cancer society's Pennington unit public information chairman, Florence Froschheiser. The new number is 1-800-4-CANCER.

The new number was effective March 1, but calls to the former number will be routed through to the CIS office in Minneapolis for a year.

The new number will be the same throughout Minnesota, North Dakota and South Dakota, and the uniform number should eliminate confusion for people who live in border counties.

Calls will continue to be answered by trained volunteers at the CIS office housed at the headquarters of the American Cancer society, Minnesota division, in Minneapolis. These volunteers will answer, or find answers, for any questions or concerns about cancer.

1982 was a record-setting year for the cancer information service, which answered 7,088 calls from the three-state area (4,760 from Minnesota residents.) This service is co-sponsored by the American cancer society and the National cancer institute.

New CIS business cards with the new number may be ordered from the Minnesota Division office, 3316 W. 66th St., Minneapolis, MN. 55435, for health fairs, I Can Cope courses, etc.

Blood Pressure Screening Set

A free blood pressure screening will be conducted by the Northwest Seniors federation from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. on Wednesday, April 13, at the Medicine Shoppe in Thief River Falls. No appointment is necessary.

Photographic exhibit, "The Eye of Science: Seeing is the Beginning of Understanding," will be on display at the Bemidji state university library April 8 to 30.

Sponsored by the Hobson student union, the exhibit features over 40 color and black and white photographs illustrating how new technologies have extended the human eye's ability to see.

Collected from the works of scientists, NASA and other sources, the show brings together images of the once unseeable that have played a role in a number of recent scientific advances. Represented are several different techniques of image sensing including computer-enhanced and ultrasonic imaging, and time-lapse, X-ray photography.

Among the subjects are Dr. Harold Edgerton's famous stop-action "Milk Drop," a color density scan of a human skull, and the Voyager's picture of Saturn taken 32 million miles from Earth.

Exhibit will be on display throughout the 46th annual Minnesota state science fair and research paper program hosted by Bemidji state university April 14-16. The fair attracts 200 junior and senior high school students from around the state to exhibit projects and present papers.

"The Eye of Science" exhibit was produced and designed by the science museum of Minnesota, based on a concept and text created by J.C. Crimmins and company of New York.

Tour of the exhibition in northern Minnesota is made possible through the opportunities in science project of the science museum of Minnesota. The project is funded by the Blandin foundation in Grand Rapids and is a multi-year project to enhance science education in northern Minnesota schools.

More information concerning "The Eye of Science" exhibit can be obtained by contacting Linda Blanchard, Hobson Student Union, Bemidji State University, Bemidji, MN 56601 (218-755-3760). Questions on the science fair can be forwarded to Diane Morris, science department, Bemidji State University, Bemidji, MN 56601 (218-755-2920), or Dr. Adela Elwell (218-751-8632).

Cream of Broccoli Soup

1 (10 oz.) pkg. frozen chopped broccoli
3 tablespoons melted butter
3 tablespoons flour
2 tablespoons chopped onion
Dash of pepper
1 quart milk
One-third cup water
Dash of mace

Method: Cook broccoli according to package directions, and drain. In a pot, over heat, combine butter, onion, flour and seasonings. Blend in milk gradually and cook until thick, stirring constantly. Add broccoli and water. Cook until heated. Serves six.

The Josephsons live on the airport road. They have three children: Mrs. Linda Billie, catering manager at Best Western; Steven, who is employed at Northern Eagles Airway; and Matthew, at home and a ninth grader at Lincoln high school. Six grandchildren complete the family circle.

Mrs. Josephson, who is general manager at Best Western, enjoys all types of crafts, sewing and reading. She is especially fond of cooking and baking and during the time she was Worthy Matron of the Eastern Star, she assisted the members in assembling recipes and publishing "Stars in Your Kitchen" cook book. (Her recipe is in that book) Currently she is the Eastern Star's Grand representative of the State of Minnesota to the Province of Ontario, Canada.

Her husband is manager of the local airport.

List Speakers For Mission Meetings Here

Missionary conference at the Evangelical Covenant church in Thief River Falls gets underway Wednesday with five missionary speakers included in the program which concludes Sunday, April 11. Rev. Alban Douglas of Prairie Bible institute will be the main conference speaker.

Services are planned Wednesday, Thursday and Friday evenings with special sessions Saturday and Sunday and concluding service Sunday evening. Schedules for the 21st annual conference under the theme "The Unfinished Task" are available at the church.

Miss Mary Ann Ahlgren, missionary nurse to Zaire under the Evangelical Covenant church of America, will speak at the Thursday evening session. Since 1971 she has served at the 160-bed Karawa hospital, teaching general hygiene, pharmacology, French medical terminology and religion in the nursing school. She also supervises the pediatric ward and assists in the operating room. The Friday session will include slides and a question and answer period.

Speaking Thursday at 7 p.m. will be Jonathan Maraj who has been in mission work in India for 22 years. He was born in Trinidad to Hindu parents, converted to Christianity in 1954 and received his missionary training in Canada.

Mr. and Mrs. Don Ziemer will speak Friday at 7 p.m. Don was born in Hutchinson and his wife Immie in Winnipeg. Graduate of Hutchinson high school and the University of Manitoba, he has been assigned since 1972 to Papua, New Guinea with Wycliffe Bible translators.

Immie Ziemer graduated from Manitoba teachers college, taught elementary school in Winnipeg for five years and was also assigned to Papua, New Guinea with the Wycliffe organization with her husband in 1972. The Ziemers have three sons, Teddy, Trevor and Timmy.

Rev. Bradley Hill will speak at the children's hour to open the conference Wednesday at 8:20 p.m. and will also participate in the youth meeting Thursday at 7 p.m., general session Friday from 7:30 to 8 p.m. and deliver the message at the Sunday service at 8:30 a.m.

Rev. Hill and his wife Ruth were commissioned for missionary service in Zaire in 1972 and studied French for a year in Brussels, Belgium, before moving to Zaire. During their past three-year term they were located at Gbado where Rev. Hill has taught at the Bible school, assisted and counseled pastors of the area and engaged in theological education by extension.

Public participation in the mission conference is invited.

AVTI Slates Three April Adult Classes

Courses including motorcycle training, meteorology and balancing work and family will be offered in April by the Thief River Falls area vocational-technical institute (AVTI).

Fourteen-hour motorcycle traning course will meet on April 11, 12, 13 and 14 from 4 to 6 p.m. at the AVTI, room 114. On-bike instruction will be scheduled in groups at the first class session. Mike Lehrer is the instructor and tuition is $30 per person.

Fred Wagner, chief meteorologist and manager of a Wausau, WI weather service, will conduct a meteorology workshop at the AVTI on Tuesday, April 12. Workshop will run from 1 to 4 p.m. in room 116 and a fee of $6 will be charged. April 5 is the deadline for pre-registration.

"Balancing Work and Family. . . A Health and Wellness Perspective," a one-day workshop will be held Thursday, April 14 from 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. at the Best Western Inn, Thief River Falls. Fee of $35 includes coffee, rolls, materials and noon lunch. Pre-registration is required by April 7. This workshop meets the requirement for seven contact hours in continuing education for nurses.

Contact adult education, Thief River Falls AVTI at 681-5424 for more information or to pre-register.

Price Index On Farm Goods Falls 1 Per Cent

Mid-march index of prices received by Minnesota farmers increased two per cent to 129 during the month but was one per cent below a year ago, according to the Minnesota agricultural statistics service. Most commodities marked a price increase from last month with corn, other hay, cattle, calves, lambs and eggs showing the greatest percentage change. Dry beans and hogs revealed the largest percentage decline from last month. Most meat animals and corn were the only ones with prices above a year earlier.

The crops index increased four per cent to 115 during the month. This was two per cent below the index a year earlier. The mid-March prices and the changes from last month are: All wheat, $3.55 per bushel was up 14 cents from the revised February estimate; corn, $2.53, up 19 cents; oats, $1.39 down one cent; barley, $1.81, up three cents; soybeans, $5.50, up five cents; flaxseed, $4.67 up 12 cents.

Potatoes averaged $4.30 per hundredweight for all grades, up 10 cents. All hay was down $1 per ton to $70. Alfalfa hay at $75 was down $1 but other hay at $53 was up $4. All sunflowers at $8.30 per hundredweight remained unchanged. Dry edible beans were down 80 cents to $10.20 per hundredweight.

The meat animal index at 145 was two per cent below last month but two per cent above a year ago. All hogs at $50.50 per hundredwight were down $5.80 from a month earlier. Beef cattle averaged $51.30 per hundredweight, up $2.90. Calves were up $5 to $68.50 per hundredweight. Sheep brought $18.70, down 80 cents. Lambs were up $3.60 to $63.40 per hundredweight.

The dairy index at 148 remained unchanged from both last month and a year ago. The preliminary milk price at $13 per hundredweight was down seven cents from the revised February price.

The poultry and egg index at 98 was four per cent above last month but 12 per cent below a year ago. Turkeys were 32 cents per pound liveweight, up one cent from a month earlier. Table market eggs brought 44 cents per dozen for all grades in mid-March, up three cents from mid-February but 11 cents below a year earlier.

Milk Producer Meetings Held For NW Area

Area dairy producers from the Roseau-Lake of the Woods milk producers and Northland milk producers voting units of Lake O'Lakes, Inc., held annual meetings on March 22.

Roseau-Lake of the Woods unit met at Roseau. Officers elected from the board of directors were Allan Magnusson, Roseau, president; Kenneth Broten, Roseau, vice president; Clair Knudson, Warroad, secretary; Gene Millner and Jerry Miller, both of Roseau, directors.

Northland unit met at Greenbush with the following officers elected: Jerry Svir Jr., Badger, president; Harvey Baker, Lake Bronson, vice president; Don Christianson, Greenbush, secretary; Ward Wilson, Greenbush and Melroy Wiskow, Strathcona, directors.

Magnuson and Svir, as voting delegates, will represent the members of their respective voting units at the district meeting and at the Lake O'Lakes annual meeting in Minneapolis next February.

Don Gandrud, manager of grade A milk marketing for Land O'Lakes, reported on the milk price support program at both meetings. He also explained the base program for milk producers that Congress is looking at now.

At the Roseau-Lake of the Woods meeting, John Johnson reported on the "Away-for-a-Day" young farmer program he attended last summer.

Urges Blocking Of Grain Under PIK Program

"Price later agreement (PLA), delayed pricing agreement (DPA), and no price established (NPE) agreement are like playing Russian roulette — they are a voluntary extension of credit to the buyer, the producer loses title of the grain to the buyer, and the end result is no price protection for the producer," said Roger Schlottach, national grain director for the National Farmers organization, at Crookston recently.

"PIK is the only game in town, but it's not the solution in itself," added Bill Christensen, state president of the Minnesota NFO. "There is still a potential 90 per cent of the normal crop hitting the market at harvest time. When addressed by the NFP payment in kind grain block contract, we can keep the grain crop — swap from being a flop."

Area specialties director Bob Lewis stated, "With the volumes of grain and specialties NFO will be moving into the market place, prices will respond in a positive manner. In order to maintain this effect, we need additional production from non-members who at this time are eligible to use our program on a limited membership basis."

"Farmers have to understand the vital need to block together grain signed up under the PIK program," Schlottach said. "We've got to get it blocked together now in order to get it sold on forward contracts so that all grain doesn't hit the market at the same time.

"The grain industry doesn't want a glut hitting the market at harvest time either," he added, "and they are willing to contract for grain now. In fact, we're in contact with some large buyers that want to buy grain right now for forward delivery, and we've got the outlets."

PIK grain is transferable from the national reserve grain block at no additional cost, Schlottach said.

"In fact, along with the PIK grain, we need to take a real hard look at starting to forward contract some 1983 grain for harvest sale, along with PIK grain," Schlottach said.

Other guest speakers at the special northwest area grain meeting were Barry Malme, Central Valley grain representative and Bill Schuelke, Minnesota state grain supervisor.

Farmers in attendence at this meeting were from Roseau, Marshall, Pennington, Red Lake, Polk, Norman, Becker, Ottertail, Mahnomen, Beltrami and Clay counties in Minnesota and Grand Forks, Trail, Barnes, Ramsey, Dickey, Stutsman, Ransom, McHenry and LaMoure counties in North Dakota.

CURA Report Attacks State Fiscal Reforms

Most current proposals for state fiscal reform — including those of Minnesota Governor Rudy Perpich — are limited in scope, increase reliance on property taxes and continue shifting financial and regulatory responsibilities to local governments, according to a report authored Tom Peek and Douglas Wilson, researchers at the University of Minnesota center for urban and regional affairs (CURA).

The report, "Proposals for Fiscal Reform," says that virtually all reform measures proposed thus far reflect little desire to increase state revenues substantially, make the tax system more progressive or reverse the recent trend away from the "Minnesota miracle" in state-local relations.

Report recommends a major effort to study potential reform of the fiscal system and formulate a plan of action. It suggests this might be done under the auspices of the governor's office, the legislature, an independent group or a combination.

It is the third in a CURA series that examines the impact of new fiscal constraints on Minnesota and explores alternative policy responses. It will be sent to Perpich and the legislature.

The current report says major fiscal reform is needed to reflect that state revenues are no longer growing automatically as they did during the 1960s and 1970s and that the federal government is reducing aid to Minnesota. In addition, recent state actions have placed severe pressure on schools, counties, cities and towns and have increased reliance on property taxes, undermining the Minnesota Miracle.

"We are in a new period of fiscal constraints and the proposals only partially recognize that fact," Wilson said. "The tax proposals of the governor and others seem largely designed to balance the 1983-85 biennial budget, but do not reflect an understanding that the current economic and revenue situations may be longer-term than that."

Most proposals would merely adjust state programs to diminishing revenues or provide local jurisdictions with additional flexibility to accommodate anticipated state aid reductions, according to the report.

"The bulk of these reforms would just continue shifting financial and other responsibility to the local level, moving the state further away from the Minnesota miracle," Peek said. "A good example of this is the governor's 'risk sharing' plan, which asks the localities to automatically absorb a portion of future state revenue problems."

Copies of the report can be obtained from the Center for Urban and Regional Affairs 313 Walter Library, 117 Pleasant Street S.E., University of Minnesota, Minneapolis, MN 55455 or (612) 373-7833.

Agree To Delay Decisions On Border Points

Congressman Arlan Stangeland has received assurances from two federal agencies that no decision will be made about the status of U.S.-Canadian border crossing stations at Baudette and Warroad until he meets with them in mid-April.

Dr. William vonRaab, (commissioner of the customs service), and Alan C. Nelson, (commissioner of the immigration and naturalization service), have agreed to take no action on these stations until Congressman Stangeland meets with them in Washington after the Easter Congressional recess.

"We were very disturbed to receive reports that the administration was considering two proposals for these ports of entry," Rep. Stangeland told the two officials. "First, we heard you were considering a shortened schedule of operation for these crossings. Then we heard you were weighing the possibility of a 20-mile 'free zone' between the two cities.

"Both of these proposals would have disastrous effects on northern Minnesota," he said.

"It is imperative to keep these crossing points open on a 24-hour basis," Rep. Stangeland said. "The residents of Lake of the Woods and Roseau counties depend on these ports of entry for medical and fire-fighting services."

The Barnesville farmer said that the proposal for a 20-mile "free zone" was even more troubling.

"Such a policy would be an invitation for every criminal to use this access to the United States at their will," Rep. Stangeland said. "Such a 'noman's land' would create nightmares for our law enforcement officials in the area.

"The situation of drug-trafficking in Florida is a good exaple of what happens when you do not protect our borders," Rep. Stangeland said. "A similar problem would occur in Minnesota if criminals know they can move anything or anyone across our borders at that point.

"The free-zone policy which you are said to be considering would be a complete reversal of President Reagan's stand against criminal activities and drug-smuggling," Stangeland added.

Early Frost Cost Elevator 1982 Profit

operating margin of $1,416,186 but had total expenses of $1,526,882, resulting in a net loss on local operations of $110,696. Patronage refunds from CENEX and other cooperatives totaling $279,622, however, left the cooperative with a total net savings of $168,926.

"We can blame the biggest part of our local loss on that lousy two hours of frost on August 26th," Miller said. "That frost hit throughout northwestern Minnesota and eastern North Dakota and South Dakota and did enormous damage to our buckwheat crop. We had forward contracted eight million pounds, including three million with an 'act of God' clause and five million pounds guaranteed.

"We had 13,000 acres planted under contract, and with even a low average yield of 500 pounds per acre we would have been in good shape. But that frost wiped out a lot of the crop and we had to go out and buy from several states and in Canada on the open market to meet our contracts. Instead of the $120,000 margin we had built in for buckwheat, we wound up losing $103,000."

But Miller noted that by fulfilling contracts under adverse conditions, the elevator company strengthened its position with buyers and established additional credibility for future sales.

According to the cooperative's statement of operations, the elevator had gross margin losses of $25,130 in winter wheat, $57,213 in barley and $6,714 in soybeans in addition to the buckwheat loss.

Positive margins were maintained in spring wheat at $115,478; durum, $318; flax, $10,765; rye, $17,979; oats, $8,944; corn, $13,291; sunflowers, $159,672; and screenings, $34,905. The elevator, which operates divisions in St. Hilaire, Plummer, Hazel and Thief River Falls, also had positive margins totaling $755,624 in other merchandise including feed, dry fertilizer, liquid fertilizer, seeds and seed corn, LP gas and other merchandise.

Additional income was generated from local storage, wheat pool handling, CCC storage, cleaning and treating, grinding, drying, dryage, interest, lease rental and other income totaling $491,733.

The cooperative had total assets of $8,172,927, total current liabilities of $3,639,477 and long-term liabilities of $990,200. Total capital accounts are $3,543,250, including patronage credits locally of $1,906,185, local patron reserve of $115,245 and GTA patronage credits of $919,148.

Current assets include $2,479,374 in grain inventory (less storage liability of $1,613,723), $1,804,157 in customer accounts receivable, $891,302 due from the commission company and $585,973 in merchandise inventory.

Major current liabilities are $378,010 in accounts payable, $235,653 in customer credits, $1,369,560 in drafts payable, $801,551 in contract sale of grain, $177,600 in term loan payable and $500,000 in seasonal loan. Long term liabilities, comprised mostly of $977,000 due to the St. Paul bank for cooperatives, result primarily from acquisitions and improvements over the past several years with repayment on schedule, Miller said.

He also pointed out that much of the elevator's operating expense of $1,133,252 last year — including $388,839 in salaries — contributed to the economy of the area in a positive way.

National wheat growers president Don Loeslie emphasized the importance of the export market to U.S. grain producers. He said that the ability of U.S. farmers to produce far in excess of the country's food needs has led to the use of those products by the government in international maneuvering. Resulting trade restrictions have been disastrous to prices, he said.

He expressed acceptance but not enthusiasm for the PIK program which met with such high approval in northwestern Minnesota, but said he felt the area support was the result of desperation by many participants. An export PIK program, in which foreign nations would be given bonus grain for grain purchases made from U.S. growers, was also promoted by Loeslie as a means of reducing price-depressing surpluses.

He pointed out the pressures being put on farmers who must now show a positive cash flow situation to obtain credit after a period in which annual inflation in land values had encouraged extended borrowing. And he emphasized that the multi-billion dollar business of agriculture extends far beyond the farms and fields of the nation and includes related businesses affecting many millions of people.

RAILROAD CROSSING

REMINDER that a train's tremendous size gives it the edge at any tie race to a crossing is displayed on a flatcar near the Soo Line deport, just off Third Street in Thief River Falls. Sign notes that the nearly demolished pickup was struck by a train which was only moving five miles per hour. As the sign reminded motorists to look, listen and live, the weather was issuing a little reminder of its own. Just because it's April, that doesn't rule out the possibility of snow in Minnesota.

Milo Everson Services Held At Greenbush

Milo Glen Everson, 55, of Crystal, son of Elmer Everson of Thief River Falls, died unexpectedly on Sunday morning, March 27, while visiting in Grand Forks, N.D.

Funeral services for Milo Everson were held Wednesday at 2:00 p.m., at the Bethel Lutheran church in Greenbush with Rev. Glen Stadler officiating. Mrs. Helen Thompson was the soloist and Mrs. Rhett Haugen, the organist. Interment will be in the church cemetery with the Collins Funeral home in charge of arrangements.

Pallbearers were nephews: Richard and Robert Efteland, Steven Efteland, Bruce and Bradley Gust and Douglas Hoverson.

Milo Glen Everson was born Aug. 7, 1927 at Greenbush to Elmer and Alma Everson. He attended school at Greenbush, graduating from high school there in 1945. He was employed by the Burlington-Northern railroad at Devils Lake and Park River, N.D. for several years. Later, he moved to the Minneapolis area.

He is survived by his father, a brother, Vernon Everson, Grand Forks, N.D.; three sisters: Mrs. Stewart (Doris) Efteland and Mercedes Gust, both of Crystal; and Mrs. Morris (Adeline) Halvorson, Bloomington. Several nieces and nephews also survive.

He was preceded in death by his mother, who died in 1969.

Services Today For Selma W. Kortesmaki, 94

Mrs. Selma W. Kortesmaki, 94, a resident of Thief River Falls since 1966, died Wednesday evening, March 30, at Oakland Park Nursing home.

Funeral services for Mrs. Selma Kortesmaki are being held today (Monday) at 2:00 p.m., at the First Lutheran church in Middle River with Rev. Donald Fredine officiating. Mrs. Richard Luoto will be the soloist and Mrs. Floyd Peterson, the organist. Interment will be in the Finnish Lutheran cemetery, near Middle River, with the Collins Funeral home of that city in charge of arrangements.

Pallbearers will be Donald Niemela, Martin Danaher, Robert Niemela, George Yager, John Luoto and Richard Luoto.

Mrs. Kortesmaki, the former Selma W. Luoto, was born Sept. 1, 1888 in Finland to Johan and Wilhelmina Luoto. She attended school and grew to womanhood in Finland. At the age of 18 years, she immigrated to the United States, settling in Eveleth. Later she attended Suomi college at Hancosk, Mich., for two years.

On May 30, 1912, she was married to Rev. Matti Kortesmaki at Hancock, Mich. Following their marriage, the couple lived at Hibbing for six years and Waukegan, Ill., for seven years, before moving to Brooklyn, N.Y. There they resided until 1933, when they moved to Middle River. After the death of her husband in November of 1940, Mrs. Kortesmaki continued to live in Middle River until 1966, when she moved to Thief River Falls. In 1978, she became a resident of Valley Home and since January of 1982, she had been a resident of Oakland Park Nursing home.

She is survived by two daughters: Mrs. Donald (Aune) Niemela, Fosston, and Mrs. Martin (Miriam) Danaher, LeSeur; five grandchildren, 11 great-grandchildren and one great-great-granddaughter.

In addition to her husband and parents, she was preceded in death by one grandson and a brother.

Clarence-Inez Helland Rites Held In Arizona

Joint funeral services were held March 21, at 2:00 p.m., at Bunker's Desert View chapel in Mesa, Arizona for Mr. and Mrs. Clarence A. Helland, parents of Robert Helland of Thief River Falls.

Clarence Helland, 84, died Thursday, March 17, at the Desert Samaritan hospital in Mesa. His wife, Inez, 79, died the previous day at the Las Flores Nursing home, also in Mesa. Burial was in the Mountain View Memorial Gardens.

Clarence A. Helland was born in Fosston. He was a World War One Army veteran, and a retired rural mail carrier. He and his wife, a native of Gonvick, moved to Mesa, Ariz., from Gonvick, two years ago.

They are survived by one daughter, Marjorie Gustafson, Mesa, Ariz., a son, Robert Helland, Thief River Falls; seven grandchildren and 15 great-grandchildren.

Lena Bagne, Gonvick, a sister of Mrs. Helland, and Francis Helland, Minneapolis, a brother of Clarence Helland, also survive.

Frank Haider Rites Held At St. Bernard's

Frank Haider, 83, of Thief River Falls died Wednesday evening at Northwestern hospital.

Funeral services for Frank Haider were held today (Monday) at 10:00 a.m., at St. Bernard's Catholic church with Rev. Dave Super officiating. Jane Mackenroth was the song leader and Chris LaCoursiere served as organist. Interment will be in the church cemetery with the Green Funeral home in charge of arrangements.

Pallbearers were Leonard Bushaw, Edward Fisher, Martin Alby, Thomas Matson, Robert Protz and Edwin Quam.

Frank J. Haider, a son of the late John and Katherina Erhart Haider, was born Nov. 23, 1899 in New Solum township of Marshall county. He attended the Busy Bee school and grew to manhood in the New Solum area.

On June 4, 1935, he was married to Mary Brandel at Oakes, N.D. The couple farmed in New Solum township until 1943, when they moved into Thief River Falls. He worked here for Bridgeman's until he retired in 1964. Following retirement, he worked for many years at St. Bernard's cemetery.

He was a member of St. Bernard's Catholic church and the Knights of Columbus.

He is survived by his wife, two sons: Philip Haider, Thief River Falls; and Dennis, Hungry Horse, Mont.; four daughters: Mrs. Gordon (Margaret) Bjerken, Thief River Falls; Mrs. Catharine Harris, Whittier, Calif.; Mrs. John (Frances) McCreery, Alliance, Neb.; and Mrs. H.D. (Rose) McLain, Hatfield, Ark.; 14 grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

Two step-brothers: John and Joe, preceded him in death.

Services Held For George E. Peterson, 83

Funeral services for George E. Peterson, 83, of this city were held Saturday at 2:00 p.m., at the Assemblies of God church. Peterson, a retired shoemaker, died Tuesday at his apartment at Riverside Terrace.

Rev. Daniel Cole officiated at the services. Soloists were Mrs. Alan Zak and Rev. Cole. Sandy Gjovik was organist. Interment will be in Greenwood cemetery with the Green Funeral home in charge of arrangements.

Pallbearers were Troy Burch, John Flom, David Strandquist, Ervin Strandquist, David Stromlund and Allan Zak.

George Eugene Peterson, a son of the late Hans and Amanda Bjorkman Peterson, was born May 31, 1899 in Sanders township, Pennington county. He attended school and grew to manhood in that community.

On June 18, 1934, he was married to Esther Thyren at St. Hilaire. Following their marriage, the couple farmed for 11 years in Garvis township of Red Lake County. In 1946 they moved to Thief River Falls. After moving here, Peterson worked as a shoe maker until he retired in 1962.

He is survived by one brother, H. Arthur Peterson, Thief River Falls; two sisters: Mrs. Frank (Hulda) Andrews, Waterloo, Iowa, and Lydia Peterson, Cadillac, Mich.; two nephews and three nieces.

He was preceded in death by his wife, who died in 1970; two brothers: Oscar and Gust, and four sisters: Mrs. Martin (Hilma) Rude, Mrs. Carl (Mary) Eldsvik, Mrs. Palmer (Jennie) Hanson, and Rose Peterson.

Jane Olson Performs In BSU Opera

Jane Olson of Thief River Falls is one of 24 performers from Bemidji state university that will sing in opera night at Sir Lawrence in Bemidji April 20. Olson is a senior majoring in vocal music.

The festive opera night features an excellent multi-course meal interspersed with acts of familiar opera arias, ensembles, and choruses. The singers will perform many operatic favorites, including music from "The Pirates of Penzance," "Carmen," "La Traviata," "The Barber of Seville," "Il Trovatore," and "Lucia di Lammermoor."

Highlighting the list of vocalists are Gil Gallagher, who spent 30 years at the Asti restaurant in New York; Fulton Gallagher, dean of the BUS division of humanities and fine arts; John Keaton, formerly of the Royal Shakespeare theatre company; and Joe Vene, well-known northern Minnesota vocalist.

RRV Winter Show Visitors Are Surveyed

Five students in rural communications at the University of Minnesota technical college, Crookston, conducted a random sample poll of visitors to the Red River Valley winter shows February 18-24.

Results showed a total of 403 visitors surveyed which included 221 males and 182 females. Sixty-five visitors were in the 18 to 30 age group with 259 in the 30 to 50 group and 73 listed as 50 and older.

Of those questioned, 278 were involved in a farm occupation while 120 were not. Majority had attended the winter shows before (372) while 29 were touring for the first time. Most also anticipated attending again (383) while 16 did not anticipate a return visit.

Attendance by county of residence was as follows: Polk, 90; Pennington, 45; Roseau, 22; Red Lake, 21; Norman, 20; Marshall, 19; Wilkin, 14; Clearwater, 13; Kittson, 12; and other in Minnesota, 56. Sixty-five visitors surveyed were from North Dakota and five listed South Dakota as place of residence.

These figures do not represent the horse show attendance since the questioning was completed before that portion of the shows began.

Stacy Davidson Has Role In Production

Stacy Davidson of Thief River Falls plays the part of Mrs. Bertha Pickett, housekeeper for Dr. and Mrs. Gillespie, in "Let 'em Eat Steak," presented by the University of Minnesota-Crookston (UMC) on Thursday and Friday, April 14 and 15, at 8 p.m. in Kiehle auditorium.

Davidson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Glenn L. Davidson, is a freshman majoring in business in the business computer systems program at UMC.

The play takes place on an agriculture campus where a feud develops between the poultry and animal husbandry department, according to director George French. At a time of retrenchment, the poultry department, which is chaired by a young professor, is growing and wants to take over the animal husbandry office where Professor Marston has taught for 33 years.

Tickets may be purchased at $2 for adults or $1 for students or children at the door.

Solar Energy Group Plans Annual Meet

Annual meeting of the Northern Tier Solar Energy society has been scheduled for Tuesday, May 3, at the food service building of the University of Minnesota at Crookston (UMC). Election of officers will be on the agenda for the 6 p.m. dinner meeting.

At the March meeting, Paul Akre, agricultural engineering instructor at UMC, reported on research conducted using sunflower oil as fuel in diesel tractors. Six tractors used a blend of 50 per cent sunflower oil and 50 per cent No. 2 fuel oil and six used a blend of 25 per cent sunflower oil to 75 per cent fuel oil.

At the end of this 1981 test, all tractors had accumulated 7,000 hours of use. Akre reported only normal seasonal wear, very few filter problems and normal starting down to 15 degree temperatures. Power was normal but tractors smoked under heavy loads and there was a limited amount of carbon build-up. Two tractors with square ring design developed stuck rings.

Six of the same tractors were tested again in 1982 with no problems developing as they performed their normal work load.

Les Lindor, agricultural engineer at the west central experiment station at Morris, reported that home alcohol production on small farms is not cost efficient. He noted that the mash makes a good feed supplement and that rinse water fed to cattle increases gains. The alcohol produced can be mixed with fuel satisfactorily in 10 to 25 per cent ratio.

Princeton Chemist To Lecture At BSU

Dr. Hubert Alyea, well-known Princeton university chemist, will be featured during the 3 p.m. opening session of the Minnesota state science fair and research paper program hoted by Bemidji state university April 14 to 16.

Alyea will present a demonstration and lecture April 14 entitled, "Lucky Accidents, Great Discoveries, and the Prepared Mind". He will relate a number of accidental discoveries which led to startling progress in the fields of plastics, antibiotics and nuclear energy.

More information concerning Alyea or the science fair can be obtained by contacting Diane Morris, science department, Bemidji State University, Bemidji, MN 56601, (218-755-2920), or by calling Dr. Adela Elwell at (218-755-8632).

4H ✻ CLUB

Happy Acres

The Happy Acres 4-H club held their meeting on March 14 at the Rex Cafe basement. The meeting was called to order by junior president Troy Carlson. Pledges were said and roll call was taken with the response of "What's your middle name?" The Carnival and camp counselor training was discussed. The counselor training is on May 3-5 at Itasca State Park.

Robby Finstad adjourned the meeting and Paul Johnson seconded the motion. Carla Sorenson gave a demonstration on the egg. A vegetable gardening project meeting was held before recreation and business meeting. The club played games before the meeting which was planned by the Bugge family. Lunch was served by the Conrad Iverson family and the Wayne Smith family. There were 30 4-H members present, 17 4-H parents and 12 visitors. The next meeting will be held at Valhall on April 11.

Land Bank Elects Three Area Men

Arnold Hammer of Thief River Falls was elected to serve a three-year term as director of the Federal Land bank association of Grand Forks, ND. Dennis Hjelle, Newfolden and Harry Solberg, Goodridge were elected to serve on the nominating committee for next year.

Association president Elmer Hillesland reported processing $34,900,000 in new money for a 47 per cent decrease from 1981. He also cited increasing loan servicing requirements.

Land bank's 3,300 member-borrowers in northeastern North Dakota and northwestern Minnesota had a loan volume outstanding of $282,000,000 at the end of 1982.

IRS Reminds Employers To Use Numbers

Employers filling out a federal employment tax form should remember to include their employer identification numbers (EIN), the internal revenue service said.

Every employer who pays federal employment taxes, i.e., income tax withholding, social security, and unemployment, or who supplies tax statements to employees needs an EIN. Sole proprietors need only one EIN no matter how many businesses they operate. The EIN should be used on all business documents sent to the IRS or the social security adiminstration.

IRS also reminded employers that the EIN is different from the social security number, which is used on an individual income tax return.

Employers can get an EIN by sending an "Application for Employer Identification Number," Form SS-4, to the internal revenue service center for their area. The applications can be picked up at any IRS or social security administration office, and at many post offices.

Support Group To Meet Wed. At Hospital

The EPA Mission

Following editorial from USA Today was published following the resignation of Anne Burford as director of the Environmental Protection agency (EPA) and before the resignation of her successor and others in the department. The points made in the editorial, however, are still pertinent to the situation surrounding the EPA.

She's gone. Like Cinderella who came to the ball, Anne Burford heard the clock striking 12 and ran away from the bright lights where she was the center of attention.

She had waltzed with the rich and the powerful, and for a time she thought the magic world of the Reagan administration would go on forever. Just four days ago the president had said she could continue to head the Environmental Protection Agency "as long as she wants to."

But she had turned the EPA, the agency charged with the duty of protecting the nation's air and water, into a political pumpkin. It was not enforcing the laws passed by Congress to keep the environment safe for society.

She had been disappointingly efficient in dismantling the EPA. She had fired those who were committed to vigorous prosecution of the laws. She had put off hiring staff her agency needed. She had delayed spending millions of dollars available to clean up industrial wastes. She had allowed funds to be channeled away from enforcement programs.

And when Congress suspected that she was effectively ignoring the laws on the books and demanded that she turn over her agency's records, she refused.

It must be said that she was staunchly loyal to the president. The tragedy of her stewardship is that she followed orders. She did what the administration wanted her to do.

Now Congress must realize that the presidential purpose that motivated Cinderella did not dissolve when her midnight came. The EPA's problems will remain as long as the administration is firm in its resolve to weaken the nation's environmental program.

Thus, Rep. John Dingell, D-Mich., and those other congressmen who have been pulling smelly issues from beneath EPA rocks should continue their probes.

The controversy over the $1.6 billion Superfund has obscured the extent to which other EPA programs have been compromised by budget cuts and weak resolve.

The problems of the EPA will not vanish into the night. Congress must discover and disclose how much harm has been done to the EPA. It is essential that the president reevaluate his goals in this area and recognize that his priorities do not reflect the will of Congress or the public.

Cesspools of poison dot the American landscape, threatening lives of citizens and destroying whole neighborhoods. The very skies rain death upon our heads. Our environment is hostile because of ill treatment. Americans are scared.

Cinderella's exit from the ball is timely. Her resignation can do much to restore public confidence in the EPA, but that will be so only if President Reagan does not force her successor to walk in the same glass slippers that guided the steps of Anne Burford.

Tribute To Firemen

The following tribute to a volunteer fireman was reportedly written by the wife of one of these selfless community helpers. It was published recently in the Warren Sheaf as a tribute to the Warren fire department which is observing its 100th anniversary.

The crowd has finally drifted away. The excitement is over, nothing but embers and blackness remain. Every detail will be recounted by those who saw it happen. They will tell how high the flames roared and how loudly the sirens wailed! Yet I wonder if they realize what they have witnessed tonight.

Did anyone see you? You look tired. You are dirty. You are in tears with cinders in your eyes. You smell of smoke and soggy ashes. Your hair is matted beneath your helmet. You are cold. Tiny icicles hang from your collar. The ground is slick with ice produced by the hose streams. You slip and your friends laugh with you. You carefully lay the hose onto the hosebed and gather your equipment. You notice that your hand is bleeding but you can feel no pain in the numbing temperature.

You are concerned about the family who rented the house. Where will they go to night? You feel an ache inside because they lost so much. Why didn't someone call you sooner?

Back at the station your drink hot coffee and complete the paperwork. You call the Red Cross to get help for the people left homeless. A twinge of pain comes as you recall the little girl crying for her teddy bear. Does the Red Cross have a spare teddy bear? They do not. You will manage to find one before morning. A silent prayer lifts from your heart. You pray for the unfortunate family and for the safety of your community. You thank God that no life was lost and that the equipment did not fail. You ask him for the strength to face the day with throbbing muscles and the tightness in your chest.

You laugh when you see yourself. You are covered with black soot and are baggy-eyed from lack of sleep. Like the watching crowd you do not realize what you are seeing. The word "hero" does not cross your mind. Yet you serve as the standard by which heroes are measured.

True heroes are not made in an instant of valor. Rather they are creatures of consistent dedication. They are quiet sentinels ready, waiting, caring. They are often the unrecognized, unappreciated and abused. They are ever faithful. Heroes are acquainted with sacrifice but rarely consider it such. To them bravery is never a word, it is always a way of living.

Someday I would like to find words to tell you how proud I am. I want to thank you for what you have done and for all that you are. The alarm rings and you — the volunteer firefighter — are too busy doing your job to listen to me talk about it!

More On Mondale

Following comments on former senator and former U.S. vice president Walter F. Mondale's announcement that he will seek the Democratic nomination for U.S. President is from the Arizona Republic:

Although former Vice President Walter Mondale is the most experienced and best financed Democrat chasing the party's presidential nomination, his strategists worry about what might be called the "Muskie Curse."

Edmund Muskie, then a U.S. Senator, also had the financing and the lead for the 1972 Democratic presidential nomination. But Muskie stumbled, and his lead evaporated. George McGovern was picked by the party to run against Richard Nixon.

Mondale may have another problem. He is preceived to be for everything that every Democratic special interest group is for, and thus seems to stand more for expediency than principle.

He is for bolder U.S. global leadership, but he also favors disarmanent and reduced military spending.

He is four-square for improved education, more and better prisons, comfort and health for the aging, housing and jobs, but all with less government spending.

Mondale also has begun an ideological metamorphosis. He is attempting to shake the image he developed as the late Vice President Hubert Humphrey's protege — as a disciple of immense government spending and social engineering and an advocate of the most extreme form of U.S. liberalism.

Mondale had already uttered what may become the whole campaign's most vacuous statement — "I know what our people want. They want us to get on with it."

Mondale's four years with Jimmy Carter in the White House, and his defeat in 1980 as Carter's running mate, also is a drawback.

By the time all hopefuls have announced, Democrats cannot complain of a lack of ideological variety in the field of candidates.

And just think — voters will have 18 months until the nominating convention to listen to all of them.

Borrowed Nonsense:

"Why do you look so downhearted?"

"I'm having some tough luck."

"What's the problem?"

"I have a check here for $40 that I'm trying to cash, and the only person who can vouch for my identity is a guy I owe $25."

Bob Hope said it: "The Washington Redskins showed the greatest teamwork in Washington since Congress voted itself a pay raise."

CLAYTON "SPEED" CARLSON recently retired after over 35 years with Land O'Lakes. Starting as a truck driver in July 1946, he transferred to the turkey division in May 1976, where he worked until his retirement. At a coffee party held in honor of the occasion, Howard Espenson, plant manager, presented Speed with a savings bond from the company. Harvey Hanson, plant superintendent, presented him with a fishing rod from his fellow employees.

Letters to the Editor

To The Editor:

I was in your city this past weekend and attended the "Fantasy on Ice". You can be very proud of your skaters and production people for a job well done. The costumes were so authentic and Linda Lorenson and her committee deserve some praise. I would like to thank the skaters and all who worked on the show for a wonderful evening.

To The Editor:

During 1983, The National Association of Civilian Conservation Corps Alumni (NACCCA) will celebrate the 50th anniversary of the establishment of the Civilian Conservation Corps (CCC).

The NACCCA is trying to locate about two million former members and persons who were connected or affiliated with the CCC during the 1930's and 1940's. It is known that many of these persons reside in Minnesota and areas served by the "Times".

I am sure that many of your readers have often wondered what became of the CCC. You can tell them the CCC lives again in the NACCCA. It is a young and growing organization with chapters in many of the states throughout the nation, and one of its major objectives is to have the CCC reactivated. The next national NACCCA convention is scheduled to be held in Eagle River, Wisconsin, in September, 1983.

A commemorative postage stamp honoring the 50th anniversary of the establishment of the CCC will appear for public sale on April 5, 1983 at Big Meadows (Shenandoah National Park), Luray, Virginia.

Anyone interested in the organization can write to NACCCA, Loenmann's Plaza, 7245 Arlington Blvd, Suite 318, Falls Church, Virginia, 22042, for further information and literature.

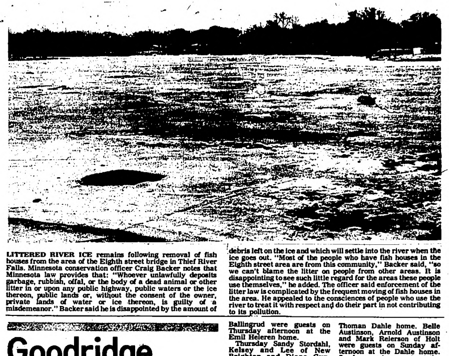
PUBLIC NOTICE

NOTICE TO CITY OF THIEF RIVER FALLS RESIDENTIAL GARBAGE CUSTOMERS

The Sanitation Department will continue the current once a week curbside pick-up service until further notice. When the city alleys dry out and become useable by city trucks, the normal alley routes and twice a week garbage pick-up service will be reinstated.

SANITATION DEPARTMENT



LITTERED RIVER ICE remains following removal of fish houses from the area of the Eighth street bridge in Thief River Falls. Minnesota conservation officer Craig Backer notes that Minnesota law provides that: "Whoever unlawfully deposits garbage, rubbish, offal, or the body of a dead animal or other litter in or upon any public highway, public waters or the ice thereon, public lands or, without the consent of the owner, private lands of water or ice thereon, is guilty of a misdemeanor." Backer said he is disappointed by the amount of debris left on the ice and which will settle into the river when the ice goes out. "Most of the people who have fish houses in the Eighth street area are from this community," Backer said, "so we can't blame the litter on people from other areas. It is disappointing to see such little regard for the areas these people use themselves," he added. The officer said enforcement of the litter law is complicated by the frequent moving of fish houses in the area. He appealed to the consciences of people who use the river to treat it with respect and do their part in not contributing to its pollution.

State Tournament Broadcasts

John Oren of the Baudette Region produced the following column last week that pertains to all of northwestern Minnesota:

If you were among those in the Baudette area last weekend who weren't able to watch the state boys basketball tournament on television, don't feel alone.

You were in good company. The "black-out" area for the annual high school classic included virtually all of northwestern Minnesota.

Same situation applied for the girls tournament the weekend before. And, if the Minnesota State High School League continues its present policies, it will apply to all future state hockey tournaments as well as the basketball events.

Immediate cause of cable television systems' inability to carry the tournaments was a change that took place in the federal copyright statutes. That change went into effect on March 15, three days after the hockey tournament had ended and just two days before the first of the basketball tourneys. Under it, cable systems are required to pay disproportionate amounts of their respective annual revenues should they carry broadcasts from any over-the-air television station not then part of their present respective systems. Those charges, paid to the Federal Copyright Registry (in turn a branch of the Library of Congress), increased over 10-fold on that date.

Here's the situation: Most cable systems in the northwestern part of the state carry an independent broadcasting channel from the Minneapolis-St. Paul area. That's KMSP, which cable subscribers in Baudette get over channel 13. Several years ago it was WTCN-TV, also from the Twin Cities. But a few years ago, the four commercial broadcasters down that way had a game of musical networks under which almost all of them changed network affiliations. KMSP, which had until then been the ABC affiliate, was the station eventually left out in the cold. It then became the independent, and coverage in this area was switched over from WTCN.

During those years, the Minnesota State High School League (MSHSL) had awarded telecast rights for the annual state tournaments to the independent station in the Twin Cities area. That coverage was automatically picked up by cable systems throughout the state.

But about the same time that the Minneapolis-St. Paul area television stations are playing their game of musical networks, the MSHSL began playing its own game of musical television stations. In a bidding war that involved that most popular of state tournaments, the annual hockey classic, coverage of the three major state tournaments was divided between two stations in the metropolitan area. This year, for example, WCCO (a CBS affilate) got the rights to the hockey tournement, while WTCN-TV (affiliated with NBC) was awarded the rights to the girls and boys basketball tournaments.

"OK," said most cable system operators in the northwestern part of the state, "no problem. We'll simply switch over to those stations that are carrying the tournament during a given weekend, while the tournament games are being played. Then we'll switch back to the independent station once the games are over.

That's what they did, and the system worked well — until this year. It did mean that each system included in a microwave network that statches from St. Cloud to Baudette had to pay the broadcasting station that was carrying the games a fee for use of those broadcasts. But that fee was usually a moderate one, and most cable system operators went along with the switch to build public relations.

Change in the copyright regulations that took effect 15 days ago changed that moderate fee to an exorbitant one. The combined cost for systems stretching from Moorhead to Baudette this year would have been somewhere between $35,000 and $45,000 according to Dick Sjoberg of Sjoberg Cable TV of Thief River Falls. It had been less than $3,000. It meant an immediate increase to moderate size systems, such as those in Warren, Warroad or Baduette of from $1,500 to $2,000 — per tournament.

Sjoberg operates cable systems in Thief River Falls, Warroad, Greenbush, Karlstad, Red Lake Falls, Warren and Middle River. He's in charge of the intermediate stages of the microwave relay that connects Baudette with the Twin Cities.

That dramatic cost increase — and cable television systems operate on fairly thin profit margins — was a prohibitive one for all the systems in the northwestern Minnesota area.

NEW FACILITIES and new equipment have up-dated the weight room at Lincoln high school. Coaches and student-athletes are excited about the project that can be utilized by all teams — boys and girls. Volunteer labor and materials made available as either donations or at minimal costs were instrumental in providing the Prowlers with an opportunity to strengthen themselves, which in turn is expected to net better results on the football field, tennis courts, swimming pool, basketball courts, hockey arena, golf course, baseball diamond and at track meets.

New Weight Training Program Is Offered To Lincoln Athletes

by Mike Lundgren,
Times Sports Editor

Opponents won't be able to kick sand in the Prowlers' faces anymore. Like that comic book character that transforms himself from a skinny 98-pound weakling into an Incredible Hulk-dimension beach terror in those Charles Atlas body building ads, Thief River Falls athletes who may have been out-muscled in the past are being given the chance to strengthen themselves through a renovation of the Lincoln high school weight room facilities and equipment.

Volunteer labor, matched with materials that were either donated or supplied at minimal costs have transformed an inadequate weight training program into an attractive offering that has already produced enthusiastic responses from coaches and players alike.

Coaches feel it'll be a definite help for all teams — both boys and girls — from golf to football.

"We noticed," explained Thief River Falls athletic director Russ Smith, "a decided lack of strength among our athletes compared to the opponents they were facing. But with our facilities, we could never get kids interested in the weight programs. Now we're really quite excited about the program."

And with 150 athletes taking a look at the new facilities when they opened last week, the students are apparently excited about the project, too.

There was a weight machine and a leaper — both previously secured through the Sports Boosters Club. Now free weights have been added, and incorporated with the weight machine and leaper. Thief River Falls features a complete instead of a "semi" weight program.

And the equipment is now spaciously housed in the back of the football dressing room after starting in the old gym and then shifting for a time in the closet at the end of the gymnasium.

Specific name of the weight program Thief River Falls will be utilizing is "Bigger, Faster, Stronger." Step-by-step instructions are posted on the walls for the participants to follow.

"This is a general program that will make people more physically fit," described Smith. "We will not be putting on bulk. We will make people stronger, quicker, faster and able to jump higher." Specific sports can utilize specific program additions that could, for example, provide golfers with stronger wrists or make football players stronger in the upper body.

Lincoln football coach John Schmitz was instrumental in the improvements made in the program. He did a lot of the leg work in inspecting the weight programs offered by the various schools in the area.

"John deserves a great deal of the credit," pointed out Smith, who had a number of people to thank, including Bud Evans and the Sports Boosters, who combined to supply the steel needed for the racks and benches; Dennis Wilkens and the Thief River Falls area vocational-technical institute for the welding and construction of the racks; Schmitz again for his upholstering work on the benches; and the Boosters in their purchase of five sets of free weights; TG Sporting Goods; and the School District 564 buildings and grounds personnel who made the facilities useable.

Smith said conservatively speaking, the project was completed at about a third of the cost through the efforts of those individuals and others.

"It's definitely going to make a difference in our programs," predicted Smith. "If you look around, all successful sports programs have successful weight programs. I think our kids realize that. I think this is a great step forward. I guarantee that you will see results next September."

Facilities will be open to the students before and after school, then five days a week throughout the summer months, with coaches supervising the program.

"I want to emphasize to the parents and athletes that we have the weight room facilities," noted Smith, "but whether it's successful or not is up to the kids. They will have to dedicate themselves to make use of the program."

Goodridge Has Sports Banquet

Sonny Gulsvig of Concordia College in Moorhead will be the guest speaker at the annual Goodridge public school athletic banquet, scheduled to be held Tues., April 12, at 7 p.m. in the school gym.

Tickets, priced at $4, can be purchased at the Goodridge school elementary office.

Gulsvig, a concordia graduate, served as the Cobbers' head basketball coach for 23 years before stepping down from that post. He still serves as an assistant coach in football, basketball and baseball, along with his duties as Concordia sports information director.

Tournaments Draw Records

A record 315,151 fans attended recently-completed 1983 Minnesota state high school meets, it was announced by the Minnesota State High School League.

Attendance figures were headed by a record 102,596 fans who attended the state hockey tournament, up from the 101,006 figure from 1982.

There were 94,487 fans at the Class A and Class AA state basketball tournaments, up from the 91,811 in 1982.

Class A and Class AA state wrestling tournament drew 58,604, up from 55,066 in 1982.

Girls Class A and Class AA state basketball tournament attracted 50,380, up from the 42,633 in 1982.

Other draws included 6,137 for girls gymnastics, down from the 6,161 in 1982; 2,046 for the boys swimming and diving championships, down from the 2,151 in 1982; and 901 for the one-act play finals, up from 653 in 1982.

Pick Area Players For All-Star Game

Runningback Craig Mack of East Grand Forks and defensive back Ken Muckenhirn of Mahnomen were northwestern Minnesota representatives named to play in the 1983 Minnesota all-star high school football game Sat., July 23, at Parade Stadium.

Mack and Muckenhirn, who both led their teams to the 1982 Minnesota state Prep Bowl playoff finals last fall at the Metrodome, will play on the Outstate team that will face a metro squad.

Head coaches for the game will be Tom Mahoney of Fairmont and Niles Schulz of Edison.

Proceeds from the game go to the Human Growth Foundation. The game is sponsored by the Minnesota High School Football Coaches Association and High School All-Star Bowl of Minnesota, Inc.

Saddle Club Has Meeting

Thief River Falls Saddle Club meeting was held Wednesday at Florence's Cafe, with 12 people in attendance.

Members discussed riding as a parade unit in the St. Hilaire Bicentennial parade, the Thief River Falls Summerfest parade and at the Roseau parade.

Training sessions, trail rides and play days were some of the possible activities the club discussed for the spring and summer months.

Next Saddle Club meeting will be held Wed., April 20, at 8 p.m. at Florence's Cafe when election of officers will be held.

Team Minnesota Squad Is Picked

Seven Section 8 players, including Thief River Falls' Tim Bergland, have been named to the Team Minnesota roster that will travel to the Boston area this weekend to face Team Massachusetts in a three-game series matching high school hockey seniors.

Team Minnesota line-up was announced following the completion of the first Minnesota Super Series matching high school hockey seniors in Minnesota on a North-South basis played at Duluth last week.

Joining Bergland as northwestern Minnesota representatives on the Team Minnesota squad will be goalie Mike Sauer of Bemidji; defensemen Paul Erickson of Roseau and Craig Mack of East Grand Forks; plus forwards John Bjorkman of Warroad, Don Smith of Bemidji and Chad Johnson of Roseau.

Team Minnesota will meet Team Massachusetts Friday and Saturday night, then again Sunday afternoon at the University of Lowell arena.

It was a sweep by the North over the South in the Minnesota Super Series, with Bergland scoring a goal in the 10-6 Thursday night victory and collecting an assist in the 6-5 Saturday night triumph when Johnson had a hat trick.

According to Bruce Benett of the Duluth News-Tribune, the event was an unqualified success, attracting 4,654 fans in its first try.

Team Minnesota selections include the top players from the North and from the South, as chosen by Super Series directors Gus Hendrickson and Butch Williams from Duluth. The complete team includes:

Goalies — Mike Sauer, Bemidji; Chris Olson, Robbinsdale Armstrong; Reggie Miracle, Columbia Heights.

Defense — Dan Horn, Minneapolis Roosevelt; Paul Erickson, Roseau; David Lundmark, Virginia; Craig Mack, East Grand Forks; John Panger, Cloquet; Jerry Schmidt, Alexander Ramsey.

1982 Hunting Mishaps Drop In Minnesota

Although Minnesota had 650,000 licensed hunters last year, the state recorded only one firearm hunting fatality, the Department of Natural Resources reported this week.

Wayne Eller, coordinator of the DNR's firearm and snowmobile safety training programs, said an average of approximately eight hunting fatalities involving firearms have been recorded in past years.

"I would like to think that one reason for the reduction in hunting accidents is the effectiveness of our firearms safety program," said Eller.

He noted that last year the program certified 21,000 young men and women as having completed the course of instruction. Safety classes are taught by volunteer instructors under the guidance of DNR conservation officers.

First-ever Minnesota Twins game in the American League was played in Yankee Stadium on April 11, 1961, with Pedro Ramos out-pitching Whitey Ford 6-0.

Prowlers Build 16-6-1 Record During 1982-83 Hockey Season

Time has helped ease the sting felt in a frustrating 1-0 loss to rival Roseau in the Section 8 tournament finals, and a 16-6-1 record posted during the 1982-83 Lincoln high school hockey season is mostly a pleasant memory for the Prowlers and their coaches.

"I guess the coaches and the kids have to be pleased with the season," acknowledged Thief River Falls coach Wendell Grand. "At the start," he said, "I thought we were going to be a pretty good club."

And as it turned out, they were, running off a 12-game unbeaten streak at one point and reaching the Section 8 tournament championship game.

It didn't start out that way, though, when personnel problems and a tough opening slate of games saw the Prowlers lose their first three starts to Grand Forks Central 3-2, Fergus Falls 5-2 and Bemidji 6-4.

But starting with an 8-5 victory at Fargo South Dec. 16, the Prowlers went nearly two months before losing again. During that stretch they proved themselves to be among the best in the area by beating Moorhead 5-1 and 8-3, Grand Forks Red River 6-5, Lake of the Woods 4-2, Crookston 4-2 and 3-1, Roseau 5-2, Warroad 4-3 in overtime, Bemidji 3-1 and East Grand Forks 4-0. They also thought they had a 5-4 overtime win at East Grand Forks to their credit, but a quick whistle erased an apparent game-winning goal and they had to settle for a 4-4 draw.

It finally ended at a dozen games when Roseau won by a 5-3 count Feb. 5. Thief River Falls then beat Hallock 9-1, Detroit Lakes 6-3 and Warroad 10-2, making it 14 wins and a tie in a stretch of 16 games, before losing a 6-1 decision at Fergus Falls in the regular season finale.

That got the Prowlers a No. 4 seed for the Section 8 tournament at East Grand Forks and a very favorable draw. They took advantage of the opportunity by beating Moorhead 5-2 in the quarterfinals and eliminated Detroit Lakes 9-2 in the semifinals before falling just short of gaining that coveted state tournament berth.

"We were expected to be in the finals, and we made it," explained Grand. "We felt it was definitely the most realistic shot we had had at winning the Section title. We're certainly not ecstatic about the outcome, but we feel if we would have played them the next day the results could have been reversed — we were that close. That's not the way they do it, though."

It was a tough loss, he noted. "You're numb for a while; it's an incredibly fast finish. But the kids did a lot of really, really good things throughout the year that you have to be pleased with."

Senior center Tim Bergland led the Prowlers in scoring this winter with 30 goals, 23 assists and 53 points in the 23 games. Tom Kenville, another senior center, had five goals and 23 assists for 28 points. Those two, who served as the Prowlers' co-captains, were both rewarded for outstanding seasons with scholarships to Division I college hockey programs: Bergland to Minnesota and Kenville to Clarkson of Potsdam, N.Y.

"It does nothing but good for the entire Thief River Falls hockey program when our two co-captains have the opportunity to go on to Division I schools," mentioned Grand.

Nearly all of the rest of the skaters on the 1982-83 Thief River Falls squad were underclassmen. Only other seniors skating regularly were defensemen Jeff Storhaug and Rod Harder, and Harder missed a good part of the season with an injury. Forwards Chris Jorde and Mike Torgerson filled in as reserves.

It was a tough year on Thief River Falls defensemen, with Harder, plus juniors Brian Johnston and Gary Cornell all sidelined for long stretches with injuries.

"That we were able to win games without people in the line-up was probably our biggest surprise," pointed out Grand.

Another key senior that will be lost through graduation is goalie Kerry Wollin, a first-year starter who played very well for the Prowlers. He handled almost all of the netminding chores, finishing with a 2.7 goals-against average for the 22.7 games he played. He had a 91 per cent save figure on 601 saves and 62 goals.

Stations in Duluth and Alexandria did pick up the tournament games for over-the-air broadcasts in certain parts of the state. But that was restricted to the Duluth-Iron Range and central Minnesota areas. Communities in northwestern and north-central Minnesota are served by stations from Fargo and Grand Forks, N.D. Those stations were primarily concerned with telecasting North Dakota events. And there wasn't a northwestern Minnesota team involved in either the girls or boys basketball tournament this year, except for tiny Waubun in the girls event. Finding sponsors for over-the-air coverage was a virtual impossibility.

That meant that viewers in a huge area of the state were, as they always have been, restricted to what they can pick up on local cable systems. And those cable systems this year were essentially prohibited from carrying any of the basketball telecasts.

As one might guess, the whole situation is somewhat more complicated than the not-so-brief description of the problem that you've just read. In addition to that change in copyright regulations, there's a 1972 FCC ruling that limits the number of over-the-air (as contrasted, for some reason, with satellite-linked) stations that a cable system is allowed to carry and years and years of Congressional lobbying by major broadcasters. Sjoberg can explain the history of the situation in 45 minutes or less, I can't.

But the basic culprit of the scenario, if you're looking for one, is the Minnesota State High School League. The old MSHSL policy of going to the major independent station in the Twin Cities for coverage of its major tournaments would have eliminated this year's situation where sports fans in nearly a third of the state were reduced to following the tournaments through day-late newspaper accounts or the occasional radio broadcast. Instead, the League has precipitated a bidding war among Twin Cities stations under which coverage is essentially directed to the Minneapolis-St. Paul markets and people from the more distant parts of the state are left hanging.

Remember — it was just three short years ago that the Lake of the Woods boys basketball team went all the way to the finals of the state tournament. Warren was in the tournament in '79 and '81. Roseau has been a perennial contender in the hockey tourney, the Bears came not too far from qualifying for the event this year. In the future, fans from those towns and others in this part of the state will be denied the chance to follow their kids' accomplishments in the tournaments by way of the tube. Even in the years when a town sends a team to the state tournament for the first time, not everyone can make the trek to St. Paul or Minneapolis to take in the games in person. Someone has to stay home and mind the store.

Stories of local fans gathered around cabled sets in clubs and elsewhere in Baudette back in 1980 have become almost legendary. The present system would end that permanently — and it takes a supremely dedicated fan to cheer over a day-old newspaper account of a tournament game.

Getting those copyright law changes modified or repealed is a process that could drag through the court system or the Hall of Congress for years, if not decades.

But one simple move by the MSHSL would solve the whole problem.

G.F. Sportsmen Show Slated April 7 To 10

A showcase of outdoor recreation vehicles, equipment, trends, techniques, special features, vacation ideas and boats will fill the Grand Forks arena for four days when the Grand Forks sportsmen's boat, camping and vacation show opens Thursday, April 7.

Sponsored by the Grand Forks Kiwanis Club, the show will enter its 16th year in 1983.

New recreational vehicles, boats, information on resorts, campgrounds and other vacation spots as well as developments in outdoor equipment will be featured at the show.

Daily stage shows will feature singer Billy ThunderKloud, Victor, The Rasslin' Bear and the comedy of ventriloquist Bob Trent and Company.

Show visitors will find a variety of recreational vehicles, from small tent trailers to motorhomes, on display at the show. Watersports lovers will be able to examine a wide variety of watercraft.

Information on campgrounds, resorts, hunting and fishing lodges and other vacation spots in both the United States and Canada will be available from booths lining the arena.

Innovations in fishing tackle will be on display, as well as new developments in outdoor and camping equipment.

Doors to the arena will be open from 5 p.m. to 11 p.m. Thursday and Friday, April 7 and 8; from noon to 11 p.m. Saturday, April 9; and from noon to 8 p.m. Sunday, April 10.

Stage shows will be held at 8:30 p.m. Thursday and Friday, at 3:30 p.m. and 8:30 p.m. Saturday and at 3:30 p.m. and 6 p.m. Sunday.

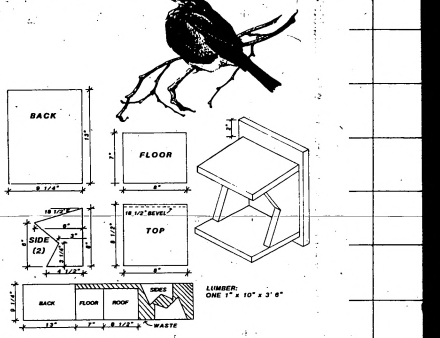
Admission at the door will be $3 for adults and $1.50 for children under 12, with preschool children admitted free.

DNR Maps Are Now Available

Maps of more than 50 lakes printed on 7x11-inch plastic cards are now available from the Minnesota State Documents Center at a cost of $3 each, according to the Department of Natural Resources.

In addition, a new fishing guide for the Brainerd-Mille Lacs area, containing 20 lake maps, can be had for $4.95. To request an order form or more information call toll-free 1-800-652-9747 and ask for the Documents Center.

ROBIN, BARN SWALLOW AND PHOEBE NEST SHELF



State DNR Explains Plans For Building Robin Nesting Shelf

(Editor's note: this is the second of a six-part series of feature stories supplied by the Minnesota Department of Natural Resources on how to build bird houses for a variety of Minnesota's favorite birds. Articles are written by Carrol L. Henderson, DNR nongame wildlife supervisor.)

One of Minnesota's most enjoyable species is the robin. Robins are a welcome sight in the spring, their songs are beautiful, and they continue to provide enjoyment as they raise their families around our homes.

A simple robin nesting shelf can provide many hours of fun for your family if placed by a window where the robin family can be seen easily. All you need to build a robin nesting shelf is a 3½ foot long 1x10-inch board.

Barn swallows will also use these nesting shelves. Sometimes barn swallows are a nuisance because they nest over light fixtures above doorways. Then they "defend" their territory against people trying to pass through the doorway. A nesting shelf placed nearby on the house can provide an alternative nest site which is less objectionable.

Phoebe is a small gray songbird which usually feeds on insects while flying over water. They will sit on a low branch overhanging the water, then make a short abrupt flight out over the water when they spot an insect. They often build their houses under eaves of lake homes or cabins. Phoebes will also use this nesting shelf.

Pattern for the robin, barn swallow and phoebe nesting shelf is shown in the accompanying diagram.

Use galvanized nails for the shelf. Three-quarter-inch thick boards are preferred. Pine is acceptable, but you will get longer use from cedar. Remove any nests at the end of the summer. These birds will build a new nest in the spring. The nesting shelf can be left unpainted, or it can be painted in an earth tone color.

Next bird house in this series will be the bluebird house.

School Board Proceedings

April 4, 1983
Public Hearing Concerning Proposed Closure of Knox Elementary School
Ind. School Dist. No. 564
Thief River Falls, Minnesota
March 8, 1983

The Board of Education of Independent School District No. 564 held a Public Hearing concerning the proposed closure of Knox Elementary School at 7:30 p.m. on March 8, 1983 in the Lincoln High School Cafeteria.

The following Board members were present: Arnt Aune, Archie Cameron, Myrle Carlson, Hank Hallstrom, Larry McDowell, Greg Pribula, and Harry Sjulson. Also present was Robert Block, Superintendent.

Chairman Harry Sjulson called the meeting to order and welcomed all those attending. Clerk Arnt Aune established that a quorum was present.

Chairman Sjulson opened the meeting by reading the notice of the hearing that has been published in the Thief River Falls TIMES and indicated to the audience the process to be followed in conducting the hearing. Individuals were asked to sign-up on the sheets provided prior to their presentation, to use the microphone and podium at the front of the room, and to limit their presentations to five minutes.

Superintendent Block then went over the rationale for recommending closure of the building reiterating the district's financial condition due to drop in state aid and enrollment; the alternative of cutting additional staff if the building were not closed, thus creating greater class sizes; and concern for other suggested alternatives such as the four-day week, converting to other energy sources, cost of the Center School and the Special Ed program, and curtailment of the extra-curricular program.

Business Manager Harry Nelson then gave a report on the financial condition of the district.

Testimonies for and against closure of the school were given by four individuals. Concern was expressed regarding potential class sizes that would result if Knox were left open, and the possibility of a referendum, and a suggestion of a public opinion check-off list to prioritize proposed cuts.

Chairman Sjulson stated that no decision would be made concerning the closure at this hearing but would be considered at the March 14 Regular Meeting. The purpose of this hearing was to gain public input concerning the proposal. He thanked all those in attendance and those who gave presentations.

Meeting adjourned at 8:20 p.m.

General Board Meeting
Ind. School Dist. No. 564
Thief River Falls, Minnesota
March 8, 1983

A General Board Meeting of Independent School District No. 564 was held at 8:00 p.m. on March 8, 1983 in the Lincoln High School Cafeteria.

The following Board members were present: Arnt Aune, Archie Cameron, Myrle Carlson, Hank Hallstrom, Larry McDowell, Greg Pribula, and Harry Sjulson. Also present was Robert Block, Superintendent.

Chairman Harry Sjulson called the meeting to order at 8:30 p.m. and Clerk Arnt Aune established that a quorum was present.

Following discussion and a brief presentation by Business Manager Harry Nelson, a motion was made by G. Pribula and seconded by L. McDowell to authorize expenditure transfers as presented for 1982-83 with no effect on the expenditure budget total of $7,636,846. Motion carried unanimously.

A motion was made by A. Aune and seconded by M. Carlson to adjust the Capitol Outlay budget as presented and adjust the 1982-83 Revenue Budget from $7,181,969 to $7,269,694 and the 1982-83 Expenditure Budget from $7,636,846 to $7,712,450. Motion carried unanimously.

The Superintendent asked Board members to let him know if any of them were interested in attending the State Capitol School Board Member Day scheduled for April 7.

A motion was made by H. Hallstrom and seconded by L. McDowell to approve an overload assignment for David L. Peterson at Lincoln for the second semester of the 1982-83 school year. Motion carried unanimously.

Proposed 1983-84 budget reductions discussed included the Librarian positions, DVR, Adult Voc Ed, administration, and the fact that possible closure of Knox would be considered at the next meeting. Concern was expressed that the Board did not discuss the possible closure of Knox at this General Meeting. It was felt that the Board should be given a chance to examine the information presented at the Hearing before further discussion and a final decision is made.

A motion was made by M. Carlson and seconded by G. Pribula to withdraw from policy the Equal Opportunity Compliance Action Program pending an additional review. Motion carried unanimously.

Non-certified classifications were discussed. The Board felt that past practice should be used where seniority and the bumping process is concerned with classifications.

The Superintendent informed the Board that negotiations with the Bus Drivers' Association for salaries for 1983-84 were open. The MSEA (Minnesota School Employees Association) will represent the drivers.

A motion was made by G. Pribula and seconded by H. Hallstrom to terminate Steven Beich as Probationary Management Aide at Mark Twain effective March 4, 1983. Motion carried unanimously.

The change that has been necessary which allows buses to travel only on tarred roads was discussed. Concern was expressed that because the roads are now frozen again, why they couldn't go back to the regular route schedule. It was felt that this would be confusing to the kids and that because the roads are so rutted, the buses couldn't travel more than 15 mph making it impossible to maintain the schedule. Board consensus was that these route changes be made at the discretion of the administration.

A question was brought up as to when the Computer Advisory Committee should hold their next meeting. The Superintendent stated that the hardware should be available within the next week or two and that a meeting would be scheduled after it has been received and reviewed.

Meeting adjourned at 9:30 p.m.

Meet and Confer Session
Ind. School Dist. No. 564
Thief River Falls, Minnesota
March 14, 1983

A Meet and Confer Session of Independent School District No. 564 was held on March 14, 1983 in the Board Room of the School District Service Center.

The following Board members were present: Arnt Aune, Archie Cameron, Myrle Carlson, Hank Hallstrom, Larry McDowell, Greg Pribula, and Harry Sjulson. Also present was Robert Block, Superintendent.

Chairman Harry Sjulson called the session to order at 7:30 p.m. and Clerk Arnt Aune established that a quorum was present.

Meet and confer items discussed included the 1983-84 AVTI and K-12 calendars and 300-minute contact time for elementary staff. The calendars will be presented for final approval at the March 28 meeting and a letter concerning contact time will be distributed to elementary staff within the next few days.

A position paper prepared by staff and members of the TRFEA concerning the prospective cuts was presented by Jim Fremstad with class sizes being their major area of concern.

The session was adjourned at 8:00 p.m.

Regular Board Meeting
Ind. School Dist. No; 564
Thief River Falls, Minnesota
March 14, 1983

A Regular Board Meeting of Independent School District No. 564 was held on March 14, 1983 in the Board Room of the School District Service Center.

The following Board members were present: Arnt Aune, Archie Cameron, Myrle Carlson, Hank Hallstrom, Larry McDowell, Greg Pribula, and Harry Sjulson. Also present was Robert Block, Superintendent.

Chairman Harry Sjulson called the meeting to order at 8:00 p.m. and Clerk Arnt Aune established that a quorum was present.

A motion was made by G. Pribula and seconded by A. Cameron to approve the Minutes of the February 28, 1983 Regular Board Meeting as presented. Motion carried unanimously.

Don Wyzynski of the Evensen-Dodge bond consultant firm gave a presentation concerning the bids received on the anticipation bonds. A motion was made by G. Pribula and seconded by M. Carlson to approve the low bid of First National Bank of St. Paul for $1,533,070 of anticipation bonds at an effective rate of 5.825 per cent and as on file in the district Business Office. Motion carried unanimously.

Two bids were received for the St. Hilaire school facility and land, one from Doug Dehnert for $10,000 and one from the St. Hilaire City Council for $1.00. Howard Dalager, Chairman of the St. Hilaire Community Action Group, and two individual citizens presented rationale to the Board for donating the building to the City. By consensus, formal action concerning the sale was delayed until the 28th meeting.

A motion was made by A. Aune and seconded by G. Pribula authorizing the Administration to advertise for bids for computerized automatic drafting equipment and software for the AVTI. Motion carried unanimously.

Vaughn Thorfinnson, Vocational Adjustment Coordinator, gave a report concerning the activities of his office and what the result of the proposed cut in that department would mean to our students both at the High school and at the AVTI.

Doug Engstrom, Band Instructor, presented a request to the Board for a spring band trip to either Winnipeg or Minneapolis. A motion was made by L. McDowell and seconded by M. Carlson to approve the Band Trip as requested provided there is no cost to the district. Motion carried unanimously.

A motion was made by H. Hallstrom and seconded by L. McDowell to approve the Support Services Advisory Committee recommendation that Block Grant Money for 1983-84 provide $5,000 in the Basic Skills Program and $10,000 in the Drug and Alcohol Abuse Education Program. Motion carried unanimously.

A motion was made by G. Pribula and seconded by A. Aune to approve the request from Redeemer Lutheran Church to rent a bus to provide transportation to White Earth Bible Camp on March 18 and 19, 1983 and to be charged the regular rate with use of an approved volunteer driver. Motion carried unanimously.

Dr. Orley Gunderson, AVTI Director, discussed with the Board the possible formation of an AVTI General Advisory Committee and presented them with a list of suggested committee members. He asked the Board to make recommendations for additions or deletions and return them to the Superintendent for compilation. A completed list will be presented at the March 28 meeting.

The process of bidding on the 1983 AVTI carpentry house was discussed and board consensus was that the sealed bid process be used with no opportunity for potential bidders to raise their bid orally, as was suggested.

Information concerning the computerization of personnel records now being completed was distributed and discussed with Board members. It is believed that the new system will be a great help to personnel management.

A motion was by G. Pribula and seconded by A. Aune to authorize the Administration to post for an AVTI Electronics Instructor beginning May 2, 1983 as per terms of the negotiated contract; replacement position. Motion carried unanimously.

A motion was made by H. Hallstrom and seconded by A. Cameron to authorize the Administration to post for an AVTI Braodcasting instructor beginning June 1 through August 23, 1983 with salary and benefits as per negotiated contract. Motion carried unanimously.

A motion was made by L. McDowell and seconded by H. Hallstrom to authorize the Administration to post for a part-time Secretary at the AVTI for up to 20 days to aid in preparation of materials for the 5-year evaluation of the AVTI. Motion carried unanimously.

The meeting was recessed at 9:20 p.m. prior to formal action concerning the proposed 1983-84 budget reductions.

Following discussion on each proposed cut and presentation by a concerned citizen, the following actions were taken:

A motion was made by G. Pribula and seconded by H. Hallstrom to close the Knox Elementary School effective July 1, 1983 at a projected savings of approximately $115,708. Special Board Meeting
Ind. School Dist. No. 564
Thief River Falls, Minnesota
March 21, 1983

A Special Board Meeting of Independent School District No. 564 was held at 7:00 p.m. on March 21, 1983 in the Board Room of the School District Service Center.

The following Board members were present: Arnt Aune, Myrle Carlson, Hank Hallstrom, Larry McDowell, Greg Pribula, and Harry Sjulson. Also present was Robert Block, Superintendent.

Chairman Harry Sjulson called the meeting to order and Clerk Arnt Aune established that a quorum was present.

Individuals giving presentations concerning the 1983-84 budget reductions included Al Finney, representing the Band Boosters, who discussed with the Board the possibility of retaining another music position if money could be raised by their Club; Randy Johnson, Science Instructor at Franklin, who expressed concern over the increase in science class sizes as a result of the cuts; and Jane Miller, representing the TRFEA, who suggested to the Board that legal costs could be decreased if both parties in the upcoming teacher negotiations would meet without legal counsel. Jane also indicated the TRFEA's support of a bond election to raise money for present programs and construction of new facilities when deemed necessary.

A motion was made by G. Pribula and seconded by H. Hallstrom to reduce expenditures in the Central Office by approximately $20,453 in legal services, printing and reduction of the Confidential Employees contract time by 10 working days effective July 1, 1983. Motion carried.

A motion was made by M. Carlson and seconded by H. Hallstrom to reduce the Foreign Language Program by approximately $9,547 in staff salaries effective July 1, 1983. Motion carried unanimously.

Briefly discussed were the $6,500 approved cut in Elementary Language Arts and the possibility of a staff member presently on leave of absence returning next year which may affect the cut in English at Lincoln.

A motion was made by A. Aune and seconded by L. McDowell to discontinue positions from 1982-83 and create new positions for 1983-84 as on file in the Superintendent's Office. Motion carried unanimously.

A motion was made by M. Carlson and seconded by L. McDowell to approve the posting of the following positions:

Elementary Principal (½ F.T.E.) and other Administrative duties as assigned; Librarian (District wide); Elementary: Kindergarten 1 FTE (M.T.); First Grade 1 FTE; Second Grade 1 FTE; Second Grade 1 FTE; Third Grade 1 FTE; Fourth Grade 1 FTE; Fifth Grade 1 FTE; Third Grade 1 FTE; Title I .5 FTE; Fourth Grade; Music (District wide); Music; Music; Music; Music; Music; Speech Clinician 1 FTE (Northrop); EMH 1 FTE; TMH 1 FTE; SLD 1 FTE Franklin; SLD 1 FTE Mark Twain; Hearing ½ FTE Lincoln; Phy. Ed .5 FTE Lincoln; English .5 FTE Lincoln; German .5 FTE Lincoln; Art one-third Franklin; +Lincoln mathematics; +Center School Ag; +Lincoln - Science; +Franklin Science; +Lincoln - EMH; +Northrop - 3rd; +Mark Twain - 5th.

+As a result of the bumping process; these are not on the composite resolution.

Motion carried unanimously.

Per individual motion, second and roll call vote as on file in the Superintendent's Office, RESOLUTIONS RELATED TO THE TERMINATION AND NON-RENEWAL OF THE TEACHING CONTRACTS OF THE FOLLOWING PROBATIONARY TEACHERS AND LONG-TERM SUBSTITUTES were passed and adopted:

Charlene Cornelius, EMH at Lincoln; Elvira Cullen, English Long-Term Substitute at Lincoln; Dean Dalen, Technical Tutor at the AVTI; Victoria Grove, EMH at Knox; Shelva Johnson, Cosmetology at the AVTI; Tom Lawrence, Electronics at the Northwest Vocational Center; David L. Per individual motion, second, and roll call vote as on file in the Superintendent's Office, RESOLUTIONS PROPOSING TO PLACE THE FOLLOWING TENURED TEACHERS ON UNREQUESTED LEAVE OF ABSENCE were passed and adopted:

Marilyn Adams - Art at Franklin; Helen Anderson - Phy Ed at Lincoln; Janet Anton - English at Lincoln; Margaret Faye Bolin - Elementary Substitute; Jean Buhl - Title I and Basic Skills; Joyce Brandt - CPLT Instructor; Katherine Campbell - Elementary Librarian; Jessie Comstock - Elementary Substitute; Marcia D'Amato - Grade 3 at Northrop; Doug Engstrom - Instrumental Music at Lincoln; Randy Johnson - Science at Franklin; Rodney Johnson - Carpentry at AVTI; Janet Kemper - CPLT Instructor; Gaylyn Magner - Welding at Center School; Diane Marshall - English as a Second Langague; Glenna Moen - Elementary Substitute; Marilyn Nelson - CPLT Instructor; Dean Ornquist - Carpentry at AVTI; Danie Packard - Agriculture at Lincoln; David C. Peterson - Science at Franklin; Tom Schafer - Grade 5 at Mark Twain; Judith Schmit - English at Lincoln; Rita Soine - Hearing Impaired; Greg Stauss - Mine Safety and Health; Wilton Swenson - on leave of absence and Jean Turtle - Medical Careers at Center School.

A group of AVTI Cosmetology students were present to protest the termination of a Cosmetology Instructor.

Other items briefly discussed included the establishment of a polling place in St. Hilaire and the possibility of considering establishing Library Aide positions in the district for next year. Superintendent Block distributed information concerning projected class sizes, minimum requirements for secondary students, a report on DVR activities, and a memo concerning the cut in the work study program.

The next Regular Meeting is scheduled for March 28 at 8:00 p.m. in the Board Room.

Goodridge School Board

April 4, 1983
Regular Board Meeting
Ind. School Dist. No. 561
Goodridge, Minnesota
March 21, 1983

Members Present: Norma Hanson, Larry Vigen, Rodney Wayne, Supt. Don Langan, Paul Troska, Richard Parnow, Sharon Howard and Adm. Asst. Gordon Henrickson.

The meeting was called to order by Chairperson, Norma Hanson, at 7:30 p.m. in the Home Economics room. Richard Parnow moved, Sharon Howard seconded, to approve the February 22, 1983, minutes. Carried.

Norma Hanson and Paul Troska presented audit of all bills. Paul Troska moved, Larry Vigen seconded, to approve computer checks, hand-payables, and extra payroll. Carried. Checks numbered 3284-3356 and 24171-24180 were approved for payment.

A report was presented detailing the interest free loan to be provided the district by the State of Minnesota. The amount of this loan will be paid by tax levy shift funds. (See report No. 3.14 attached to the official board minutes.)

Dr. Langan presented revenue and expenditure report for all funds. (See report No. 3.2 attached to the official board minutes.)

Richard Parnow moved, Larry Vigen seconded to approve the investment report as presented by Dr. Langan. Carried. (See report No. 3.3 attached to the official board minutes.)

Arnold Stenley and Ronald Engelstad discussed the future of the American State Bank. They described the financial condition of the bank using the latest audited data. The bank will be getting new management or new ownership in the near future. The district was encouraged to maintain its investment deposits at the American State Bank, and to consider the American State Bank for other depository services. The Board took no action regarding depository or change of services.

The G.E.A. had no reports or questions for the Board.

Dr. Langan discussed pre-registration procedures with the Board. The week of March 25 would be pre-registration week, with final registration data and master schedule to be brought to the Board at their regularly scheduled April meeting.

Dr. Langan reported on the CPR training program for this year's 8th and 10th graders. This program will begin in April, and will be conducted as part of these students physical education program.

A proposal from Northwest Studios for new stage drapes was presented to the Board. The Board directed the administration to secure other quotations and to tentatively incorporate drape expenditures in the 1983-1984 expenditure budget for later Board approval. (See report No. 7.1 attached to the official board minutes.)

Several options were discussed regarding permanent mounting of basketball wall mats. The administration was directed to determine the most cost effective method of permanent wall mat placement and to include costs in the 1983-1984 budget for later Board approval.

A report on student personnel policy change was presented. The major change would include making co-curricular activities have the same status in terms of policies governing all extra-curricular activities. This policy change will be considered at the April board meeting. (See report No. 7.3 attached to the official board minutes.)

Dr. Langan reported on May 1 deposit charges at Northern State Bank. Due to the fact that deposit policies may change at the American State Bank in Grygla, and due to the fact that school districts may be given exemption status by Northern State Bank, no recommendation for change of depository was made by Superintendent Langan.

Larry Vigen, moved, Sharon Howard seconded, to adopt tentative 1983-1984 school calendar with August 31 as the first day for students, May 25, 1984, as the last day for students, and a 180 day duty year (inservice plus instruction). Carried. (See report No. 9.1 attached to the official board minutes.)

Be it resolved by the School Board of Independent school District No. 561 as follows:

1. It is necessary for the School District to hold its annual election for the purpose of electing two (2) school board members for a three (3) year term.

2. The annual election is hereby called and directed to be held on Tuesday, the 17th day of May, 1983 between the hours of 7:00 o'clock p.m. and 10:00 o'clock p.m.

3. The District polling place will be the Old Gymnasium at the Goodridge School, Goodridge, Minnesota.

4. To appoint Irving Easthouse, Monica Roach, Dorothy Svanjord, and Carolyn Pittman (alternate) as election judges for the May 1983 school board elections.

Motion by Richard Parnow, seconded by Sharon Howard. Motion carried.

Sharon Howard moved, Rodney Wayne seconded, to accept Diedre Nordin's request to be reinstated from requested leave of absence for ½ time speech therapy for the 1983-84 school year. Carried.

Considerable discussion was held regarding a claim filed by Patti Johnson for basketball coaching salaries. Insofar as verbal discussion (November 23, 1982) did not specify payment for extra-coaching, the Board considered several alternatives.

Norma Hanson moved, Larry Vigen seconded, to pay Patti Johnson $1,299.40 for A-Team coaching and $619.04 for C-Team coaching. Motion failed.

Richard Parnow moved, Rodney Wayne seconded, to pay Patti Johnson $1,299.40 for A-Team coaching, and an average between B-Team and C-Team coaching salaries, $772.34. Carried.

Sharon Howard moved, Paul Troska seconded, to accept Rick Nelson's resignation as head football coach. Carried. Reason for resignation was the new arrangement whereby beginning in the fall of 1983 Grygla and Goodridge will have one football team. A head coach will be jointly hired by the two districts. Carried.

Richard Parnow moved, Larry Vigen seconded, to accept Mrs. Halvorson's resignation and offer her a contract for termination. Carried.

A copy of the cooperative football sponsorship contract was given to the board members. This contract will be discussed by the Football Committee and acted on at the April board meetings in Grygla and Goodridge.

Larry Vigen moved, Richard Parnow seconded, to encourage the MSHSL to adopt three classes for Minnesota boys and girls basketball. Carried.

Mr. Henrickson discussed the possibilities of working with local service groups on school capitol projects such as upgrading playground equipment.

Mr. Henrickson also discussed the proposed adult computer class. This class was canceled due to lack of computers. An effort will be made to hold the class next fall, providing computers are made available.

Dr. Langan advised the board on the April 7, "Day at the Capitol," and the March 22 MSBA Legislative meeting at Thief River Falls.

A review of legislation having the most critical impact on the Goodridge School District was reviewed by Dr. Langan.

The next regular meeting was set for 8:00 p.m., April 18, 1983, High School Home Economics room.

Meeting adjourned at 11:30 p.m.

A WORKING PARTNERSHIP in their retirement has been formed by Mr. and Mrs. Arvin Hanson of Thief River Falls. Arvin took up woodworking after his retirement five years ago and believes the therapy of keeping busy has contributed to his health. Gertrude was convinced by Arvin and her daughter Arlys Hendrickson to learn how to do Norwegian rosemaling painting, and now she adds the beauty of color to the natural beauty of Arvin's wood projects. The projects from thimbles to sewing boxes are turned on a lathe in a miniature shop in the Hansons' apartment.

Hanson Retirement Has Togetherness Incentive

by Marvin Lundin
Times Editor

When Arvin Hanson gets a gallon of glue for a Christmas gift, he's as happy as a youngster with a new toy. . . and probably a whole lot more appreciative. Such a gift is a welcome addition to his home shop hobby.

"If it hadn't been for his woodworking, I don't think Arvin would be with us now," mused his wife Gertrude during an interview in the couple's apartment at 1508 Northland Village in Thief River Falls. "It has given him an interest and activity that keeps him going every day."

Arvin agrees that the hobby has been a boon to his health. It was after spending 10 days in the hospital with a bleeding ulcer about five years ago that he saw a turning lathe on sale and decided to buy it. The purchase has (pardon the pun) turned his life around.

Not only has the hobby contributed to Arvin's activity and outlook, it has compelled Gertrude to get involved and resulted in numberous works of the craftsmen's art being added to homes from Thief River Falls to Texas, California, Indiana, Illinois and other states. "There are even some things in Canada and Norway," Gertrude says, then adds with a playful grin, "We've gone international you know."

Arvin is originally from Bagley and Gertrude is from the Lockrem family of Thief River Falls. After their marriage Arvin worked in Thief River Falls for many years, serving 17 years as a seed cleaner and wool buyer for Lane O'Lakes, about 10 years with Peterson-Biddick company and another three and one-half years at Forsberg's, Inc. Then he moved to Minneapolis and worked seven years for Honeywell, Inc., retiring five years ago.

"I had never done any woodworking before I retired," Arvin said. "I had wanted a lathe for a long time, but I never had any idea what I could do with it. Then when I got it, I couldn't stay away from it. I put in some pretty long days in the shop."

The shop is a back bedroom of the couple's apartment. It doesn't offer a lot of space, but is ample for Arvin's needs. It contains his lathe, hand tools, a small drill press, odds and ends of wood, small router and sander and other necessary items.

How long were the days Arvin put in at the shop? "I would start about six in the morning and quit around midnight," he chuckles. "Of course, I wouldn't work steady, but I didn't take a lot of time off either. I've sort of gotten away from being quite that ambitious now."

Products of ths shop indicate Arvin's interest in trying something new, although there are certain favorites. He has been a prolific producer of wooden bells, meticulously turned on the lathe in an infinite variety of sizes and shapes and assembled complete with handles and clappers. About half of the approximately 370 bells he has made have been used as gifts for special occasions of friends and family.

A heart-warming part of Arvin's woodworking story is the togetherness and Gertrude share in the work. Arvin and their daughter Arlys Hendrickson almost pleaded with Gertrude to become involved in rosemaling classes. She didn't think she could learn an art so intricate and delicate.

"But Arvin finally persuaded me to try," Gertrude said. "He said he wanted us to be together on this, and he was so sincere that I couldn't say no."

Gertrude and Arlys began the first series of classes together. Since then, Gertrude has taken two more series of instructional classes from LaVonne Forsberg, accumulated a number of patterns and supplies, joined a couple of rosemaling association (she is still a member of one) and added the beauty of color to the natural beauty of Arvin's wood creations.

Arvin uses wood scraps as well as dimensional stock for his many and varied projects. A niece's husband, Dan Stenseng of Clearbrook, cut and cured oak, birch, ash and maple logs for him to use. He has reclaimed hardwoods

Dancers Fight Heart Disease

By Dave Berg
Times Reporter

"Dance For Heart" is the theme of a fund raising activity which will be held from noon to 4 p.m. Saturday, April 30, in the Thief River Falls auditorium.

Corinne "Cor" Flynn, chairman for the project, noted that during that four-hour period, she and Gloria Kildahl will be leading volunteers in a marathon session of aerobic dancing to raise money for the Heart Fund. Both women are certified as aerobics instructors and teach classes in aerobic dance at the Thief River Falls racquetball club.

Having visited one of Cor's classes to take pictures, I find it hard to see how anyone will be able to maintain four hours of the kind of activity witnessed there. "This is hard work for one hour!" was a comment repeated by several participants.

Sessions begin with a series of stretching exercises to limber up the muscles. As they move into dance routines, the students keep track of their pulse rates at the beginning and end of each set. This not only gives them an idea of their progress, but helps warn if the heart is being strained to a point where they

Class of '33 Group Meets

Lincoln high school class of 1933 reunion committee will meet at 2:15 p.m. on Tuesday at the Northwest regional library meeting room in Thief River Falls. All are urged to attend.

Girls State Delegates Are Selected

Delegates and alternates to Girls State from Thief River Falls, Goodridge and Grygla schools have been selected by Ecklund-Holmstrom unit 117 of the American Legion auxiliary.

Delegates include Cindi Solem, Thief River Falls; Diana Troska, Goodridge; and Lisa Newton, Grygla. Alternates respectively are Jill Isaacson, Tonya Mangus and JoAnn Smeby.

Delegates will represent their schools at the 37th annual event June 12-18 at the College of St. Catherine.

Senior Center Meeting Topic Of Federation

Efforts toward establishing a senior citizen center in Thief River Falls will be summarized when the Pennington county council on aging holds its monthly meeting Monday at 1:30 p.m. at the basement meeting room of the Thief River Falls city auditorium.

Proponents of the senior center are urging any senior citizens interested to attend the meeting, hear what is being planned and what has been done to date, and become involved in promotion and support of the project.

The county council on aging has been in existence for 12 years and the senior center project has been a frequent topic of discussion, according to council officers. The fact that area communities have received grants for creating such centers has stimulated the local effort.

Officers point out that committees have investigated possible available buildings and costs without success and that there is now strong sentiment toward construction of a new building if a suitable site can be acquired. They add that a serious effort and positive plan will have to be shown to gain consideration of grant requests, and as a result have conducted recent projects which have earned substantial amounts of money.

Further support from other seniors who could use such a facility is now being sought. The center is projected to be used as a site for preparation of senior meals, a craft shop, offices of the federation and location for daily socializing and activities.

Tornado Class Scheduled At LEC Thursday

Tornado and weather watchers training session will be held at 7 p.m. Thursday, April 7, at the law enforcement center in Thief River Falls, according to Pennington county sheriff Chuck Richards.

Instructor for the session will be Meteorologist Herb Monson from the U.S. weather service in Fargo, ND. Sheriff Richards notes that an early warning system is the key to preventing injuries and saving lives when violent storms occur.

Declaration Made This Afternoon . . .

Crop Disaster In Area Recognized

FINAL CONCERT of the Thief River Falls concert association series will be presented Monday at 8 p.m. when "Dance Alive" brings a program of classical, modern and jazz dance to the Lincoln high school auditorium. Scene above is from the "Don Quixote" number on the program. The professional group from Florida consists of 10 men and women, headed by Kathryn Dandois as principal dancer. Dandois has been with the group since 1973. Her partner, Tim Heflin, has the male lead in the performance and has performed with the Texas ballet and with Rudolf Nureyev in Venezuela. Admission is by season membership only.

Farmers in Pennington and Red Lake counties who have been victims of crop disaster in 1982 will be eligible for assistance through the Farmers Home administration (FmHA), according to information received by the Times today from Congressman Arlan Stangeland.

"Secretary of Agriculture John Block informed me that he will issue a disaster declaration for these farmers," Congressman Stangeland said. "I hope this relief will help these two counties to recover from three straight years of bad weather."

Francis Koehmstedt, director of the Farmers Home administration office in Thief River Falls which serves Pennington and Red Lake counties, said he was notified today of the official declaration by phone call from St. Paul this afternoon.

Koehmstedt said he can now begin processing applications for disaster loans since he is officially advised of the declaration, and that 58 farmers in the two counties have completed the necessary preliminary information to make application for the loans. He said he would expect about 100 more applications from each of the two counties.

The FmHA director said this is the fourth consecutive year he has been involved in crop disaster declaration in the two counties. The disasters involved wet weather in 1979, spring drought and fall rains in 1980, wet weather in 1981 and again last year. In many cases the same farmers have been involved in each of the disaster areas.

The disaster declaration is important to the area, he said, because it means more money available from the agency at lower rates to provide financing for more farmers.

Disaster declaration will make loans of up to $500,000 available at eight per cent interest to farmers in the two counties who were prevented from planting their crops by heavy rains and excess soil moisture in the spring of 1982. The loans are to only cover the actual losses incurred by each farmer, and come from FmHA's emergency loan program.

According to Congressman Stangeland, the disaster declaration contains the following provisions:

Farmers from Red Lake and Pennington counties must show that 1982's spring rains and other disasters cost them at least 30 per cent of their 1982 crop production;

They must show that they cannot obtain loans from other lending agencies;

Band Boosters Hoping To Save Music Program

Efforts to maintain the Thief River Falls public school instrumental music program in the face of district budget cuts are meeting with strong support, according to Al Finney, president of the local Band Wagon band boosters club.

"We made a proposal to the school board asking that they reinstate the band instructor position previously cut if we were to raise partial funds to pay for the position," Finney said. "We will not know the board's decision until the April 11 meeting."

The school board, on the recommendation of the administration, had previously cut the school district's music department instructors (vocal and instrumental) from seven positions to five. One of the positions was later reinstated on a seniority basis — and that position was in the vocal music area.

Supt. Robert Block explains that there is no distinction between vocal and instrumental music in that educational classification. A teacher who is certified to teach music is considered qualified to teach vocal and-or instrumental music and seniority is established on that basis. Instructional cuts in the department are based on the seniority list.

On a mathematical basis, the number of students involved in the school music

Two File For Reelection To School Board

Two of three incumbent members of the Thief River Falls board of education whose terms expire this year have filed for reelection at the annual school election May 17, according to the school district service center.

Myrle Carlson filed for reelection on the first day of filing Monday and Greg Pribula filed today. Both are completing their first three-year terms on the board.

Senior Day At Library Thur.

Senior citizen's day will be held at the Northwest regional library on Thursday. Jerry Nelson will present travel slides and refreshments will be served.

Waste Review Committee Sets Schedule

Marshall county local project review committee, which was appointed in March by Governor Perpich to lead local participation in the consideration of the Marshall county candidate hazardous waste disposal site and other issues, has set a general schedule for its future meetings.

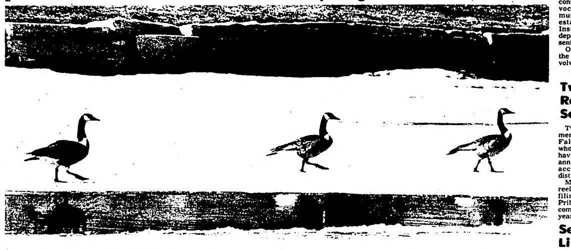
At its March 30 meeting the committee decided it will meet at 7:30 p.m. the first and third Thursdays of each month in the Newfolden community center.

The nine-memeber committee is one of four such panels appointed for the candidate hazardous waste disposal sites selected by the Minnesota waste management board in Aitkin, Carver, Marshall and Scott counties.

In coming months the committees will be assisting in development of the state's hazardous waste policies, certification of need for a hazardous waste disposal facility, procedures for the "mitigation and compensation" of residents for potential siting impacts, evaluation of the candidate sites, and other issues.

Specific meeting agendas will be issued by the local committee.

If The Geese Are Here, Can Spring Be Far Behind?



TAKING A STROLL along the ice on the Red Lake river in Thief River Falls Tuesday afternoon were these Canada geese, part of a flock of about a dozen honkers resting and recuperating near the Eighth street bridge throughout much of the day. The river has been partially open since Monday in Thief River Falls and the geese alternately swam in the open water and loafed on the ice as their moods moved them. Return of waterfowl to the area signals hopes for the arrival of warmer spring weather, although a few geese have been in the area for nearly a month.

Kostrzewski And Forney Vows Spoken At Florian

Mr. and Mrs. James Philip Forney are at home in Rochester following their marriage at Assumption Catholic church at Florian.

The bride, the former Rose Ann Kostrzewski, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Peter T. Kostrzewski of Strandquist. Parents of the groom are Mr. and Mrs. Walter J. Forney of Thief River Falls.

Rev. Frank J. Kulhawik officiated at the double ring ceremony. Reader was Charles Walrath, Thief River Falls, a cousin. Serving as altar boys were the bride's brother, Randy Kostrzewski and Joe Romanski. Patti Szeczepanski was the organist and Bonnie Woinarowicz of Warren, an aunt of the bride, was soloist.

The bride was attired in a gown of sheer illusion and re-embroidered lace, styled with lantern sleeves and a Queen Anne neckline trimmed with seed pearls. Scalloped lace complemented her chapel-length train and edged her fingertip veil held by a lace cap trimmed with seed pearls. She carried a cascade bouquet of roses, stephanotis and ivy.

Maid of honor was Diane Kostrzewski of Duluth, a sister of the bride. Yvonne Kostrzewski, a cousin, and Kristi Winger of Kennedy were bridesmaids. They wore gowns of pink crystal pleated lace and ruby velvet; and each carried a long-stemmed red rose. The flower girl, Trisha Chwialkowski of Stephen, wore a ruby and pink velvet gown and carried a basket of roses and babies' breath.

Personal attendants were the bride's sister, Susan Kostrzewski, and Mary Ann Chwialkowski.

Attending the groom as best man was the bride's brother, Ken Kostrzewski. Groomsmen were the groom's brothers: David Forney of Phoenix, Ariz., and Donald Forney of Evansville, Ind. The groom wore a white tuxedo with tails and his attendants wore burgundy tuxedos.

Serving as ushers were the bride's brothers: Larry and Peter Kostrzewski.

Hosts and hostesses at the reception that followed in the church parlors were the groom's brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Jay Forney of Thief River Falls, and the bride's cousins: Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Jorgenson of Argyle.

Crop Disaster Recognized In Declaration

They may use the loan funds to cover virtually any expense which is related to their farming operations.

This is the second round of disaster declaration for the two counties. In 1982 disaster relief loans were approved for Red Lake, Pennington, Clearwater and Polk county farmers who had been hit by heavy rains throughout the 1981 crop year.

"Disasters have hurt these productive people and weakened their counties' economies," Congressman Stangeland said. "Government loans by themselves will never bring prosperity to farmers, but these loans represent a good investment in good people."

Band Boosters Hope To Save Music Program

program from elementary through high school can be served by the contract hours of six instructors, according to the administration. That becomes a problem when mathematical numbers are translated into instructional skill areas and student interest and participation.

"We feel very strongly that this position (band instructor) be reinstated if we are to keep student interest and a continued high quality program," Finney said. "It's virtually impossible to maintain a quality program with the burden which would be placed on one instructor rather than the needed two. There just isn't enough time in a day."

At present there are about 150 band students in sixth through eighth grades and another 130 in grades nine through 12. At present Mike Lehrer handles the middle school group and Doug Engstrom the senior high school group. Engstrom, with the least number of years of experience, is at the bottom of the seniority list and it is his position that would be eliminated under the budget cuts.

"We are proceeding with a fund raising program at this time by contacting all band students' parents and asking for pledges," Finney added. "We have received very strong support in this effort. If we receive a favorable decision on our request at the April 11 meeting of the board, we will continue with other types of fund raising events to meet the financial goal necessary to assure continuance of the program."

At the last board meeting, school board members again requested that the administration prepare a priority list for budget items to be reinstated if funding permits, and suggested that the music position be included. Supt. Block said that list should be ready for presentation at the April 11 meeting.

Togetherness Adds To Hanson Retirement

used in shipping containers and utilized scraps from his son Dave's shop work and instruction. Iris Dicken of Thief River Falls was the first person who asked if he could make a bell.

The Hanson returned to Thief River Falls in retirement because their four children were here and the community was still "home" to them. The children are Mrs. Jerry (Arlys) Hendrickson; Dave (Married to Kay Monroe of rural Warren) and teaching industrial arts in Erskine; Mrs. James (Ruth) Weckworth; and Mrs. Judy Solsten, now living in Seattle, WA. They also have 11 grandchildren.

Because they are well aware of their parents' interests, gifts at Christmas, birthdays, Father's day and Mother's day often come in the form of supplies, materials or equipment. Such gifts are immediately put to use with appreciation.

As might be expected, the sharing of items as gifts led to requests for items to be purchased. Without any promotion at all, the Hansons were swamped with orders for items, almost beyond their capability to produce them. Prior to last Christmas they were especially busy.

Somewhat surprisingly, the pressure to get orders ready hasn't been harmful stress for Arvin. It was much worse, he says, to have nothing constructive to do. And besides, he isn't involved in the projects by himself any more. With the addition of Gertrude's rosemaling brush, they are in the situation together.

ROY HOPE, a song evangelist from Minneapolis, will be in concert at Our Saviour's Lutheran church in Thief River Falls on Sunday at 7 p.m. Each service Hope performs includes traditional hymns as well as family-oriented selections. In 1967 he ministered with Billy Graham film ministry and he has traveled to the western Provinces of Canada, Norway and across America.

PROGRAM for the Jaycee Women charity ball scheduled for Saturday evening, April 16, will be conducted with Curt Quesnell (above) as master of ceremonies. Tickets for the annual event which benefits the Falls Day Activity center and the Occupational Development center in Thief River Falls, are available at Larson Music company and Ekeren drug, or from members of the local Jaycee Women chapter.

Rites Held At Karlstad For Alma Sjodin

Mrs. Alma Sjodin, 68, of Karlstad, died Wednesday evening, March 30, at the Karlstad Memorial hospital. She had been in failing health for the past year. Funeral services for Alma Sjodin were held Saturday at 10:00 a.m., at the Karlstad Baptist church with Rev. Harry Ratzlaff and Rev. John A. Riveness officiating. Mr. and Mrs. Ingolf Ingebrigtsen were the vocalists and Mrs. Avis Netterlund, the organist. Interment will be in the Karlstad cemetery with the Collins Funeral home, Karlstad, in charge of arrangements.

Pallbearers were Gordon, Allan, Brian, Lowell and Doyle Sjodin, Hugh Nelson, and Ed Learned.

Mrs. Sjodin, the former Alma Christine Swanson, was born Aug. 22, 1914 at Karlstad to Alfred and Beda Swanson. She attended school at Karlstad, graduating from high school with the class of 1933.

On July 24, 1933, she was married to LeRoy A. Sjodin at Englund, near Strandquist. Following their marriage, the couple lived on the Sjodin family farm at Fir, near Karlstad, until 1943, when they moved into Karlstad. Since then, she had made her home at Karlstad, working for 25 years at the Karlstad Memorial hospital.

She was a member of the Karlstad Baptist church, the Royal Neighbors and the Karlstad Memorial hospital guild.

Surviving are five sons: Gordon Sjodin, Santa Anna, Calif.; Allan, Minneapolis; Brian, St. Paul; and Lowell and Doyle, both of Karlstad; four daughters: Yvonne Grey, Lafayette, Calif.; Mrs. Ed (Sharon) Learned, El Sequando, Calif.; Sheryle Bernhardt, Santa Clara, Calif.; and Mrs. Hugh (Denise) Nelson, Strandquist; and 15 grandchildren.

Also surviving are six sisters: Mrs. Myrtle Froberg, Karlstad; Mrs. Gladys Sather, Newfolden; Mrs. Maurice (Martha) LaPlante and Mrs. Neil (Loretta) Prenevost, both of Red Lake Falls; Mrs. Roy (Lilly) Ellis, Mill Valley, Calif.; and Mrs. Michael (Pearl) Valesquez, Ft. Bragg, Calif.; and one brother, Stanley Swanson, Karlstad.

She was preceded in death by her husband, who died in October of 1958, and her parents.

Mrs. L. Oistad Dies March 25 At Karlstad

Mrs. Loyal (Berenice) Oistad, 73, of Karlstad, died unexpectedly Friday evening, March 25, at the Karlstad Memorial hospital.

Funeral services for Mrs. Loyal Oistad were held Tuesday, March 29, at the First Lutheran church in Karlstad with Revs. Cordell and Mary Carol Strug officiating. Soloists were Mrs. Gene Anderson and Karl Carlson. Miss Kirstin Olson was the organist. Interment will be in the Karlstad cemetery with the Collins Funeral home, Karlstad, in charge of arrangements.

Honorary pallbearers were Herbert Oistad, Wilbert Oistad, Gilbert Oistad, Ernest Oistad, Palmer Oistad, John Oistad, Oscar Yngve, Norval Folland, John Bergstrom, C.W. Watson and Lyle Hanson.

Active pallbearers were Bradley and Barry Lundeen, Eric and Bruce Oistad, Kevin Lindstrom, Ronald "Skipper" Krause, Bruce Nelson and Robert Carlson.

Mrs. Oistad, the former Berenice Pauline Swanson, was born Dec. 10, 1909 at Lake Bronson to Paul and Minnie Swanson. She attended school and grew to womanhood in that community.

She was married Oct. 1, 1932 at Lancaster to Loyal Oistad. After their marriage, the couple made their home at Middle River and Strandquist before moving to Karlstad in 1940.

She was a member of the Bethel Lutheran church and the Karlstad Memorial Hospital guild.

She is survived by her husband, two sons: Bryon Oistad, Buffalo; and Leon, Ada; one daughter, Mrs. Curtis (LaVonne) Lundeen, Stephen; 11 grandchildren, two great-grandchildren; and a sister, Mrs. Ruby Gast, Lake Bronson.

She was preceded in death by two sons, her parents, two brothers and one sister.

Albert Burstad Services Held At Bremerton

Albert Burstad, 72, of 3068 Northland Way, N.W., Bremerton, Wash., died Wednesday, March 23 at the Harrison Memorial hospital in Bremerton.

Funeral services for Albert Burstad were held Monday, March 28, at the Miller-Woodlawn funeral home at Bremerton with burial in the Miller-Woodlawn Memorial Park.

Albert Burstad was born May 3, 1910 near Erie, in Star township of Pennington county. He was married to Olga Caroline Manderud on July 20, 1941. The following year, they moved to Bremerton, Wash., where he worked for more than 27 years as a chipper at Puget Sound Naval shipyards. He retired in June of 1972.

He was a member of the Silverdale Lutheran church at Bremerton.

Surviving are his wife, two daughters: Mary Ann Sorgs and Carol Burstad, both of Cincinnati, Ohio; two sons: Lyle Burstad, Gig Harbor, Wash., and Duane, Kennewick, Wash.; four grandchildren, and a sister, Petrina Geving, a resident at Valley Home, and one brother Alvin Burstad, Thief River Falls.

Services Held For Joseph J. Kushinski, 89

Funeral services for Joseph J. Kushinski, 89, of Karlstad were held Tuesday at 10 a.m. at the Blessed Sacrament Catholic church, Greenbush. Kushinski died Friday at the Karlstad Memorial Nursing Center.

Rev. Pay Paleiske officiated at the services. Interment was in Blessed Sacrament Catholic cemetery with the Collins Funeral home of Greenbush and Karlstad in charge of arrangements.

Honorary pallbearers were members of the Knights of Columbus. Active pallbearers were Jack Tisdale, Lyle Jacobson, Keith Lindgren, LeRoy and Tom Siemieniewski and Glenn Staehnke. Staehnke.

Vigil service was held at the Collins Funeral chapel in Greenbush Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. with the Knights of Columbus rosary following.

Joseph John Kushinski, a son of the late John and Mary Kushinski, was born Feb. 2, 1894 in Poland. As a child, he came with his family to the United States, settling first in New York City and later on a farm in Kittson county, near Lake Bronson, where he attended school and grew to manhood. He was baptized and confirmed in the Catholic faith.

On July 25, 1916, he was married to Sadie V. Pollack at the Holy Rosary Catholic church, north of Lancaster. Following their marriage, the couple farmed for two years in Caribou township of Kittson county, near Lancaster. They then moved to a farm north of Lancaster. In 1932, they moved to a farm in Pelan township of Kittson county, near Karlstad; and since 1961 they have resided at Karlstad.

Kushinski was a member of the Blessed Sacrament Catholic church of Greenbush and Greenbush Knights of Columbus for many years. He was among the organizers of the Karlstad Senior Citizens group and was a member of that group.

He is survived by his wife; one son Joe Kushinski, Karlstad; two daughters: Mrs. Winfred (Helen) Jacobson, Karlstad, and Mrs. Sophie Siemieniewski, Geneseo, ND; eight grandchildren; six great-grandchildren; one brother, Anton Kushinski, Lancaster; and several nieces and nephews.

He was preceded in death by his parents, two brothers and one sister.

Services Friday For Fredolph Swanson, 84

Funeral services for Fredolph Swanson, 84, of rural Red Lake Falls, will be held Friday at 2:00 p.m., at the Evangelical Covenant church in Thief River Falls. Swanson died Friday, April 1, at Northwestern hospital. He had been a resident of the CNC unit at Northwestern hospital since 1981.

Officiating at the services will be Rev. Don Peres and Northwestern Hospital Chaplain Rev. Paul Bortnem. Marvin Anderson will be the soloist and Mrs. Alvin Dahlstrom, the organist. Interment will be in the Community Cemetery at St. Hilaire.

Pallbearers will be Merle Gustafson, Russell Gustafson, Clarence Konickson, Ray Vigstol, Duane Nelson and Sylvester Hesse.

The body will repose at the Green Funeral home from Thursday noon until 11:00 a.m., Friday, and at the church for one hour prior to the time of services.

Fredolph Ernest Swanson, a son of the late Solomon and Christina Johnson Swanson, was born Feb. 20, 1899 on the home farm in River township of Red Lake county. He was baptized in the Christian Mission church, attended rural school near his home, and later farmed the home farm for many years.

He was active in community affairs in that area. He served on the River township board and was township assessor and board member of the Bray Mutual insurance company for a number of years.

He is survived by his brother, Carl Swanson, Red Lake Falls; one sister, Mabel Swanson, also of Red Lake Falls, and five nieces and two nephews.

In addition to his parents, he was preceded in death by two brothers, Arthur and Walter, and four sisters: Jenny, Ida, Ellen and Selma Anderson.

Rites Set At Newfolden For Clara Sundberg

Funeral services for Mrs. Gunnar (Clara) Sundberg, 80, of Newfolden will be held Thursday at 2:00 p.m., at the Bethlehem Lutheran church in Newfolden. Mrs. Sundberg died Sunday at Northwestern hospital.

Rev. David Liefeld will officiate at the services. Vocalists will be Yvonne Boen and LaVoi Thun with Mrs. Lowell Hogberg serving as organist. Interment will be in the Opdahl cemetery, rural Newfolden.

Honoary pallbearers will be Palmer Rud, Tilmer Blackberg, Hugo Nelson, Leonard Torkelson, Douglas Thun and George Nelson.

Active pallbearers will be Gary Donarski, Tim Donarski, Donovan Donarski, Mike Bleise, Alfred Nelson and Bruce Noblet.

A prayer service will be held tonight (Wednesday) at 7:00 at the Green Funeral home where the body is reposing. The body will also repose at the church for one hour prior to the time of services.

Mrs. Sundberg, the former Clara Cassibo, was born June 13, 1902 at Flint, Ontario, Canada, to Octave and Mary Brachu Cassibo. She attended school in the Williams area.

On April 10, 1935, she was married to Gunnar Sundberg. Following their marriage, they moved to the Strandquist community and lived there until moving to International Falls in 1955. In 1973, they retired and moved to the Newfolden community. There they lived until they became residents at Valley Home in Thief River Falls.

She was a member of the Bethlehem Lutheran church of Newfolden.

She is survived by her husband, seven daughters: Mrs. Charles (Aggie) Bleise, St. Paul; Mrs. Wayne (Dona) Donarski, Strandquist; Mrs. Donald (Pat) Erickson, Crookston; Mrs. John (Joyce) Miller, USN, Spain; Mrs. Emil (Marie) Volkers, St. Cloud; Baudette Beede, Seattle, Wash.; and Mrs. Marjorie Hayes, Ontario, Canada; one son: Glynn Martin, Wadena; 26 grandchildren and numerous great-grandchildren.

Also surviving are one brother, Ed Cassibo, Cando, N.D.; and three sisters: Mrs. Henrie (Agnes) Drevon, Flint, Mich.; Mrs. Eva Holm, International Falls and Mrs. Art (Nora) Larson, also of International Falls.

She was preceded in death by two sons, her parents and one sister.

Tickets will be available at local banks and Larson Music company. Oliver "Skip" Swanson of the fair board said that the board is responding to requests for a "top name" entertainer to headline the county fair program. Public response will determine if the board will offer other similar programs in the future.

Production Of Wool Grows In Minnesota

Minnesota wool production increased slightly from 1981 to 1982, with production totaling 2,264,000 pounds, as compared to 2,252,000 a year ago, according to the Minnesota agricultural statistics service.

Output picked up in 1979 and has now continued through 1982, the result of increasing numbers of sheep shorn. The 310,000 sheep and lambs shorn in 1982 were up from the 308,000 reported for 1981. Fleece weight averaged 7.3 pounds, unchanged from the 1981 average.

Value of the state's 1982 wool production was $1.1 million, down 31 per cent from the previous year. Average price per pound was 48 cents, compared with 70 cents in 1981.

U.S. shorn wool production during 1982, at 105 million pounds, was down four per cent from 1981. The 13.1 million sheep and lambs shorn in 1982 decreased three per cent from the previous year. Average fleece weight was 7.99 pounds, down from 8.14 in 1981.

Total value of shorn wool was $71.8 million, down 31 per cent from $104 million in 1981. The average price per pound was 68.4 cents for 1982, compared with 94.4 cents in 1981.

TRF Business Represented At Ins. Meet

Two local businesses were represented at the 49th annual meeting of MSI insurance February 28 and March 1 at the Radisson South hotel in Bloomington.

Silas Hanson represented Consumers cooperative and Leonard Swanson represented Production Credit association at the meeting. Both businesses are operated in Thief River Falls.

The 186 annual meeting delegates reviewed company policies and operating statements for 1982 and reelected four incumbents to three-year terms on the MSI board of directors.

Artichoke Co., State Reach Settlement

Settlement has been reached between AEFS (formerly America Energy Farming systems, Inc.) and the office of the Minnesota attorney general.

Under the terms of the settlement, AEFS will sign an assurance of discontinuance and make an offer of rescission to growers by April 30. The assurance of discontinuance, filed in Ramsey county district court, concludes the investigation of the Marshall based company for alleged consumer fraud in the sale of more than $19 million worth of Jerusalem artichoke tubers in the United States.

An assurance of discontinuance is not an admission of violation of law and AEFS denies any wrongdoing. The company has restructured its selling materials and marketing programs.

James Dwire, president of AEFS, commented, "We are pleased that we have come to the conclusion of this time consuming legal process. Now we can get on with our primary purpose, the selling of Jerusalem artichokes, and our commitment to help America's family farmer develop greater energy independence."

In the assurance of discontinuance, attorney general Hubert H. Humphrey III AEFS sales representatives had been trained to tell growers that they could make as much as $36,000 per acre growing Jerusalem artichokes, but that the company's sales materials and presentations were replete with misrepresentations and misleading omissions. He alleged that the company had failed to disclose to growers that it is highly unlikely that the crop will expand as AEFS has predicted, because there are currently no large markets for the crop (other than as seed), and because the growth projected by the company would be unprecedented in agricultural history.

The Jerusalem artichoke is a species of sunflower with a potato-like underground tuber. The tuber is marketed as a specialty food, and the entire U.S. demand for the tubers has been supplied in recent years by about 1,000 acres of the crop.

The attorney general warned that growers should not plant this crop relying on a continued seedstock market as an outlet for their harvest, because the seedstock market will soon be saturated, and seed prices will inevitably fall.

He also alleged that the company failed to adequately inform growers that any other potential markets for the crop are currently small or nonexistent, and that there are serious obstacles to enlarging these markets. The company has held out the prospect of large, profitable markets for the crops as a food, as a livestock feed and as a potential source of ethanol, Humphrey alleged.

In the assurance of discontinuance, the company agreed to pay the state of Minnesota a civil penalty of $25,000 and to offer a full refund to each grower who has not already recovered his initial investment. As a result, the company will offer growers nationwide the opportunity to withdraw from the program and to receive refunds which, if all growers were to accept, could total more than $19 million. This is the largest refund offer ever obtained by the Minnesota attorney general's office, Humphrey observed.

Humphrey emphasized, however, that this settlement allows each grower to make his own decision whether to continue in the program.

"Our purpose has been to insure that farmers are provided with the full truth about the risk they take in growing this crop. At that point, the decision is up to the farmer. Based on the opinions we have received from agricultural experts at the University of Minnesota, the Minnesota department of agriculture, and elsewhere, we believe this is an extremely risky crop at this time.

"But, farmers are accustomed to evaluating risks, and I am confident that once they have all the facts, they will be able to make the decision which is right for their farming operations," he added.

As part of the assurance of discontinuance, the company has agreed not to make misrepresentations about the crop or its potential, and to inform prospective growers about the risks involved. Any future violation could subject the company to additional civil penalties of not less than $10,000.

Humphrey said that his office had worked closely with the office of Iowa attorney general Tom Miller in obtaining this settlement, and that a parallel settlement will be filed in that state, with AEFS paying Iowa $15,000 for its investigative costs. In addition, the attorney general offices in North Dakota, South Dakota, Wisconsin, Illinois, Nebraska, Indiana, Missouri, Colorado and Texas have been following the progress of Minnesota's investigation and a number of those states are expected to seek settlements patterned after the Minnesota assurance of discontinuance.

When it was passed in 1938, the Fair Labor Standards Act provided a 25-cent wage and time-and-a-half for hours worked over 40 a week, according to "Important Events in American Labor History, 1778-1978," a publication of the U.S. Labor Department.

Bus tickets are available from the coordinator in each town and at the Newfolden senior center.

"Kids Week" Is Proclaimed By Governor

Minnesota Governor Rudy Perpich has proclaimed April 10-17 as "Kids Week" throughout the state to call attention to the needs of disadvantaged young people from rural areas who have learning and emotional problems.

Kids, Inc., a non-profit Minnesota organization, is sponsoring the event with local chapters of Future Farmers of America (FFA), Future Homemakers of America (FHA) and 4-H. Kids, Inc., was organized in 1972 by a group of rural businessmen under the direction of Cy Carpenter, president of the Minnesota Farmers Union, to help young people through therapeutic counseling, summer camping and developmental reading.

Kids, Inc. has helped to provide scholarships for over 2,000 youngsters to attend the Camp Buckskin summer learning program — the only program of this kind for rural children in Minnesota. These children, referred by teachers, counselors and county agencies, are often behind in reading achievement. The carefully designed program at Camp Buckskin, located near Ely, focuses on developing self confidence through swimming, canoeing and other camping experience, instilling positive attitudes and improving reading skills.

The cost of one camp scholarship is $313, which Kids, Inc., raises through corporations and individuals from through Minnesota. For more information contact an area FFA or FHA member of Ralston Bauer, director of Camp Buckskin, 5400 - 45th Avenue North, Robbinsdale, MN 55422.

Firms To Buy Sunflowers On Oil Content

Cargill Inc., of Riverside, ND and ADM Processing of Red Wing have increased the oil premiums and discounts they pay for oil sunflowers. The new schedule rewards growers who produce high oil sunflowers and discounts those who produce under 40 per cent oil. A two per cent premium is paid for each per cent of oil over 40 per cent and a discount is made for each below 40 per cent.

Since 75 per cent of a processor's revenue comes from the oil, it is to the company's advantage to promote oil content. The companies stress two things: (1) Make sure the farmer knows the importance of oil discount and premiums and (2) encourage researchers to develop higher oil sunflower hybrids.

Low oil content hurts the crush margin and the companies feel it's necessary to give farmers higher incentives for high oil. They believe that higher oil sunflowers are going to be important to the future of the industry.

According to University of Minnesota tests the difference among high and low oil sunflower hybrids may be as much as 12 percentage points. That is a dollar return difference of $32.40 per acre between the two extremes, assuming a base price of nine cents per pound, a yield of 1,500 pounds per acre, and the two per cent premium or discount schedule.

Seek Input On State Road Rule Changes

Interested parties will have until April 19 to comment on the adoption of proposed amended rules relating to state-aid roads and streets.

Included among the proposed amended rules are width changes for city streets and design changes for city street and rural county state-aid highway projects. Both oral and written statements will be accepted.

Written comments should be addressed to Gordon Fay, MN-DOT State Aid Engineer, 420 Transportation Building, St. Paul, MN 55155. Oral comments can be made in person in Room 420 or by calling (612) 296-9877.

Fee of $6 per person will be charged. Workshop will be presented by Bob Knutson and John Stewart, AVTI carpentry and architectural drafting instructors, respectively.

Topics to be covered are design, construction, costs, and future potential of super-insulation. Workshop is designed for contractors, carpenters, building supply personnel, real estate people, money lenders, and consumers. Super-insulation manuals can be purchased for approxmiately $12.

Pre-registration is required by April 18 by contacting adult education, AVTI, Highway One East, Thief River Falls, MN 56701; 681-5424.

Average 1983 Tax Refund Is Up From 1982

Over one million state income tax returns have been filed through March 18, which is up five per cent from last year, according to state income tax director, Chauncey E. Peterson, Jr. State has mailed 290,000 refunds through March 18, which is up 70 per cent from the 170,000 refunds mailed at this time last year. Department anticipates that it will receive an additional one million, two hundred thousand, returns between now and April 15. Average 1983 refund is $269 which is up slightly from the $259 1982 average.

Taxpayers who have not filed their state tax return, and have questions, may call 296-3781 in the metropolitan area, or outstate may call 1-800-652-9094. Although busy signals are down substantially from last year, the best day to call is Thursday or Friday. Monday is the day when the telephone lines are the busiest, according to Peterson. Telephone office has answered 158,000 calls this year which is up 20,000 from this time last year.

Refunds are taking six weeks, from the time you file your return, at this time. This will increase to ten weeks as we come closer to the April 15 deadline, says Peterson.

Delay Action On Soo Line Holding Co.

Proposal to form a holding company for the Soo Line railroad company will not be presented to shareholders at the company's annual meeting in April as originally planned, Thomas M. Beckley, chairman and chief executive officer announced.

At its February meeting, the board of directors approved a proposal for formation of a holding company. Subject to receipt of favorable income tax rulings from United States and Canadian taxing authorities, the proposal was to have been presented to shareholders at the annual meeting. However, Canadian authorities have declined to issue the necessary ruling.

In view of these circumstances, the company is continuing efforts to obtain a favorable Canadian tax ruling and is considering whether there are alternative means by which a holding company structure can be established promptly.

Five-Day Stop Smoking Plan At R. L. Falls

Five-day plan to enable smokers to kick the habit and at the same time not gain weight is scheduled for April 11 to 15. Meetings will be held each evening at 7:30 p.m. at the wheat growers building south of Red Lake Falls.

Plan consists of films, group discussion and lectures. It is sponsored by the Seventh-day Adventist church and will be co-sponsored by St. John's hospital, Red Lake Falls clinic and the cancer society. Doctors Nelson, Phillips and other physicians and ministers will be participating in presenting this program.

Cancer Society estimates that in Minnesota there will be 1,800 new lung cancer cases this year with 1,600 deaths. Over 75 per cent of these are preventable.

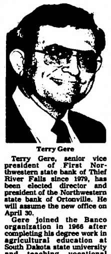
Gere To Head State Bank At Ortonville



Terry Gere

Terry Gere, senior vice president of First Northwestern state bank of Thief River Falls since 1979, has been elected director and president of the Northwestern state bank of Ortonville. He will assume the new office on April 30.

Gere joined the Banco organization in 1966 after completing his degree work in agricultural education at South Dakota state university and teaching vocational agriculture. He served at Slayton for six years and Tracy for seven years before moving to Thief River Falls.

While here he has served as a member of the chamber of commerce, chairman of Jobs Incorporated and held membership in the Northwest and Minnesota bankers associations and Upper Midwest agricultural credit council.

Hvidsten And Vigen Gain Bethel List

Bert Vigen, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bert Vigen of Thief River Falls and Scott Hvidsten, son of Mr. and Mrs. Orville Hvidsten of Thief River Falls were named to the Bethel college, St. Paul dean's list for fall semester.

Dwight Jessup, vice president and dean of the college, made the announcement and stated that those honored must maintain a 3.5 grade point average.

Resorters Say No Change In Ontario Rules

Resorters of Lake of the Woods have issued a statement assuring fishermen that all of the Ontario proposals regarding fishing have been placed on hold.

"In 1983 there will be no day use fee for fishing or camping, there will be no Ontario base of operation requirement and there will be no change in the license requirements," states Alan Rybolt, president of the Warroad Northwest Angle resort association.

"Groups from both sides are currently searching for ways to maintain and imporve the traditional friendly relationship between Minnesota and Ontario," he said.

Supreme Court Rules Against Closed Meeting

President Donald C. Hill of the Minnesota Education association (MEA) lauds a high court decision that school boards cannot legally conduct sessions disguised as something else.

By a 7-2 vote, the Minnesota supreme court has held that members of the St. Cloud board of education violated the open meeting law by holding unadvertised meetings — described as "administrative seminars" — in a St. Cloud motel in September of 1980 and in Alexandria in August of 1981.

The St. Cloud Daily Times had taken the matter to Stearns county district court and lost. It appealed that decision.

Hill, who has championed the open meeting cause and has been instrumental in having the MEA take violators to court, says: "It's a gratifying and meaningful decision. We're happy with it. The MEA participated in this appeal to the supreme court by filing a friend of the court brief because of our total commitment to the belief that the public has a right to know how public business is conducted by its government officials."

Attorney Bernie Boland, who represented the Times, says the MEA brief "certainly had an impact on the case, as did MEA's earlier activities, which helped establish much of the precedent. The newspaper didn't win this case by itself; no case is decided in a vacuum.

"In Minnesota, all meetings of public bodies are open to the public, unless the legislature has said otherwise. The burden now is on elected officials to find a statutory exception in order to hold a closed meeting."

Letters to the Editor

To The Editor:

In reading Monday's edition of the Thief River Falls Times, I noticed a picture of the Junior Catholic Youth orginization from St. Bernard's church. I think it commendable that a group of children would take the time to spend a few hours brightning up the days of the residents of the CNC unit.

Evidentally the business manager of the paper thought it insignificant. He shrunk the picture submitted to him, to half its original size, and then couldn't get all the capital letters in the right places.

Notice, if you will, the large picture of the Lincoln high school weight room on page eight, or the size of the picture and article concerning the Prowlers hockey team. Granted, these are both newsworthy items, but it just proves the theory that: "If you're not born a boy, with a puck in one hand and a pair of skates in the other, you just don't rate in this newspaper."

Century Farm Program Seeks MN Families

Minnesota state fair and "The Farmer" magazine will continue to co-sponsor the century farm program, recognizing families who have owned their farms for at least 100 years. Since the program's inception in 1976, over 2,600 families have been honored.

Families who qualify will receive a weather-proof building sign signifying century farm recognition and a commemorative certificate, signed by Governor Rudy Perpich and the president of the state fair.

Names of all century farm families will be displayed at the machinery hill information center during the 1983 state fair, August 25 through Labor day, September 5.

Qualifications for recognition are: The farm must be at least 100 years old according to authentic land records; it must have been in continuous family ownership ("family" is defined as father, mother, uncle, aunt, brother, sister, son, daughter, first cousin and direct in-laws); continuous residence on the farm is not required, but ownership must be continous; and the farm must be at least 50 acres in size.

Applications are available from the Minnesota State Fair, St. Paul, Minn. 55108; phone (612) 642-2253. Deadline for application is July 15. Families previously recognized should not reapply.

Answers from the Bible by Pastor Don Peres

Q. Pastor Don, I am confused as to what happens to a person when they die. I hear people say that when you die that your soul immediately goes to be with the Lord or the devil. Some people say that your soul sleeps with your body until the resurrection. What does the Bible say about this?

A. The Bible has much to say on this subject. Many of the saints in the Bible looked forward to death with a sense of excitement rather than a sense of dread and fear.

In II Cor. 5:8 LB, the Apostle Paul teaches, "We are not afraid but are quite content to die, for then we will be at home with the Lord."

In Phil. 1:21-23 LB the Apostle Paul mentions to the Christians at Philippi, "For to me, living means opportunities for Christ, and dying, well, that's better yet! But if living will give me more opportunities to win people to Christ, then I really don't know which is better, to live or die! Sometimes I want to live and at other times I don't, for I long to go and be with Christ. How much happier for me than being here."

Jesus taught people that death for the true Christian, the person who has received Christ as his personal Saviour, is a graduation. A time of going to heaven immediately at death and spending the rest of eternity with the Lord.

In Luke 23:43 Jesus told the thief on the cross, "Today shalt thou be with me in paradise."

Notice that Jesus did not say after the resurrection, or after your soul has slept for 2,000 years, but today.

If the soul stayed with the body at death, then there would be no reason to pray for its return as the Prophet Elijah did.

I Kings 17:22 says, ". . . and the Lord heard the voice of Elijah and the soul of the child came into him again, and he revived."

In Luke 16 Jesus tells a story about a rich man and a man named Lazarus: "And it came to pass that the beggar died, and was carried by the angels into Abraham's bossom: the rich man also died, and was buried: and in hell he lifted up his eyes, being in torment; and seeth Abraham afar off, and Lazarus in his bosom."

Jesus is teaching here that immediately at death, your soul spends eternity in one place or the other. That decision is up to YOU! If you want to spend eternity in heaven, you must receive Jesus Christ into your heart and have your sins forgiven.

In Matt. 17 we notice that the souls of Moses and Elijah were not soul-sleeping, as they were very present with the Lord on the mount of His transfiguration.

Matt. 17:3 says, "and behold, there appeared unto them Moses and Elijah talking with him."

These are just a few of the verses that teach we immediately leave the body at death.

If you have any questions that you would like to have answered from the Bible, please write Pastor Don Peres, Box 129, Thief River Falls, MN 56701.

DANCE FOR HEART will be the title of a marathon to be held in the Thief River Falls auditorium on Saturday, April 30. Corinne "Cor" Flynn (in polka dot body suit), a certified aerobic dance instructor, will be leading groups of volunteer dancers in vigorous exercise routines for a maximum of four hours. Dancers will be seeking pledges of donations, based on the length of time that they can keep dancing. Monday raised will be donated to the Heart fund, for research into prevention and treatment of heart disease. Some of these students of Cor's will be participating in the marathon, but she notes that all volunteers are welcome. Persons who would like to either participate in the dancing or pledge contributions should call Cor at 681-6109, or Gloria Kildahl at 681-7177.

Dancers Fight Heart Disease Multiple Ways

Each individual has a maximum heart rate calculated for them, and Cor explains that the object of the exercise is to reach their "target zone" (defined as 65 to 80 per cent of maximum) and stay there for 20 minutes. Even while they take their pulse, students remain in motion to keep their pulse rates within the target zone.

"With heart disease the nation's number one killer, it's particularly appropriate to fight it through this kind of activity, since research has shown that aerobic exercise is one of the most effective methods of strengthening the heart," she said. Aerobic exercise is defined as any exercise which increases the efficiency of the heart and lungs, thereby increasing the amount of oxygen in the blood. This results in a slower, stronger heartbeat, reducing the odds of having a heart attack.

While aerobic exercise includes such activities as running or swimming, Cor notes that aerobic dancing combines music and movement into a form of vigorous exercise that is both healthful and fun. "We're going to have a good time doing this," she said, "but if anybody needs another reason for getting in shape, helping out the heart fund is a good one."

Money contributed to the heart fund is used to finance research into the causes, prevention and treatment of cardio-vascular disease, which kills more people each year than all other causes of death combined, including cancer.

Dance for Heart will raise funds by having dancers collect pledges for donations, based on how long they dance. Although dancers may set their own limits on how long they dance, maximum time any one person will be able to dance will be four hours.

Cor notes that both dancers and sponsors will be needed in order for the project to be successful. Persons who would like to participate, either by dancing or sponsoring one or more dancers may gain further information by calling Corinne "Cor" Flynn at 681-6109 or Gloria Kildahl at 681-7177.

MAINTAINING YOUR HEARING AID

All new hearing aids now include information on maintenance for the user. Your aid deserves consistent care. Here are some important DO's and DON'T's:

DON'T expose the hearing aid to moisture (baths, showers, wet hair, rain)

DON'T leave the hearing aid on a table or window sill exposed to the sun, or near radiators or heaters

DON'T open your instrument and attempt to repair it yourself

DO remove the battery if the aid is not used for any lengthy period

DO keep the aid in a safe place; it is an attractive and curious object to children and pets

DON'T drop the hearing aid

DON'T wear your hearing aid while applying hair spray

If the earmold becomes occluded with ear wax, DO be sure to remove it carefully.

DO return the hearing aid to the dispenser at least every six to eight months for a careful and professional cleaning.

Your hearing aid is a delicate instrument. Take care of it.

Thank You!

The Thief River Falls Jaycees wish to thank the many local businesses who once again supported us during our annual radio days promotion. Thanks to you, the project was a success and we will now be financially able to run several projects for the betterment of our community.

We extend a special thanks to radio stations KTRF and KKAQ for allowing us to "take over the air waves". Without your cooperation, there would be no radio days.

The Jaycees are an organization of young men between the ages of 18 and 35 working for the benefit of our community and our country.

Radio Days Promotion

When do you receive the first benefits of a Banco IRA?

April 15.

Or to be more exact, it would be the actual date when you file your federal income tax return for 1982.

That's when you realize that a Banco IRA is much more than something you will enjoy years into the future.

It's a substantial tax shelter for today.

And you can open an IRA to qualify as a 1982 tax deduction any time this year, up until the day when you must file your tax return. It could be April 15. Or later in some cases.

At any rate, that's the time when you deduct from your gross income the money you've invested in your IRA. The result can be a pleasant surprise.

For example, if you are in the 30%-50% tax bracket and invest $1,000 in a Banco IRA, you'll save $300-$500 in federal income taxes. And the more you earn, the more you save on your final tax bill.

In fact, you pay no taxes on the money you invest or on the earnings of your IRA until you start withdrawing your funds upon retirement. And by then you're likely to be in a lower bracket so your final tax bill is bound to be less.

If you've been thinking about opening a Banco IRA you'll be in good company.

Your Banco Bank is an important part of Northwest Bancorporation which has $17 billion in assets. That's a good thing to know.

See your Banco Bank. It's the right place to come to for an IRA.

All IRA plans are not alike.
Compare Banco's 18-month floating rate IRA.
- 10% Minimum Rate Guaranteed—through July 1, 1983.
- No minimum deposit. ($25 minimum for automatic transfers.)
- No fees.
- Flexible—You add to your investment any time, and all deposits mature on the same date as the first deposit.
- Security—Your deposits are insured by the FDIC. And in the care of Northwest Bancorporation, with $17 billion in assets.

Substantial penalty for early withdrawal prior to age 59½. Maximum investment in an IRA is $2,000 per year.

Basketball Tournament Discussed

Minnesota State High School League (MSHSL) has approved a 20-game basketball schedule for high school teams in 1983-84, with the stipulation that the two additional games must be part of a tournament.

Schools may add a four-team tournament for the two additional games, or they can stage an eight-team tournament by dropping their regular scheduled slate of games of 17 from the current 18.

Both Bemidji and Detroit Lakes officials have indicated interest in lining up four-team holiday tournaments and Thief River Falls would be interested in the same format.

However, those plans are just in the talking stages at this point. Officials here aren't interested in a tournament with the likes of Crookston, East Grand Forks or Bemidji since the Prowlers play each of those teams twice during the course of the year, anyway. If a tournament were to be held here, it would likely include area Class A schools like Middle River, Goodridge, Marshall County Central, etc.

Miscellaneous

+ Thief River Falls' Scott Sabo, after helping lead the University of Wisconsin win the NCAA hockey tournament in Grand Forks, N.D., on a recent Saturday night was the starting pitcher on the Badgers' baseball team just three days later in Texas where the lefthanded Wisconsin junior was the loser in a 5-4 contest in which he walked six and struck out 12 in seven innings.

+ Kevin Murphy of Thief River Falls has been named captain of the University of North Dakota men's swimming team for the 1983-84 season.

+ Bemidji's Bryan Hickerson, a freshman lefthander, impressed University of Minnesota baseball coach John Anderson on the Gophers' recent season-opening southern trip into Texas. Hickerson, said Anderson, had two strong outings, losing a 3-2 game to No. 3-ranked Houston and striking out nine in a 13-2 win over Sam Houston State.

+ Roseau's Butsy Erickson, who justed signed with the Washington Capitals of the National Hockey League, finished his four-year University of Minnesota hockey career as the second leading scorer in school history. In 144 games he scored 109 goals and added 129 assists for 238 points, second only to All-American John Mayasich's 289 points. Erickson's 109 goals ranks third on the school record list and his assist total ranks second. Another former Roseau skater and Erickson's high school linemate — Aaron Broten — owns the Minnesota single season scoring record with 106 points, a mark he set in 1980-81 before signing an NHL contract. With Neal Broten an established star for the Minnesota North Stars, Erickson's signing means all three members of that potent Roseau Broten-Broten-Erickson line have NHL contracts — a feat that probably hasn't been accomplished very often, if ever, in the history of Minnesota high school hockey.

+ Plans to construct a $111,825 ice arena near the Little Falls high school building for the struggling Section 8 newcomers drew a protest from residents of the area. The school board voted to gift the Little Falls Youth Hockey Association with the site for $1 if the school district was cleared of any liability for the facility. But a spokesman for the protesters said the building would detract from the view of the homeowners, increase traffic, cause depreciation of property values and deprive the school of land often used for sports activities.

+ Jon Port and Mike Johnson have been named co-captains of the 1983-84 Bemidji high school hockey team. Phil McDonald was named winner of the Joby Beck Award as the Lumberjacks' most dedicated player during the team's recent post-season banquet.

+ Doug Imholte was named the most valuable player award winner on the 1983-84 Detroit Lakes high school basketball team, with Mark Geiselhart named the most improved player and hardest worker. David Douglas was elected captain of the 1983-84 Lakers.

Dog Training, Field Classes Begin April 20

Agassiz Kennel club is sponsoring dog obedience classes this spring with sign-up for all the classes on April 20 at 6:30 p.m. at the sheep barn on the Pennington county fairgrounds.

Proof of rabies shots should be brought to this meeting, but dogs should be left at home. Basic steps of dog training and equipment needed will be discussed.

Both beginning and advanced work is offered at a cost of $18 for 10 weeks. Children under 19 years of age can take showmanship. Obedience and conformation classes are open to any age or breed of dog.

4-H members are enrolled free for obedience or showmanship classes and club members receive special reduced rates.

For the first time, bird hunting dog training and field trial instruction will be available. Separate groups for the pointer breeds and the retriever and flushing breeds will be held. Beginning and advanced participants are welcome. Cost is $25 for 10 weeks in the field.

All players and managers should attend the meeting. Anyone interested in entering a team in the league for the 1983 season should contact Dennis Bendickson as soon as possible by calling 681-6922 or 681-2181.

— Pool Schedule —

Wed., April 6 — 7-8 p.m. aerobic swimming.
Thurs., April 7 — 7-8 p.m. open swimming.
Sat., April 9 — 1:30-2:30 p.m. Camp Courage rental; 4-6 p.m. Evangelical church rental.
Sun., April 10 — 1:15-3:15 p.m. open swimming; 7:15-8:15 p.m. open swimming.

New Walleye Stocking Ideas Being Studied

Because of the popularity of the walleye and its suitability for many Minnesota lakes, management of that species is the largest single item in the Department of Natural Resource's fisheries budget.

Most stocking is done with fingerlings or fry since it is not practical to raise walleyes to large size; and because of their small size at time of stocking, it is very difficult to mark or "tag" them for future identification.

Identification of stocked fish is necessary to properly evaluate the success of the stocking program, according to DNR fisheries specialists.

Fisheries research is currently reviewing all fish marking methods now available and developing new techniques that can be selected for use on small walleye. When this selection has been completed the new methods will be used on a trial basis for refinement and evaluation.

When tagging results are favorable, the marking program will be expanded to an extensive statewide effort. Selected lakes, which are representative of the variety of lakes and conditions where walleye are stocked, will receive marked fry or fingerlings.

Reliable identification of marked fish at a later date will verify where the DNR is getting the best return on stocking and with what size fish. The resulting refinement of the walleye stocking program will provide the greatest return to the angler for dollars spent.

Track Teams Preparing For '83 Season Openers

Lincoln high school track teams are preparing for the 1983 season, which starts Friday for the girls, who will compete in the Crookston Indoor beginning at 4 p.m. in the Winter Shows Building.

Another Crookston Indoor, this one for boys and girls, will be held Thurs., April 14, with both Thief River Falls teams entered in the 4 p.m. meet which will serve as the season opener for the boys.

Both Thief River Falls teams are facing the same problems this spring: relatively small numbers and a shortage of proven point-producers. Although coaches Tom Olson (boys) and Tom Schafer (girls) both said nearly everyone expected to report for the sport showed up this spring, neither was satisfied with the total turnout — 29 boys and 28 girls.

"We don't have much depth, and there's not a whole lot of experience out there, either," pointed out Olson.

However, not all is lost. "We're trying to look on the bright side," he said. "In some areas we will shine. If some of the freshman can pick up the slack, we might do all right."

Senior Lon Aune is expected to be the team's leader, heading a very solid group of distance runners the Prowlers have on hand. And they may be able to complement those with some promising sprinters.

Meanwhile, Schafer says, "We're an awfully young club. Most of our points will probably come from the sophomore-junior bunch."

Foreign exchange students Pia Tymberg and Hildegunn Nyland have bolstered the senior class on the team, with Tymberg expected to be a point-producer in the high jump and Nyland regarded as one of the top runners on the team. Sophomore Stacie Kruta may be a top hurdler for the Prowlers, who also expect to be able to field a strong mile relay team that could include Kruta, Nyland, junior Sherry Sabo, junior Paula Wilkens, sophomore Georgia Howard or sophomore Tricia Armstrong.

"It could be a fun year for us," noted Schafer. "We've got the potential, it's just a matter of how much our younger girls can come along and contribute."

It might not be an overwhelming opener for the Prowlers since meet entrants like East Grand Forks and Crookston have the advantage of earlier openers and indoor practice facilities, respectively. "We're always at a disadvantage in the first meet," acknowledged Schafer. "We'll just go with the idea of trying to see what the girls can do and not worry about the point totals."

Girls out for track include seniors — Kristy Peterson, Lynn Culkins, Sara Green, Tymberg, Nyland; juniors — Angie Elvir, Wilkens, Sabo; sophomores — Jackie Thune, Jessica Soine, Julie Finstad, Melissa Grabanski, Carla Dick, Lisa Howe, Jenny Olson, Dawn Joppru, Howard, Kruta, Armstrong; freshmen — Lynell Armstrong, Tami Coltom, Misawn Homme, Renae Berg, Kim Aune, Shelli Trontvet, Pauline Lindberg, Michelle Sandstrom and Sue Pfiefer.

Peterson and Wilkens are serving as co-captains. They are also 15 seventh and eighth graders working out with the team.

Charity Golf Classic Slated In Grand Forks

Sixth annual "First Banks Diabetes Golf Classic" will be held Friday, May 20, at the Grand Forks Country Club. Proceeds from the tournament sponsored by the 15 First Banks in North Dakota will go to the American Diabetes Association in North Dakota. The five previous tournaments have netted more than $58,000 for diabetes education and research programs in the state.

According to this year's tournament chairman, Casey Ryan, M.D., this year's registration fee is $135, which includes green fees, golf prizes and a post-tournament banquet ticket. Additional banquet tickets may be purchased for $15.

Persons interested in participating can contact their local First Bank president, or send their money to tournament treasurer Fran Schreder, First Bank - Grand Forks, P.O. Box 1118, Grand Forks, ND 58201.

Basketball Awards . . .

Mark Gere Is Prowlers' MVP

Mark Gere was named as the most valuable player award winner Tuesday at the annual Lincoln high school basketball team banquet in the school cafeteria.

Other special recognition was given to Randy Naeseth, presented with an award for being the Prowlers' best rebounder; Steve Kruta, given an award as the team's top defensive player; Jeff Hamerlinck and Steve Olson, who shared the inspiration award; Tim Kruse, named the most improved varsity player; Ryan Drees, named the most improved sophomore player; and Darrel Miller, named the most improved freshman team member.

John Brandt was also recognized for his winning effort in the annual Valentine Day free throw shooting contest sponsored by the Jewel Box.

Athletic letters were presented by head coach Tom Hunt to 14 players, including seniors Bob Evans, Kirk Jenson, Dean Koropatnicki, Darren Wiskow, Kruta, Olson, Gere and Naeseth; juniors John Kinsman, Randy Erickson, Brandt, Kruse and Hamerlinck; sophomore Mark Bondy, plus student manager Robert Vanyo.

Boosters Club Plans Meeting On Thursday

1983-84 DUES ARE DUE

NAMED WINNER of the 1983 Thief River Falls Archery Club "archer of the year" award was 13-year-old Jimmy Hahn, being presented with the trophy from 1982 winner Fred Olson at the club's recent awards banquet in the National Guard armory.

TRF Archery Club Banquet Is Held

Annual post-season Thief River Falls Archery Club awards banquet was held recently at the National Guard armory.

Team awards went to regular season league champion Smiley Bowmen (Rick Bruggeman, Candy Bergh, Jay Moum, Mark Hagen) and post-season tournament winner Heritage Hunters (Les Nelson, Dale Nelson, Dale Barth, Gary Twieten).

Individually, 13-year-old Jimmy Hahn was named as archer of the year," by a membership vote, based upon participation in club activities.

Dave Hanson was named the most improved archer in league competition.

Sandbagger of the year award went to Darrell Janisch.

New Statewide Fishing Contest Has $100,000 In Cash, Prizes

A statewide fishing tournament known as Minnesota Walleye Cup '83 has been announced by Dave Best, President of Upper Midwest Sports, Inc., Minneapolis-based sponsor of the contest.

Slated for opening weekend, May 14-15, the tournament will include all game fishing waters in Minnesota exclusively.

Three classes of fish are eligible for prizes: walleye, northern and crappie. All fish must be taken by hook and line, and major winners will be required to pass polygraph tests (lie detectors).

A stable of over $100,000 in cash and prizes will be awarded to the top 170 winners. First Prizes include cash awards of $25,000 for the largest walleye, $10,000 for northern and $2,500 for crappie. Second Prize winners will receive a 16-foot fishing boat with a 50-hp motor and trailer for walleye; a boat with an 18-hp motor and trailer for northern; and a 9.8-hp motor for crappie.

Subsequent winners will receive Alaskan River Floats fishing trips for two, boats, 18-hp motors, depth finders, trolling motors and spinning reels.

In addition, winners posting state records in all three classes will be granted $10,000 cash bonuses each.

Minnesota residents and non-residents are eligible.

Although entry fees are $35 per entrant, an early entry fee of $28 is in effect until April 13. An extra $500 will be issued to the 12 early entrant winners; top six in the walleye class, top four in the northern class and top two in the crappie class. Official Minnesota Walleye Cup '83 patches will be sent to the first 500 entrants. Earlier entry wins in case of ties in all classes.

Entry applications are available at Upper Midwest Sports In Minneapolis, all Holiday outlets statewide, and many other sporting goods, bait shops and marine dealers.

Minnesota Department of Natural Resources (DNR) has issued permits for the tournament.

Weigh-in stations will be located throughout the state at 12,500 state certified scales.

Winners will be notified no later than June 15, 1983. The award ceremonies will be scheduled between June 17 and July 1, 1983.

For further information contact Upper Midwest Sports, Inc., 7101 York Avenue, South, Minneapolis, MN 55435.

Since the designated hitter rule came into effect in the American League in 1973, only two Minnesota Twins pitchers have made plate appearances: Bill Campbell and Vic Albury, both in 1975.

Jaycee Women Bowl-A-Thon For Reyes Set

Jaycee women of Thief River Falls and Newfolden are sponsoring a bowl-a-thon for Reyes Syndrome on Sunday, April 17, at the Family Bowl in this city from 12:30 to 5:30 p.m. Price is $1.00 per line and there is no charge for shoes. Three games are to be bowled consecutively and there is no age limit.

Reyes Syndrome is called a syndrome because it is a collection of certain symptoms and signs rather than a specific disease. Its cause is unknown and it attacks mostly healthy children, both male and female, ages 18 and under. RS usually follows a viral infection such as chicken pox and can be fatal or leave the child with varying degrees of motor or learning disabilities.

Pledge sheets can be obtained from the Family Bowl, principal's office at any of the Thief River Falls, Newfolden or Viking schools or by contacting Sue Sculthorp at 681-6973 (after 5 p.m.) or Penny Efta at 745-5665.

Prizes include calculators, an auto digital clock, hi-fi stereo headphone set, portable radio, pizzas, gift certificates, roller skating and bowling passes and hamburgers and fries.

A movie on the causes and effects of Reyes will be shown continuously throughout the afternoon in the lounge area of the Family Bowl.

All proceeds will go to the National Reyes Syndrome foundation.

DNR Shoreline Survey Sheets Being Studied

Water quality emerges as the primary concern of shoreland residents, based on returns from a DNR shoreland residents questionnaire.

Crowding and unsightly development are significant but slightly less important concerns according to the survey.

A survey was mailed this fall by the Department of Natural Resources, Division of Waters, to 3,500 residents of both lake and river shorelands throughout the state, and about half the questionnaires were returned.

Shoreland residents were questioned regarding their use of shoreland dwellings, recreation facilities, lake and river problems and attitudes towards water management policies.

DNR is in the process of evaluating information from the survey.

When asked to evaluate the significance of a range of potential problems, residents tended to rank a variety of water quality problems as being the most serious.

Algae blooms, surface water contamination and general environmental degradation were ranked the most serious problems. Just below them in ranking were problems relating to shoreland densities and crowding on the water surface.

Acid rain concern also was included in this secondary grouping of problem areas. Of least concern tended to be problems relating to shoreland alterations such as filling and dredging.

When asked to identify sources of problems on their lake or river, shoreland residents most frequently cited agricultural activity. Shore lot sewer system,s public campgrounds and parks ranked as secondary but significant problems.

Final results from the survey will be available this spring. Questions regarding the results can be directed to Jeff Stitt or Joe Stinchfield at the DNR Division of Waters, 296-9226.

Minnesota Wolf Covers Large 551-Mile Area In Its Travel

A new long-distance dispersal record has been set by a wolf which traveled the remarkable distance of 551 miles (minimum) from Minnesota to Saskatchewan, according to Dr. Steven H. Fritts, a U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service research biologist in Grand Rapids.

A 64-pound male wolf was radio-collared in July 1980 at a location 25 miles southeast of International Falls. Based on the extent of toothwear, he was estimated to be one-to-two years old.

Aerial radio tracking of the wolf during the following five months revealed that he was a member of a pack consisting of at least four adults plus pups with a territory just south of Kabetogama Lake near the Canadian border.

Near the end of 1980, radio contact with the wolf and his pack was lost when his radio-collar was chewed off, apparently by a packmate. At that time, the chances of the scientists ever learning his fate seemed slim.

Several months later, however, the Saskatchewan Department of Tourism and Renewable Resources reported to Fritts that the wold (positively identified by information on his eartags) had been killed in that Canadian province. The wolf had been shot by a deer hunter some 22 miles east of the town of Carrot River, Saskatchewan, in October 1981. The straight-line distance from the last known location in Minnesota to the point of death was 551 miles. Fritts noted that the actual route traveled (which will never be known) probably was much longer. The minimum dispersal rate for the wolf was 1.9 miles per day.

"The most direct of possible travel paths corresponds roughly to the southwestern edge of forest cover in Manitoba and Saskatchewan, which also corresponds roughly to the southwest edge of wolf range in that part of the continent," Fritts explains. "Thus, the course that was taken might have represented a compromise between ease of travel and efforts to avoid both areas of human activity and high wolf density."

According to Dr. David Mech, who has conducted wolf research in Minnesota since 1966, the distance traveled by the wolf is the longest known among approximately 610 wolves that have been tagged in Minnesota by the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service, the Minnesota Department of Natural Resources and University of Minnesota. Previously, the longest wolf dispersals from Minnesota were 268 and 242 miles. In Canada a dispersal of 416 miles has been documented. The 551-mile distance is not only a record for wolves anywhere but is apparently one of the longest documented journeys for any land mammal.

Fritts points out that movement of dispersing Minnesota wolves into Canada is not unusual. During his radio-telemetry studies in north-central and northwestern Minnesota in recent years, 20 radio-collared wolves dispersed from their packs, and at least five (25 per cent) of the 20 were later killed in Canada.

Information about the record dispersal of the wolf was reported to the scientific community in the February issue of the Journal of Mammalogy.

Wetlands Purchase Approved By Court

United States Supreme Court's decision recently freeing the U.S. to purchase North Dakota's wetlands is "a victory for the nation's wetlands and waterfowl," according to the National Wildlife Federation (NWF).

Supreme Court has ruled that the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service can acquire the rights to protect 700,000 acres of "prairie potholes" in North Dakota, despite laws passed by that state in 1976 that revoked previous consent for the acquisition.

Prairie potholes are shallow depressions which retain water through the dry summer months, and provide excellent breeding grounds for ducks and other migratory birds.

"The prairie potholes of North Dakota are this country's number one breeding ground for ducks," said Jay D. Hair, Executive Vice President of the Federation. "The Supreme Court's decision to protect these areas is a victory for North Dakota's and the nation's wetlands and waterfowl."

Hair said the decision will affect similar acquisition programs in South Dakota, Minnesota, Nebraska and Montana.

In giving the Fish and Wildlife Service the right to acquire North Dakota's prairie potholes, the Supreme Court wrote, "The protection of migratory birds has long been recognized as 'a national interest of very nearly the first magnitude.'. . . A series of treaties dating back to 1916 obligates the United States to preserve and protect migratory birds through the regulation of hunting, the establishment of refuges and the protection of bird habitats."

Between 1961 and 1977, North Dakota Governors Guy and Link had consented to the acquisition by the Fish and Wildlife Service, covering approximately 1.5 million acres of wetlands. In 1976, however, North Dakota passed several statutes that withdrew this consent.

In 1979, the Fish and Wildlife Service, with the encouragement of the National Wildlife Federation, sued North Dakota to void these statutes so that it could protect the more than 700,000 acres of prairie pothole wetlands in that state.

Based on the consents prior to 1976, the Fish and Wildlife Service had acquired over 750,000 acres of prairie potholes in North Dakota.

According to a "friend of the court" brief filed with the Supreme Court by the NWF, the North Dakota Wildlife Federation, and the National Audubon Society, "because of a reversal in policy by Governor Link stemming from hostility to an unrelated federal land acquisition plan by the federal government, involving the Garrison Diversion Unit, that state. . . attempted to withdraw, condition and qualify consents which it has already given for acquiring waterfowl production areas (prairie potholes)."

Federation's position was that "the consents granted by Governors Guy and Link can be neither revoked, modified, nor conditioned."

The challenged North Dakota actions to revoke the state's agreement with the Fish and Wildlife Service, the NWF stated, "affect the ability of the Fish and Wildlife Service to complete its land acquisition program and in fact, caused the Attorney General of the United States to advise the Department of the Interior against any further purchases of waterfowl production areas pending resolution of this litigation."

In ruling that "the consent cannot be revoked at the will of an incumbent Governor," the Supreme Court wrote that "the legislative history is replete with references to the need to preserve the nation's wetlands by bringing four to five million additional acres under the federal control."

Court's decision, according to the NWF, now frees the Interior Department to proceed with its wetlands acquisitions.

"Because of the challenged North Dakota statutes, there have been no wetland acquistions in that state since 1977," said Thomas Tomasello, fish and wildlife attorney for the National Wildlife Federation.

"Secretary Watt has also closed the acquisitions offices in North Dakota, and declared a moratorium on refuge acquisitions.

"With the Supreme Court's ruling, there is no longer any excuse for his ban on wetlands acquisition, and it's now time for him to get on with protecting our nation's wetlands and the waterfowl that depend on them."

DNR NEWS

DNR Arrests

Twenty-eight phone calls to the Department of Natural Resources on the "Turn In Poachers" special line produced 27 arrests for violations of state fish and game laws in February.

Citizens who wish to report a violation but remain anonymous may call the toll free number 1-800-652-9093.

TIP program also offers cash rewards to persons who report violations that lead to an arrest. In February, a total of $2,375 in reward money was paid out. However, many TIPsters reject the reward offer.

Arrests for deer violations accounted for 13 of the 27 arrests made last month.

More than half (15) of all arrests in February were made in northeastern Minnesota.

Walleye Research

Department of Natural Resources has announced that a new walleye research program will be conducted on five or six lakes in the state with the objective of increasing the average size of walleye caught by anglers.

Selection of lakes for the study is currently in progress. Those selected will be of moderate size and located in various parts of the state.

Increasing walleye size will be accomplished by special regulations, but Richard Hassinger, DNR fisheries Chief said these regulations would not reduce recreational angling opportunities. "For example," he said, "use of 'artificial baits only' is one regulation which will be considered."

After selection of candidate lakes, a public meeting will be held near each recommended lake to explain the program and solicit input and cooperation from the public.

As lakes are limited in the total pounds of fish they can produce, the increase in size will result in fewer walleye that can be taken. Hassinger said anglers have indicated they are willing to sacrifice bulk numbers of fish in exchange for larger sized fish.

"Although numerous lakes in the state contain significant numbers of large walleyes," he said, "many of these lakes are difficult for the average walleye angler to reach easily and even more difficult to fish, since large walleye have different feeding habits than smaller walleyes. This program will direct management effort to the production of larger walleye in lakes more accessible and easier to fish."

DNR Honors Man

A Beardsley man has been honored by the Department of Natural Resources for rescuing a snowmobiler who broke through the ice of Big Stone lake on Dec. 18.

Alois G. "Junior" Deutsch was at his fishing shelter on the north end of the lake when two South Dakota men on a snowmobile broke through the ice several hundred yards away.

DNR conservation officers said that Deutsch risked his own life by rushing to their assistance. He was able to pull Clements S. Kramer of Wilmot from the water but despite repeated efforts he was unable to rescue James Decurtins, 72, of Romona.

In announcing the award, Commissioner of Natural Resources Joseph Alexander said Deutsch "displayed the highest qualities of courage and self sacrifice by his willingness to risk his own life to save others, who were complete strangers to him."

Deutsch was presented the award at a ceremony in Beardsley on Monday, March 14, by DNR representative Paul Hansen.

Land Exchanges

On Wednesday, March 9, the Minnesota Land Exchange Board approved five land exchanges involving lands in southeastern Minnesota, the Department of Natural Resources reports.

By this action, three landowners in Wabasha county acquired cropland from the Department of Natural Resources. In Fillmore county, one landowner acquired cropland while another received a site near Rushford suitable for development.

Involved in the Wabasha county tracks were some 173.5 acres of cropland that the DNR had previously purchased from willing sellers as part of larger acquisitions. In return for that cropland, the DNR will be able to add approximately 270 acres of timber land to the Richard J. Dorer Memorial Hardwood State Forest.

Fillmore county exchanges involved 74 acres of state land and 111 acres of private land.

According to Rod Sando, Administrator of the Land Bureau, the DNR has been trading land in the RJD Memorial Hardwood Forest since 1969, but four years ago was directed by the state legislature to give added emphasis to the program.

In 1979 the legislature required the DNR to dispose of tillable land in the forest if it met the following criteria: (1) was acquired after 1977; (2) was 10 acres or more in size and adjacent to a maintained public road or other tillable land; or (3) if a farm homestead was involved.

Sando indicated that with the completion of the five exchanges approved on March 9, a total of 19 trades have taken place in the forest — nine within the last 12 months. The DNR currently has an additional nine transactions in progress involving forest land.

Mining Leases Issued

Commissioner of Natural Resources Joseph N. Alexander has announced he is pleased that successful bidders on 32 state mineral leases can now be awarded their leases.

State Executive Council approved issuance of the leases at their meeting March 9. All state mineral leases must be approved by the Council before they may be issued by the Commissioner.

Alexander said, "Approval of these leases means that exploration can now begin on these lands and that badly-needed jobs, such as those on prospect crews and drill rigs, will become available in this economically - depressed area."

He added, "In addition to the creation of jobs, rental payments from leases provide income to the state school trust fund and local units of government."

According to Alexander, the state has come full circle in the interest in the Vermilion Range — a geologic formation extending from west of Tower-Soudan northeast past Ely.

Early exploration in the area, done in the mid-1800's, was by gold prospectors; iron ore was found instead. During a period of some 90 years over 100 million tons of high-grade iron ore was produced from underground mines throughout the area.

In the late 1960's and early '70's the area was prospected for copper-nickel sulfides, and now — as it was over 100 years ago — the interest is again primarily in gold.

At the December 14 meeting the Council had approved 387 mineral leases but had deferred action on the 32 leases because of objections by several environmental groups.

In addressing the concerns of these groups, Alexander had said, "None of the state lands are within the Boundary Waters Canoe Area, and privately-owned lands in the same area are being leased or are owned by mineral exploration companies. These lands are currently being explored.

"If minerals are discovered on private or state-owned land, mining cannot take place until after required environmental statements and numerous permits have been approved. Public hearings are an important part of the process. Even the boring of drill holes is regulated under a recent state law."

Leases will be issued to the following companies who successfully bid on them at the November, 1982 lease sale: Kerr-McGee Corp., 12 leases; Lehmann Exploration Management Inc., 1 lease; St. Joe American Corp., 6 leases and Tamarack Company, 13 leases.

Steiner

Mrs. Alfred Solem, Rt. 2,
City, 681-3897

Mrs. Ethel Moe wishes to thank all her friends and neighbors who attended the open house at the Steiner hall Sunday afternoon, March 27, in honor of her birthday. She extends special thanks to the musicians who provided entertainment throughout the afternoon, to Mrs. Clifford Reierson for baking and serving the cake, to Mrs. Duane Vatsaas for all her help, to Mrs. LaVerne Rondorf for helping clean the hall, to Mrs. Jim Muzzy for help in the kitchen and a very special thank you to her family, Eldon, Evonne and Jim for their thoughtfulness.

Easter Sunday dinner guests at the home of Curtis and Ellen Bottem were Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Jorde, Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Bottem, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Jorde, Tami and Mike and Mrs. Corrine Olson and Brian.

Mr. and Mrs. Lester Muzzy, Darrel, Mitchell and Laureen were dinner guests Easter Sunday at the home of her folks, Mr. and Mrs. Odin Hanson in Silverton.

Art Lufkin of Crookston accompanied Lloyd Larson a week ago Saturday to Rocky Point on Lake of the Woods, where they enjoyed ice fishing until Monday. Art was a luncheon guest at Larsons before returning home. Mrs. Barbara Helgeland was also a luncheon guest at Larsons Monday forenoon. Mr. and Mrs. Larson were late Monday afternoon visitors and supper guests at the home of Mrs. Ethel Moe.

Wednesday afternoon Mr. and Mrs. Lester Halvorson, accompanied by Mrs. Harold Halvorson and Mrs. Alfred Solem drove to Greenbush, where they attended funeral services for Milo Everson at the Bethel Lutheran church. Casket bearers were nephews of Milo, Richard and Robert Halvorson, sons of Mr. and Mrs. Morris Halvorson, Bruce and Bradley Gust, Steven Efteland, and Douglas Hoverson. Sympathy is extended to the Everson family and other relatives.

Saturday evening supper guests at the home of Curtis and Clara Mae Swanson were Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Jorde, Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Russell, Cindi and Brenda, Olaf Jorde and Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Swanson and girls.

Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Larson were Tuesday afternoon luncheon guests at the home of Mrs. Anne Muzzy in Thief River Falls.

House guests at the Leonard Yonke home from Thursday evening to Sunday evening were Marvin and Carol Yonke of East Grand Forks. Jim and Lennae Kosmatka, Brian, April and Sheri Ann of Grafton were house guests at Yonkes from Saturday to Monday afternoon. Saturday evening they were all joined for an Easter supper by Mr. and Mrs. Chester Yonke, Jason, Scott, and Steven, together with Leonard and Shirley Yonke and David. Later in the evening Mr. and Mrs. Joe Nelson and Jerry and Mrs. Lucille Yonke, all from rural St. Hilaire, joined the group for birthday cake and ice cream in honor of Marla Yonke.

Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Larson were Saturday visitors and dinner guests at the home of Mrs. Gerry Nelson of rural Holt. In the evening Mr. and Mrs. Erwin Muzzy, who recently returned from Florida where they spent the winter months, were visitors at the Larson home.

Skiing Trip to Montana

Harold Halvorson joined a group of sixteen from a church congregation in Bloomington Friday, March 25, at Rothsay as they came up on freeway 94 in two vans. Morris Halvorson and daughter Julie were among the group. They spent four days at the Big Sky Resort in Mont., where there were accommodations for overnight visitors, a sauna, hot tubs, and a heated outdoor swimming pool. They spent one day at the Bridger Bowl near Bozeman, where they closed the resort at 4 o'clock, when the group left for home. Harold reported nice weather with some sunshine, same amount of snow as on the level in our area and some icy roads. He left the group at Rothsay and had dinner at the Pastor Kermit Solem home before returning to Thief River Falls, Friday afternoon, April 1, after a good time of skiing.

Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Larson were Easter Sunday dinner guests at the home of Eugene and Dianne Kleinwachter home at Strandquist. They were also supper guests there, together with Mr. and Mrs. Art Kleinwachter.

FISHIN' TIPS

from . . . Tom Mann

DO YOU BELIEVE that bass have personalities? Well, until I began taking bass fishing seriously, and had an 18,000 gallon "fishbowl" built into my office, the thought never crossed my mind. Today, I know they do.

I have watched them fascinatedly, hour after hour, and not only am able to recognize each of a dozen big bass by sight but also by shape, and the way they behave. Some are shy, hanging outside the pack and eating after the others have eaten. Others are aggressive and bully their way around.

Some jump when hooked, others never jump but bore down for bottom where they might snag the line and break free. Then, there was Leroy Brown. He took over my big fishbowl, ruled the roost. He'd bump smaller bass away from a lure, would ignore one himself, reflected pleasure after eating, and showed anger when irritated.

I had ol' Leroy for seven years before he passed away in July, 1980. We had a funeral attended by celebrities and erected a marble memorial. Yep, ol' Leroy had a personality, a regal one. He was special. He was MISter Leroy Brown!

BRER TOM'S CLOSING TIP: Walt Disney and Aesop made wild creatures talk, and think. Leroy didn't talk, but I know he could think. And when he knew he was being watched, I believed I could detect a little more "strut" than usual. Leroy was something special.

Grygla

Lillian Sundberg, Grygla 294-6146

Mr. and Mrs. Thorfin Ostby and Eleanor McMillin spent last Sunday at Osnabrock, N.D. where they visited at the Alfred Aamot home and with other relatives. They celebrated the birthdays of both Olive's mother and that of Eleanor's mothers.

Mr. and Mrs. Steve Sparby accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Van Swanson of Thief River Falls spent a week vacationing at Freeport on Grand Bahama Island. They all enjoyed the beautiful beaches and the warm summer-like weather. They also toured the island to enjoy the scenery. On returning to Minneapolis, the Swanson continued on to Thief River Falls and Steve and Julie visited with Howard Vigen at Apple Valley and with Curtiss and Jeanni Clausen of Eagen. They also visited with Wallace and Ione Sparby and sat in on a house meeting with Representative Sparby. Before leaving for their trip to the Bahamas, they visited with Bob and Sue Sparby in Minneapolis.

The Grygla senior citizens met at the Community Center on Wednesday, Mar. 30. The speaker was present who spoke about senior meals and activity program. Linda Rethemeier, project director from Crookston and Valerie McDonald, coordinator from Ada spoke about the nutrition education and the senior meals service to senior citizens who may obtain meals at the centers. Homebound people also may receive "home delivered meals" if they wish. This service is sponsored by Tri-Valley Opportunity Council, Inc. and is made possible in part by the State of Minnesota and by Title III of the Federal Older Americans Act through a grant from the Northwest Regional Development Commission, Area Agency on Aging and the Minnesota Board on Aging.

The local program is administered by Edith Magnuson and MaryAnn Verbout and seems to be growing and expanding its services. People are asked to notify one of the ladies if they plan to come to one of the meals which are served on Wednesdays and Fridays.

Guests at the Harold Schulz home last Monday for supper and the evening were Mr. and Mrs. Ames Evenson of Crookston and Mr. and Mrs. Chealie Ruud of Gatzke. They celebrated Eunice's mother's birthday, Mrs. Ames Evenson.

Mrs. Lee Sundberg and sons, Andrew and Robert, returned on Monday from Garrison, N.D. where she had spent a week visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Fliginger.

Mr. and Mrs. Gary Skibicki, Shannon, Cheryl, Brent and Cindy of Duluth spent a few days during the weekend visiting at the Harry Johaneson home. They also visited at the Joe Skibicki and the Wes Skibicki homes in Thief River Falls. Other guests at the Johaneson home on Friday evening were Clifford Anderson, Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Johaneson, Casey and Jacob of Middle River.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Johaneson were guests at the Harlan Bergeron home at Thompson, N.D. on Easter Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Sundberg, Sean and Sara of Grand Forks, Mr. and Mrs. Ellis Austin, Eric and Darrin of East Grand Forks and Mr. and Mrs. Steve Sparby were Easter Sunday dinner guests at the Karl Sundberg home.

Mr. and Mrs. Gerald McLean, Tony and Chris spent the weekend visiting their daughter, Kim, who is attending NDSU at Fargo, N.D.

Congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Paul Nordby on the birth of a baby son named Gavin Paul, on Tuesday, March 29.

Mr. and Mrs. Ronnie Waling spent a few days visiting at the Willie Wiersma home at Alden, Ill. They also visited with Mr. and Mrs. Dale Stanley at Alden. They enjoyed touring an underground house, an earth shelter which needs no heat even in the coldest weather. Mr. and Mrs. Waling and Steven also visited Harry Warner at Darwin and Wanda's grandmother, Rose Braum, at Perham.

Mr. and Mrs. Carter Torgerson and family spent a few days visiting at the Ed Olufson home at Grand Forks, N.D.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Olufson spent the weekend visiting at the Carter Torgerson, Doug Torgerson and Clayton Sundberg homes.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Olufson (former Violet Torgerson), Mr. and Mrs. Lester Bratvold and Henry Olufson returned home after a three week vacation trip through southwestern United States. They first drove to Lansing, Neb. where they visiting Ed's son, Roger and family. From there they went to Las Vegas where they spent the night at the Maxim motel. The next day, they drove to Reseda, Calif. to visit their sister, Emma Robins. They went on to Los Angeles to visit Oscar Olufson. They toured the area and visited Disney Land the Bob Barker show where they appeared on television. They also visited Tijuana, Mexico where they shopped for souvenirs. Next they toured through Arizona and went to Bull Horn and took a boat ride to Laughin, Nev. to visit a gambling casino. From there they went on to Albuquerque, New Mexico and to Colorado before returning home. They drove over five thousand miles and reported a very enjoyable trip.

Alfred Longren, clerk 2t28c

Public Notice

The board of review of Smiley township will meet at Smiley town hall at 9 a.m. on Friday, the eighth of April, 1983 for the purpose of reviewing and correcting the assessment of said township.

Barbara Lendobeja, clerk 2t28c

PUBLIC NOTICE

The Thief River Falls water utility announced today that the State maximum allowable limit for turbidity in drinking water is being exceeded.

Turbidity is caused by the presence of finely suspended particles such as clay, sand or organic matter in the water. Turbidity can be a problem if it interferes with chlorine disinfection. However, the high turbidity levels, do not create any health hazard because the water utility is able to maintain effective levels of chlorine for disinfection.

The Thief River Falls water utility staff is working closely with State Health Department officials to reduce the turbidity to acceptable levels.

Any citizen seeking additional information should contact Allen Lamm at the Water Plant, phone number 681-3809.

Public Notice

A meeting of the town of Cloverleaf will be held at 8 p.m. April 14, 1983 at the Mavie town hall for the purpose of revenue review.

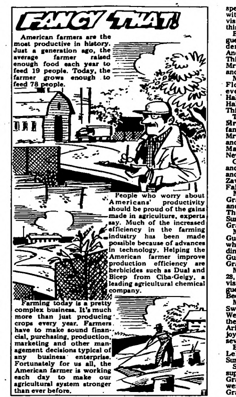
FANCY THAT!



American farmers are the most productive in history. Just a generation ago, the average farmer raised enough food each year to feed 19 people. Today, the farmer grows enough to feed 78 people.

People who worry about Americans' productivity should be proud of the gains made in agriculture, experts say. Much of the increased efficiency in the farming industry has been made possible because of advances in technology. Helping the American farmer improve production efficiency are herbicides such as Dual and Bicep from Ciba-Geigy, a leading agricultural chemical company.

Farming today is a pretty complex business. It's much more than just producing crops every year. Farmers have to make sound financial, purchasing, production, marketing and other management decisions typical of any business enterprise. Fortunately for us all, the American farmer is working each day to make our agricultural system stronger than ever before.

Review Team Assesses Co. Home Program

A five-member team including three local people will begin examining the strengths and weaknesses of the Marshall county extension service's home economics-family living program next week.

Review effort will result in a report suggesting possible new directions for future programs and pointing out areas where the Marshall county program can be strengthened, according to Nancy J. Mathiason, county extension agent.

The team is seeking comments from local residents on the county home economics effort and citizens' impressions of how well the program meets the needs of area individuals and families.

On Tuesday, from 3:15 to 4 p.m. in the Newfolden community center, the review team will be available to all persons interested in making suggestions for future programming. Suggestions for the future or comments on the current program can also be made by calling the county extension office at 745-5232.

County residents involved in the review team are Mrs. Jennifer Anderson, Argyle; Mrs. RaeAnn Nelson, Oslo; and Mr. Sal Hoffert, Grygla. Others making up the team are Mrs. Sharon Knutson, Norman county extension director and Jim Lewis, assistant extension specialist, University of Minnesota.

Nancy Mathiason says this review effort is one of several county-wide home economics reviews planned throughout Minnesota this year. The results of the review are expected to help county agents set priorities and do long-range planning.

GERMAN KUCHEN

Use last week's recipe for Basic Sweet Roll dough or your own favorite recipe for the crust.

Filling:
2 12-oz. cartons sour cream
1 cup milk
4 eggs
1 heaping tblsp. flour (beaten with eggs)
1 cup sugar

Cook on low heat until mixture thickens, stirring constantly (scorches easily). Remove from heat. Add 1 tblsp. vanilla.

Divide dough into small sections as for pie crust. Roll out a little thicker than pie crust. Prick with a fork. Make sure edges go up a little along the side of the pan to prevent filling from running out while baking.

Pour filling into pie shells. Sprinkle with cinnamon. Bake at 350 degrees for approx. 15-20 minutes or until nicely browned.

BSU Schedules Summer Meets In Business

Bemidji state university will offer a number of workshops this summer for individuals interested in business education and office administration.

Among the workshops is one entitled materials and methods of teaching model office August 1 to 8. Directed by Gerald Scheer, who will also direct five other department workshops, it will involve the development, implementation and evaluation of such office simulation models as the pine tree fashion and the American paper exporters association (APEX) models. Offered for three undergraduate or graduate credits, it can be used to fulfill a requirement for vocational licensure of model office teachers and managers.

Two more business education and office administration workshops to be conducted by Shceer this summer are word processing I June 21 to 28 and word processing II June 29 to July 1. Available for three graduate or undergraduate credits, these workshops focus on aspects of word processing ranging from basic orientation to the supervisory role of the word processing specialist. Each is recommended for vocational licensure requirements in Minnesota.

Those wishing to familiarize themselves with microcomputer applications to accounting and word processing instruction may be interested in microcomputer accounting applications held July 11 to 15 for two graduate of undergraduate credits. The course will prepare teachers to use microcomputers in accounting instruction and will emphasize utilizing prepared programs.

Emphasis will be placed on programs accessible through the Minnesota educational computer consortium in microcomputer word processing applications July 18 to 22. It will highlight prepared word processing software compatible with the Apple II microcomputer and is offered for two graduate of undergraduate credits.

Techniques preparing students with keyboarding skills will be covered in the workshop microcomputer keyboarding. Offered July 25 to 29, it can be attended for two undergraduate of graduate credit.

To register for or obtain more information on any of these summer programs, contact Gerald Scheer, Room 29, Hickory Hall, Bemidji State University, Bemidji, MN 56601 (218-755-3713).

Would Exempt Railroad Bonds From Taxes

Senator Dave Durenberger has offered legislation to give tax-exempt status to industrial revenue bonds for railroads in an effort to rebuild the nation's rail lines.

States are permited to issue tax-exempt bonds for construction of facilities that have a public purpose such as airports, docks and mass transit. Durenberger's bill would extend that authority to include railroads.

Durenberger said his bill would give states a way to overcome the funding shortage for railroads caused by deteriorating rail lines and decreased federal assistance.

"Rural America depends on continued access to rail service to ship its goods. The current money crunch being experienced by railroads means an economic crisis for farmers and coal shippers. Rail lines link their goods with national and international markets. If the rail lines can't carry their capacity, the export potential we've worked so hard to get will remain just that — potential," Durenberger said.

"Three hundred miles of rail line in Minnesota are in jeopardy of being abandoned within the next year. It would be hard to estimate the economic damage that would be suffered by those who depend on those lines. Granting tax-exempt status to railroad bonds would be one way to finance renovation of those lines to make them useable again.

"Our farmers are going to begin marketing the vast stores of surplus grain they've been holding for two years. Congress should pass this bill to ensure them access to rail service now and in the future."

Last year Minnesota amended its constitution to permit financing rail rehabilitation through the sale of industrial revenue bonds.

Census Data Available At U'M' Crookston

Facts and figures of the 1980 census are now tabulated and readily available through media resources at the university of Minnesota-Crookston (UMC).

Minnesota census data center, along with 58 agencies in Minnesota and the United States bureau of the census, participates in this effort to help people locate and use the latest census material in population, housing and economic activity.

Aim of the center is to get the results of the 1980 census out to the public. Requests are received from the general public, students, small businesses, citizens' groups, school boards and community newspapers.

Census data is available at UMC in printed reports, microfiche, computer tape and maps. Media resources staff is available to help interpret the data as well as to tell people where to look for information and explain census terms. Copying service and working spaces are also available to the community.

For further details on using the Minnesota census data contact Pat Carlson, librarian at UMC, 218-281-6510, extension 399.

One hundred sixty-two feet high and one hundred forty-seven feet wide Napoleon built his arch of triumph. Proudly it rises above the Place de l'Etoile reminding the world of an Emperor's early victories — and later defeats.

On the road from Bethphage to Jerusalem centuries before there had been another arch of triumph. Nature had fashioned it of palm trees. Beneath their bowing branches the Prince of Peace rode into the city that was to crucify Him.

Jesus, unlike Napoleon, never had need of a gigantic monument to help the world remember Him. The doors of a million sanctuaries bespeak His victory. Men pass through them not to gaze upon the majesty of carved stone, but to worship and serve the Son of God.

Napoleon bought for himself a transient glory at the price of other men's blood.

Jesus bought for all men eternal life — at the price of His Own Blood!

It wasn't until the 1804 invention of the first steam locomotive that man began to use railroads to move people from place to place. Today, travelers old and young still do it throughout Europe and can cover a lot of ground in very little time at bargain prices. The thanks go to the fast and comfortable trains that crisscross the Continent through the Eurail network. With a Eurailpass you can easily enjoy the sights in 16 different countries of Europe year round.

Fast and frequent service is the keynote of Eurailpass train service. You can go to Paris from Brussels in about 2 1/2 hours and choose from 15 trains every day. It's the same time from Frankfurt to Cologne with 36 trains daily. France's high-speed TGV makes the trip from Paris to Lyon with 19 daily runs.

Eurailpass offers unlimited mileage for people of all ages—from senior citizens to younger people. Experienced travelers will tell you it's the most trouble-free way to get around Europe. For free leaflets, write to Trains, P.O. Box M, Staten Island, NY 10305.

Spotlight on HEALTH

Progress Against Hearing, Speech Problems

Actor Lorne Greene gives a boost to four-year-old Brooke Broberg, poster child for the 1983 Council for Better Hearing and Speech Month. Together, these two are boosting the nationwide public information campaign.

Most of the 22 million Americans who have speech, hearing or language problems can be helped.

The encouraging news is that these millions of people respond to many new treatments—medical or surgical—or can be assisted by hearing aids or specialized rehabilitation.

Much thanks for this recent progress is due to the efforts of the organizations who sponsor the annual Council for Better Hearing and Speech Month observance in May of each year.

This year's campaign chairman is television star Lorne Greene, who personally overcame a hearing loss. He's working hand-in-hand with the 1983 poster child, four-year-old Brooke Broberg. This youngster, a resident of Shawnee, KS, is working to overcome a speech problem. Together, these two will work to bring their message of hope across America.

Twenty-seven organizations are pooling their financial resources to further the Council's national public information program.

It's a message that will be welcome news for millions of Americans.

A safe and sane weight loss plan.

Silverton

Mrs. Clarence Peterson
Rt. 4, City, 681-1359

Saturday visitors and supper guests at the David Dupree home were Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hayes of Anoka, Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Kainz, Kay Lynn, Jared and Jason of Mavie and Mrs. Frances Oski of Skylite apartments. Easter Sunday Mrs. Oski, Mr. and Mrs. Haynes and Mr. and Mrs. Dupree, Kurt and Kristy were dinner guests at the Dennis Kainz home.

Mrs. Thorvald Myhrer of Rocksbury and Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Peterson visited in the afternoon of Easter Sunday with their sister Mrs. Anna Myhrer at Oakland Park nursing home.

Easter day dinner and afternoon guests at the Odin Hanson home were Mr. and Mrs. Lester Muzzy, Darrel, Mitchell and Laureen of Steiner and Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Johnson, Susanne, Paul and Jana of Rocksbury.

Mrs. Estelle Grinde called on Mrs. Emmy Larson Saturday morning and Mrs. Sally Knutson in the evening bringing them Easter treats. They both live in Thief River Falls.

Mrs. Clarence Peterson visited on Tuesday with Mrs. Clara Anderson and Mrs. Jennie Omundson at their homes in Thief River Falls.

Mr. and Mrs. Harley Knutson, Jeremy Kees and Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Kees motored to Evansville on Saturday to spend Easter with the Duane Sorenson family and they returned home Sunday evening.

Mrs. Vernon Sorenson spent Tuesday morning and also had dinner with Mrs. Lester Chapman.

Mrs. Harold Dupree Sr. was a supper guest Thursday evening at the Harold Dupree Jr. home in town. Understanding Your Child

The Moving Experience

Contrary to popular belief that moving may adversely affect youngsters, a recent study reveals that most children do very well when moves are carefully planned as family affairs.

Conducted by Lloyd Muller, an Air Force lieutenant colonel who is vice commander of the Joint Personal Property Shipping Office in Washington, D.C., which handles military moves, the study involved sixth graders in suburban Fairfax County, Va. It was conducted as part of Muller's doctoral degree in education at The George Washington University.

"The key issue," Muller says, "is that kids survived quite well when the family was moving for a positive purpose—one that would bring a benefit that was understood and where they all worked toward that goal."

He says his research would "tend to confirm an earlier study's conclusion that families which perceive occupational mobility as the path to social success cope well with its problems."

Conversely, Muller says that "those children whose behavior deteriorates during moves are often associated with adverse family backgrounds that can contribute to underlying psychological problems.

"Because mobile students are generally doing well," Muller believes, "schools need not set up an elaborate program aimed at integrating new students."

He recommends, however, that teachers who have a recently-moved child in class be aware of the situation: "The teacher should figure out whether the child moved as part of a controlled family move, or whether he is just being bounced around."

Muller says that parents should gather helpful information on the subject before planning a move, citing an American Movers Conference publication, "Moving and Children," as one source. The brochure can be obtained at no cost by sending a stamped, self-addressed, business-size envelope to American Movers Conference, P.O. Box 2303, Arlington, Va. 22202.

Volunteerism Protested

At the March 10 meeting of the Greenbush school board, Coach Darrell Stromlund offered his services as a certified coach free of charge if the board would provide a spring baseball program for the school. Part-time coach Norbert Johnson also volunteered his services as assistant.

"Someone always saw to it that I had a chance to participate," Stromlund told the Greenbush Tribune. "I'm trying to see that other youngsters also have that same opportunity, even if I coach the sport without pay." He said he recognized the board had no money to pay a coach, but he thought the youngsters should have a chance to play ball this year.

We would suspect that most Greenbush community people were appreciative of this unselfish offer by Stromlund to provide for others what he felt thankful for having received from others earlier in his life.

Not so the Greenbush Education association. Representative Dick Churchill of the GEA officially protested the board accepting a volunteer coach when he appeared at a special meeting of the board. Even if the coach was certified, he said, the GEA objected to the volunteer system. His rationale, as given to the Greenbush Tribune, was that he feared volunteerism would carry over to the classroom and that one day perhaps certified teachers would lose their jobs to volunteers.

"This is in direct violation of the master agreement and we as teachers are against the volunteer system in any areas of education," Churchill was quoted as saying. He said the job should have been a paid position and offered to a coach on the regular staff. "We have nothing personal against Mr. Stromlund, only the volunteer system," Churchill said.

Board chairman Keith Kilen expressed the opinion that "it is a sad day when a coach is protested for volunteering his services so the kids can play some ball." He also added that in his six years on the board of education the board has granted many special requests from the teachers for favors, such as special vacations during the school year, which also are not in the master agreement.

Prior to the close of the special meeting, the board decided to allow the baseball program to go ahead with Stromlund as volunteer coach. And they also said that if a volunteer coach is available for girls softball, that will also be supported.

We feel the GEA not only fumbled a golden opportunity to gain some community support, it kicked the ball all the way back to its own goal line. Without a volunteer coach, the program would not have been offered. No GEA member would have benefitted. The volunteer offer cost no GEA member anything. Protesting a program which would be for the benefit of youngsters certainly tarnishes the image of the GEA as having interest of the students at heart.

Support of the volunteer effort would have shown a recognition of financial difficulties in the district and a willingness to be a cooperative part of the community. The GEA is either victim of some ill-gotten advice from its state office or incapable of enough vision to recognize an opportunity for good community relations without sacrificing anything.

Actions by the GEA are symptomatic of the attitude which has been fostered by the state education association in the past several years — a self-centered, self-serving, narrow-minded viewpoint which advocates a compulsion to take without a compassion to share.

Killed With Kindness

Well-intentioned by ill-advised protectionists have contributed to the decimation of another deer population, this time in California, according to the wildlife management institute.

The deer herd at Angel Island state park in California had expanded beyond the ability of the park to support them. California department of fish and game recommended that the most humane and economical way to deal with the problem was shoot the excess. A protectionist suit forced the state to capture and remove excess animals to an area with fewer deer.

At a cost of $3,000 per animal, the state captured 203 deer and transferred them to the Myacamas mountains near Ukiah. Fifty per cent of the deer died in the first three months and 85 per cent within the first year. Blame was placed on the deteriorated condition of the deer and their lack of experience outside a controlled refuge environment.

Fifteen of the deer were fitted with radio transmitters to allow biologists to monitor their circumstances. Two died of malnutrition, two were killed by predators, two were run down by vehicles, two were victims of poachers or vehicles, one was killed by dogs and three died of unknown causes. One disappeared and only two were known to remain alive after the first year.

It was the last summer in Florida when protectionists prevented that state from allowing hunters to reduce a stressed deer herd, and as a result the entire population of Everglades deer in that area was decimated by starvation.

One would think that the lessons offered by such experiences would temper the adamant positions taken by protectionist groups. They can scarcely claim success when the animals they purport to save die lingering deaths and take with them the remainder of herds which could have remained viable if the numbers had been reduced to realistic proportions. Unfortunately, they turn their backs on these failures and march on toward making the same mistake in other areas. In so doing, they contribute to even greater wildlife resource losses.

Rights for Crime Victims

Following editorial is from the Fargo (ND) Forum:

Victims of crimes, who endure emotional, physical and economic damages, generally receive sympathy from the public and little else.

Minnesota State Rep. Randy Kelly, DFL-St. Paul, describes crime victims as the orphans of the criminal justice system. They have no rights, while the defendants are furnished with many constitutionally guaranteed rights. The public expresses shock or revulsion over the crime, but gives little thought to what happens to the innocent person who was murdered, assaulted, raped, permanently injured, or robbed, and to the family of the victim. In many cases, the victim's life will never be the same.

To remedy this, Kelly has sponsored a bill recognizing the role of witnesses and victims in the apprehension and prosecution of offenders. It would also give victims better access to information about sentencing of offenders and more say in their punishment.

The bill would inform victims of the types and locations of services in their areas to aid them. It would provide them the right to civil suit against offenders for three times the amount of actual damages, or $500, whichever is more, in addition to punitive or compensatory damages, court costs and attorney fees.

Under the proposal, victims would get more information about the sentencing and release of offenders. It would allow them to attend sentencing hearings, submit written objections to plea agreements and offer written sentencing recommendations. They would be permitted to request monetary restitution as part of a sentence.

We can see no reason why such a bill should not be passed. The unremembered victim deserves more than he or she is now getting at the hands of the criminal justice system. In addition to neglect in the days and months which follow the crime, the victim and the family must in the future, often have to stand by while the convicted criminal is let out of prison within a short time.

There have been reported cases in recent months, one in particular, where the parents of a murdered young woman worked hard and alone to block an early parole for the murderer, whose crime was termed by law officers at the most vicious they had ever seen. Exemplary behavior in prison is no guarantee that an inmate convicted of a heinous crime will not repeat when he is let out into society too soon.

Victims and their families should get from the state at least as many rights as the alleged offender does, and they should have a say in his release from his sentence.

Borrowed Nonsense:

"Our pastor says we can have 16 husbands," the young girl told a friend. "I went to a wedding and I heard him tell the bride, 'four better, four worse, four richer and four poorer'."

A reporter asked the centenarian why those 100 years old had a reputation for wisdom. "Because," the old man replied, "there isn't anyone alive who remembers how dumb we were as kids."

NEWS For Homeowners

What Should You Spend On Your New Home's Yard?

You've finally taken the financial plunge: you and your family have just moved into a brand-new home. The house itself is beautiful, but what about its grounds? If they're like most new developments, your landscape is bound to be pretty barren.

And because buying a new home is such a major investment, you may have just a little left over with which to start buying plants to beautify your yard. If that's the case with you, don't worry! Most landscape firms, in fact, urge their customers to plant the slowest-growing trees first (such as willow and oak) and then add bushes and flowers later, as they can be afforded.

"How much should I spend on my yard?" is a question that many new homeowners ask. A rule of thumb among landscape firms is ten percent of the house's value, or $10,000 on a $100,000 home.

If ten percent sounds high, consider this: surveys have shown that a beautiful yard can add as much as 25 percent to the value of the property when it comes time to sell it! So it's to your advantage to make your yard as attractive as you can. To help you do that, the American Association of Nurserymen recommends that you consult a local retail nursery, whose personnel can guide you in selection and placement of plants in your yard.

As owner of a beautiful yard, you'll enjoy it as a home-buyer, and appreciate it as a home-seller.

CAPITOL COMMENTARY

by LeRoy Stumpf

State Senator — District 1

As a member of the Senate agriculture and natural resources committee, I am happy to report to you that our committee approved two bills last week that would help the farmers in our area.

The first bill, which I co-authored, would provide funds for the state to guarantee up to $20 million in farm operating loans for the 1983 crop year. As may as 2,000 Minnesota farmers who are short of funds to plant this year's crops would be helped by the legislation.

The bill would authorize the state agriculture commissioner to guarantee half of a "farm working capital" (or operating) loan. Amount of the loan would be limited to $25,000, and term of the loan could be up to 18 months. The loan program would use funds already available to the agriculture department.

The governor's farm crisis commission recommended that such a loan program be established as one of several emergency actions to help Minnesota's ailing farm economy. Another recommendation of the commission that is included in the bill would extend from 30 to 60 days the redemption periods for defaults on farm mortgages and contracts for deed. The bill also would allow farmers to reinstate mortgages any time during the foreclosure proceedings by catching up on payments and covering all "reasonable" costs of the foreclosure action.

The bill will go to the Senate floor this week. Senate leaders have agreed to speed up action on this important legislation because of the urgency of providing help to farmers before the spring planting season. Agriculture Commissioner Jim Nicholas said his department can be geared up to handle loan applications within days after the bill is enacted.

In other action last week, the agriculture and natural resources committee gave its approval to the omnibus agriculture bill. I am the chief author of that bill, which would make several changes in state law requested by the agriculture department.

One of the most significant provisions of the bill would allow the agriculture department to actively promote and market Minnesota farm products both within the state and in other states and countries. The agriculture commissioner would be authorized to participate with the private sector in marketing programs, and to spend state funds for that purpose.

I would enjoy hearing from you about the two bills that I have described, or other issues of concern. Please write to me at my office (306 Capitol Building, St. Paul, Minnesota 55155), or phone (612) 296-8660.

REPORT

From The

Minnesota House of Representatives

by Rep. Wallace Sparby
District 1B

I have introduced a bill to add a six-month residency requirement for General Assistance. I'll keep you posted on its progress.

The Legislature is finding it necessary to put more teeth into a law passed in 1981 to protect senior citizens from unscrupulous insurance salesmen. Many elderly people buy insurance to supplement their Medicare policies, but some unwary or confused elderly persons have bought dozens of policies providing little or no additional benefits or protection.

The new legislation would close loopholes. It would make it a gross misdemeanor to act as an insurance agent without a valid license. It would require persons approaching elderly people to give their names and to state clearly that they are insurance agents in the business of selling insurance.

It would prohibit an agent from selling Medicare supplemental insurance to a person who owns two or more Medicare plans.

No policy can be issued to a person 65 or older unless a signed and completed copy of the application is left with the applicant. Applications must list all health and accident policies already owned by the applicant, and policies must carry the warning, "Read your policy carefully to determine which nursing home facilities and expenses are covered by your policy."

Persons who have applied for insurance can ask for a refund if they realize they already have two or more policies.

It is unfortunate we have to consider laws such as these, but as the author of the bill said, "impressive and depressing statistics from the Attorney General's office" indicate that protections need to be built into law.

Residents of veterans homes may be assured greater protection of their civil liberties if two bills before the House are passed.

The House recently gave preliminary approval to a bill providing residents of the Minnesota veterans home with a right to complain about home accomodations and services and prohibiting them from retaliation by administrators for such complaints.

A second bill dealing with veterans rights would prohibit searches at the Minnesota veterans home except under criminal warrant. Opponents of the legislation maintain that hospital staff must monitor the activities of residents, so searches are necessary to locate contraband. But proponents of the legislation point out that the current administration has conducted shakedowns in which residents are treated like inmates at a penitentiary. The bill would guarantee that unreasonable searches and seizures would not be legal and would uphold the residents' Constitutional rights. If the law were violated, the victim could take the case to District Court and ask for return of the confiscated property.

The House Environment and Natural Resources Committee passed a bill to repeal a 1981 law requiring anyone hunting raccoon, bobcat, coyote or fox with dogs to be licensed for the dogs in addition to having a small game license. The law pertains to the owners of the dogs only.

The Department of Natural Resources now wants that provision eliminated because the cost of its enforcement is greater than the amount of money brought in from the licenses.

GULLY . . .

Peter C. Rutkowski of Wayzata, was Saturday to Sunday guest at his grandparents, the Peter Rutkowskis.

Stacy Brovold returned to Roseville after spending the week here.

There's a word to describe farmers who carry All-Risk Insurance.
Secure.
They're secure because they know All-Risk Insurance not only protects their farm income against total losses from natural disasters, it works to minimize your losses as well.
And that's good risk management. Because when you're protected against major losses, your basic net worth is more secure. And, when borrowing money, that's a more important consideration today than ever before.
All-Risk premiums are 100% tax deductible, too. And by marketing several insurance programs, PCA can also provide the flexibility farmers require.

Letters to the Editor

To The Editor:

This letter is concerning an editorial of last Monday's paper about the "Fantasy on Ice" show and the Lincoln high school musical "Little Mary Sunshine". The author of the article began by praising the talent we have in our community, especially the young people, and I feel he did great justice to the people involved in the ice show. What he said about the musical is another story.

He began by saying, "Music instructor Dave Morken has again done an exceptional job of matching a musical to the talent he has at hand." First of all, Mr. Morken picked that musical last year and it had nothing to do with "the talent he had at hand." They could have easily done any musical which had been chosen. Then he goes on to say, " 'Little Mary Sunshine' does not showcase individual performances by accomplished vocalists as some other musicals have, primarily because there seem to be no outstanding vocal talents at hand."

I cannot understand how anyone can say that people like Susie Waale, Craig Goodrich, Barb Laidley, Todd Wing, Tami Eckstein and Stew Sandstrom have no "outstanding vocal talents." Each one of them did a superb job and so did the rest of the choir. Then he writes that "those selected certainly performed adequately and to the full extend of their abilities. Who could ask for more?"

I think that saying they performed adequately and that it was to the full extent of *their abilities was very in*considerate. They did more than just an "adequate" job, and as for the full extent of their abilities, they played their parts excellently and if it would have been any other musical they would have done the very same thing.

How do you think that article made the cast feel? I also think it was very inconsiderate to write something like that when they still had two performances left. I'm sure that the people that went and had read the article, attended the musical with a more negative attitude. I'm sure it not only affected the spectators, but more so affected the performers.

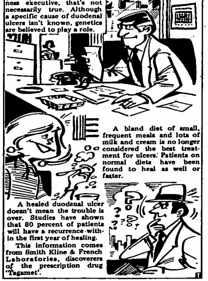
Before the performance on Tuesday night, there were quite a few people who were more than upset by that article. They felt as though the whole audience would be biased because of what they had read. But, because of their outstanding abilities, they were able to go out on stage and perform another excellent show.

Furthermore, he makes the statement, "Your time and effort does not go without appreciation", which is a gracious final comment except for the fact that he completely ignores the huge amount of time and effort put forth by the orchestra and its director, Mr. Solsten.

In my opinion, I felt every night's performance was done exceptionally well and that the individual talents displayed by the actors and actresses, although appreciated, was greatly understated.

Sincerely,
KristyPeterson,

THAT'S A FALLACY!



While many people believe that the typical ulcer candidate is the driven business executive, that's not necessarily true. Although a specific cause of duodenal ulcers isn't known, genetics are believed to play a role.

A bland diet of small, frequent meals and lots of milk and cream is no longer considered the best treatment for ulcers. Patients on normal diets have been found to heal as well or faster.

A healed duodenal ulcer doesn't mean the trouble is over. Studies have shown that 80 percent of patients will have a recurrence within the first year of healing.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Roppe enjoyed a delicious Sunday dinner at the Oscar Erickson home in Warren.

Edor and Grace Anderson enjoyed an evening visit and coffee with the Wesley Bring family.

Russell Floberg of Viking stopped in for a visit and coffee at the Dale Vixie home.

Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Thompson, Pastor Larry Haagenson, Lorna Skadsem and Mrs. Jim Olson drove to Roseau on Monday evening, March 21 where they attended the Bible camp supper meeting there. Rev. Larry Seaverson served the Roseau perish. We had a very good meeting and a delicious supper. Plans were made for the camp in July.

Mr. and Mrs. Conrad Melo enjoyed a nice visit from Mr. and Mrs. Harold Anderson Monday evening.

Hints for Homemakers

SAFE AT HOME

Simple things you use in your kitchen every day can be dangerous. Dull knives are a hazard as they may force you to hack at food. So keep knives sharp and handle with respect.

Is your oven cleaner safe? Does it contain lye, a dangerous poison? Is it harmful to kitchen surfaces? Does it produce caustic fumes? If oven cleaning means finding rubber gloves to protect your hands, newspapers to protect your kitchen, a safe place to stow children and pets and holding your breath while doing the job—you may be glad to know there's another way.

There is one oven cleaner, Arm & Hammer® Oven Cleaner, that is non-toxic and non-caustic so there's no safety cap to fight and no dangerous fumes. It's the only oven cleaner to use organic salts instead of lye, to loosen built-up grease and dirt. And it's just as effective as other oven cleaners, while it costs less. You can learn more about oven cleaners by writing for a free brochure: Arm & Hammer, P.O Box 369, Piscataway, N.J. 08854.

Using household products that do the job and are really safe makes sense for you and your family.

With this set of Pioneer® BRAND hybrids there's less risk... no matter how you spread it.

3995 Probably the best 75-day hybrid you can plant. 3995 has a "flinty" grain type for outstanding grain quality and highest test weight in its maturity. Plant it "heavy" for extra yield.

3994 When the growing season "shortens up" more than usual, you'll be glad you have 3994 in your program. And northern silage producers like 3994 for its high tonnage yields.

3992 About a week earlier than 3978 in maturity. Making yields on short order and drying down fast are traits that growers appreciate about 3992. Also makes a fine silage choice.

3978 Whether it's your early corn or the fullest season corn you plant, 3978 tends to yield like hybrids a week later in maturity. High test weight grain dries down fast!

Go with what you know...3995, 3994, 3992 and 3978 from Pioneer. See or Call:

The first compilation of monthly employment figures was by the Massachusetts Bureau of Labor in 1886, according to "Labor Firsts in America," a publication of the U.S. Department of Labor.

FACTS & FIGURES

At last count, the Department of Commerce estimates there are almost 15 million business concerns in the United States. Many of these are small businesses. In fact, about one out of every four American workers is employed by a small business.

Small businessmen as well as professionals such as doctors and lawyers are finding they can count on big assistance from equipment such as copiers and computers. To help them choose the right machine, Xerox has opened stores where businessmen and professionals can test and compare a full line of office equipment.

Each year some 500,000 new small businesses begin. Many heads of small businesses are finding that shopping in a retail outlet such as The Xerox Store is an effective way to make their businesses more efficient. These outlets are opening up all across the country.

DAFFODILS which were sold this past week to raise funds for the American Cancer Society, arrived in good condition at Thief River Falls regional airport, thanks to some volunteers. After being trucked into the Twin Cities from Oregon, the flowers were distributed to outlying areas by members of the Ninety-nines, an association of women pilots. Debby Kaeder, Eagan, made the delivery to Thief River Falls, where she was greeted by Mayor Bob Carlson, left, and Art Aune, Pennington county cancer drive chairman. At far right is Arnie Aardvark, mascot of the Red Lake county cancer society, who was waiting to pick up the flowers for that group. Thief River Falls received approximately 40 cases of the beautiful yellow blooms. Although weather here was sunny and bright, if a trifle windy, Debby reported that severe weather to the south of us had forced her to land in Alexandria to remove ice buildup from the plane.

LHS Students Awarded Band Star Ratings

Twenty-five Lincoln high school band students received star ratings for performances in the state-region solo and ensemble competion held March 29 in Crookston.

Region 8AA schools competing were Bemidji, Crookston, East Grand Forks, Moorhead, Fergus Falls, Wadena, Park Rapids, Detroit Lakes and Thief River Falls.

Lincoln high school wind ensemble will compete in state-region large group competition tomorrow (Tuesday) in Detroit Lakes. The ensemble will perform Gustav Holst's "First Suite in E flat for Military Band."

Individual star award winners in solo performances were Steve Carriere, baritone saxophone; Collette Thune, trumpet; Gretchen McEwen, Pam Finney and Andrea Ault, piano; Dan Dahlin, snare drum; and Shannon Kezar, tenor saxophone.

Star award winners with groups were trumpet ensemble of Ault, Mauri Torgerson, Kelly Prichard, Stacie Kruta and Rochelle Sandstrom; baritone duet of Penny Jorde and Kevin Anderson; trumpet ensemble of Sandstrom and Brian Mathson; miscellaneous woodwind ensemble of Evonne Anderson and Jackie Kramer; and clarinet ensemble of Karla Lokken and Kramer;

Also clarinet ensemble of Michelle Grabanski and Kristy Peterson; snare drum duet of Denise Nylen and Kristie Finney; saxophone ensemble of Kezar, Randy Erickson and Sue Pfeifer; flute ensemble of Nora Hushagen and Evonne Anderson; clarinet ensemble of Peterson, Lokken, Kramer and Lynne Culkins; and snare drum duet of Dahlin and John Brandt.

WE WANT ACTION NOW!

Cosmetology Students On Strike Over Instruction

Disturbed by what they perceive to be inadequate instruction and no satisfactory response within the system to effect change, approximately 40 of the 46 students in the cosmetology program at the Thief River Falls area vocational-technical institute went out on strike Friday morning.

"Promises, Promises, That's All We Get!" proclaimed one of the signs carried by the picketing students. Others stated: "We Want An Education", "We Want Our Money's Worth in Education", "Down With TRF Cosmo" and "We Want Action Now".

School administration expressed some understanding for the attitude of the strikers but were not sympathetic toward the strike action.

"We have been aware of student dissatisfaction and we have spent more time on this one department than we have in all the others combined," stated Supt. Robert Block. "What the students can't seem to understand, or don't want to understand, is that there is no way we can respond immediately to their contentions, assuming that they have some validity. We didn't create the sytem but we have to work within it.

"Personally," the superintendent continued, "I feel that there is a need for students to simply go to school and learn without having to get involved in the operation of the program. We have worked continually to update the program and graduates have a very good record of passing state examinations and getting job placement. We have received excellent ratings from the state division of vocational education. Student behavior in the classroom in the past few months hasn't helped the situation."

Supt. Block affirmed that there have been individual suspensions for classroom behavior prior to the three-day group suspension ordered Friday.

A spokesman for the AVTI cosmetology students said late this morning that an agreement was reached with school administration at mid-morning which resulted in discontinuing of picketing about 10:30 a.m.

The student said the agreement provides for an additional instructor to be available beginning tomorrow morning to assist students nearing the end of the program with uncompleted course materials in preparation for taking state examinations. Students who discontinued picketing would have their suspension lifted and be able to return to class tomorrow morning, the spokesman understood.

Students said they will continue in their efforts to effect change in the program, however, and are not simply dropping the matter.

"We're not a bunch of rebellious kids out for a lark," insisted Kelly Hultgren of Crookston, one of the spokesman for the picketing students. "We're fed up with not getting the education we believe we're paying for and having people laugh at us or brush us aside when we try to get the situation corrected.

"This isn't something that is happening all of a sudden. It has been going on for a long time. Twenty of us finally went to the school board a couple of weeks ago and they cut us off. We've worked through our student senate and the director of the school and we're not getting anywhere. We finally felt that this (the strike) is the only way to open everyone's eyes to what's going on out here."

Mrs. Hultgren has been in the cosmetology program for 14 months and is due to graduate soon. So is Kris Johnson of Baudette, who has been in the program for 13 months and is also one of the student spokesman. "We feel this is the only way we can let the public know that there's a real problem in the program," she said. "I really don't feel I'm ready to go out on the job and know what I need to know."

Students acting as spokesmen indicated their complaint lies primarily with one instructor but declined to be more specific. The department has had three instructors on a regular basis but one probationary position has been recently terminated

AAUW To Honor 10 Women For Contributions

Thief River Falls chapter of the American association of university women (AAUW) is sponsoring an honors tea at 3:30 p.m. Wednesday, April 13, at Northwest regional library. It will be open to the public.

Purpose of the tea is to honor women in the community who have made contributions in the areas of religion, culture, family, education, science, business, politics and athletics. Women to be honored have been selected as being representative of all women who have played and continue to play a critical role in every sphere of community life. They include the following:

Deborah Matero is being honored in the area of family life, for her efforts in educating women through the Pennington county extension service. Her leadership of the extension homemaker study group reaches 360 homemakers in 26 clubs. She also coordinates the 4-H youth development program and gives hours of volunteer time to educational and environmental organizations in the area.

Arlyne Forsberg is being honored for her work in education. As administrative assistant for Northland community college, she has

Thursday Will Be Active Day At NW Library

Northwest regional library is planning a book sale, an open house, and a special presentation for Thursday, April 21, all as part of the library's celebration of national library week.

Book sale will be held in the library's meeting room Thursday from noon until 9 p.m. All proceeds will go towards purchasing magazine holders for the library.

Library staff is also hosting an open house from 3 to 5 p.m. Coffee and cookies will be served.

Special presentation begins at 3 p.m. in the main area of the library. Gretchen Beito will present a program entitled "Prehistoric Peoples of the Red Lake Area." It is sponsored by the library's senior's program and is open to all ages.

While attending the book sale, open house, or program, visitors can also look at a number of displays. Scandinavian and pioneer articles will be shown, library bulletin boards deal with a Minnesota theme, and student work is on display.

CARROLL ROCK, agricultural statistician in charge of the Minnesota agricultural statistics service, will be guest speaker at the annual summary meeting of the Thief River Falls vocational agriculture farm management program Wednesday. The meeting will start at 8 p.m. in the Northland community college theatre.

'Circus' Theme For Annual Art In The Park

"Circus" has been selected as the theme for the Thief River Falls community art council's annual "Art in the Park" June 23 in downtown Thief River Falls.

Anyone interested in participating in any way is encouraged to contact Nancy Fellman at 681-4056. Artists and craftsmen are encouraged to set up booths to sell or display their work.

"We are also looking for people willing to sing, play an instrument, dance or otherwise perform on our stage during the event," Mrs. Fellman said.

E. Tweet To Be Book & Author Dinner Speaker

Ella Valborg Tweet, co-translator of O. E. Rolvaag's "The Third Life of Per Smevik", will be guest speaker at the fifth annual book and author dinner to be held at 7:30 p.m. Saturday in the Northwest regional library (NWRL). Tickets are $6.50 each and may be purchased from NWRL, Northland community college or branch librarians in Hallock, Greenbush, Red Lake Falls, Roseau, Warren and Warroad by April 13.

Robert Stroble, president of the Sons of Norway in Thief River Falls, will act as master of ceremonies for the event. The Kitchen Band will provide musical entertainment, and Anna Waale has agreed to provide library displays of a Norwegian and pioneer nature. The menu includes torsk, boiled potatoes, carrots, a Norwegian bread and krumkake with whipped cream.

This year, National library week (April 16-23) will be celebrated by the NWRL staff with a Minnesota theme. "Ella Valborg Tweet, being a Minnesota translator of another Minnesotan's novel, was the perfect choice for guest speaker at the book and author dinner," states NWRL librarian Barbara Jauquet.

Mrs. Tweet will begin her presentation by discussing the art and difficulty of translating. Then she will speak about

Circus Provides Stories Within A Story

HELGE AND CONNY DAM put their two female leopards and male jaguar through their paces during the Jose Cole circus in the Thief River Falls sports arena Thursday evening. The circus was sponsored by the local Jaycees and was attended by approximately 1,200 people. Funds earned by the Jaycees are to be donated to the handicapped children's playground and the community wading pool project.

by Marvin Lundin
Times Editor

When the circus comes to town, the event is but a single story to report. But within that circus are as many stories as there are people involved, stories as varied as the acts themselves and hidden beneath the facade of costumes, make-up and stage smiles.

Jose Cole's circus made its second appearance in Thief River Falls on Thursday evening, performing for about 1,200 people in the sports arena. What it may have lacked in old-fashioned atmosphere by appearing between concrete and steel instead of dirt and canvas, it made up for by variety and caliber of performances.

People watching the Wozniak troup perform on the teeterboard and in a spirited routine of tumbling had to be impressed by the talent on display. But few were aware that the troupe is comprised of six men and one woman who, moreso than most other circus performers, are people without a home.

All of the Wozniak troupe members are from Poland but only Ted Wozniak and his wife are from the Wozniak family. All have family in Poland and until recently were able to go home on vacation and leave again quite freely to perform throughout the world. "It was wonderful at that time," Ted Wozniak says. Such is no longer the case.

"I can go home anytime, yes," he said during a brief interview at the arena. "But if I go home, I have to stay. I can not leave the country again, no," he shook his head sadly.

"I hope that some time soon it will be better in my country and I can go to visit, but now it is not good. The younger people, they are not happy. The older people, they lived during the war and that was bad times. Now it is bad times again. They don't seem to have any hope. They are tired. I don't know . . ." he said, his voice faltering as he shrugged and let the thought drift away.

Wozniak is a product of the state circus school in Poland where he studied for three years. The first year he tried many different forms of circus acts as a requirement of the school. Later he was allowed to specialize. He traveled as a member of the national circus before forming his troupe for international travel. Unlike many performers, he did not come from a circus family.

Neither did Helge Dam, who with his wife Conny performed the leopard and jaguar act which opened the circus performance here, and the boxing kangaroo act as well. They share their travel trailer with the three caged cats, two caged kangaroos and a free-roaming, nondescript dog which they rescued from a pound and since have often wondered why.

Helge and his twin brother were raised on a farm in Denmark but didn't like the farm and wanted to see more of the world. Whenever they could take the time away from their farm chores, they practiced extensively and developed a wire act, doing it all on their own without the benefit of any professional assistance.

"It was the only way we knew to get out, to go somewhere," Helge said. "Now I have been many places, but what have I seen? Roads and highways, that's all. What do we have time to see? We travel, we perform, we take care of our animals. There's no time to see anything. I thought I was too lazy to farm, but I started out shoveling manure and I end up shoveling manure."

Conny, who is also from Denmark, is not as critical of the circus life. Her father has performing bears, five of them, and at age 76 is still in the circus, performing with his son and daughter-in-law. Conny formerly worked in the act with the bears. The Dams now headquarter in Florida where they spend December and January and other non-performing time.

"We were in Japan for three

THE WOZNIAK TROUPE from Poland made the crowd gasp Thursday evening while performing in Thief River Falls with the Jose Cole circus. This teeterboard routine included an amazing launch of Ted Wozniak's wife to his shoulders to become the top of a four-high pyramid. All of the troupe members are from Poland and presently are unable to return to their country without having to stay there once they re-enter.

SOCIETY and CLUBS

Jennifer Lynn Bulger And Dale Langevin Wed

Jennifer Lynn Bulger, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Bulger, and Dale Langevin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leo Langevin, were married Nov. 27, 1982 at 2:30 p.m., at St. Bernard's Catholic church.

Rev. Dave Super officiated. Kris Gerardy was the organist and Jane Olson and Jeff Liden, the vocalists.

Attending the bride were her sisters: Barbra Nelson, as matron of honor, Polly Olson and Mary Bulger, together with Yvonne Gonsorowski and Kathy Myrold, Grand Forks, friends of the couple.

The groom's attendants were Larry Langevin, brother of the groom, as best man; Bryan Olson, Gary Nelson, Duane Gonsorowski and Dale Nelson, friends of the couple.

Nicole Marie Bulger and Cayler Olson, niece and nephew of the bride, were flower girl and ring bearer. Ushers were Tim Benedict, Pete Carlson and Ross Olson.

The bride's attendants were Lor Johnson, sister of the bride, and Kathy Myers and Sylvia Hustad, Seattle, Wash.

Attending the wedding as honor guests were Mrs. Laura Bulger, Bismarck, N.D., grandmother of the bride; Mr. and Mrs. George Hovet, grandparents of the groom; Roland Parent, Graceville and Mrs. Gerald Bulger, godparents of the bride, and Mr. and Mrs. George Matton, Minneapolis.

Hosts and hostesses at the reception that followed at the Country club were Mr. and Mrs. Bill Mickelson, Stephen, uncle and aunt of the bride, and Mr. and Mrs. Curt Hovet, uncle and aunt of the groom. Lynae Langevin, Warroad, a sister of the groom, and Toni Peterson, Fargo, were at the guest book. Punch was poured by Mr. and Mrs. Bob Carriere of Eagen.

The wedding cake was cut and served by Mrs. Vivian Gerhardt, Bismarck, aunt of the bride, and Mrs. Roger Hovet, aunt of the groom. Pouring coffee were Mrs. Myrna Lane, a friend, and Mrs. Ida Parent, Graceville, aunt of the bride. At the gift table were Deb Liden, Stanton, N.D., and Carrie Solom, St. Cloud.

Following a wedding trip to Florida, the couple is at home in Thief River Falls at 601 West 13th Street. The bride is a graduate of Lincoln high school and Northland Community college. She is employed by State Farm Insurance. The groom, a graduate of Lincoln high school, is employed by Border State's Paving, Fargo, N.D. Photo, R.L. Nieland studio, Thief River Falls.

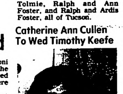
Ralph Fosters Host TRF Day In Tucson, Ariz.

Twenty-eight current and former residents of Thief River Falls gathered at Tucson, Ariz., on March 12 for Thief River Falls day. The event, which included a social afternoon, bridge, swimming and visiting, was held at the recreational club house at the home of Ralph and Ardis Foster. A private room was reserved at the Elks club for the dinner. Saturday and Sunday mornings featured golf.

Those attending from Thief River Falls were Vi Larson, Keks and Arnie Lee, Hazel and Web Maves, Gladys and Arnold Narverud, Dee and Charles Ness and Sylvia and Don Olson.

Also present were Dr. George and Marvel Van Rooy, Sun City, Ariz.; Mel and Til Carlson, Mesa, Ariz., Phyllis Moum, Minot, N.D., Pete and Dolly Thrall, Verna Hughes, Stream and Bev Olson, Min Tolmie, Ralph and Ann Foster, and Ralph and Ardis Foster, all of Tucson.

Catherine Ann Cullen To Wed Timothy Keefe



Mr. and Mrs. Tommy Cullen, Jr., of Goodridge, announce the forthcoming marriage of their daughter, Catherine Ann, to Timothy J. Keefe, son of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Keefe of Thief River Falls.

The wedding is set for June 4th at St. Ann's Catholic church in Goodridge.

Ashley Sue Tharaldson Feted At Baby Shower

Ashley Sue Tharaldson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kevin Tharaldson, was honored at a baby shower on Wednesday afternoon, March 30, at her parental home.

The afternoon was spent socially with the child's mother, assisted by her grandmother, Jeanne Johnson, opening the gifts, which were passed around for viewing.

Lunch featured a pink bootee trimmed cake, baked and decorated by Olive Wiskow. Hostesses were Mrs. Wiskow and Arda Anderson.

Others attending were Rhonda Downs, Tabitha and Heather, Peggy Hoffman, Mable Paulson, Janice Peterson, Lillett Anderson, Olga Dahlen, Carol Dahle, Rachel and Travis, Jeanette Hoffman, Ordella Haugen and Rynae, Loraine Aandal, Yvonne Tharaldson, Cheri and Nicole, and Margie Coan.

Women's Christian Temperance To Meet

Thief River Falls Women's Christian Temperance Union will be meeting today (Monday) at 1:00 p.m., at the community room at the Riverside Terrace.

On the agenda will be the packaging of the Youth Temperance Education bulletins on alchol, drugs and tobacco for distribution to the schools and churches.

The Times — A Great Gift!

HONORED jointly at a birthday party on Saturday, April 2, at the CNC unit at Northwestern hospital, were Mrs. Mildred Finstad, 90, a resident at the CNC unit, and her great-granddaughter, Carla Sorenson, 10, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Sorenson. Both observed their birthdays on Easter Sunday, April 3.

Deer Park Garden Club Plans For Flower Show

Various activities to be included at the 13th district Horticultural flower show to be held at Goodridge in August, were discussed at the April meeting of the Deer Park garden club held at the Goodridge Senior Citizen center.

To encourage the novice members in participating in the show, members brought samples of arrangements based on the flower show theme, "Flower City." The arrangements were studied for contrast, balance and originality.

The district flower show booklets were distributed and the necessary changes in the 12 divisions were made by Lois Swanson. Mrs. Swanson stated that the 1983 changes were made since the booklets will be used for two years. It was also noted that Ethel Wiseth had designed the new covers.

Reports on the "Garden Chit Chat" workshop held at Williams were given; and it was noted that 1983 is the year of the Zinnia. Members of the Deer Park garden club attending the Williams meeting were Dorothy Svanjord, Lois Swanson, Theadora Anderson, Lavonne Radniecki and Patty Radniecki. Lavonne Radniecki stated that the 13th district annual calenders had been distributed to the garden clubs represented at the Williams workshop.

Lois Swanson reported on several species of birds. She stated that 209 species raise their young in Minnesota. Due to the use of herbicides and pesticides, as well as changing conditions, the numbers of birds in Minnesota are decreasing. She also stated that she is experimenting at her farm with a new variety of feed and bird house for gold finch. Further results on her project will be given at a later date.

President Helen Chervestad presided at the meeting and also read the letter she had written inviting all the clubs in the 13th district to attend the flower show in Goodridge. Roll call was naming a commerical product for the elimination of weeds and insects. The report on the previous meeting was given by secretary Lauretta Stucy. A silent auction concluded the meeting. Attending the meeting as a guest was Francis Aandol. Lunch was served by Theadora Anderson.

Mulching will be the topic studied at the next meeting of the Deer Park garden club. Members are reminded to bring a composition to the meeting.

Plans Made For Satesdals Laget For June 24-25

Satesdals Laget of America 74th annual convention will be held Friday and Saturday, June 24-25 at the Oklee high school auditorium. Plans for the convention were made at a dinner meeting of officers and directors held Marcy 28 at the Oklee Recreational center.

Guest speaker at the convention will be Buddy Bjornaraa, a grandson of Bjorgulf Bjornaraa, who organized the Satesdals Laget in 1909 at the University of North Dakota, Grand Forks. Bjornaraa is a coach, ski instructor and body building trainer at the Apple Valley high school in Minneapolis. He attended school in Oklee and is a former resident of Hickory township, Pennington county. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thorwald Bjornaraa live in the Oklee.

Entertainment at the two-day meet will be provided by a performing group from Norway, an old time dance orchestra, folk dancers, folk artists and Daniel and Gaelyn Beal of Minneapolis, dance instructors. Beal is currently writing a book on Norwegian folk dancing which will include instructions and customs; and Gaelyn is a member of the staff at the Sons of Norway International headquarters in Minneapolis. They are requesting the participation of 50 couples, of all ages, for the Friday evening fun night. Those wishing to participate are asked to contact Satesdals Laget officers.

Vice president Bennet Larson presided at the planning meeting, in the absence of president Oliver Lien, who has moved to Leven, Utah. Lien is designing the Satesdal button, which will be on sale at the convention.

DeCor Club Meeting Held At Overum Home

DeCor club of the Thief River Falls Federated Women's clubs, met Wednesday afternoon at the home of Geneva Overum with eight members in attendance.

President Madeleine Scramstad presided at the meeting and led the women in reading the club collect. The secretary's and treasurer's reports were given by Mildred Wick.

Reports were given on serving the Friendship club on March 10 and the silent auction held at the Matt Wick home. Plans were also made for the potluck luncheon to be held in May at the Eula Kvikstad home, and a visit with Lillian Aasland on her birthday April 18th.

Members were reminded that the Ninth District spring convention will be held April 16 at Stephen.

A dessert lunch was served by the hostess.

Julie Ann Norberg And Robert Olson To Marry

Mr. and Mrs. Daryl Norberg of this city announce the engagement and forthcoming marriage of their daughter, Julie Ann, to Robert Alan Olson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Olson of Viking.

Miss Norberg is currently attending Lincoln high school and is employed by the Crestview home. Her fiance is a 1982 graduate of Newfolden high school and is presently attending Northland Community college, majoring in pre-law.

A July 30th wedding at First Baptist church, Thief River Falls, is planned.

Homemakers Of Wyandotte Study Family Problems

"Parenting and Family Communication," was the lesson studied at the meeting of the Wyandotte Homemakers club held March 24 at the home of Emilee Skjerven. Leading the lesson study were Linda Ulrich and Evelyn Erickson.

Hostesses were Mrs. Skjerven and Alma Hanson. Esther Evenson won the door prize and Alma Hanson the door prize donated by Viola Houske.

Attending the meeting were Esther Evenson, Alma Hanson, Viola Houske, Donna Mossestad, Doris Nelson, Emilee Skjerven, Linda Ulrich, Evelyn Erickson nd Naomi Peterson.

The next meeting of the Wyandotte Homemakers club will be held April 15 at 7:00 p.m., at the Marlo Solberg home.

CPLT Sponsors Weekly Class For Parents

Six-session weekly class from noon to 1 p.m., intended for working parents, has been scheduled by Children and Parents Learning Together (CPLT) to begin April 18 at the city auditorium meeting room in Thief River Falls. Participants are to bring their own bag lunch.

The six weekly sessions will discuss time management, how to share responsibilities of the household and children with a spouse, how to find personal time, how to get children to be more responsible around the house, how to deal with babysitter problems, effective methods of discipline or others as determined by the interest of the class.

Fee for the class will be $6 but will be reduced or waived according to ability to pay. Pre-registration should be accomplished by April 14. Helping working parents to balance work and family responsibilities is a major goal of the class, according to CPLT coordinator Joyce Brandt. She may be contacted at Franklin middle school, phone 681-5670.

Attorney General Explains 3-Day Purchase Rights

So you bought that 12 piece set of cookware from the salesman who came to your door. At the time his story sounded so good, but now you doubt it.

Or maybe you purchased a microwave oven under a retail installment contract, but now you've discovered that a smaller oven would fit your kitchen better.

Or maybe you ordered a five-year subscription to four sports magazines from the young saleswoman who needed only that many more subscriptions to earn a trip to Cancun. But since you barely have time to read the daily paper, you wish you hadn't.

Or just maybe you signed a contract for aluminum siding financed with a second mortgage on your house and now you're afraid of the extra load of that debt.

Can you get out of these "deals"? The answer is sometimes "yes", and sometimes "no", according to the Minnesota attorney general's office.

Many consumers mistakenly think that they always have three days to cancel a purchase or contract. Other consumers are completely unaware that they have cancellation rights under any circumstances.

There are two statutes — one federal and one state — that create a three-day "cooling off period" for consumers. Each is designed to protect consumers in certain specific and limited circumstances or transactions.

First, the Minnesota Home Solicitation Sales Act gives the buyer three days to cancel a sale which is made at the buyer's home or at any location other than the seller's regular place of business. The price of the goods or services must be $25 or more. Also, the law applies only if the goods or services are purchased primarily for personal, family or household purposes. This excludes purchases for agricultural uses, such as a farmer's seed or fertilizer.

There are certain specific transactions which are not covered by the Home Solicitation Sales Act. Sales of insurance, securities or real estate are not subject to the cancellation law. Neither are sales by public auction.

What are your rights if a salesman does come to your home and sells you goods or services costing $25 or more? First, the Home Solicitation Sales Act gives the buyer a right to cancel the purchase or contract anytime before midnight of the third business day after the sale. Saturdays, Sundays and holidays are not counted in measuring the three-day time period. Secondly, the seller must orally inform the buyer of the right to cancel. Finally, the seller must give the buyer a written notice which explains the right to cancel.

In order to cancel a home solicitation sale, the buyer must mail or deliver written notice to the seller not later than midnight of the third business day following the sale.

Within ten days after a home solicitation sale has been cancelled, the seller must return to the buyer any payments which the buyer has made, including any cash downpayment or goods traded in. If the buyer has actually received the goods, the seller must pick them up within 20 days after cancellation, or they belong to the buyer free and clear. If the seller has performed any services during the three-day cooling off period and the buyer cancels the sale, the buyer does not have to pay the seller for the work which was done.

A federal law also creates a three-day cancellation right. But it is designed to protect consumers in a different type of circumstance. The Truth in Lending Act gives a consumer three days to cancel a credit transaction which is secured by a lien on the buyer's principal residence. However, there is an important exclusion to this right. If the credit is for the purpose of acquiring the consumer's principal dwelling, then there is no cancellation right. For example, a loan to buy a mobile home to be used as the consumer's principal residence is not subject to the three-day cancellation right. But if subsequent improvements to the mobile home are financed by a second mortgage, that credit transaction may be cancelled within three business days.

Under the federal law two copies of a cancellation notice must be given to each owner of the residence, describing the right to cancel. Until the three-day cooling off period has expired, the creditor must not disburse loan money to the consumer, nor begin performing services or delivering materials.

MISSIONARIES to Hong Kong are Mr. and Mrs. Steve Torgerson of Fairmont who left for the China mission last Tuesday. Mrs. Torgerson is the former Merrilee Lindquist, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edsel Lindquist of Thief River Falls and a granddaughter of Jesse Vedum of this city. The Torgersons will remain in Hong Kong until 1987, then return for a one-year furlough. In addition to their 22-month-old son Jesse, they are expecting a second child in May. First major difficulty they foresee in their assignment is learning to speak and read the Cantonese language which has more than 5,000 symbols. Their missionary effort is sponsored by supporting churches through the Evangelical Free church of America, headquartered in Minneapolis.

AAUW Honors 10 Women For Contributions

worked with non-traditional students by recruiting and helping them on a one-to-one basis. Arlyne also coordinates the adult continuing education program at the college and volunteers her time to organizations which promote education and help women.

Fran Stromberg is being honored for her work in politics. She has exercised her concern for many political issues which affect families, community, state and country, by holding leadership positions in the Democratic party. Fran also contributes her talents to the nursing profession as she actively works toward quality health care for Minnesota citizens.

Diana Josephson is being honored in the area of business. She has worked her way up through the ranks to become general manager of the Best Western Inn in Thief River Falls. She managed a restaurant in California for 20 years, and remains co-owner of a seasonal decorating firm there. She began her career at the Best Western as a housekeeper in 1976, was promoted to dining room supervisor, and finally appointed manager in November, 1981.

Jeanne Harger is being honored for her contributions to culture in the community. Through her innovative music programs in the local school system, hundreds of grade school children have discovered the joy and beauty of music. She also plays organ at United Methodist church and has served as accompanist for numerous community productions such as the recent performance of Handel's "Messiah".

Nancy Lund is being honored for her contributions in the area of religion. Serving as co-pastor of the Holt American Lutheran church, she was the second woman to take a pastoral position in the Northern Minnesota district of the ALC, and the first to share pastoral work with her husband. She is also current chairman of the Thief River Falls conference of pastors.

Sue Olson is being honored for her athletic accomplishments. She set an all-time basketball scoring record of 1,374 points for the Marshall county central schools. Sue also plays volleyball and participates in track and field events, all while maintaining membership in the national honor society.

Ina Thorsgard is being honored for her work in politics. As a member of the Republican party she has served in many ways, including as a fund raiser, board member and delegate. Ina played a major role in actions which got the legal drinking age raised from 18 to 19. She has also been active in church and community organizations such as the hospital auxiliary, cancer fund, concert association and friends of the library.

Kaye Marvin is being honored for her work in athletics. When funding cuts threatened the girls' volleyball and basketball programs, Kaye set up a volunteer program. This maintained the opportunity for girls in all four public elementary schools and St. Bernard's to participate in the sports. Kaye is also active in church, Girl scouts, and the 'Kids on the Block" program.

Catherine Spengler is being honored for her work in social services. She was instrumental in organizing a grief support group to help families who have lost a loved one. Her dedication to reaching out to others is also shown in the time she volunteers to other activities such as the hospice program, church work and as a member of a group which visits hospital patients.

Members of the AAUW are asking that the public join them in honoring these women who have contributed to all aspects of life in the community.

Circus Offers Many Stories Within Story

months," Conny said, "performing at a safari park. We had three or four shows a day seven days a week. It was work. But we enjoyed it, the people were good to us, we had a house to ourselves. It was nice."

The Dams raised their two twin female leopards from three-month-old cubs and the 300-pound male jaguar from five months old. The kangaroos cost about $2,000 each and are very difficult to obtain. Zoos across the U.S. seem to have plenty but are unwilling to sell, Helge said. In Australia they are killed by farmers as pests but can not be readily exported to the United States.

Because the leopards and jaguar have been raised by hand, they are protective of the Dams. When a midget clown took a playful poke at Helge prior to a performance one day, the jaguar apparently interpreted it as a real threat and leapt to attack. He dragged Helge across a parking area in pursuit of the fleeing midget, who was running as best he could in oversized clown shoes.

"If I hadn't jammed my shoulder against a curb and stopped sliding," Helge recalls, "I think the cat might have got him." A week or so later the incident seemed funny, he said, but it didn't seem very funny to anyone at the time.

In assembling his circus each year, Jose Cole looks for variety and the necessary components which make up an attractive circus package. "It is still a good, clean form of entertainment," Cole said of the circus, "and I don't see any changes. If anything, it is getting better. It may be one of the oldest forms of entertainment but the performers are better trained, there are more good performers, and tricks being routinely performed now were not even attempted a few years ago.

Cole comes from Mexico where his family has been circus performers for seven generations. Jose took the name Cole as his performing name, using an accent on the "e" and pronouncing the name Co-lay. Since he has been in the United States the accent mark has been dropped and he accepts the common pronunciation of Cole readily.

Jose began his circus experience as a tumbler at age eight or nine in Mexico where circuses travel all year. He developed into a hand balance performer, using one-finger hand-stand and a handstand on bottles placed top-to-top as the highlights of his act.

Cole last performed in 1978 at the age of 45. He decided he wanted to become involved in the management side of the circus and now headquarters out of Minneapolis, booking his circus each year in an area from Florida to Montana but primarily in the northern part of the country. He will put on about 14 weeks of circuses, averaging about 12 performances a week. This year his show included about 50 people in 18 separate acts. His son Jeff now assists him in management after several years of performing in the circus as "Ko-Ko" the clown.

Cole said he prefers to book his circus for repeat performances on an annual basis. "We have a different show every year," he said, "and we get some of the top acts in the business. The Wozniaks, for example, are the best. When we can come back year after year it shows that we have quality entertainment. We want to keep it first class all the way."

her father, O. E. Rolvaag, the author of the book she translated and one of Minnesota's literary giants. Rolvaag is perhaps best known for his novels "Giants in the Earth", "Peder Victorious", "Pure Gold" and "The Boat of Longing".

Born in 1876 in Donne, Norway, Rolvaag became an American citizen in 1910. A few years later he published "The Third Life of Per Smevik" in Norwegian, under a pseudonym, for Augsburg Press. The book was part of a trilogy and autobiographical: Per Hansa was, like Rolvaag, an immigrant from Norway who suffered the physical and psychological stresses involved in the westward movement. The conclusion of the second book in the trilogy has the body of Per Hansa sitting on a haystack, his eyes fixed toward the west. Fittingly, Ole Rolvaag was buried on a hillside in Northfield, facing west.

Rolvaag wrote all his books in Norwegian because, as Mrs. Tweet explains, "The English language didn't sing for him." Therefore, we know his works through translators. Augsburg Press approached Mrs. Tweet to translate "Per Smevik" because of her translation capabilities and because of her intimate knowledge of her father. Mrs. Tweet and her daughter, Solveig Zemple, agreed to do this. Because Mrs. Zemple was using the translation as part of her Master's degree thesis, she and Mrs. Tweet both wrote their own translations of the book. The two translations were then compared, and a new version emerged.

Translating, Mrs. Tweet explained, is more than just substituting English words for Norwegian. "It is capturing the flavor of a literary work." Valborg Tweet seems well able to capture the flavor of anything. She is a lively and captivating woman with a great zest for life. She speaks humorously, and yet, with a great deal of feeling.

Mrs. Tweet speaks lovingly of her life as the only girl in a family of four children. Two of her brothers died while children; and her surviving brother is former governor Karl Rolvaag. "We were faculty kids," Mrs. Tweet related of the time when her father was a professor at St. Olaf, "We had access to a lot of the things at the college, but we weren't allowed to go to dances. After we were out of school, though . . . " Mrs. Tweet raised her eyebrows and let out a delightful chuckle.

Mrs. Tweet once worked for the Northfield weekly newspaper as a reporter. However she has mainly worked as a teacher, primarily of Norwegian, at the University of Wisconsin, University of Minnesota, Luther college and Bemidji state college.

She married Torliff Tweet in 1945 and the two moved to Roseau in 1947, where they operated a variety store. She still lives in Roseau.

Mrs. Tweet has three children: Solveig, who co-translated "The Third Life of Per Smevik" with her, teaches Norwegian at St. Olaf and has also taught a class on translating; Ole, a Thief River Falls resident, is involved in Arctco and also works as a part-time engineer for Classic Roadsters in Fargo; and Torild, who works for the University of Minnesota extension department, lives on the family home in Northfield.

Northwest regional library has put its books on and by O. E. Rolvaag on reserve. If you would like to check out one of these books, please ask the person at the desk. Books on reserve include the following: "The Third Life of Per Smevik", "Giants in the Earth", "Peder Victorious", "Pure Gold", "Their Father's God", and "Rolvaag: His Life & Art".

City Council To Meet Tues. On Full Agenda

Thief River Falls city council will meet at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday, in council chambers at city auditorium, with a number of potentially controversial topics on the agenda.

Among topics will be: utility committee recommendations that crew leaders be compensated with an additional 40 cents per hour, and that accounts which have inadvertently been over or under charged be payed back or collected from for one year; planning commission recommendations that include annexation of several properties north of Sixth Street, denial of a rezoning request for 101 South State Avenue, and approval of a preliminary layout for Third Street improvements; request from the Pennington county fair association for a temporary 3.2 beer license; increase in parking fines; possible ordinance change allowing spring leaf burning; user fees for city recreational facilities; use of First Street as a detour; Falls delivered meals program; lease of office space to department of natural resources; use of LaBree Avenue for annual arts council festivities; summary of gambling reports for 1982; and possible sale of a piano in the auditorium basement.

Haugens Earn Conservation District Honor

Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Haugen of Middle River received the 1981 Marshall-Beltrami soil and water conservation district for outstanding accomplishments in resource conservation at the district's banquet recently. Don Broekemeier of Schumacher Tireland in Thief River Falls made the award.

Each year the district enters the contest which compares the districts' goals with its accomplishments. Included is the name of the "Conservation Farmer of the Year" award winner, who the district supervisors felt had been doing a good job in his farming operation. Since the entry is made after the end of the fiscal year and the state winner is selected for presentation at the annual convention of the Minnesota association of soil and water conservation districts in December, this creates a time lag in presentation of the award.

Since being selected "Conservation Farmer of the Year" in 1981, the Haugens have changed their farming operation from dairy to a beef cow-calf and small grain operation. Also during this time their youngest daughter Jill has graduated from college, married and moved to Wyoming. The change in farming operation made it possible for the Haugens to travel to Wyoming for a visit.

Annual Meet Held For Red Lake Electric

Approximately five hundred members of the Red Lake Electric Cooperative attended their association's annual meeting April 6 at the Thief River Falls city auditorium. Board president Raymond Parnow presided over the meeting.

Business session reports by the officers and staff covered 1982 operations. Revenue in 1982 totaled $3.7 million, but the operating margin of $56,577 was down from previous year.

Cooperative's general manager, Ron Kennedy, in his report cited rising rates the number one problem facing the cooperative today He said rate increases in 1982 and 1983 were held to bare minimums, but capital credit revolvement and equity level had suffered as a result. Kennedy stated the largest rate increases have been enacted and that wholesale and retail rate increases would level off in future years.

All three incumbant directors were re-elected by members of their respective districts for three years terms on the board. They wre Harold Lamberg, district three; Henry Wieland, district six; and Veral Mosbeck, district nine.

Winner of the grand prize of a trip for two on the bus tour to the Center, ND power plant and coal fields was Emil Heieren of rural Thief River Falls.

Clinic Slated For Rabies And Heartworm

Special concern about the spread of heartworm in dogs has been expressed by members of the Agassiz Kennel club who are sponsoring a rabies and canine heartworm blood test clinic Saturday, April 23, at Valley Animal hospital. The clinic will be held from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m.

Anyone who has purchased a dog from a warmer climate or had their dog travel with them to warmer areas this winter should definitely have the dog checked, kennel club members say. There have been heavy infestations of canine heartworm reported in southern Minnesota and numerous cases have also been diagnosed in the Thief River Falls area.

If the dog owner doesn't wish to put the dog on preventive medication, the pet should still be checked once a year, preferably in April, since treatment is available for control of heartworm.

Heartworms live in a dog's heart and adult worms reach a length of six to 14 inches. Large accumulations of adult worms reduce blood circulation, causing serious damage to the heart, lungs and liver.

Larvae of heartworms are spread by mosquitoes and dogs are recognized universally as the natural host. Cats are not highly susceptible to infection. If a dog must be treated for heartworm, complete rest is needed following treatment and excitement and exercise should be avoided for at least a month. For further information, call 681-6511.

AVTI Offers One-Day Class For Nurses

Thief River Falls AVTI is offering a one-day workshop "Balancing Work and Family. . . A Health and Wellness Perspective" on Thursday, April 14 from 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. at the Best Western Inn. Workshop leader is Ellen Leger, RN, from St. Louis Park. Fee of $35 includes coffee, rolls, noon lunch and materials. This workshop meets the requirements for 7 contact hours of continuing education for nurses.

Participants will assess their personal and job related life-styles to assist their development in a personal program of fitness, exercise, nutrition and stress management.

Pre-registration is required by contacting Adult Education, AVTI; 681-5424.

Discipline Is The Topic Of PTO Workshop

"Discipline" is the topic of a workshop sponsored by the Marshall county central parent teacher organization to be held April 18. Meeting will be held in the high school library beginning at 7:30 p.m.

Discussion will be concerned with goals of discipline and changes which should be made as the child matures. Participants will be given the opportunity to discuss discipline problems and attempt to identify the real problem, causes of the problem, possible effective solutions, and reasons why the given solution may not work. This is an opportunity for persons who work and live with children to share and receive ideas which will help improve their adult-child relationships.

Business meeting will be held, and lunch will be served.

Mikelson New President Of Grygla Bank

Paul Mikelson, a veteran of 30 years in the banking business, has been named president of the American state bank of Grygla to succeed Fred Sorenson, a former Thief River Falls resident and founder of the bank six years ago.

Mikelson served in three banks in North Dakota and one in Illinois during his 30 years in banking. Burt Amundson of Plummer has been appointed co-vice president to work with vice president Ron Foss.

Sorensen recently resigned from the bank presidency and he and his wife Marie are presently visiting a daughter in California.

Theatre Group To Meet Thur.

Cosmetology Students Go On Strike Fri.

for next year in 1983-84 buget trimming. There are indications that personality differences within the department have led to inconsistencies in instruction that confuse students and erode their confidence in the knowledge presented.

"We have submitted 190 pages of documentation to the school adminstration," said Nancy Jensen of Crookston, who has been in the program for eight months. "There are classroom incidents reported, complaints by patrons (the department offers hairdressing services of students to the public as part of the training program) and letters from former students and others that show we aren't getting the education we are paying for," she said.

Charlene Pearson of Thief River Falls said it presently costs $215 per quarter for tuition and that it takes five quarters to complete the program. In addition to the tuition, students have the other costs related to their education, particularly if they have to commute some distance to school or live away from home.

Supt. Block called the ability of graduates of the Thief River Falls program to pass state board examinations the "bottom line" in assessing the quality of instruction the students receive. It is the only real guideline the administration has at its disposal to compare the program here with programs in other vocational-technical institutes.

During the 1981-82 school year, 95.7 per cent of the students who completed their cosmetology training at the Thief River Falls AVTI passed their state written and practical exams — the second highest percentage from any of the eight AVTI cosmetology programs in the state. The percentage was only .8 per cent from the first place 96.5 per cent recorded by White Bear Lake students and well above the 80.6 per cent recorded by students from the lowest of the eight programs.

Supt. Block also said that the state division of vocational education had been contacted, as well as the office of consumer services which conducts the student testing program and certifies practicing cosmetologists in the state. They have been informed of the student action and invited to provide whatever input they can toward effecting a solution.

In addition to the students, school administration and state agencies, there may be other involvement in the situation surrounding the cosmetology program. Instructors in the program are represented by the Thief River Falls chapter of the Minnesota Education association which employs legal counsel to defend teachers. And the local program receives input from an area citizens' advisory committee chaired this year by Reinette Leas.

The advisory board will be meeting Wednesday at 7 p.m. in room 120 at the Thief River Falls AVTI. Requested to attend the meeting are Supt. Block, school board member Harlan Hallstrom, AVTI director Dr. Orley Gunderson, instructors in the program and others.

Meeting On Use Of Pesticides Set For Friday

Thief River Falls area farmers who need recertification for private pesticide applicator permits can do so by attending a meeting on Friday, April 15, 1:30 p.m. at the Courthouse meeting room.

Minnesota department of agriculture has instructed all dealers to ask for proof of certification before selling restricted use pesticides to private applicators. All farmers who have not taken the initial training or recertification training provided by the County Extension Service since April 1980 are required to attend the recertification training in the safe use of pesticides.

April 15 program will be taught by Ray Thompson, Marshall County Extension Agent. It takes approximately one hour of time. This renewal certificate issued by the Minnesota department of agriculture will be good for five years.

Anyone taking the training since 1980 can be issued certificates good for five years from the date of training by asking for the application form from their ag chemical dealer or the county extension office. A record of those taking it in Pennington County is maintained at the Extension Office. Farmers can call 681-2116 if they are unsure of the date they took the training.

Quin County Health Board Meets April 18

Quin county board of health will hold their annual meeting at 7:30 p.m. Monday, April 18 in the Newfolden community center.

Agenda for the meeting will be as follows: roll call; reports from the state advisory committee, report of EMS and planning meeting; and a report of the local planning process. Discussion will be held on the joint powers revisions.

New business will be the annual reports for 1982 and 1983. The 1983-84 plan will also be discussed focusing on emergency medical services, special grant applications and environmental health.

Other new business will be a special study evaluation, needs assessment survey, legislative update and such other business as may properly come before the board.

A complete obituary will be published in the Wednesday edition of the Times.

Dear Readers,
The phrase, "people who need people" most poignantly expresses the need of the bereaved family. They deeply need the relatives, friends, and associates who share their grief and give support by their presence at the funeral visitation and service, and thereafter.
Respectfully,
Belmont Funeral Home

9-Digit Zip To Mean Higher Postage Rates

Head of the U.S. postal service has conceded that the new nine-digit zip code, set to begin later this year, will likely mean higher mailing costs for the general public, according to Sen. Dave Durenberger of Minnesota.

Testifying before the Senate governmental affairs committee, Postmaster General William Bolger also endorsed the concept behind a bill to be offered by Senator Durenberger to prevent the public from being forced or pressured into using the longer zip.

Durenberger questioned Bolger about the USPS's intention to set up separate mailing rates for letters using the nine-digit and five-digit zip codes. Letters with the nine-digit code, mostly large mailings by big businesses, would get a discounted rate. But regular mail using the five-digit zip is generally more expensive to deliver, costing an average of 35 cents a piece. So under the plan, the price of that regular mail would have to rise in order to pay for itself, Durenberger said.

"You'd have Chase Manhattan's mailings going out for 15½ or 16½ cents per letter, while Aunt Minnie has to pay 35 cents to write to her son in Indianapolis," the senator said. "The benefits of the more efficient system could knock a few cents off that price, but that would still mean she pays 30 cents or so to mail a letter."

"Yes," Bolger agreed. He noted that mail using the five-digit zip "would continue to go out under the same price for everybody. Our theory is to keep it as low as possible, but I can't tell you now what it will be in the future," he said.

Durenberger warned that "the next logical step is that it becomes only a nickel to send a letter between two office buildings on Capitol Hill, but $5 to send a letter to Alaska."

He also said he expects to introduce a bill this week, designed "to make sure the USPS lives up to its promise not to pressure the public into using the longer zip. If we have to have a nine-digit zip, it should be a matter for the postal service and the businesses that use it, not an added inconvenience or invasion of privacy for individuals."

Under the bill, the USPS could not encourage general use of the nine-digit zip through advertising or by mass mailings notifying people of their new zip code. The postal service would have to provide the nine-digit zip for any address on request, including requests that come in on a mandated toll-free telephone line. If the nine-digit zip enables faster deliveries, the discount rate for mail bearing the nine-digit zip would be suspended to reflect the improved service. No business could require customers or others to provide their nine-digit zip, and the codes could be used for nothing other than addressing or sorting mail.

Bolger told the committee that while he has "reservations" about some points in the bill, "In theory I support the approach which makes it impossible for the postal service to mandate the use of the nine-digit zip by anybody. I endorse that 100 per cent. I think it's a very good step."

A campaign in 1981 delayed the planned implementation of the nine-digit zip code until Oct. 1, 1983. Sen. Durenberger has argued that the proposal not only would be an expensive burden on individuals and small businesses, but is also based on technology that is largely untried and will soon be outdated.

A recent report by the general accounting office agreed that while USPS should go ahead with installation of automated equipment, it should stick with the five-digit zip code at least until more of the uncertainties about the potential of the longer zip are resolved.

1-800-4-Cancer Is New Cancer Service Number

Cancer information service (CIS) has a new toll-free number that is easy to remember: 1-800-4-Cancer. This single nationwide number replaces 23 local CIS numbers that served different parts of the country.

Callers using the new number will automatically be connected to the local CIS office for their area, according to Debra Zaderaka, CIS supervisor for Minnesota, North Dakota and South Dakota.

"Callers in our three-state service area will reach the CIS office in Minneapolis between 8:30 a.m. and 4 p.m. weedays as they always have," explained Zaderaka. "At night and on weekends they will continue to be referred to the CIS office operated by the National cancer institute.

"The beauty of the new set up is that cancer patients — and those concerned about cancer patients — can now reach the nearest local CIS office by dialing this same number from anywhere in the country. We hope '1-800-4-Cancer' will help patients and their families remember to call CIS with their cancer concerns no matter where they happen to be."

Farm Vehicles On Roadways Present Hazard

Spring season has begun and, with the warmer weather, motorists will soon be sharing the road with farm machinery once again.

Those who use tractors and other self-propelled implements are reminded by Col. D. Roger Ledding, state patrol chief, that state law requires at least one white or amber light visible to the front, and a red lamp visible to the rear when traveling upon a public road between sunset and sunrise.

Lamps should be mounted as close as practicable to the extreme left projection of the equipment. Additionally, red reflectors must be displayed on the rearmost unit of farm equipment during the affected hours.

Farm vehicles are allowed to have simultaneously flashing white or amber lights in the front and flashing amber or red lights in the rear. The lights may be any shade between white or amber in front and amber or red in the rear. Lights should be mounted at the same level and visible from a distance of not less than 500 feet.

Farm vehicles are subject to traffic regulations and all motorists should be acutely aware of the farm vehicle and rights of those drivers operating equipment. One of the most dangerous times for farm traffic is at dusk.

Minnesota law also requires the display of a slow-moving vehicle emblem visible to the rear of farm equipment. The emblem is required to be displayed at all hours of the day and night. The emblem has the shape of a triangle mounted with the apex pointing upward. The yellow orange fluorescent reflective material on the outer edges of the triangle is prominent for nighttime visibility. Its distinctive appearance quickly alerts drivers to the presence of the slow-moving equipment.

"A cooperative attitude between motorists and farm drivers will go a long way toward reducing the risk of accidents," said Ledding. "In addition to personal injury, accidents cost valuable time for both the farmer and the motorists."

TRICYCLE RIDING CAT was featured in this act from the Jose Cole circus which performed in Thief River Falls Thursday. Helge and Conny Dam put the cats through their paces before an appreciative crowd of about 1,200 people in the sports arena. The Dams raised the cats from month-old cubs. "They're our babies," Conny said. The "babies" now weigh from 100 to 125 pounds (the twin female leopards) to 300 pounds (the male juguar pictured above), and are six years old.

Seek Diabetics For Nationwide Research Study

Mayo clinic, St. Louis Park medical center research foundation's international diabetes center, and the University of Minnesota have become participants in a nationwide research study called "The Diabetes Control and Complications" trial. This study is a joint venture of the national institutes of health and twenty one medical centers in the United States and Canada.

Study will try to answer two of the most complex questions facing diabetes researchers: first, if blood sugar levels of people with insulin dependent diabetes are kept as close as possible to non-diabetic levels, will more, fewer, or the same complications develop?; second, is it practical and safe to maintain this parallel over long periods of time?

Study will require a minimum of two years of volunteer involvement. Eligibility requirements are rigid and the study requires considerable time and effort on the patient's part. Medical treatment, examinations, and study support materials will be supplied at no cost to the accepted volunteer. Persons interested in becoming a research volunteer in this important study, may call: University of Minnesota: Trudy Bendfield or Debra Gibson (612) 373-8707; International diabetes center: Dorothy Ellis (612) 927-3500; or Mayo clinic: LeVuo Schmidt (507) 285-6833.

State Handles Mock Nuclear Emergency

State and local government personnel were commended for "a fine job" of reacting to a simulated nuclear power plant emergency on Wednesday, February 23, according to the federal emergency management agency (FEMA).

Summarizing the reactions of FEMA's 13 observers who evaluated Minnesota's exercise, Dan Bement, acting chief of the technological hazards branch, said, "The federal evaluation team has concluded that the state of Minnesota, Wright county and Sherburne county did demonstrate the capability to protect the public. The staff performed their duties professionally. . . and news media representation at the media center was noteworthy."

The mock test involved the Monticello nuclear power plant and "affected" residents of Wright and Sherburne counties. As part of the exercise, Governor Rudy Perpich declared a simulated state of emergency followed by an inspection of the state's emergency operations center (EOC), located in the basement of the state capitol. The EOC serves as the state command post for all major state emergencies. The Governor praised the state's emergency planning and preparedness capability.

Tom Motherway, director of the division of emergency services, department of public safety, said, "We have proven that state emergency plans can be implemented quickly in dealing with and correcting major, possibly life-threatening problems whether they be man-made or natural. The division got the facts quickly and reacted quickly, which included keeping the public informed on exactly what was happening. Our primary goal is always the safety of the public. The division has the responsibility for coordinating the exercise."

Motherway also praised the cooperation and participation of Northern States power company. NSP had the primary responsibility for developing the unannounced exercise scenario which is a requirement of their licensing agreement with the nuclear regulatory commission. Arthur V. Dienhart, vice president of plant engineering and construction, and members of his staff assisted with public information functions at the state's emergency operations center.

The exercise was graded in the following categories: accident assessment, general security, public information, communications, evacuation and direction-control.

Exercise was reviewed Thursday afternoon, February 24, at Wright county courthouse in Buffalo. The nuclear regulatory commission critiqued the utility company while FEMA critiqued the state's and counties' participation. Approximately 25 people attended the open meeting.

Wheat Growers Request New Soviet Trade

Minnesota wheat growers have registered a protest with President Reagan over the lack of any positive movement toward a resumption of trade with the Soviet Union.

Specifically, they are concerned that the agenda for the March 24 consultations between the United States and the Soviet Union did not indicate that the two sides will discuss a new long-term agreement to replace the agreement which has been extended twice, and which expires on September 30.

"Your lifting the embargo in 1981 was greeted with pleasure among the farm community, most of whom, however, felt it was too little, too late," stated Minnesota wheat grower president Harry Howard, Warren. "It was, furthermore, not accompanied by any relaxation of the restraints on grain sales to the Soviet Union, which continue up to the present," he added.

Howard reported that if these restraints on the Soviets have helped the United States in its foreign policy goals, there is no public awareness of it. "In fact," Howard stated, "the restraints may be helping the Soviets by lowering U.S. and world prices and allowing them to diversify their import needs and purchase their imports at these lower prices." However, Howard said there is a great deal of awareness in the country that the Soviet restraints have seriously hurt agriculture.

In his letter to Reagan, Howard also indicated that the restraints on the Soviets can also be reflected in damage done to other related industries as well, such as the machinery, farm equipment, and the chemical and transportation industries, as well as the other industries, banks and merchants, which serve the rural communities. "The entire economy suffers when agriculture suffers," Howard stated, "and certainly some of the joblessness in this country would be alleviated by a return to more normal trade in grains with the Soviet Union."

Howard also expressed to the President, the Minnesota wheat growers' concern over the long-term effects of the Payment-in-Kind (PIK) program. Calling it a "negative means of supply management," Howard indicated the PIK program is an effort of reduced production rather than increased disappearance through widely expanded exports. He also noted that exports to the Soviet Union, Eastern Europe and the People's Republic of China, are all lagging last year's levels, and those to the Soviet Union are seriously behind what were considered to be more normal levels. In addition, there is now no indication of any sales, whatsoever, for the year to come.

Howard indicated that this would only add more damage to the already severly hurt United States economy, which not only depends on the foreign exchange which the exports bring. It is also a serious blow to U.S. agriculture, which has been one bright spot in an otherwise pale economy, according to Howard.

Recognizing that the negotiation of a new long-term agreement with the Soviet Union will not necessarily suggest that the Soviet trade will immediately return to normal, Howard indicated that it would, however, lock in a share of the Soviet market for U.S. farmers, and be a beginning of a return to more normal trade. He therefore strongly urged the President to signal the Soviets that the United States is ready to begin negotiations for a new agreement and then to begin these negotiations. "The nation desperately needs this incentive to agricultural business," Howard said, "and we assure you also, that other business will benefit."

USDA Proposes Child Nutrition Labeling Plan

U.S. department of agriculture (USDA) proposal would authorize a voluntary product labeling program to help school cafeteria and other child nutrition program managers comply with federal meal pattern requirements when they use commercially prepared foods, assistant secretary Mary Jarratt said recently.

Under the new program, food manufacturers who are interested would submit their product to USDA for review to determine how much a serving contributes to federal meal pattern requirements. USDA requires schools in the national school lunch program, for example, to provide specific minimum amounts of five food items: meat or meat alternate, milk, bread, and two fruits and-or vegetables.

Proposal would formally establish a child nutrition (CN) labeling program in place of the current policy of reviewing products on a case-by-case basis, an informal policy used by USDA since the early 1970's.

Labeled products gained popularity during the 1970's when advances in food technology made more processed products such as beef patties, burritos and pizza available for use in the child nutrition programs, Jarratt said.

"These products posed a problem for food service directors because it was difficult at the point of sale to see exactly how much the product would count toward meal pattern requirements," she said.

While there is no federal requirement that commercially-prepared combination products have CN label statements, "the labels make it easier for food service directors to meet the federal requirements which are monitored by management audits from USDA," Jarratt said.

"The Inspector general and the national advisory council on child nutrition all have recommended CN labeling," Jarratt said. "They believe, as we do, that a broad CN labeling program can help make sure schools comply with meal pattern requirements."

Proposal would require companies to use a logo or distinctive border as part of the label, in order to avoid possible abuse and to make the statement easy to identify. It also would establish a warranty to protect schools which use labeled products. Use of the label would be limited to food products that contribute significantly to the meat or meat alternate component of the meal pattern that are served in the main dish.

Proposal was published in the February 25 Federal Register. Public comments may be sent by April 26 to: Cynthia H. Ford, Nutrition and Technical Services Division, FNS, USDA, Alexandria, VA 22302.

A Few Little Words

A bill to amend state law dealing with classification of tax forfeited lands in the state conservation area holds a threat for public lands in the area. Only a few words are involved in the amending process, but they change permissiveness of the law a great deal.

Currently the law states: "No such agricultural lands shall be sold by the board of county commissioners without approval of the commissioner of natural resources." The proposed change would have the law read, "Agricultural lands may be sold by the board of county commissioners without the approval of the commissioner of natural resources."

The slight shifting in words would take the basic control of conservation area land sale out of the hands of the commissioner of natural resources and place it in the hands of county commissioners. Another portion of the proposed amendment would remove the DNR commissioner from the process by which lands are classified as agricultural. This would be done by deleting the language, "... which classification shall be approved by the commissioner of natural resources before any lands are offered for sale".

Lake of the Woods county appears to be leading the present push to have the law changed. In a letter sent to county auditors in the area, Lake of the Woods county auditor Charles F. Gosen writes: "We, in Lake of the Woods county, are and have been affected by this since the 1930's. In light of the present economic conditions, we feel it would be in the best interests of all residents of the counties involved if the county boards could be allowed to offer for sale the lands suitable for agricultural use, leaving the department of natural resources in control of any lands classified as environmental protection." He requests resolutions of support from county boards.

Lands which would be proposed for sale are presently the property of every citizen of the state of Minnesota, and every citizen has equal availability of access to them. They provide habitat for a number of wildlife species and hunting opportunity for a large number of people. On a selective basis they provide wood for fuel or for pulp or timber as renewable resources. As private lands they would be restricted to the public and probably substantially altered, especially through clearing and drainage.

We disagree with auditor Gosen's contention that it would be in the best interests of all residents of the counties involved if county boards could offer these agriculturally classified lands for sale. With huge surpluses of crops depressing prices and the government involved in programs to subsidize farmers for not producing, it makes little sense to add more agricultural land to the nation's production base.

At the very least, if legislators are to consider the land sale changes, they must neutralize it with counter legislation which removes county board control over sale of private lands to the DNR. We have stated in the past, and continue to believe, that no state conservation area lands should be sold unless the state has the opportunity to acquire an equal amount of land to replace it. Public lands, as large as they may be, are not a surplus that can be reduced without loss. They are a resource with great value to many.

Flunking The Tests

Congressman Arlan Stangeland says that the social security bill passed by Congress in March didn't get his vote because it flunked all three tests he had applied to it.

"For two years I have said that any social security reform plan would have to pass three basic tests before it would get my vote," the congressman said.

"First, it would have to maintain the basic benefits for retirees. Second, it would have to guarantee the long-term dependability and solvency of social security. And third, it would have to not raise taxes on both workers and employers to levels which would impair our economy. This plan flunked all three tests."

Stangeland said the new bill fails to protect the future of social security while it hurts a number of people. Among these are senior citizens who will lose between $1,100 and $1,800 because of delayed COLA benefits, senior citizens who invested for their retirement and will now be taxed on benefits, farmers and small business owners who will pay double the payroll taxes of all other workers to get the same benefits, workers who will have seven years of tax increases moved forward, most families who will now pay more for social security payroll taxes than for income taxes, taxpayers who will pay billions of dollars for direct treasury transfers, tax credits and other expenses, and children who will be paying for decades because Congress failed to act in a responsible fashion.

The congressman said he is mindful of the last "rescue" of the social security system under the administration of President Jimmy Carter just 63 months ago. "This was the largest peace-time tax increase in American history," Stangeland said, "and the President said it would guarantee the solvency of social security until at least the year 2009. Here we are in only five years getting ready to 'save social security' again."

The plan fails to consider the long-term needs of medicare, the congressman said, it covers only $165 billion of the estimated $201 billion that would be required to restore full solvency of social security, and over 77 per cent of the new "rescue plan" relies on tax increases.

"When you get right down to it," Stangeland says, "this 'rescue plan' hurts everyone that social security is supposed to help without making real progress toward saving the system. That's not my idea of a rescue plan."

Blaming The Netters

They're out to eliminate the use of gill nets which they maintain is decimating the local fishery. They are organizing a local committee and building a war chest to fight the commercial harvest politically. They intend to write every state official to seek support and they have enlisted the support of several "influential" citizens to help put on the pressure.

No, we're not talking about the Save Our Game Fish committee and Lake of the Woods. We're talking about the Pro-Fish of Pinellas County group which has been formed in Florida. And the issue at hand is not walleyes but king mackerel.

While the scenario is different there are similarities in the theme. One of the Pro-Fish promoters is a 37-year-old realtor who says, "A lot of the people I sell to want to move here because of the fishing. When I get them down here to look at property, I take them fishing. I'm a good fisherman, but sometimes I can't even catch bait. People wonder what's wrong."

An article in the outdoors section of the St. Petersburg Times by writer Jeff Klinkenberg explains:

"What went wrong is a combination of development and people. Extensive dredging and filling after World War II — and a building boom that lasted through the 1960s — contributed to the destruction of 81 per cent of Tampa Bay's seagrasses and 45 per cent of its mangroves. Both are crucial to the chain of marine life.

"In the meantime, fishing pressure increased tremendously. As habitat and fish populations declined the number of sport and commercial fishermen increased dramatically. As landings of fish declined, so did fishing-related businesses. Florida's $5-billion recreational fishing industry is in jeopardy."

The reaction seems natural — alter and pollute the habitat, promote and exploit the resource to increase the individual angling pressure, then blame the commercial netter for the reduction in fishing quality.

The Pro-Fish group recognizes that habitat destruction and pollution have contributed significantly to the quality of fishing available, but they have targeted the commercial netters for elimination as destroyers of the king mackerel fishery. It's easier than trying to correct destruction of habitat, and certainly is cheaper, and even if it doesn't help a thing, it makes a person feel like he is accomplishing something. In the end, the satisfying of that ego may be the most lasting result.

Borrowed Nonsense:

Heard about the Roseau couple who took their 12-year-old son to New York and went to see a Broadway musical. They had second thoughts when the opening number had a well-endowed and leggy chorus line clad in little more than a few green and white ribbons.

When the girls had completed their number, the boy leaned over to his mother and whispered, "Did you see that?"

"See what?" the mother asked apprehensively.

"Those girls!" the boy exclaimed excitedly. "They were wearing the Rams hockey colors!"

Television viewers in a Michigan community received an eyeful recently when a switching problem sent x-rated programming into their homes. "It was terrible," one viewer complained in a call to the local radio station. "We had to watch that stuff for over four hours."

CHAUTAUQUA will present "Minnesota, a State of Mind" at 8 p.m. Saturday, April 23, at Northwest regional library in Thief River Falls, as part of national library week festivities. Three-act program features singer Barton Sutter, writer Annette Atkins and poet Ross Sutter. Program is open to the public free of charge. Funding for the presentation was made possible by the Minnesota association of library friends and the Minnesota humanities commission in cooperation with the national endowment to the humanities. Further information is available by calling the library at 681-4325.

MSU To Give Hartz Award To Publisher

Moorhead State University will present its second annual L.B. Hartz professional achievement award to William Marcil — president and publisher of the Forum Publishing company — at a 6:30 p.m. awards banquet in his honor April 20 in Comstock memorial union ballroom on the MSU campus.

The award is presented by the student advisory board to MSU's dean of business in recognition of people who've created economic opportunities for others and demonstrated exemplary qualities of entrepreneurship, innovation, citizenship and enterprise.

The award is named in honor of L.B. Hartz, a native of Duluth who took over a small bankrupt grocery in Roseau 58 years ago and developed it into Hartz Wholesale company, a multi-million dollar business headquartered in Thief River Falls. It serves more than 400 independently owned groceries in northern Minnesota and eastern North Dakota. His Hartz Foundation today supports a variety of needs in the communities throughout the region where his company has helped serve enterprising small businesses.

Marcil, from Rolette, ND, joined the Forum Publishing company in 1961 as an advertising salesman and continued working there as a classified advertising manager, production manager and assistant to the publisher. In 1969 he was named president and publisher of the company as well as president of WDAY, Inc. and Dakota Photo Engraving. He also heads the Tribune Printing company in Willmar, which publishes the West Central Tribune; the South Dakota Broadcasting company with television stations in Sioux Falls, Aberdeen and Pierre; and KMMJ, Inc., an AM radio station in Grand Island Nebraska.

Marcil, who's chairman and president of the American Newspaper Publishers association, is also involved with dozens of community service organizations.

State Highway Accident Rate Shows Decline

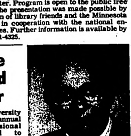
Fatality rate for every 100 million miles of travel in Minnesota dropped to just over two in 1982 as indicated in preliminary data compiled by the Minnesota department of public safety. This is the lowest annual traffic fatality rate ever recorded in Minnesota with the injury rate following that decline, dropping to 136 per 100 million miles of travel.

Traffic fatality and injury rates are considered to be among the most revealing statistics available because they take into account the amount of exposure to risk Minnesotans encounter on our roads.

Both the fatality and injury rate declines continue a five-year downward trend in Minnesota that has seen those totals drop to levels many thought unachievable a decade ago.

Preliminary 1982 traffic accident totals also show that 182 fewer people were killed in 1982 than in 1981. There were 5,060 fewer injuries in 8,463 fewer accidents. These reductions occurred even as the number of licensed drivers continued to climb and the number of miles traveled remained about the same.

Also notable was that the 72 motorcycle fatalities in 1982 were the fewest for any year since the motorcycle helmet law was repealed in 1976, and pedestrian fatalities dropped to an unprecedented modern day low of 78.



DR. ALYN N. DULL, professor of mathematics and computer science at St. Cloud state university, has been elected Grand Master of the Masonic fraternity in Minnesota for 1983. He was installed at the order's 130th annual communication in St. Cloud on March 25. In his new post, Dull will direct the leadership of the organization which has 48,000 members in 238 Masonic lodges throughout the state.

Trail

Mrs. Albert Aaknes, Trail

Norma Carlson, Emma Agnes and Irene Mathsen were Monday visitors with Clara Strand at Fosston.

Norma Carlson was a brief caller on Rose Aaknes on Tuesday afternoon.

Bertha Woods visited with Sylvia Flateland on Monday forenoon.

The last card party of the year was held at the VFW hall on last Saturday evening. High-low for the men went to Orville Kjelgren and Elmer Halvorson. High-low for the ladies were Mrs. Ordell Frigstad and Mrs. Carol Sundrud. Lunch was served by Mrs. Dennis Halvorson and Mrs. Albert Aaknes.

Mrs. Erwin Prevost and Mrs. Al Radniecki of Oklee were Wednesday afternoon visitors with Rose Aaknes.

Emma Agnes and Irene Mathsen were visitors with Bertha Woods.

Mrs. Albert Aaknes and Bertha Woods and Mrs. Wayne Bakke called on Mrs. Herman Janssen at Gonvick last Saturday forenoon. They bought her a piano for the Trail community club.

Bertha Woods visited with Kathy Bakke at Gonvick on Thursday afternoon.

Easter Sunday dinner and luncheon guests at the John and Darlene Eisbrener home were Mr. and Mrs. Albert Aaknes, Mr. and Mrs. Erwin Prevost of Oklee, Mr. and Mrs. John Tanem of Goodridge, Mr. and Mrs. Steve Royse and boys of St. Paul and Fredrick Eisbrener of St. Paul and Mrs. Joann Hruby and family and Floryan Szymanski all of Thief River Falls.

Bertha Woods spent Easter weekend with her daughter and families, the Bob Thannes and Barbra Jallen at Brandon.

A son was born to Mr. and Mrs. Gerry Seyeller at the Fosston hospital on March 27. They named him Knute Howard. The grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Howard Flateland Sr. and great-grandfather Knut Flateland.

Mrs. Melvin Matheson and Emma Agnes and Leah Rouland were coffee guests of Mrs. Vernon Howlsrud one day last week.

Lori, Jeff, Gene, Gerald and Kristie Olson and Janet Flateland visited at the Howard Flateland home and helped Wesley and Roxann celebrate their birthdays.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Flateland Jr. of Thief River Falls spent last weekend at the Rodney Olson home.

Dawn Barland of Fertile spent a few days with her mother, Kitty Barland. Dawn's friend Lisa Sundquist spent Friday and Saturday with Dawn at the Bob Stine home.

Melissa Carlson of Thief River Falls spent the Easter weekend with her mother, Norma Carlson and her brothers, Harvey and the Dwight Carlson family.

Mrs. Melvin Nelson was a brief caller on Mrs. Albert Aaknes on Monday afternoon.

Gordon Loiland of Gonvick and Mrs. Elaine Loiland of Trail are happy to announce the engagement of their daughter Edith Loiland to Kevin Higdem, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Higdem of Northwood, ND. The wedding is planned for May 28, 1983.

The swimmers of the Rockets South Milwaukee high school placed fourth in the state. It was held at the University of Wisconsin-Madison natatorium in March. Dale Aaknes had 50.5 splits in their 100 yard legs, freestyle relay provided needed points to nail down fourth place. Dale is a senior this year and is the son of Glen and Judy Aaknes of South Milwaukee. The others on the team were Paul Drzewieski, Paul Garege, Craig Dymerski, Mike Forsythe, Tim Biro. This team was the best in schools' 23 year swim history. Dale Aaknes is the grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Aaknes, and Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Asselin of Oklee. He isn't the only grandson of the Aakness who played in sports. Wade and Scott Bakke play football and basketball and Kurt Bakke who is a senior this year plays in basketball for the Gonvick-Trail Bulldogs. They also played baseball for the Legion in Gonvick.

The Bakke brothers are sons of Wayne and Kathy Bakke of Gonvick. The Aaknes have only one more grandson, who will be in sports. He is Tobie Weberg of S. Milwaukee. He played softball on the Gonvick Pee-Wee team when he spent the summer with his grandparents, Albert and Rose Aaknes. Tobie Weberg is a son of Paulette Milam of South Milwaukee. He has twin sisters Tegan and Tabitha Milam who are six years old.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Aaknes were shoppers in Thief River Falls on Thursday. Enroute home they were supper guests with their daughter and son-in-law, Johnny and Darlene Eisbrener rural Thief River Falls.

George Ness of Gully was a luncheon guest at the Albert Aaknes home on Friday evening. Helmer Hendrickson was a Saturday evening caller.

Paulette Milam of South Milwaukee took first place in the cribbage tournament held last week. She is the daughter of Albert and Rose Aaknes. Congratulations Paulette.

Debbie Ness of Middle River was an overnight guest of Mary Jean Altendorf on Friday evening.

'U'M Reports Low Rise In Dorm Rates

Room and board rates for the University of Minnesota's eight Twin Cities residence hall will rise by less than four per cent next year — the lowest increase in 10 years.

Quarterly rate for a typical double-occupancy dormitory room plus three meals a day will be $792 for the 1983-84 school year, an average increase of $30 per quarter.

Increases in the cost of food (four per cent), payroll (4.6 per cent) and utilities (eight to 12 per cent) account for the major portion of the rise in residence hall rates, according to Charles Lawrence, associate director of university housing. Computer cost controls for food purchases, the stabilized inflation rate and a slower rise in the cost of utilities helped keep the residence hall rates down, he said.

Committee made up of representatives from each dormitory and two housing staff members has voted to delay by four days the opening of residence halls before fall quarter and to close four of the buildings during winter and spring breaks, Lawrence said. This should cut costs considerably and still maintain adequate service for students, he added.

Quarterly rates for double-occupancy rooms vary from a high of $897 for Middlebrook hall to a low of $792 for Pioneer hall because of differences in the age and architecture of the buildings. Middlebrook hall was built in 1970 and offers more amenities than Pioneer hall, which was built in the 1930s.

Minnesotans Comply With Insurance Law

There are three million registered vehicles in Minnesota and 95 per cent of them carry the type of insurance required by law, according to the statistics on reportable accidents of the state department of public safety (DPS).

The department's no-fault office verifies insurance coverage through random spotchecks, verifies insurance coverage of all reportable accidents and takes action of notifications from insurance companies on cancellations of insurance.

"The public should be commended for compliance with this law. Minnesota drivers and owners have one of the best records in the nation," said Marlene Swanson, director of the DPS office of driver and vehicle services. However, those operating a vehicle that does not have no-fault insurance must take heed to the resulting suspension or revocation of his or her driver license and motor vehicle registration. Additionally, a new law provides for up to a 10 year suspension of a driver license when a civil judgment is rendered against the uninsured driver-owner.

In 1982, DPS no-fault office did a random spotcheck of 10 per cent of all affected motor vehicles and motorcycles licensed in the state. In all, 392,616 letters were sent to insurance companies asking for verification of insurance. The result was withdrawal of 6,057 license plates because of lack of coverage. Another 2,594 drivers licenses were revoked following arrests and court sentences for 30 days to 12 months for operating uninsured motor vehicles or motorcycles.

No-fault office also investigates every reportable accident for proper insurance coverage. In the first nine months of 1982, there were 130,356 people involved in reportable accidents in Minnesota (accidents totaling $500 or more damages or where a personal injury of death was involved.) Verification of insurance on these vehicles resulted in an additional 6,937 driver licenses suspensions and 4,474 license plate and registration suspensions due to lack of insurance.

In addition the Minnesota no-fault auto insurance act, effective January 1, 1975, requires insurance companies to notify the state of cancellations of insurance (when insurance is only kept in force for a few months) or when the insurance company terminates a policy. These notices totalled 45,000 which resulted in 10,000 vehicle registration suspensions in 1982.

"Getting uninsured motorists off the highways and roads of the state is not only important from a safety aspect, but also from a monetary point of view," said Swanson. "This is another way the department of public safety is working to protect motorists."

Directory For Small Business Now Available

One place small businesses can look for assistance is the "Minnesota Small Business Resource Directory," which has just been published by the Governor's council on rural development.

The directory, which is free to all present and potential small-business owners, lists many of the places where the small-business owner can go for various services.

Services included are: free and confidential individual business counseling, management and sales training, financial assistance, sources of investment capital, information on taxes and regulations, technical assistance and marketing assistance. These services are offered statewide through many educational institutions, state and federal agencies, and private institutions.

Directory was compiled because small-business owners often don't have the time to seek out the service that is just right for them, or they may not be aware that that service is available.

The directory gives a thumbnail sketch of the services as well as furnishing each provider's phone number and address so that the small-business person can get in touch with them quickly for more detailed information.

To receive a copy of the directory, write the Governor's Council on Rural Development, 100 Hanover Building, 480 Cedar Street, St. Paul, Minnesota 55101 or call 612-296-3993.

The Governor's council on rural development is an interagency, intergovernmental forum for identifying important rural issues in Minnesota and developing ways to address them.

Credit Allowed For Installing Energy Devices

Taxpayers who take certain steps to save energy in their homes can cut their income tax bills up to $4,300, the Internal Revenue service reports.

Law provides for a tax credit of up to $300 for energy saving items installed in the home, with a separate credit of as much as $4,000 for taxpayers who install renewable energy source items, such as solar or wind equipment.

Credit for energy saving items, such as solar or wind equipment, is figured at 15 per cent of the first $2,000 spent on such items as storm or thermal windows and doors, insulation, weather-stripping and caulking. Also qualifying are expenditures for fuel efficient furnace replacement burners, flue-opening modifications, electrical or mechanical ignition systems to replace gas pilot lights, and clock thermostats. Only items installed in homes that were substantially completed before April 20, 1977 are eligible for this energy credit.

"Renewable" energy source credit is 40 per cent of the first $10,000 invested in qualifying solar, wind or geothermal equipment used to heat, cool or provide hot water or electricity for use in the home, according to the IRS.

Both credits are available for items installed on a taxpayer's principal residence after Apr. 19, 1977, and before Jan. 1, 1986. Renewable energy credit is available for both existing and newly constructed homes. Renters as well as homeowners are eligible for the credit.

Taxpayers need not itemize deductions to claim the residential energy tax credit. They do, however, have to file Form 1040, attaching Form 5695, showing how the credit was computed. Form 5695, "Redidential Energy Credit," is available by using the mail-order form in the tax package.

No credit is allowed on any return for any taxable year if the credit is less than $10. Any unused credits may be carried over to the extent the credit is more than the taxpayer's tax. Period for carrying over of unused credits extends through 1987.

For additional information on energy credits, taxpayers can order the free IRS publication 903, "Energy Credits for Individuals," by using the order form in the tax package.

JOSE COLE comes from seven generations of circus performers in Mexico and for more than 35 years of his own life was a performer himself. Now he has become a manager and books his own circus throughout the midwest and as far south as Florida. His headquarters are in Minneapolis, which he said works fine for the area he covers. While a performer himself, he had a hand balancing act in which he balanced on one hand atop two bottles set top-to-top, then rotated one full revolution.

Summer Class Schedule At Bemidji State

Education faculty at Bemidji state university will be conducting seven workshops over the course of the summer.

One, entitled Creative Activities in the Elementary School, will be conducted by Dr. Nancy Keller from June 11 to 18. Course activities provide both basic and enrichment types of involvement for children from kindergarten through the sixth grade. Advance registration is required for the one credit course that is available to graduate or undergraduate students.

One undergraduate credit or graduate credit can be earned by attending the Reading in the Elementary School workshop directed by Dr. Charles Austad July 11 and 12. Topics will include community perception of reading programs in the public schools. How classroom teachers view themselves as professional reading teachers and presenting school reading programs to the public will also be covered.

Building Support Systems will be covered during another workshop directed by Austad July 13 and 14. How teachers support children as they learn to read, as well as the finding of administrative support for excellence in reading instruction, will be discussed during the program. It can be attended for one graduate or undergraduate credit.

Third workshop directed by Austad is Turn Kids on to Reading which will be held July 15 and 16. One graduate or undergraduate credit can be earned by attending the session. Techniques for enhancing children's reading experience through related subject areas and activities will be covered.

Being in the classroom requires teachers to have survival skills and that need will be covered in Prapte Elliott's workshop, Educators Survival Skills K-12. Held July 18 to 22 and available for two undergraduate or graduate credits, the session will address practical tools for classroom management to minimize stress and conflict. Other topics studied will be impacts on teachers' energy levels, absenteeism and the doing of learning and discipline in positive ways.

Problems in Elementary Social Studies is the title of the workshop offered by Donald Bye for one undergraduate or graduate credit. Course emphasis will be on conservation education in the elementary school. It will be offered July 22 and 23.

To request further information or registration materials for these workshops, write the workshop director at the education department, Education-Arts Building, Bemidji State University, Bemidji, MN 56601; (218-755-2930.

Slow Down and Live

U'M' Patients Promising New Herpes Drug

Medicinal gel that has suppressed genital herpes lesions and prevented recurrence in laboratory animals has been patented at the University of Minnesota.

Results of the successful animal tests with the drug — cyclaradine — were presented by medicinal chemistry professor Robert Vince of the university's college of pharmacy at the national meeting of the American Chemical Society in Seattle March 22.

Because of the thorough series of pre-clinical and clinical tests required by the federal food and drug administration, the drug is not likely to reach the market for several years, Vince said. Schering Corp., a multinational pharmaceutical company, is now engaged in testing it, along with Vince and colleague William Shannon, a virologist at the Southern research institute in Birmingham, AL.

"We hope to get the drug on the fast track" to speed up testing on humans, Vince said. Several other drug companies have inquired about cyclaradine and still other companies are now racing to develop other herpes drugs, he said.

Genital herpes is a painful and so far incurable virus, transmitted by sexual contact. Some 20 million Americans now suffer from it, with a half million more added to the ranks each year. In Vince's animal tests untreated herpes turned out to be fatal, though no one knows whether that holds true for humans, he said. It is known, however, that nearly 75 per cent of babies born vaginally to infected mothers die from the disease and that recurrent herpes is associated with the development of cervical cancer.

"Cyclaradine looks very promising," Vince said. In the female guinea pigs infected with the live human herpes virus, the topical gel suppressed the lesions and prevented them from recurring — all without causing any toxic reactions or skin irritation. The drug must be applied within a relatively short time after the initial infection — three to 24 hours for the animals, probably within weeks for people.

Soon, Vince hopes, oral and intravenous forms of the drug can be developed. Those forms could more easily attack the virus in the ganglia of the spine, where it lies dormant between outbreaks, for the victim's entire life.

Cycladarine looks more promising than the other two anti-viral drugs now being developed to fight herpes, Vince said. Vira-A (brand name for Ara-A) marketed by Warner-Lambert Co., is very effective, but only against non-genital forms of herpes. Zovirax (brand name for acyclovir), now marketed by the Burroughs Wellcome Co., increases healing and reduces the pain of herpes, but does not actually prevent lesions or recurrences of the virus.

But Vince's drug works differently than acyclovir, he said. It is "turned on" by an enzyme within the cells that act as host for the herpes virus, not by the virus itself as is the case with acyclovir. This means that cyclaradine is more quickly activated and that it should work for all strains of the herpes virus, even those that become resistant to acyclovir and those that have not yet evolved.

Vince discovered the drug by designing and constructing new molecules, in a broad project originally designed to find better chemotherapies for cancer. He then detoured his reasearch to analyze why Ara-A was not effective against cells infected with genital herpes, although it worked well on other types of herpes viruses. Medicinal chemists design new drug molecules on paper and with molecular models first, he explained, then they try to build them step by step in the lab. The process led him to redesign the Ara-A molecule into an active genital herpes drug, subsequently named cyclaradine.

"We have to work by fooling the virus," finding a step in its careful self-replication that can be interfered with, Vince said. In the case of the herpes virus (a DNA-type virus), it must multiply by ferreting out molecules already in the body's cells, then using them as its own viral building blocks. Enzymes are like the construction workers in the process, in charge of assembling all these molecular blocks. The relevant enzyme in Vince's studies, a DNA polymerase lying within the host cell ready to help the virus, is tricked — by a confusion of molecular shapes — into picking up the cyclaradine instead. The drug then fails to help assemble the viral strand and the herpes virus is quickly halted in its plans to multiply.

River Valley

Mrs. Orlando Chervestad
Oklee, Minn.

Mr. and Mrs. Dennis McGeary and family, Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Linder and family and Elmer Larson were all Easter dinner guests at the Alvin Linder home of Plummer. Saturday evening Dennis and Elaine and family visited at the Jim Tibbetts home in Thief River Falls.

Mr. and Mrs. Brad Nelson entertained Easter dinner guests and they were Mr. and Mrs. Korydon Chervestad and family, Mr. and Mrs. Dale Rosemeier, Steve and Beth, Mr. and Mrs. Vance Wiseth and family, Ethel Wiseth and Kurt, Mr. and Mrs. Orlando Chervestad, Robert Flaten, Danny and Duane Nelson. They also helped Tyler celebrate his 3rd birthday. Afterwards they brought Easter dinner to mother, Signe Evenson, and Ethel Wiseth and Kurt. Korydon Chervestad and Helen Chervestad came over to visit her.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Lundeen have also been recent visitors at the Clarence Howard home.

Harry and Nora Hanson of Trail are down with a nasty case of the flu and are very sick. The flu bug has hit so many families in this area and all have been very ill.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Rustan were last Saturday visitors at the Helga Lambert home in Oklee.

Easter day dinner guests at the Richard Radniecki home were Mr. and Mrs. Greg Radniecki and boys, Mr. and Mrs. Bob Messreni and Joe of Thief River Falls, Patty and Oscar Radniecki, Jack Radniecki and Margie Moran of Winger.

Bjarne and Mildred Stolaas and daughter from Etne, Norway and their cousins, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Thompson of Wright near Duluth were Wednesday overnight guest at the Olaf Stolaas home. Bjarne is a distant relative of Olaf. All the above and Mr. and Mrs. Omer Nesland and Mr. and Mrs. Gene Arveson and boys were Thursday dinner guests at the Lester Vad home.

Easter day dinner guests at the Darrow Lundeen home were Mr. and Mrs Jim Reinbold and family, Mr. and Mrs. David Olson and Derek. Otto Magnell was also guest there.

Monday the following came over to install a new kitchen rug at the Sena Chervestad home: Mr. and Mrs. Herb Vettleson along with Juell and Annbelle Chervestad and Lillian Tasa.

Mr. and Mrs. Milton Myrum were Saturday company at the Olaf Stolaas home. Wednesday visitor were Inga Hendrickson and Donald of Thief River Falls.

Strandquist

Mrs. Irene Larson, Strandquist

STRAIGHT TALK

Albert D. Hattis, Associate Professor of Business and Holder of the Schwan Endowed Chair for Free Enterprise, Southwest State University, Marshall

It was only a play, but it illustrates a point. The community had a problem. Their doctor had died and the citizens were trying to determine what should be carved on his tombstone. There had been a sign at the street level stairway entrance to his second floor office, "Dr. Smith, Upstairs." The citizens of this town decided to have that etched into his memorial because of their respect for a guy who had done so much for so many.

Today, in public opinion surveys, the medical doctor is no longer one of the "top people" on the "respect ladder." The surveys do not explain why the opinions have changed, but it may be the result of skyrocketing health care costs, a lack of involvement in community activities, or a depersonalization of their services in an effort to treat more patients.

In a recent column, I emphasized skyrocketing health care costs and a do-nothing attitude on cost reduction by the health care industry, including doctors and hospitals. Doctors and hospitals did not like the charge that their billings have skyrocketed, but the facts indicate that over an extended period of time health care cost has gone up three times as fast as inflation. Last year alone while inflation was 3.9 per cent, health care costs went up 11 per cent.

Michael Bromberg, executive director of the Federation of American Hospitals, told Forbes magazine that the heart of the problem is the doctor and a reimbursement system that doesn't impose cost controls and merely pays whatever the doctors and hospitals charge.

The number of current magazine and newspaper articles supporting the fact that health care industry charges have skyrocketed and that nothing is really being done to get costs down or contain them, keeps growing each day. Even medical publications, including the New England Journal of Medicine, have indicated that health care has become too expensive for the public, and that during the 1980's more doctors will find that they must cut costs and charges, write fewer prescriptions, hospitalize fewer patients, and expect lesser demands on their time (reducing their income) as the supply of doctors goes into a surplus.

What has been the doctor and hospital response to this call for cost cutting? The doctors who responded to my column said that their fees were raised only 7.5 per cent in 1982, which they claimed was the inflation rate. Since the inflation rate was 3.9 per cent, not 7.5 per cent, their rates had, once again, skyrocketed at about 192 per cent of the national inflation rate.

A hospital sent me a study showing that operating expenses per admission had gone up about 30 per cent from 1978 to 1983, but a call to that same hospital showed that the 1978 room charge of $84 was now a 1983 room charge of $135, increasing over 60 per cent.

While the health care industry emphasizes the quality of care, I was contacted by a senior physician who sits on a committee reviewing whether appropriate care was provided to those who died at his medical center. A decade ago when half of those deaths involved an autopsy, he claims that there were questions about care in 40 per cent of the cases. Today, with autopsies in only about 15 per cent of the cases, no one can prove that care quality has improved because the sample is inadequate.

I am not concerned over health care industry letters claiming that I am wrong, and costs haven't skyrocketed and the public isn't being gouged. The facts support what I have said, that health care costs have risen to the point where we can not afford proper care.

What does concern me is a very real question: "Is it possible that our doctors and hospitals really do not know that health care costs have skyrocked beyond our means and that the public is demanding that action be taken to reduce those costs?"

That's Straight Talk!

With this set of Pioneer® BRAND hybrids there's less risk... no matter how you spread it.

3995 Probably the best 75-day hybrid you can plant. 3995 has a "flinty" grain type for outstanding grain quality and highest test weight in its maturity. Plant it "heavy" for extra yield.

3994 When the growing season "shortens up" more than usual, you'll be glad you have 3994 in your program. And northern silage producers like 3994 for its high tonnage yields.

3992 About a week earlier than 3978 in maturity. Making yields on short order and drying down fast are traits that growers appreciate about 3992. Also makes a fine silage choice.

3978 Whether it's your early corn or the fullest season corn you plant, 3978 tends to yield like hybrids a week later in maturity. High test weight grain dries down fast!

Go with what you know...3995, 3994, 3992 and 3978 from Pioneer. See or Call:

A Few Little Words

A bill to amend state law dealing with classification of tax forfeited lands in the state conservation area holds a threat for public lands in the area. Only a few words are involved in the amending process, but they change permissiveness of the law a great deal.

Currently the law states: "No such agricultural lands shall be sold by the board of county commissioners without approval of the commissioner of natural resources." The proposed change would have the law read, "Agricultural lands may be sold by the board of county commissioners without the approval of the commissioner of natural resources."

The slight shifting in words would take the basic control of conservation area land sale out of the hands of the commissioner of natural resources and place it in the hands of county commissioners. Another portion of the proposed amendment would remove the DNR commissioner from the process by which lands are classified as agricultural. This would be done by deleting the language, "... which classification shall be approved by the commissioner of natural resources before any lands are offered for sale".

Lake of the Woods county appears to be leading the present push to have the law changed. In a letter sent to county auditors in the area, Lake of the Woods county auditor Charles F. Gosen writes: "We, in Lake of the Woods county, are and have been affected by this since the 1930's. In light of the present economic conditions, we feel it would be in the best interests of all residents of the counties involved if the county boards could be allowed to offer for sale the lands suitable for agricultural use, leaving the department of natural resources in control of any lands classified as environmental protection." He requests resolutions of support from county boards.

Lands which would be proposed for sale are presently the property of every citizen of the state of Minnesota, and every citizen has equal availability of access to them. They provide habitat for a number of wildlife species and hunting opportunity for a large number of people. On a selective basis they provide wood for fuel or for pulp or timber as renewable resources. As private lands they would be restricted to the public and probably substantially altered, especially through clearing and drainage.

We disagree with auditor Gosen's contention that it would be in the best interests of all residents of the counties involved if county boards could offer these agriculturally classified lands for sale. With huge surpluses of crops depressing prices and the government involved in programs to subsidize farmers for not producing, it makes little sense to add more agricultural land to the nation's production base.

At the very least, if legislators are to consider the land sale changes, they must neutralize it with counter legislation which removes county board control over sale of private lands to the DNR. We have stated in the past, and continue to believe, that no state conservation area lands should be sold unless the state has the opportunity to acquire an equal amount of land to replace it. Public lands, as large as they may be, are not a surplus that can be reduced without loss. They are a resource with great value to many.

Flunking The Tests

Congressman Arlan Stangeland says that the social security bill passed by Congress in March didn't get his vote because it flunked all three tests he had applied to it.

"For two years I have said that any social security reform plan would have to pass three basic tests before it would get my vote," the congressman said.

"First, it would have to maintain the basic benefits for retirees. Second, it would have to guarantee the long-term dependability and solvency of social security. And third, it would have to not raise taxes on both workers and employers to levels which would impair our economy. This plan flunked all three tests."

Stangeland said the new bill fails to protect the future of social security while it hurts a number of people. Among these are senior citizens who will lose between $1,100 and $1,800 because of delayed COLA benefits, senior citizens who invested for their retirement and will now be taxed on benefits, farmers and small business owners who will pay double the payroll taxes of all other workers to get the same benefits, workers who will have seven years of tax increases moved forward, most families who will now pay more for social security payroll taxes than for income taxes, taxpayers who will pay billions of dollars for direct treasury transfers, tax credits and other expenses, and children who will be paying for decades because Congress failed to act in a responsible fashion.

The congressman said he is mindful of the last "rescue" of the social security system under the administration of President Jimmy Carter just 63 months ago. "This was the largest peace-time tax increase in American history," Stangeland said, "and the President said it would guarantee the solvency of social security until at least the year 2009. Here we are in only five years getting ready to 'save social security' again."

The plan fails to consider the long-term needs of medicare, the congressman said, it covers only $165 billion of the estimated $201 billion that would be required to restore full solvency of social security, and over 77 per cent of the new "rescue plan" relies on tax increases.

"When you get right down to it," Stangeland says, "this 'rescue-plan' hurts everyone that social security is supposed to help without making real progress toward saving the system. That's not my idea of a rescue plan."

Blaming The Netters

They're out to eliminate the use of gill nets which they maintain is decimating the local fishery. They are organizing a local committee and building a war chest to fight the commercial harvest politically. They intend to write every state official to seek support and they have enlisted the support of several "influential" citizens to help put on the pressure.

No, we're not talking about the Save Our Game Fish committee and Lake of the Woods. We're talking about the Pro-Fish of Pinellas County group which has been formed in Florida. And the issue at hand is not walleyes but king mackerel.

While the scenario is different there are similarities in the theme. One of the Pro-Fish promoters is a 37-year-old realtor who says, "A lot of the people I sell to want to move here because of the fishing. When I get them down here to look at property, I take them fishing. I'm a good fisherman, but sometimes I can't even catch bait. People wonder what's wrong."

An article in the outdoors section of the St. Petersburg Times by writer Jeff Klinkenberg explains:

"What went wrong is a combination of development and people. Extensive dredging and filling after World War II — and a building boom that lasted through the 1960s — contributed to the destruction of 81 per cent of Tampa Bay's seagrasses and 45 per cent of its mangroves. Both are crucial to the chain of marine life.

"In the meantime, fishing pressure increased tremendously. As habitat and fish populations declined the number of sport and commercial fishermen increased dramatically. As landings of fish declined, so did fishing-related businesses. Florida's $5-billion recreational fishing industry is in jeopardy."

The reaction seems natural — alter and pollute the habitat, promote and exploit the resource to increase the individual angling pressure, then blame the commercial netter for the reduction in fishing quality.

The Pro-Fish group recognizes that habitat destruction and pollution have contributed significantly to the quality of fishing available, but they have targeted the commercial netters for elimination as destroyers of the king mackerel fishery. It's easier than trying to correct destruction of habitat, and certainly is cheaper, and even if it doesn't help a thing, it makes a person feel like he is accomplishing something. In the end, the satisfying of that ego may be the most lasting result.

Borrowed Nonsense:

Heard about the Roseau couple who took their 12-year-old son to New York and went to see a Broadway musical. They had second thoughts when the opening number had a well-endowed and leggy chorus line clad in little more than a few green and white ribbons.

When the girls had completed their number, the boy leaned over to his mother and whispered, "Did you see that?"

"See what?" the mother asked apprehensively.

"Those girls!" the boy exclaimed excitedly. "They were wearing the Rams hockey colors!"

Television viewers in a Michigan community received an eyeful recently when a switching problem sent x-rated programming into their homes. "It was terrible," one viewer complained in a call to the local radio station. "We had to watch that stuff for over four hours."

CHAUTAUQUA will present "Minnesota, a State of Mind" at 8 p.m. Saturday, April 23, at Northwest regional library in Thief River Falls, as part of national library week festivities. Three-act program features singer Barton Sutter, writer Annette Atkins and poet Ross Sutter. Program is open to the public free of charge. MSU To Give Hartz Award To Publisher

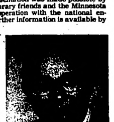
Moorhead State University will present its second annual L.B. Hartz professional achievement award to William Marcil — president and publisher of the Forum Publishing company — at a 6:30 p.m. awards banquet in his honor April 20 in Comstock memorial union ballroom on the MSU campus.

The award is presented by the student advisory board to MSU's dean of business in recognition of people who've created economic opportunities for others and demonstrated exemplary qualities of entrepreneurship, innovation, citizenship and enterprise.

The award is named in honor of L.B. Hartz, a native of Duluth who took over a small bankrupt grocery in Roseau 58 years ago and developed it into Hartz Wholesale company, a multi-million dollar business headquartered in Thief River Falls. It serves more than 400 independently owned groceries in northern Minnesota and eastern North Dakota. His Hartz Foundation today supports a variety of needs in the communities throughout the region where his company has helped serve enterprising small businesses.

Marcil, from Rolette, ND, joined the Forum Publishing company in 1961 as an advertising salesman and continued working there as a classified advertising manager, production manager and assistant to the publisher. In 1969 he was named president and publisher of the company as well as president of WDAY, Inc. and Dakota Photo Engraving. He also heads the Tribune Printing company in Willmar, which publishes the West Central Tribune; the South Dakota Broadcasting company with television stations in Sioux Falls, Aberdeen and Pierre; and KMMJ, Inc., an AM radio station in Grand Island Nebraska.

Marcil, who's chairman and president of the American Newspaper Publishers association, is also involved with dozens of community service organizations.



DR. ALYN N. DULL, professor of mathematics and computer science at St. Cloud state university, has been elected Grand Master of the Masonic fraternity in Minnesota for 1983. He was installed at the order's 130th annual communication in St. Cloud on March 25. In his new post, Dull will direct the leadership of the organization which has 48,000 members in 238 Masonic lodges throughout the state.

State Highway Accident Rate Shows Decline

Fatality rate for every 100 million miles of travel in Minnesota dropped to just over two in 1982 as indicated in preliminary data compiled by the Minnesota department of public safety. This is the lowest annual traffic fatality rate ever recorded in Minnesota with the injury rate following that decline, dropping to 136 per 100 million miles of travel.

Traffic fatality and injury rates are considered to be among the most revealing statistics available because they take into account the amount of exposure to risk Minnesotans encounter on our roads.

Both the fatality and injury rate declines continue a five-year downward trend in Minnesota that has seen those totals drop to levels many thought unachievable a decade ago.

Preliminary 1982 traffic accident totals also show that 182 fewer people were killed in 1982 than in 1981. There were 5,060 fewer injuries in 8,463 fewer accidents. These reductions occurred even as the number of licensed drivers continued to climb and the number of miles traveled remained about the same.

Also notable was that the 72 motorcycle fatalities in 1982 were the fewest for any year since the motorcycle helmet law was repealed in 1976, and pedestrian fatalities dropped to an unprecedented modern day low of 78.

'U'M Reports Low Rise In Dorm Rates

Room and board rates for the University of Minnesota's eight Twin Cities residence hall will rise by less than four per cent next year — the lowest increase in 10 years.

Quarterly rate for a typical double-occupancy dormitory room plus three meals a day will be $792 for the 1983-84 school year, an average increase of $30 per quarter.

Increases in the cost of food (four per cent), payroll (4.6 per cent) and utilities (eight to 12 per cent) account for the major portion of the rise in residence hall rates, according to Charles Lawrence, associate director of university housing. Computer cost controls for food purchases, the stabilized inflation rate and a slower rise in the cost of utilities helped keep the residence hall rates down, he said.

Committee made up of representatives from each dormitory and two housing staff members has voted to delay by four days the opening of residence halls before fall quarter and to close four of the buildings during winter and spring breaks, Lawrence said. This should cut costs considerably and still maintain adequate service for students, he added.

Quarterly rates for double-occupancy rooms vary from a high of $897 for Middlebrook hall to a low of $792 for Pioneer hall because of differences in the age and architecture of the buildings. Middlebrook hall was built in 1970 and offers more amenities than Pioneer hall, which was built in the 1930s.

Minnesotans Comply With Insurance Law

There are three million registered vehicles in Minnesota and 95 per cent of them carry the type of insurance required by law, according to the statistics on reportable accidents of the state department of public safety (DPS).

The department's no-fault office verifies insurance coverage through random spotchecks, verifies insurance coverage of all reportable accidents and takes action of notifications from insurance companies on cancellations of insurance.

"The public should be commended for compliance with this law. Minnesota drivers and owners have one of the best records in the nation," said Marlene Swanson, director of the DPS office of driver and vehicle services. However, those operating a vehicle that does not have no-fault insurance must take heed to the resulting suspension or revocation of his or her driver license and motor vehicle registration. Additionally, a new law provides for up to a 10 year suspension of a driver license when a civil judgment is rendered against the uninsured driver-owner.

In 1982, DPS no-fault office did a random spotcheck of 10 per cent of all affected motor vehicles and motorcycles licensed in the state. In all, 392,616 letters were sent to insurance companies asking for verification of insurance. The result was withdrawal of 6,057 license plates because of lack of coverage. Another 2,594 drivers licenses were revoked following arrests and court sentences for 30 days to 12 months for operating uninsured motor vehicles or motorcycles.

No-fault office also investigates every reportable accident for proper insurance coverage. In the first nine months of 1982, there were 130,356 people involved in reportable accidents in Minnesota (accidents totaling $500 or more damages or where a personal injury of death was involved.) Verification of insurance on these vehicles resulted in an additional 6,937 driver licenses suspensions and 4,474 license plate and registration suspensions due to lack of insurance.

In addition the Minnesota no-fault auto insurance act, effective January 1, 1975, requires insurance companies to notify the state of cancellations of insurance (when insurance is only kept in force for a few months) or when the insurance company terminates a policy. These notices totalled 45,000 which resulted in 10,000 vehicle registration suspensions in 1982.

"Getting uninsured motorists off the highways and roads of the state is not only important from a safety aspect, but also from a monetary point of view," said Swanson. "This is another way the department of public safety is working to protect motorists."

Directory For Small Business Now Available

One place small businesses can look for assistance is the "Minnesota Small Business Resource Directory," which has just been published by the Governor's council on rural development.

The directory, which is free to all present and potential small-business owners, lists many of the places where the small-business owner can go for various services.

Services included are: free and confidential individual business counseling, management and sales training, financial assistance, sources of investment capital, information on taxes and regulations, technical assistance and marketing assistance. These services are offered statewide through many educational institutions, state and federal agencies, and private institutions.

Directory was compiled because small-business owners often don't have the time to seek out the service that is just right for them, or they may not be aware that that service is available.

The directory gives a thumbnail sketch of the services as well as furnishing each provider's phone number and address so that the small-business person can get in touch with them quickly for more detailed information.

To receive a copy of the directory, write the Governor's Council on Rural Development, 100 Hanover Building, 480 Cedar Street, St. Paul, Minnesota 55101 or call 612-296-3993.

The Governor's council on rural development is an interagency, intergovernmental forum for identifying important rural issues in Minnesota and developing ways to address them.

Credit Allowed For Installing Energy Devices

Taxpayers who take certain steps to save energy in their homes can cut their income tax bills up to $4,300, the Internal Revenue service reports.

Law provides for a tax credit of up to $300 for energy saving items installed in the home, with a separate credit of as much as $4,000 for taxpayers who install renewable energy source items, such as solar or wind equipment.

Credit for energy saving items, such as solar or wind equipment, is figured at 15 per cent of the first $2,000 spent on such items as storm or thermal windows and doors, insulation, weather-stripping and caulking. Also qualifying are expenditures for fuel efficient furnace replacement burners, flue-opening modifications, electrical or mechanical ignition systems to replace gas pilot lights, and clock thermostats. Only items installed in homes that were substantially completed before April 20, 1977 are eligible for this energy credit.

"Renewable" energy source credit is 40 per cent of the first $10,000 invested in qualifying solar, wind or geothermal equipment used to heat, cool or provide hot water or electricity for use in the home, according to the IRS.

Both credits are available for items installed on a taxpayer's principal residence after Apr. 19, 1977, and before Jan. 1, 1986. Renewable energy credit is available for both existing and newly constructed homes. Renters as well as homeowners are eligible for the credit.

Taxpayers need not itemize deductions to claim the residential energy tax credit. They do, however, have to file Form 1040, attaching Form 5695, showing how the credit was computed. Form 5695, "Redidential Energy Credit," is available by using the mail-order form in the tax package.

No credit is allowed on any return for any taxable year if the credit is less than $10. Any unused credits may be carried over to the extent the credit is more than the taxpayer's tax. Period for carrying over of unused credits extends through 1987.

For additional information on energy credits, taxpayers can order the free IRS publication 903, "Energy Credits for Individuals," by using the order form in the tax package.

JOSE COLE comes from seven generations of circus performers in Mexico and for more than 35 years of his own life was a performer himself. Now he has become a manager and books his own circus throughout the midwest and as far south as Florida. His headquarters are in Minneapolis, which he said works fine for the area he covers. While a performer himself, he had a hand balancing act in which he balanced on one hand atop two bottles set top-to-top, then rotated one full revolution.

Summer Class Schedule At Bemidji State

Education faculty at Bemidji state university will be conducting seven workshops over the course of the summer.

One, entitled Creative Activities in the Elementary School, will be conducted by Dr. Nancy Keller from June 11 to 18. Course activities provide both basic and enrichment types of involvement for children from kindergarten through the sixth grade. Advance registration is required for the one credit course that is available to graduate or undergraduate students.

One undergraduate credit or graduate credit can be earned by attending the Reading in the Elementary School workshop directed by Dr. Charles Austad July 11 and 12. Topics will include community perception of reading programs in the public schools. How classroom teachers view themselves as professional reading teachers and presenting school reading programs to the public will also be covered.

Building Support Systems will be covered during another workshop directed by Austad July 13 and 14. How teachers support children as they learn to read, as well as the finding of administrative support for excellence in reading instruction, will be discussed during the program. It can be attended for one graduate or undergraduate credit.

Third workshop directed by Austad is Turn Kids on to Reading which will be held July 15 and 16. One graduate or undergraduate credit can be earned by attending the session. Techniques for enhancing children's reading experience through related subject areas and activities will be covered.

Being in the classroom requires teachers to have survival skills and that need will be covered in Prapte Elliott's workshop, Educators Survival Skills K-12. Held July 18 to 22 and available for two undergraduate or graduate credits, the session will address practical tools for classroom management to minimize stress and conflict. Other topics studied will be impacts on teachers' energy levels, absenteeism and the doing of learning and discipline in positive ways.

Problems in Elementary Social Studies is the title of the workshop offered by Donald Bye for one undergraduate or graduate credit. Course emphasis will be on conservation education in the elementary school. It will be offered July 22 and 23.

To request further information or registration materials for these workshops, write the workshop director at the education department, Education-Arts Building, Bemidji State University, Bemidji, MN 56601; (218-755-2930.

'U'M' Patients Promising New Herpes Drug

Medicinal gel that has suppressed genital herpes lesions and prevented recurrence in laboratory animals has been patented at the University of Minnesota.

Results of the successful animal tests with the drug — cyclaradine — were presented by medicinal chemistry professor Robert Vince of the university's college of pharmacy at the national meeting of the American Chemical Society in Seattle March 22.

Because of the thorough series of pre-clinical and clinical tests required by the federal food and drug administration, the drug is not likely to reach the market for several years, Vince said. Schering Corp., a multinational pharmaceutical company, is now engaged in testing it, along with Vince and colleague William Shannon, a virologist at the Southern research institute in Birmingham, AL.

"We hope to get the drug on the fast track" to speed up testing on humans, Vince said. Several other drug companies have inquired about cyclaradine and still other companies are now racing to develop other herpes drugs, he said.

Genital herpes is a painful and so far incurable virus, transmitted by sexual contact. Some 20 million Americans now suffer from it, with a half million more added to the ranks each year. In Vince's animal tests untreated herpes turned out to be fatal, though no one knows whether that holds true for humans, he said. It is known, however, that nearly 75 per cent of babies born vaginally to infected mothers die from the disease and that recurrent herpes is associated with the development of cervical cancer.

"Cyclaradine looks very promising," Vince said. In the female guinea pigs infected with the live human herpes virus, the topical gel suppressed the lesions, and prevented them from recurring — all without causing any toxic reactions or skin irritation. The drug must be applied within a relatively short time after the initial infection — three to 24 hours for the animals, probably within weeks for people.

Soon, Vince hopes, oral and intravenous forms of the drug can be developed. Those forms could more easily attack the virus in the ganglia of the spine, where it lies dormant between outbreaks, for the victim's entire life.

Cyclaradine looks more promising than the other two anti-viral drugs now being developed to fight herpes, Vince said. Vira-A (brand name for Ara-A) marketed by Warner-Lambert Co., is very effective, but only against non-genital forms of herpes. Zovirax (brand name for acyclovir), now marketed by the Burroughs Wellcome Co., increases healing and reduces the pain of herpes, but does not actually prevent lesions or recurrences of the virus.

But Vince's drug works differently than acyclovir, he said. It is "turned on" by an enzyme within the cells that act as host for the herpes virus, not by the virus itself as is the case with acyclovir. This means that cyclaradine is more quickly activated and that it should work for all strains of the herpes virus, even those that become resistant to acyclovir and those that have not yet evolved.

Vince discovered the drug by designing and constructing new molecules, in a broad project originally designed to find better chemotherapies for cancer. He then detoured his reasearch to analyze why Ara-A was not effective against cells infected with genital herpes, although it worked well on other types of herpes viruses. Medicinal chemists design new drug molecules on paper and with molecular models first, he explained, then they try to build them step by step in the lab. The process led him to redesign the Ara-A molecule into an active genital herpes drug, subsequently named cyclaradine.

"We have to work by fooling the virus," finding a step in its careful self-replication that can be interfered with, Vince said. In the case of the herpes virus (a DNA-type virus), it must multiply by ferreting out molecules already in the body's cells, then using them as its own viral building blocks. Enzymes are like the construction workers in the process, in charge of assembling all these molecular blocks. The relevant enzyme in Vince's studies, a DNA polymerase lying within the host cell ready to help the virus, is tricked — by a confusion of molecular shapes — into picking up the cyclaradine instead. The drug then fails to help assemble the viral strand and the herpes virus is quickly halted in its plans to multiply.

STRAIGHT TALK

Albert D. Hattis, Associate Professor of Business and Holder of the Schwan Endowed Chair for Free Enterprise, Southwest State University, Marshall

It was only a play, but it illustrates a point. The community had a problem. Their doctor had died and the citizens were trying to determine what should be carved on his tombstone. There had been a sign at the street level stairway entrance to his second floor office, "Dr. Smith, Upstairs." The citizens of this town decided to have that etched into his memorial because of their respect for a guy who had done so much for so many.

Today, in public opinion surveys, the medical doctor is no longer one of the "top people" on the "respect ladder." The surveys do not explain why the opinions have changed, but it may be the result of skyrocketing health care costs, a lack of involvement in community activities, or a depersonalization of their services in an effort to treat more patients.

In a recent column, I emphasized skyrocketing health care costs and a do-nothing attitude on cost reduction by the health care industry, including doctors and hospitals. Doctxrs and hospitals did not like the charge that their billings have skyrocketed, but the facts indicate that over an extended period of time health care cost has gone up three times as fast as inflation. Last year alone while inflation was 3.9 per cent, health care costs went up 11 per cent.

Michael Bromberg, executive director of the Federation of American Hospitals, told Forbes magazine that the heart of the problem is the doctor and a reimbursement system that doesn't impose cost controls and merely pays whatever the doctors and hospitals charge.

The number of current magazine and newspaper articles supporting the fact that health care industry charges have skyrocketed and that nothing is really being done to get costs down or contain them, keeps growing each day. Even medical publications, including the New England Journal of Medicine, have indicated that health care has become too expensive for the public, and that during the 1980's more doctors will find that they must cut costs and charges, write fewer prescriptions, hospitalize fewer patients, and expect lesser demands on their time (reducing their income) as the supply of doctors goes into a surplus.

What has been the doctor and hospital response to this call for cost cutting? The doctors who responded to my column said that their fees were raised only 7.5 per cent in 1982, which they claimed was the inflation rate. Since the inflation rate was 3.9 per cent, not 7.5 per cent, their rates had, once again, skyrocketed at about 192 per cent of the national inflation rate.

A hospital sent me a study showing that operating expenses per admission had gone up about 30 per cent from 1978 to 1983, but a call to that same hospital showed that the 1978 room charge of $84 was now a 1983 room charge of $135, increasing over 60 per cent.

While the health care industry emphasizes the quality of care, I was contacted by a senior physician who sits on a committee reviewing whether appropriate care was provided to those who died at his medical center. A decade ago when half of those deaths involved an autopsy, he claims that there were questions about care in 40 per cent of the cases. Today, with autopsies in only about 15 per cent of the cases, no one can prove that care quality has improved because the sample is inadequate.

I am not concerned over health care industry letters claiming that I am wrong, and costs haven't skyrocketed and the public isn't being gouged. The facts support what I have said, that health care costs have risen to the point where we can not afford proper care.

What does concern me is a very real question: "Is it possible that our doctors and hospitals really do not know that health care costs have skyrocked beyond our means and that the public is demanding that action be taken to reduce those costs?"

That's Straight Talk!

With this set of Pioneer® brand hybrids there's less risk... no matter how you spread it.

3995 Probably the best 75-day hybrid you can plant. 3995 has a "flinty" grain type for outstanding grain quality and highest test weight in its maturity. Plant it "heavy" for extra yield.

3994 When the growing season "shortens up" more than usual, you'll be glad you have 3994 in your program. And northern silage producers like 3994 for its high tonnage yields.

3992 About a week earlier than 3978 in maturity. Making yields on short order and drying down fast are traits that growers appreciate about 3992. Also makes a fine silage choice.

3978 Whether it's your early corn or the fullest season corn you plant, 3978 tends to yield like hybrids a week later in maturity. High test weight grain dries down fast!

Go with what you know...3995, 3994, 3992 and 3978 from Pioneer. See or Call:

1979
1982

HISTORY of the Uff Day Days promotion sponsored by the retail business association of Thief River Falls is chronicled in this collection of buttons which is on display in the Chamber of Commerce office. Simplicity of the first button used in 1974, has given way to more artistic renderings and multiple colors, as local artists have vied to have their designs selected for the buttons. Although the design has already been selected for the 1984 promotion, another contest will be held next year to choose a design for 1985.

Massachusetts Sweeps Minnesota Stars

Team Massachusetts out-scored Team Minnesota 28-5 in a three-game weekend hockey series at Lowell, Mass. matching high school seniors from the two areas that are generally regarded as having the best hockey programs in the nation.

Massachusetts won the series opener 14-3 Friday, scoring eight times in the first period and building an 11-0 lead in front of about 2,800 fans at the University of Lowell Joe Tully Forum. The winners out-shot Minnesota 68-22 for the game. Thief River Falls' Tim Bergland had one of the three Minnesota goals.

Massachusetts started with a 4-0 lead Saturday en route to a 6-2 victory in front of 1,600 fans, out-shooting Minnesota 48-30.

An 8-0 shutout Sunday completed the Massachusetts sweep for a crowd of 1,400. This time the winners had a 44-16 shots-on-goal edge.

It's hoped that the series, which followed a Minnesota high school all-star game matching the North vs. the South at Duluth the week before, will become an annual affair.

Miscellaneous

+Lincoln high school graduate Bill Jury was selected by the University of Minnesota-Duluth student newspaper as the UMD athlete of the week recently. As a member of the Bulldogs' tennis team, Jury ran his record to 14 straight wins this spring to earn the weekly honor. A junior, Jury is one of only two returning lettermen on the 1983 UMD squad. He's playing No. 2 singles and No. 2 doubles for the Bulldogs.

+ Lincoln high school baseball season, rescued by a community fund-raising drive, will get underway Thurs., April 21, when Red Lake Falls visits the Thief River Falls fairgrounds diamond.

+ Dennis Bartz has resigned after three years as Bemidji high school boys swimming coach. Bartz said he owned it to his family to cut back on his coaching duties. He serves as the Lumberjacks' cross country coach in the fall and works as an assistant track coach in the spring.

+ Warren high school basketball team set a new school defensive record this winter by allowing just 30.7 points per game. The Ponies out-scored their opponents 991-642, a 349-point difference for the 21-game season that included 42-18 and 39-26 wins over Thief River Falls.

+ Fergus Falls community college football coach Jim Swanson told the Fergus Falls Journal that be will concentrade his recruiting efforts to high schools within the Fergus Falls area. "We want the players from the Battle Lakes, the Perhams, the Hillcrests," he said. "We want the good players from this area to know that they can come here and play, and they won't have to sit on the bench when they get here." Fergus Falls won a Northern Division title a couple of years ago with a team staffed by a large number of out-state players.

+ Bemidji State University football coach John Peterson announced that Bemidji high school standouts Craig Smith and Jason Gagness will be playing for the Beavers next fall. "Both have outstanding athletic ability and could step in to help us," said Peterson. The speedy Smith had his senior year cut short with the Lumberjacks in 1982 because of a shoulder injury in the second game of the season and ligament damage to his knee in the fourth game. "His potential seemed unlimited, wrote Pat Miller of the Bemidji Pioneer, "and it is possible that Lumberjacks records could have been shattered had he remained healthy." When the 5-9, 175-pound Smith went down for the second time, 5-11, 185-pound Gagness was inserted at tailback and all he did in his first start in the backfield was carry the ball 25 times for 164 yars and two touchdowns in a 12-6 win over Thief River Falls. He is expected to play as a linebacker or strong safety at BSU. Peterson also announced the signing of Dennis Priem, a 5-10, 185-pound linebacker-strong safety from Detroit Lakes.

+ Ken Muckenhirn became the second Mahnomen high school basketball player to join the 1,000-point club this winter, finishing with 1,041 points. Muckenhirn, whose long punt return beat Thief River Falls 6-0 on the football field this fall, missed the Indians-Prowlers basketball game because of illness for the second straight year in 1982-83, with Thief River Falls winning both times. Muckenhirn, who will play football at North Dakota State University, was in double figures in 52 of the 56 basketball games he played at Mahnomen. Paul Hanson, who has 1,447 points, is the only other Mahnomen 1,000-point scorer.

LHS Basketball Record Remains At 7-12 For 1982-83 Season

Yes, it was a disappointing year, admitted Lincoln high school basketball coach Tom Hunt in reviewing the 1982-83 season. But the disappointment he felt stemmed from the Prowlers' losing record, not with the players' performances.

"I'm kind of disappointed in the 7-12 record," he acknowledged, "but as far as the kids' attitude, hustle and dedication to the game, I'm satisfied."

It was a near carbon copy of the 1981-82 season, Hunt's first year as head coach, when the Prowlers also finished 7-12 and lost a 67-37 first round North Half Region 8AA tournament game to Moorhead. This year the Spuds were again a first round post-season playoff foe and they dropped the Prowlers 70-34.

"At the beginning of the year we felt .500 would have been a comfortable season, although we were looking for more," explained Hunt.

And the Prowlers, who were hanging around the .500 mark for most of the year, had a chance to match the pre-season goal when they beat Bemidji for the second time, 52-44, on Feb. 18 to stand 7-8 with three regular season games remaining.

But instead of winning and finishing on a high note, the Prowlers lost all three and finished on a low note. Middle River surprised them 59-55, East Grand Forks drilled them 67-38 and Warren frustrated them 39-26. Then the one-sided loss in the playoffs to Moorhead cost them some more credibility, admitted Hunt.

"*I feel the ball club did im*prove during the year," said Hunt, "but I'm afraid we didn't show a great deal of improvement in those final four games. It was very difficult to deal with from both the players and coaches standpoint. We were very disappointed in our final four games."

There were five games during the course of the season that stood out in Hunt's mind as games the Prowlers lost in which they could have, or should have won. The five included home court losses to Crookston 57-47, Detroit Lakes 69-66 and Middle River. On the road the what-could-have-beens included losses at Argyle 44-42 and Fergus Falls 67-63.

"We played competitively in those games," reported Hunt, "but to have a winning record you have to win the close ones. The consistency just wasn't there when we needed it."

Thief River Falls relied heavily on the one-two punch of seniors Mark Gere and Randy Naeseth. Gere, who started the year at guard before his 6-4 height was needed closer to the basket, led the team in scoring with 230 points and a 12.1 average. He was also the team leader with 69 assists, 25 steals and a 64 per cent shooting figure from the free throw line (32-for-50). He also finished second on the rebound charts with 144 in 19 games.

Naeseth, meanwhile, played a strong inside game as a 6-4 center. He led the team with 161 rebounds and topped the shooting charts with a 59 per cent year from the floor (96-for-164). He was second to Gere with 221 points and an 11.6 average.

Both Gere and Naeseth might have had even bigger years offensively if the Prowlers could have shown a little more balance and taken some of the defensive pressure off those two.

"Mark and Randy both had good years for us," pointed out Hunt, "but we just needed a little more support from the others. We needed a little more balance."

Junior guard John Brandt shared the team-high free throw percentage with Gere with a 14-for-22 effort that matched Gere's 64 per cent mark.

Brandt will be one of two starters returning next year, joining 6-2 forward Jeff

DNR hotline

Region I consists of 1.2 million acres of public land. The waters, minerals, forests, wildlife and parks managed within this region belong to the people of Minnesota, point out DNR officials. Those individuals who have questions and-or grievances about how their resources are managed deserve easy access to information and straightforward answers, noted Merlyn Wesloh, DNR regional administrator.

In 1976, Region I wrote a weekly column entitled, "Ask DNR" which was published in 22 regional newspapers. The question and answer forum allowed public discussion of anything from wildlife enforcement practices and game laws to timber sales and shoreline regulations. Readers asked questions regarding where to purchase young pheasants to raise, how landowner consent is obtained for grants-in-aid trails, when people can get help controlling nuisance wildlife and who can qualify for special permits to keep protected animals.

Now the DNR Hotline will re-establish the weekly forum, responding to all questions and comments from the readers and will encourage open discussion on regional issues, such as gill netting, burning permits, herbicide spraying and shoreline restoration. The column will also notify readers of public hearings that are scheduled throughout the region.

Readers can send letters to the Department of Natural Resources, Region I Hotline, Route 5, Box 41A, Bemidji, MN 56601; telephone 755-3955. Reader questions and comments will be distributed to appropriate DNR officials).

1. When can I spear suckers? Licensed residents may take rough fish by spearing, harpooning, archery, and hand-help dip nets May 1 through February 15 — during daylight hours. Daily limits for rough fish are 50 Suckers; 50 redhorse; and 100 bullhead. There is no limit on carp, buffalofish, sheepshead, dogfish, eelpout, tullibees, gar and goldeyes. It is against the law to use dip nets with hoops wider than 2 feet, to spear or net roughfish in trout water, to return rough fish to water, or to leave fish on the banks. Rough fish legally taken may be bought and sold. (Butch Dyrland, Regional Enforcement Supervisor).

2. When do I need a burning permit? State law requires permits for all open burning, especially in areas where evergreens are standing or cut, or where there are slashings, brush, excavated stumps or peat. Permits are not required for contained fires such as cooking or warming fires, or for burning combustible material in approved incinerators. Burning permits are free from Division of Forestry field officers or township fire wardens. (Dale Peterson, Assistant Regional Forestry Supervisor).

3. Can I repair the ice ridge damage to my shoreline without a permit? If ice pressure has pushed up earth along your shoreline, creating an "ice ridge," you don't need a permit to repair the damage if you pull the material away from the lake and spread it upland from the high water mark. However, you might need one from your County Zoning Officer. If you prefer, you may spread material on the lakeward side of the high water mark if the material is clean sand or gravel, and if you confine the material to 50 feet of shoreline, no more than 10 feet into the lake, and 6 inches thick. Also, you should not push material into a posted fish spawning area. Check with the Department of Natural if repairs will require something other than mentioned above. (Kirk English, Hydrologist).

4. How do I register my new boat? You can register new watercrafts at the Deputy Registrar of Motor Vehicles — the same place you license your car. Bring along the following information: craft length, manufacture, type of hull material (wood, metal or plastic) type of propulsion, model, year and serial number. You will receive a temporary permit until your license arrives from the DNR License Center. This procedure is the same for license renewals, transfers, and duplicates. Licenses are good for three years and they expire on December 31 of the last year. (Butch Dyrland, Region Enforcement Supervisor).

Tennis Team Plays Today

Rain or shine the Lincoln high school tennis team is scheduled to open its 1983 season today (Monday) with a 3:45 p.m. outing against Crookston and Detroit Lakes at the Grand Forks Tennis Center.

Returning lettermen are expected to hold down five of the seven positions for the Prowlers today, including seniors Chad Broadwell, Steve Bendickson and Ken Kompelien, along with sophomore Dan Imgrund and freshman Al Erickson.

Other two opening day performers will likely come from a group of four non-lettering seniors: Jim Gobell, Eric Henderson, Thane Mundell and Bob Vanyo.

Rest of the squad members are sophomore Jeff Vanyo, plus freshmen Brian Bendickson, Brian Mattson, Jeff Lane and Dave Winjum. There are no juniors on the team.

"I think those five returning lettermen have the potential to be good tennis players," explained Whitey Olson, who is beginning his 15th season as coach of the Prowlers. "I think Chad and Al can be two of the better kids in our subsection, and Steve, Ken and Dan will all be good, solid tennis players for us."

Thief River Falls will be grouped with Roseau, East Grand Forks, Crookston, Bemidji, Ada and Mahnomen in Section 8's Sub Section 4 this spring, and Olson says East Grand Forks and Crookston will likely be the top teams that group.

The Prowlers, admitted Olson, aren't in the same caliber as those Thief River Falls powerhouses from 1978 through 1980 which featured Bill Jury and Mitch Rustad, but they should still be in the thick of things in the area.

"I always end up looking back," acknowledged Olson, "but we'll be competitive. Hopefully by the time tournement time starts we can surprise some people."

Broadwell is serving as the team captain this spring.

Mark Collins is a work-study student from Northland community college helping Olson. He'll be in charge of the Franklin middle school program.

Thief River Falls' first home appearance will be a Mon., April 25, dual vs. Crookston at 3:15 p.m. Thief River Falls' five-team Sports Boosters Invitational will be held Fri., May 13, and the Prowlers will host the sub section eliminations May 23-25.

Youth Firearms Safety Course Starts April 26

Youth firearms safety class for boys and girls will get underway April 26, according to program director Irving Swanson.

Participants must be at least 12-years-old because insurance regulations do not allow anyone younger to be covered in the program. All youths ages 12-15 must have a firearms safety certificate in order to hunt.

All firearms safety classes will be held in the basement meeting room of the Thief River Falls city auditorium, except the final session on Sat., May 7, that will be held at 10 a.m. at the Sportsmen's Club. Classes will be taught from 6:30 to 9 p.m. on Tues., April 26, then from 7 to 9 p.m. on Thurs., April 28; Tues., May 3; Wed., May 4; and Fri., May 6.

Registration fee is $4, and should be brought to the first session April 26.

Course will consist of movies, lectures and demonstrations in areas of wildlife recognition, wildlife management, survival and first aid, as well as the safe handling of firearms.

For additional information contact Swanson by calling 681-1049 or 681-6161.

Lincoln Girls Fare Well In Track Season Opener

Lincoln high school girls track team opened its 1983 season Friday by participating in a five-team indoor meet at the Crookston Winter Shows Building and coach Tom Schafer was more than satisfied with the Prowlers' showing.

Crookston won the varsity competition with 76 points, followed by Park Rapids with 44, Thief River Falls 38, Bagley 27 and East Grand Forks 21.

In the junior varsity portion of the meet, Park Rapids was a winner with 70½ points, followed by Thief River Falls with 65, Crookston 39½ and Bagley 27.

"We're smiling from ear-to-ear," reported Schafer. "We're really happy with the way things went for us."

Schafer was most pleased with sophomore Stacie Kruta and seven grader Jackie Smith, who gave the Prowlers their only varsity first place finish of the day with a 13:46 in the 3200-meter run.

"Jackie was a pleasant surprise," admitted Schafer. "Stacie probably ran the best of anybody. She really looked good. She had a good quarter-mile, a good leg on the 1400 relay and she looked good in the hurdles." Kruta was third in both the 60-meter hurdles (10.27) and 400-meter run (1.08) while teamming with Georgia Howard, Paula Wilkens and Hildegunn Nyland for a second place 3:54 effort in the 1400-meter relay.

In the junior varsity events, Thief River Falls had a double event winner in Shelly Trontvet, who took the 200-meter run in 32.01 and won the long jump with a leap of 14-4. Cindy Kruta was a winner in the 400-meter run with a 1:11 and the 700-meter relay team of Lynell Armstrong, Bobbi Thompson, Trontvet and Tammy Gunderson was a winner in 1:50.2.

"It was a very good way to start the season," said Schafer after the meet.

Thief River Falls will be back at Crookston Thursday for another 4 p.m. indoor meet, this time the girls will be joined by the boys, who will be making their 1983 debut. Both Thief River Falls teams will be at Bemidji Saturday for a 10 a.m. running of the Bemidji Jaycees Invitational.

Athletic Study Is Completed By PTA

Half of all Americans never perform any physical activity beyond that required by their jobs and daily chores, yet more leisure time and better sports facilities are available to them than ever before. Many experts believe that our national lack of physical fitness is particularly dangerous to the health of today's children.

George Allen, coach and manager of the Chicago Blitz football team and chairman of the President's Council on Physical Fitness and Sports, examines the decline of physical fitness in the March issue of the National PTA's magazine, PTA Today. The issue is devoted to the subject of sports for children and youth.

According to Allen, parents can help their children become more fit by becoming physically active themselves and by helping their children acquire a "lifetime sport" — a sport that they can continue to enjoy throughout their adult years.

Parents should know that "most children will find the right sport if exposed to a variety of activities at ages at which they can master the required skills," Allen says. He asks parents to make sure their children build " a firm foundation of physical fitness on which to construct skills. Some coaches put it this way: 'You get fit to play. You don't play to get fit.' "

While too many young people suffer from a lack of physical exercise, some parents worry about whether too much athletic competition will hurt their child's academic achievement. The March issue of PTA Today summarizes recent research and draws the following conclusions:

+ Athletic participation improves academic achivement for some students, but not as a general rule. It slightly decreases the average boy's grades.

+ Athletes are less likely than non-athletes to drop out of school or to commit delinquent acts.

+ Athletes are more likely than non-athletes to want to attend college, because athletics put students in touch with school leaders, the most college-oriented group. The effects of this peer association are strongest among students who are the least interested in college initially.

+ Athletic competition increases educational attainment, i.e., athletes are more likely than non-athletes to follow through on their desire to attend college.

Thus, while the grade averages of student athletes may decline slightly, other factors such as increased educational attainment may more than compensate for this small loss in grade point.

March issue of PTA Today also covers the following areas:

+ Are school sports and physical education dying? William M. Palmer, executive director of the American Sports Education Institute, cites survey findings which show that currently, 51 per cent of all United States Schools are inadequately funded for school sports and physical education.

+ "Girls' Sports Programs and the Law" by Jeanne Paquette Atkins, Women's Equity Action League: current threats to Title IX, the 1972 federal law that made it illegal for federally supported educational programs to discriminate on the basis of sex.

+ How to evaluate your child's coach and the qualities of a successful coach.

+ Resources on school sports (a compendium of books, pamphlets and films on sports participation, the young athlete, and coaching methods.

Copies of the March issue of PTA Today are available for $1 each by sending a check or money order (made payable to National PTA) to National PTA, 700 North Rush Street, Chicago, Illinois 60611.

NASA Data Is Being Used By Wildlife Group

Less than 20 years after the first ever photographs by Louis Daguerre in France in 1839, scientists realized the value of looking at the world from aloft when they attached cameras to hot air balloons and sent them wafting over Paris.

Today, satellite imagery is part of our lexicon and an indispensible tool for such things as weather forecasting, oil exploration — and raising ducks.

Raising ducks?

That's the idea behind a partnership between Ducks Unlimited and NASA to inventory North America's invaluable wetlands.

Ducks Unlimited, the world's largest waterfowl conservation organization, will use the images sent from Landsat 4 to decipher how it can best serve the needs of the nation's waterfowl and perhaps slow the continued loss of wetlands that is now estimated at 400,000 acres annually.

"The joint venture between DU and NASA will also make it possible for federal, state and private natural resource managers to obtain Landsat 4 data," says Dale E. Whitesell, executive vice president of Ducks Unlimited.

Landsat 4's sophistication is such that it can inventory areas as small as one-quarter acre, about the size of an average city lot. The purpose behind the wetlands inventory is to find the areas most critical to waterfowl and the myriad of other species that depend on wetlands for their very existence.

"It is paramount that we tend to the most productive areas, first if we somehow want to lessen the impact of the annual loss of wetlands," says Whitesell. "Those areas lie mostly within what is called the prairie pothole country — the Dakotas, Montana and western Minnesota."

So the next time you hear your favorite television weatherman predicting rain for your planned family outing, remember that elsewhere scientists are using similar information to predict the future of America's waterfowl. And waterfowl like nothing better than a little rain.

TRF Slow Pitch Meeting Slated For Wednesday

A reminder that the Thief River Falls men's slow pitch softball association organizational meeting will be held Wednesday at 8 p.m. in the Northland community college gymnasium.

All players and managers are asked to attend the meeting. Persons interested in entering a team for the 1983 season should contact Dennis Bendickson by calling 681-6922 or 681-2181.

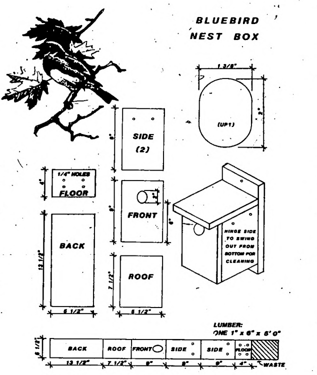
The league is also in need of umpires for the upcoming summer season. Persons interested in working as a slow pitch umpire should contact Mark Haugen at 681-7427.

BSU Slates Class In Kayaking

Spring is the time for fast kayaking and the Bald Eagle center at Bemidji state university is planning a one credit course available May 13-15.

Emphasizing basic strokes, braces and rolls, the clinic also covers kayak design and additional equipment. The course is available for undergraduate and post-baccalaureate credit at respective costs of $46.65 and $51.50.

For registration materials and more information, contact Ron DeValk, Bald Eagle Center, Deputy Hall, Bemidji State University, Bemidji, MN 56601 (218-755-3996).



YOU CAN HELP WILDLIFE BY GIVING TO THE NONGAME WILDLIFE CHECKOFF ON YOUR MINNESOTA TAX FORMS

Bluebird House Plans Made Available By Minnesota DNR

(Editor's note: this is the third of a six-part series of feature stories supplied by the Minnesota Department of Natural Resources on how to build bird houses for a variety of Minnesota's favorite birds. Articles are written by Carrol L. Henderson, DNR nongame wildlife supervisor.)

Perhaps no sight is more appreciated or enjoyed in the spring as much as a bluebird. These beautiful creatures have traditionally nested in tree hole cavities. Now many dead trees with cavities are being cut for firewood, and English sparrows and starlings aggressively compete for remaining tree holes.

Best way to help bluebirds is to make several houses and space them out, about 100 yards apart, on a "bluebird trail" along a fenceline. The best habitat for bluebirds is mixed woodland and grazed or mowed pastures, hayfields or meadows. Bluebirds feed mostly on insects which they catch in areas where the grass is relatively short.

Bluebirds are not a typical backyard species, and you will not usually get them to nest near homes or buildings.

Bluebirds arrived in late March and early April, so nesting boxes should be ready for occupancy by April 1 in southern Minnesota and April 12 in northern Minnesota.

Bluebird houses should be 4-6 feet above the ground, in open area; not placed in woods. Houses are usually attached to fence posts and it is best if they face south or southeast. The houses should be checked at least once a week from April 1 to August 15 to remove undesirable tenants, detect predation and remove old nests after each brood leaves the box. Houses should also be checked in late winter to remove any winter visitors like mice.

Bluebird house plan shows in the accompanying diagram is a simple pattern which can be made from a cedar 1 x 6 inches that is 5 feet long. Cedar is the preferred wood because it will last a long time. Other wood like pine is acceptable. The house can be left unpainted, or painted a light color that will reflect sunlight and therefore reduce interior heat in the summer.

Another bluebird house pattern developed by Dick Peterson of Minneapolis is also available from the Bluebird Recovery Committee, Audubon Chapter of Minneapolis, P.O. Box 566, Minneapolis, MN 55440.

Bluebird houses are also readily used by tree swallows. Tree swallows are also a desirable native species which eats a large number of fiying insects.

Next birdhouse design in this series will be for the Kestrel (sparrow hawk) and screech owl.

LHS Basketball Record Remains At 7-12 Level

Hamerlinck. Other underclassmen on this year's club were mark Bondy, John Kinsman, Tim Kruse and Randy Erickson.

"We do have a strong nucleus coming back next year," noted Hunt. "The kids we have coming back all have great attitudes, desire and hustle. Those key elements can take a team a long ways."

"Even though our record didn't show it, I think we made strides this year; maybe not as much as we would have like, but I think the program did improve," Hunt said. "I think we're on the right track. We're providing a number of opportunities for the young people (through open gym time, etc.), and now it's up to them to work at it."

In addition to those before-mentioned results, Thief River Falls' 1982-83 season included wins over Roseau 59-47, Grafton 49-38, Bemidji 44-37, Marshall County Central 63-49, Mahnomen 46-44 and Park Rapids 55-50, along with losses to Warren 42-18, Moorhead 60-46, East Grand Forks 54-39 and Crookston 57-47.

Invitation Is Given To Fast Pitch Players

Persons interested in playing in the Thief River Falls fast pitch softball league this summer are invited to contact Ron Ostby, who will help place you on a team, by calling 681-2234.

Need Umpires For TRF Fast Pitch Contests

Umpires are needed for the Thief River Falls fast pitch softball league this summer. Anyone interested in working as an umpire should call Jeff Hendrickson at 681-3914 or 681-4918.

LHS Athletic Programs Are Aided By Sales

Lincoln high school athletic programs are benefiting from a sales promotion at TG Sporting Goods in which $1 will be donated to the sports' fund-raising efforts from each $4.50 Thief River Falls baseball cap sold at the store, reports Thief River Falls athletic director Russ Smith.

National Wildlife Federation
News Release

When it bellyflops into the sea, it sounds like a cannon. It has two "horns" on its head, and a "wing"-spread of 20 feet.

Despite its nickname as the "devilfish," the manta ray is actually a gentle, peaceful fish and has never been known to attack humans, according to this month's issue of Ranger Rick, the children's publication of the National Wildlife Federation.

Manta ray cruises just beneath the ocean surface, feeding on baby shrimp, small fish and other small sea creatures. It uses its horns, which are actually soft flaps of flesh. to push into its mouth.

Closely related to the shark, the manta ray and its many cousins are diverse in size, shape and habit.

Although mantas usually swim alone or in pairs, eagle rays often travel in large groups, looking like a flock of strange birds with seven-foot wing spans.

Eating almost anything that swims in front of them, eagle rays can be a nuisance to fishermen trying to raise clams or oysters, that get gobbled up by the rays, shells and all.

Even less friendly cousins to the manta and eagle rays are the stingray and electric ray. More swimmers and divers are hurt by stingrays than by all other fish combined, including sharks.

A stingray, no matter the size, doesn't look for trouble. But when it is stepped on or bothered in any way, the stingray will lash out with its long tail, injecting a powerful poison that can make a person sicken or even die.

In the daytime, a stingray hides on the ocean bottom under a layer of sand. It covers itself by flapping its "wings" to raise a cloud that settles over its body, covering all but its eyes, breathing holes and stinging tail. Even the brightly colored blue-spotted stingray hides successfully in this fashion.

Electric rays, unlike stingrays, use their weapon to catch food. An electric ray has special muscles that can give off shocks of up to 200 volts, almost twice the power of household current, to stun its victims for easy eating.

All kinds of rays give birth to their young, but a cousin to the ray, the skate, lays eggs. Prongs on these eggs help hold them to seaweed or the sandy ocean bottom while the skates inside grow up.

When fully grown, the skates have no eyelids, but use the thin flap of skin as a built-in sunshade. When the sun is bright, this skin spreads over the skate's eyes, and when the light is dim, it shrinks to allow the skate better vision.

COUNTY COURT-
PROBATE DIVISION
Order and Notice of Hearing on Petition for Probate of Will and Appointment of Personal Representative in Supervised Administration and Notice to Creditors
In Re: Estate of George E. Peterson, Deceased
TO ALL INTERESTED PERSONS AND CREDITORS:

It is Ordered and Notice is hereby given that on the 4th day of May, 1983, at 2:00 o'clock P.M., a hearing will be held in the above named Court at Thief River Falls, Minnesota, for the formal probate of an instrument purporting to be the will of the above named decedent, dated April 28, 1980, and for the appointment of H. Arthur Peterson whose address is 614 North Arnold Avenue, Thief River Falls, Minnesota, 56701, as personal reprsentative of the estate of the above named decedent in supervised administration, and that any objections thereto must be filed with the Court. That, if proper, and no objections are filed, said personal representative will be appointed to administer the estate, to collect all assets, pay all legal debts, claims, taxes and expenses and sell real and personal property, and do all necessary acts for the estate. Upon completion of the administration, the representative shall file a final account for the allowance and shall distribute the estate to the persons thereunto entitled as ordered by the Court, and close the estate.

Notice is further given that ALL CREDITORS having claims against said estate are required to present the same to said personal representative or to the Clerk of the Court within four months after the date of this notice or said claims will be barred.

USDA Project To Reduce Food Stamp Losses

U.S. department of agriculture project to reduce losses in the food stamp program has been announced by Secretary of Agriculture John R. Block.

Title operation awareness, the project "will be a coordinated effort of federal, state and local governments and national welfare organizations to reduce fraud, waste and abuse," Block said.

Operation awareness has three goals, he explained:

(1) To improve the quality of the program through detection and reduction of losses attributed to fraud, waste and abuse;

(2) To ensure that successful state projects and initiatives are recognized and such information is shared between states; and

(3) To enlist the endorsement and support of other key agencies and organizations to coordinate the efforts of these groups with USDA activities.

To accomplish these goals, Block said, USDA is encouraging the exchange of successful techniques states are using a combat fraud and publicizing these efforts.

"Our state welfare officials are attacking fraud, waste and abuse problems," he said. For example, Block cited a South Carolina project where rigorous reviews of selected food stamp cases uncovered more than $66,526 in overpayments to food stamp clients.

"Many of their solutions are innovative and cost-effective. We, at the federal level, need to ensure their ideas get shared and publicized because the states deserve our assistance. We want the people in Oregon to know what the people in Maine are doing," Block said.

The food stamp program is at an $11 billion effort that serves one out of 10 Americans and "is our first line of defense against hunger and malnutrition in this country," Block said. Seventy-five percent of the food stamp beneficiaries are children, women and the elderly.

According to Block, USDA has begun many other activities to reduce fraud, waste and abuse in addition to operation awareness.

"We know where our problems are — they are in the eligibility determination and coupon redemption processes," Block said. To attack the problem of ineligibility and overpayments, recently published regulations require states to perform computer matches to verify the income of applicants and participants with social security and unemployment records. This will have three benefits, Block explained. "It is an aid in determining eligibility, it eliminates fraud, and it is a strong deterrent to incorrect reporting of income."

To enable states to improve the integrity of the program, USDA has recently issued regulations that permit the states to establish their own starndard to validate the information provided by the applicant or participant. Rules have been published that would disqualify individuals who intentionally make false or misleading statements, or conceal or withhold facts.

Penalty for the first offense is six months off the program; 12 months for the second offense and permanent disqualification for the third offense.

"I will be meeting with state welfare commissioners in the spring to discuss operation awareness. This open forum will provide an opportunity for discussion of the federal and state partnership and will facilitate the exchange of ideas to improve the program," Block said.

Contestants Sought For MN Teen Pageant

Minnesota United Teenager pageant will be held at Winona state university on July 31 and August 1, and 2. Minnesota pageant is the official state preliminary to the Miss United Teenager pageant, a national pageant that includes all 50 states.

Contestants will be judged on scholastic and civic achievements, beauty, poise and personality. No swimsuit competition or talent is involved. Contestants must be between 14 and 18 years of age.

Each contestant accepted will be requested to participate in the volunteer community service program of their choice. This program teaches teenagers to share and participate in school and civic affairs by contributing a minimum of eight hours time to some worthwhile civic or volunteer work to benefit their community. Each contestant is required to write and present on stage an essay entitled "My Country."

Winner of the Minnesota pageant will receive a trip to Hollywood, Calif. and Waikiki Beach, Hawaii, to include air fare, lodging, tours and pageant chaperones. She will compete in the national finals for $15,000 in scholarships, $2,000 wardrobe, a new automobile for the reigning year, $3,000 appearance contract, and many other prizes.

Those interested in entering the pageant may write for information to Post Office Box 1821, Fayetteville, NC 28302 or call (919) 822-1453.

Marriage Adds Gap Between Men, Mothers

by Lynette Lamb
'U'M News Service

A daughter is a daughter the rest of her life;

A son is a son 'til he takes a wife.

This old folk saying, scoffed at by most people in this liberated age, may still be true, said Lucy Rose Fischer, assistant professor of sociology at the University of Minnesota.

In a recently completed study of Twin Cities married men and their mothers soon to be published in the "Journal of Comparative Family Studies," Fischer found that although the mother-son relationship doesn't disappear when the son marries, it does tend to become something like an in-law relationship — emotionally distant and mediated by the son's wife.

Major reason for this, said Fischer, is the structure of family relationships, which are still defined to a large extent by gender division. "Women play kinkeepers for families," said Fischer. "To the extent that they are more involved in the home, women will be more involved with their in-laws," she said.

Fischer interviewed 42 men between the ages of 22 and 34 who had all been married a similar length of time and were all in their first marriages. She found that it is often the wife, rather than the son himself, who does the regular calling, writing and dealing with his parents.

Another reason married men seem to become more emotionally distant from their mothers, Fischer said, is that they are rarely alone with them. "The sex segregation of the family structure provides the opportunity for son and father to spend time together — working on building projects, watching or participating in sports — and for the mother-in-law and daughter-in-law to spend time together. When a son does see his mother, his wife is invariably there, and this redefines the relationship."

When a son and his wife have a child, tensions between son and mother increase, Fischer found. In her study, 53 per cent of men with children expressed negative feelings about their mothers, while just 19 per cent of childless men did. She said that much of this increased tension between son and mother is actually a reflection of the growing strain between the man's wife and his mother, which Fischer has documented in earlier studies.

Tension between mother-in-law and daughter-in-law is, in turn, a function of the wife's growing gatekeeping role, which is caused primarily by three elements: more sex role segregation in the marriage, which typically takes place after the birth of a child; the son's increasing involvement in his new family; and his simultaneous increasing involvement in his work and in his role as family provider, which further limits his free time to spend with either family.

"It's not a conscious decision on the part of the son," Fischer said. "To the contrary, husbands really want to maintain their relationships with their folks. But the unconscious pattern of the family pulls toward the wife's family," because she is the kinkeeper and tends to feel more comfortable with her own family, Fischer said.

Sons also may become distant from their mothers for reasons other than their marriages, Fischer added. "Gender identity is very different for little boys than it is for little girls. In establishing their identity, boys must establish themselves in contradistinction to their mothers. From a very early age the separation process is integral to a boy's development. . . autonomy is always more of an issue for him.

"The notion of being tied to his mother's apron strings is a negative image in our society," she said. Indeed, Fischer said that wives in her studies frequently disapproved of too much closeness between their husbands and their mothers.

Despite her findings, Fischer doesn't think all is lost for the relationship between married men and their mothers. "Equalization of gender roles would have a positive impact on their relationship," she said. "Married men would become more involved in the home and children and less isolated from their parents."

BBB Resolves 40 February Ad Challenges

Advertising review division of the better business bureau (BBB) of Minnesota resolved 40 formal local advertising challenges during the month of February.

Majority of the challenges (28), were the result of the BBB's own monitoring efforts, nine were initiated by customer complaints and three were brought to the bureau's attention by competitors.

In ten cases the BBB found advertisers had a basis for their claims. In the remaining 30 cases the advertiser either agreed to revise their claims to comply with the BB code of advertising or agreed to discontinue their claims.

The 40 challenges during February involved the following: pricing claims, 17 cases; insufficient quantity of merchandise claims, six cases; false or misleading claims, two cases; underselling or puffery claims, three cases; non disclosure claims, four cases; energy savings claims, four cases; warranties - guarantees claims, three cases; and use of the BBB name claim, one case.

Advertising division of the BBB handles investigative work for the advertising industry's self-regulatory mechanism. It reviews and evaluates challenges to the truth and accuracy of advertising brought by outside sources or initiated by the BBB as a result of its own monitoring of print and broadcast advertising.

Following its investigation BBB will dismiss or uphold the challenge, requesting in the latter event modification or withdrawal of the requested advertising. The results of BBB's investigations are detailed in a monthly report that is made public.

The Minnesota advertising review board (MARB) functions as an appeals body on advertising matters investigated originally by BBB. Four-member adjudicative panels drawn from MARB's 32 advertisers, advertising agency and public members evaluate advertising referred to the review board by BBB, an advertiser or a complainant. Panel findings and opinions are publicly disclosed.

In 1946 the first full employment act was passed; it called for the federal government to maintain maximum employment and purchasing power, according to a publication of the U.S. Department of Labor.

Reinstatement Of Music Position OK'd By Board

Recurring questions were among items considered when the Thief River Falls board of education met Monday evening at the school district service center. Agreement was reached on reinstatement of an instrumental music instructor but the St. Hilaire school question continues unsolved.

The board approved reinstatement of one music position for the 1983-84 school year contingent upon raising of $7,500 toward the position by the community. Also approved for reinstatement were $6,000 in legal services for the unrequested leave hearing, $5,300 for the CETA work study program and a half-time English position at Lincoln at an approximate cost of $10,000.

The board asked administration to review present policy regarding the board's approval of fund-raising projects for district expenses. With the possibility of a number of projects being undertaken by public groups to support school activities, the board expressed a concern toward protecting the public from possible fraud.

Having rejected a $10,000 bid for sale of the St. Hilaire school, the board continues to wrestle with the problem of that closed facility. Monday night the board directed administration to study the facility for a possible way of dividing the playground and gymnasium area from the rest of the facility and develop a rationale for possibly keeping one of the closed facilities (Knox or St. Hilaire) open to allow for possible increase in enrollment.

A request from Rob Almquist for use of the school for the St. Hilaire centennial celebration June 30-July 7 was approved contingent upon the district still having control of the property at that time.

Terry Lemer was reassigned as director of adult vocational education and community education effective Jan. 1, 1984. Business manager Harry Nelson reported that district finances are as expected as far as expenditures are concerned.

Following discussion of the district's financial situation, consensus was reached by the board members that the attempt be made to maintain a minimum fund balance of $300,000 as of June 30, 1984.

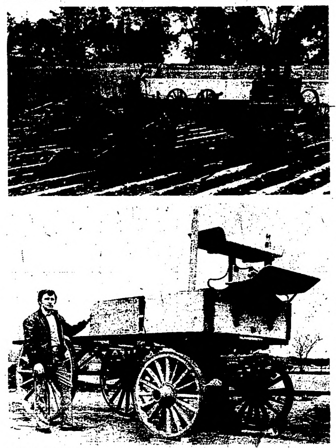
Named to the school district's negotiating committee were Larry McDowell, Harry Sjulson, Hank Hallstrom, Robert Block, Leo Ruberto and John Roszek.

AVTI director Dr. Orley Gunderson discussed a number of items with the board, including extending an invitation for board members to attend a meeting tentatively set for May 25 to review the budget with the state department of education. He also noted evaluators would be here May 1 and 12 for the five-year evaluation of the school.

Approval was given to recommendations for the AVTI carpentry house project, the student services reorganization plan and advertising for bids for AVTI food service. Discussed were development of new programs, a proposed admissions policy and status of AVTI funding in relation to program enrollment.

Hiring of a temporary cosmetology instructor immediately for 57 days through June 30 was approved. Also approved was a request by Mike Lehrer for Franklin musical groups "Morning Darkness" and "Sunrise" to make a tour May 4-6 to Grand Forks, Plummer, Minneapolis and Chaska.

Donna Vraa was hired as special education secretary substitute and resignations were accepted from George DeWall, bus driver and Jerald Brown, custodian. Supt. Robert Block invited board members to the inservice session with administration and Archie Holmes concerning equal opportunity scheduled for April 20. Members were also reminded of the unrequested leave hearing scheduled for April 26 at 9 a.m. in the law enforcement center training room.



RESTORATION PROJECT nearing completion is this delivery wagon once used by the Thief River Grocery. Marv Enerson (pictured) has been in charge of the restoration project which has been underway for two years. Once completed, the wagon will be placed on display at the Pennington county historical society's pioneer village. Top photo shows condition of the wagon before restoration began. In the bottom photo, Enerson holds the sideboard which was faint traces of the Thief River Grocery lettering remaining. The historical society enlisted the aid of an Amish craftsman to do much of the replacement work, including re-making wheels on the original hubs and restoring the frame and bed using dimensional oak lumber. To add to the wagon's authenticity, Enerson would like to hear from anyone who remembers the wagon in use and particularly the colors in which it was painted. He may be contacted evenings at 681-1963. Enerson said the completed wagon would be valued at approximately $10,000.

NCC Spring Enrollment Totals 770

Spring enrollment figures at Northland community college have been released by registrar Dennis Bendickson and they show sharp increases over a year ago and a continuance of the growth pattern of the college.

There are 770 students enrolled for spring quarter classes, up from 643 in the spring of last year. Full-time equivalent enrollment also showed an increase from 365 in 1982 to 398 this spring. Classes are being offered at five sites, with 194 students enrolled off-campus. Off-campus sites include the Grand Forks Air Force Base, Middle River, Roseau and Stephen.

Enrollment of women increased to 426 from 347 one year ago, while that of men rose to 344 from 296. Full-time students number 293 compared to 287 in the spring of 1982, while part-time enrollees jumped from 356 to 477 currently.

President Alex Easton expressed satisfaction over the enrollment figures, emphasizing that "this growth shows the success of our regional and non-traditional approach to services, and is very gratifying. Much of the potential of the college is being realized by such approaches, but our full potential remains in the future." He added that the college will continue to expand services and offerings, and that continued enrollment growth is anticipated.

Legislative Update Slated This Saturday

Update session with legislators, sponsored by the Thief River Falls chamber of commerce legislative committee, will be conducted Saturday beginning with a noon luncheon at Lon's restaurant.

Sen. LeRoy Stumpf and Rep. Wally Sparby will present their update information during the luncheon. Since all bills in both houses of the legislature must be reported out of their appropriate committees no later than April 8, legislators should have a good idea of what is contained in the actual bills to be voted on this session.

Those who plan to attend the session are asked to call the chamber of commerce office immediately to make reservations for the luncheon. From 1:30 to 3 p.m. Sen. Stumpf and Rep. Sparby will be available at the chamber of commerce office to discuss specific issues or concerns. Appointments may also be made for the afternoon discussions for individuals or groups with specific concerns.

LHS Choirs Rate Superior In Region 8AA

Music competition for the north half of Region 8AA was held Thursday at Detroit Lakes with the Lincoln high school band and choirs competing.

Vocal superior ratings were awarded to the concert choir, Lincoln Singers and boys' and girls' choirs.

Schools competing were from Moorhead, Bemidji, East Grand Forks, Detroit Lakes, Wadena, Fergus Falls and Thief River Falls.

Judges for the vocal contest were Stan Kindzerski, Roseau; Ken Hodgson, University of Minnesota at Morris; and Jewel Mendenhall, Walker.

Vocal solo and ensemble contest will be held Tuesday at East Grand Forks.

Legislators Consider Court System Changes

Special To The Times
by Jim Robins
Northern Star News Service

Some of the more significant changes in Minnesota's government structure in recent years have come in the court system. Even bigger changes are in the works in the next year or so as a court of appeals and, possibly, unification of lower courts may be put into place.

There is little question about the court of appeals. Supported overwhelmingly by voters last fall, it is likely to get formal legislative approval this year.

Court unification is another matter, however. Raising county and municipal court judges up to the district court level brings about debate in legal circles and could mean you'll be seeing less of your local judge.

Proponents claim court unification goes hand in hand with the new court of appeals. They feel more flexibility in court scheduling would add efficiency to the system.

Opponents point out flexible scheduling is available under the current law, although not all judicial districts have taken advantage of it. They question the wisdom and expense involved in moving judges around throughout districts averaging 10 counties in size. Smaller counties would be in danger of losing their judicial representation.

Questions about the constitutionality of raising lower judges to district court without appointment by the governor have been raised.

If proponents get their bill

Council Adopts Fee Structures For Recreation

At a meeting which lasted until 11 p.m. last night, Thief River Falls city council dealt with a number of controversial issues, including adoption of a fee structure for use of city recreation facilities, request for a 3.2 beer license for the Pennington county fair, zoning, construction on Third and First Streets, and pay compensation for utilities department crew chiefs.

Fee structure for use of city recreational facilities was developed by a committee of the park board, as a result of a city council request that they trim approximately $15,000 from the parks and recreation budget. In explaining the rationale for the fee structure, Ken Wiebolt and Dale Wennberg explained that it had been developed as an alternative to cutting services.

Among programs which would be affected by the annual fees were the following: Thief River Falls amateur hockey association, (TRFAHA), with 220 participants, would be charged an annual fee of $5 per Tiny Mite and $10 for all other participants; recreational skating with 350 participants, skating club with 30 participants, youth baseball with 300 participants, archery and rifle clubs with 60 participants, tennis program with 60 participants, girl's softball with 100 participants, dance program with 40 participants, and youth basketball with 40 participants, would each be charged $5 per individual.

Men's slow pitch, men's fast pitch and ladies' softball programs, with 52 teams, would be charged $50 per

Share-The-Fun Contest Friday At Lincoln HS

Annual Pennington county 4-H share-the-fun contest will be held on Friday at 7:30 p.m. at the Lincoln high school auditorium. Most of the 4-H clubs in Pennington county will be presenting acts which include pantomine, skits, novelties and musicals.

The acts will be judged and the winning act will advance to the State fair. The public is invited to attend and there is no admission charge.

Marshall ASCS Opens Bids On Wheat, Corn

Marshall county agricultural stabilization and conservation service (ASCS) office will open bids on wheat and corn offered for sale to CCC by local farmers on Friday at 4:30 p.m. in the community room of the First American Bank, Warren, according to Leo Orpen, chairman of the Marshall county ASCS committee.

Open stated that once bids are opened they will be recorded and sent to CCC in Kansas City, Mo., where the acceptance or denial will be made.

Dance Troupe Has Family Closeness

by Julie Easton
Times Reporter

Touring cross country since September with 12 artists, a floor and a collapsible balancing bar means that the stage becomes home and fellow dancers become family.

"This group is unique because we are like a family. We all get along so well. Some days we hate each other, but that happens in any family. Actually, I enjoy that closeness as much as touring," stated Kathryn (Kathy) Dandois, principal dancer in the "Dance Alive" company during a recent Times interview.

"Dance Alive" group, headquartered out of Gainesville, FL, performed Monday evening at the Lincoln high school auditorium as the final concert of the Thief River Falls concert association.

The real closeness of this group was shown when one dancer had the collapsible bar collapse on her foot. She fell to the floor in pain, but the tears were quickly dispelled with hugs from two other dancers and an ice pack from the director.

In the world of dance, Kathy is quick to comment "it is easy for competition to take control." Obviously, this hasn't affected "Dance Alive."

"Everyone is for everybody else," added Tim Heflin, another principal dancer with the company.

Because Kathy and Tim do pas de deux (dances for two), they stand out from the rest of the dancers, but everyone helps equally in stage preparation and cleaning up after the performance.

Even the mention that they might be the stars of the show brings protests from both dancers. "There are no stars, we are all principals," Tim stated.

"We do so much pas de deux together that it sets us apart from the company," Kathy commented, "but actually we are the only two who don't do jazz," she added, trying to WARM-UP AND REHEARSAL are necessary for any dancer before a performance. Kathryn Dandois, principal dancer with "Dance Alive," pauses during rehearsal to finalize plans with the director. Kathy has enjoyed her touring this year. "This group is unique because we are like a family. We all get along so well. Actually, I enjoy that closeness as much as touring," she commented. "Dance Alive" was the final concert of the current Thief River Falls concert association series Monday evening.

Four Filings Are Noted For School Board

Competition in the election for Thief River Falls board of education on May 17 has been assured with the filing of four candidates for the three positions open on the board this year.

Filing early this week were Paul Bortnem and Larry McDowell, joining Myrle Carlson and Greg Pribula who filed shortly after the filing period opened. Carlson, Pribula and McDowell are incumbent board members and Bortnem is chaplain at Northwestern hospital services.

Filing period remains open through April 26. Election on May 17 will be from 4 to 8 p.m. at four locations in the district.

Four Finalists Named For Chancellor Spot

Minnesota board for community colleges accepted the recommendation of its search and screening committee of four finalists for the position of chancellor of the Minnesota community college system.

The Board will interview finalists on May 10, in St. Paul and will announce its decision on May 11 at its business meeting to be held on the Vermilion Campus of Arrowhead community college located in Ely.

The four finalists are: Duane Mattheis, associate director, educational research council of America, Cleveland, Ohio; Dr. Gerald Christenson, legislative auditor, Minnesota state legislator, St. Paul; Dr. John Helling, President of North Hennepin community college, Brooklyn Park; and Dr. Neil Christenson, President of Anoka-Ramsey community college, Coon Rapids.

Divorce Mediation Seen As Alternative To Clash

Divorce mediation as a means for accomplishing satisfactory settlements in marriage dissolutions was explained by Bonnie Thompson of Fargo, ND, at a meeting of the Northwest Family Rights association Thursday in the Thief River Falls city auditorium.

Mrs. Thompson is a mediator for Lutheran Social Services of North Dakota and foresees a rapid expansion in the use of mediation services. Her case load has tripled from January to March, she said, primarily through word of mouth and referral. The service has been listed in church bulletins, Mrs. Thompson has been interviewed on television and articles have appeared in local circulation magazines and in newspapers.

"What we offer is a non-adversarial method of marriage dissolution," Mrs. Thompson said. "Our goal is to reach a fair agreement in which kids come out the best and both the mother and father have an opportunity to continue being parents."

Divorce mediation strives to minimize the trauma of divorce for children by emphasizing that no one is at fault, allowing the children to participate in the process (if desired) and encouraging a close relationship between children and parent.

"First and foremost we want to be fair," Mrs. Thompson said. "We want to open the lines of communication which may have been closed by animosity and misunderstanding. We have no set pattern of agreements to be reached and we try to effect settlements which are unique to the needs of each family we deal with."

Mediation works through conflict areas including division of property, financial support of spouse and children and custody issues. It seeks to restructure a family so that parenting is a cooperative venture and to offer creative solutions to replace destructive legal battles.

"It is not our purpose to act as attorneys," Mrs. Thompson emphasized. "We don't attempt to provide legal counsel. What we try to do is help couples let go of the past and direct their energies toward the future. We take control of the proceedings and work to mutually negotiate an agreement acceptable — not necessarily satisfatory, but acceptable — to both parties."

She added that mediators will not take sides on any issues, nor will they serve as lawyers, marriage counselor, personal therapist or personal financial advisor for any of the parties.

They will, however, teach communication skills, assure that all negotiating takes place in a win-win context, keep disagreeing parties talking until they resolve the issues which divide them and remain neutral while allowing the settlement to belong to the couple.

Mrs. Thompson said it would be possible for her to mediate for about three couples per day and she requires from six to eight hours of mediation per couple. Cost is based on ability to pay, she said, but far less than an

SOCIETY and CLUBS

Diane Carol Holen Weds Efrain G. Arreola, Jr.

Diane Carol Holen and Efrain Garza Arreola, Jr., exchanged marriage vows on Saturday, March 26, at 4:00 p.m., at the Faith Lutheran church in Goodridge.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Harold Holen, rural Goodridge, and Efrain C. Arreola, Downy, Calif., and Carolina G. Arreola, Long Beach, Calif.

Rev. Gene Broughton officiated at the double ring ceremony before an altar flanked by arrangements of carnations in pastel colors. Mint green and white ribbons marked the pews.

At the organ was Marjorie Iverson of Goodridge. She played "Wedding Song," "Today," and "A Time for Us," for the prelude; "Jesu, Joy of Man's Desiring," and "Bridal Chorus," for the processional; Mendelssohn's Wedding March" for the recessional; and "Ode to Joy" and "Trumpet Voluntary," for the postlude. Peter Bauer, Warren, played the guitar and sang "God, a Woman and a Man" and "Annie's Song;" and Karla Hill, Grand Forks, N.D., sang "The Gift of Love," following the lighting of the unity candle.

The bride, given in marriage by her parents, was attired in a white organza gown styled with a Chantilly lace empire bodice, featuring a Queen Ann neckline trimmed with Raschel lace and pearls. Matching lace formed the cuffs of her full bishop sleeves, edged the front crystal pleated panel of her A-line skirt, and complemented her cathedral-length train featuring a Chantilly lace panel. A fitted lace headpiece, embroidered with seed pearls, held her cathedral-length veil of bridal illusion, edged in wide Raschel lace. She carried a bouquet of satin roses in mauve, white and peach, accented with white stephanotis, mauve cornflowers, greenery, babies' breath, mint green ribbon loops and white angel lace.

Matron of honor was Leann Wikert, Goodridge, a cousin of the bride. Bridesmaids were Cindy Forsberg, Fargo, N.D., and Debbie Sigerud, Thief River Falls, friends of the couple. Their gowns of seafoam green point d'esprit border lace were styled with rounded necklines with wide border ruffle. A matching wide flounce graced the bottom of their skirts. Each attendant carried an ivory lace fan topped by a cluster of flowers corresponding with those in the bride's bouquet.

Miniature bride was Heather Bauer, Warren, a cousin of the bride. Her gown of white organza featured a wide border flounce at the rounded neckline and on the bottom of the skirt. She carried a miniature version of the bride's bouquet.

Miniature groom was Erick Bauer, Warren, a cousin of the bride. Like the groom, he wore a white Avalon tuxedo with a white wing-tipped shirt and a cummerbund. His boutonniere was a mauve rose, surrounded by lilies of the valley.

David Arreola, LaPalma, Calif., attended his brother as best man. Groomsmen were Dan Holen, Goodridge, brother of the bride, and Tony Arreola, Santa Anna, Calif., a brother of the groom. They wore mint green Esquire tuxedos with mint green wing-tipped shirts. Their boutonnieres matched the groom's.

Serving as ushers were Donnie Wikert, Goodridge, Phil Swanson, Grand Forks, N.D., and Tim Panek and David Race, Thief River Falls. All are friends of the couple.

Honor guests were Gyro Holen, Thief River Falls, grandmother of the bride; Mr. and Mrs. Mayer Holen, Goodridge, godparents of the bride; and Candy Lundeen, Goodridge, the bride's personal attendant.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Holen wore a green floor-length gown with a sheer overlay complemented by rhinestone accents. Her corsage featured two yellow roses with carnations and ribbon accents. The fathers wore tuxedos identical to those worn by the wedding party. Their boutonnieres were a single yellow rose.

Following the ceremony, the bride's parents hosted a wedding supper in the church parlors. Host and hostess were Mr. and Mrs. Peter Bauer, Warren. At the guest book was Audrey Stewart, Grand Forks, N.D., a friend of the bride. Jennifer Hedlund, Thief River Falls, served the punch.

The triple, double-tiered wedding cake, surrounded by ferns and mint green carnations, was decorated with green and white flowers, lilies of the valley and ferns. The tiers were in graduated sizes and were supported by crystal columns filled with ferns and mint green carnations. They were connected by a stairway with miniature members of a bridal party on the steps. Topping the tallest tier was a gazebo with a miniature bride and groom. The cake was baked and decorated by Helen Holen, Goodridge, aunt of the bride, and Betty Coan, Goodridge, a friend. It was cut and served by Mrs. Holen and Carol LeBon, Minneapolis, a cousin of the bride. Pouring coffee was Jewel Holen, Goodridge, and LaVonne Swanson, Grand Forks, a cousin of the bride.

Waitresses were Debbie Panek and Deanne Nelson, Bemidji, and Susie and Debbie Johnson and Melissa Iverson, all of Goodridge. Lynn Pederson, Thief River Falls, and Terri Vetter, Grand Forks, N.D., pinned the flowers, and Becky and Sandy Johnson, Goodridge, presided at the gift table. All are friends of the couple.

Approximately 250 relatives and friends attended the ceremony and reception.

Library Lil

Library Lil here, on the trail of something fishy! That Northwest regional library is trying to get away with all kinds of shenanigans. First they have this dinner with a real-life translator speaking at it. Now they're planning a big whoop-te-doo on Saturday at 8 p.m. just because some group called Chautauqua is going to have a program there.

Sure, it sounds good — a professor telling Minnesota historical tidbits, a poet reciting Minnesotans' poetry, and a singer la-de-daing the songs of our state. And it's free to the public! Pretty spiffy — on the outside, but I know something's going on. And I'll find out what they're up to. They can't get by me!

Here are some new books I worked my way through:

Berry Joy Wilt: "Help!", "Get Good Grades!", "Be Good While You're There!", "Be Prepared!", "Clean Yourself Up!", "Do Something Besides Watching TV!", "Do - Your Homework!", "Don't Hang Around With the Wrong Crowd!" and "Earn Your Allowance!".

This group of books is called the "Survival Series" and it answers the questions, "What to do when your Mom or Dad says. . ." Joy Wilt Berry is unusually qualified for writing about these problems. She took two years out of her life to live with some fourth, fifth and sixth grade dropouts. Knowing she could not gain their trust without actually becoming one of them, she spent two years away from her family. She gained their trust and began helping them with their problems. Because of her unique experiences, she was able to write this series which is just as much a help for parents as it is for their children.

LeCarre, John: "The Little Drummer Girl" — A dispossessed Palestinian terrorist is hunted by an Israeli intelligence officer and his team of agents. A young english actress is drawn into the intrigue. Through the plot, the reader begins to understand the passionate and irreconcilable claims of Israelis and Palestinians alike to a land which symbolizes for both, identity, survival and sanctuary. It was on the New York Times best seller list.

Legislators Ponder Court System Change

passed, the unification could take place within a year. Opponents hope to block the change for at least a year and have proposed studying the issue in the meantime.

Sen. LeRoy Stumpf of Plummer said he favors the Senate position of studying court unification because of the travel problems the bill could cause in his district.

"Up my way we have a large area. . . it's a tremendous distance to travel," Stumpf said.

The system works the way it is, but Stumpf did say the "workload could be better distributed." However, that could be done on the local level without a state reorganization, he said.

As the system is now, judges have a "specialty" and that could be ended with court unification, Stumpf said. "If that were ruined, it would hurt the system," he said.

Rep. Wally Sparby of Thief River Falls said he thinks the bill should be studied more and does not plan on voting for it.

Some people are saying the bill will cost more money and some are saying it will save money in the long run, Sparby said, and "I'm not sold at this point."

The court of appeals will cost more to set up than was estimated and the same might be true in this case, Sparby said. "We aren't in a position to spend more," he said.

Sparby pointed out that the bill may lead to more travel for district judges, which may mean fewer people may want the job. If that happens, judges may not be as good as they are now, Sparby said.

Unification got a big boost from Gov. Rudy Perpich, who feels a single trial court would add efficiency to the judicial system. "The judiciary itself must take the lead in modernizing and improving its processes, with an eye on efficiency," Perpich said. "One of the major steps toward that goal would be unification of our fragmented court systems."

Efficiency is the by-word for proponents. Freeing up the scheduling of all judges under one umbrella will reduce the length of court calendars and save money, according to Rep. John Clawson of Center City, author of the bill in the House.

A single trial court is certain to reduce the cost of administering courts, including duplication of files and the work done in the clerk of courts office, according to Clawson.

Ultimately, the state would not need as many judges as indicated in a major study conducted statewide three years ago. "We don't need as many judges as the weighted caseload analysis says," Clawson said.

Opponents question the need to tinker with a trial court system that is working well. "It doesn't make any sense," said Judge Raymond Pavlak, of the First Judicial District. "Trial courts are functioning just fine. The real need is at the appellate level."

Contrary to the opinion of proponents, there is some feeling unification would result in higher costs due to additional travel time and increased court reporter workload.

"It works against specialization," Pavlak added. He feels the present system encourages judges to develop expertise in certain areas of the law, but unification would discourage that. Much of the work done at the county court level requires specialization. Family, juvenile and probate matters handled at the county level require their own sets of judicial rules.

Much of the opposition to court unification comes from smaller counties that may lose their judge. Judges will be elected districtwide and larger population centers may dominate.

"Judges in some of the smaller counties may have a difficult time getting re-elected," Pavlak said. "That's a practical concern."

Concern in rural counties goes beyond the fear of having empty court chambers. A judge may be needed at any hour to sign a search warrant, or for other pressing matters, opponents point out.

Clawson sees it differently. "The major argument against it is just turf-protection and keeping to the old ways," he said.

Mediation Of Divorce Cuts Cost And Hurt

adversarial procedure involving attorneys and court battles. Most judges favor mediation, she said, because it relieves them of much of the decision making and investigation.

The mediation does not attempt to reconcile the couple, but neither does it force a marriage dissolution. "Couples come in scared," Mrs. Thompson said. "I let them know right away that if they want to they can stop the process at any time and have no further obligation to me. Sometimes the mediation opens communication and brings on a realization of what the couple is getting into. It forces them to consider the other person. About 25 per cent of the cases started have not been brought to a conclusion."

Mrs. Thompson holds a bachelor of social work degree from Moorhead state university and is involved in the guidance and counseling graduate program at North Dakota state university. She has also received mediation training in Chicago, IL, and interned as a chemical dependency counselor at an out-patient clinic.

But her real experience came as serving nearly seven years as manager of Lorny's On and Off Sale liquor store in Fargo, she said. "Little old me has broken up many a barroom fight," she said. "Those big bruisers would just look at me and laugh. But I found out that most of the time people really don't want to fight and are willing to accept a way out of it. That applies to both barroom fights and marital dissolutions."

The main advantage of mediation, she said, is that despite the hurt that goes with divorce, the couple can feel there is some self-respect and self-esteem left because they were in control of the situation. They can maintain a sense of being in control of their own lives.

Mrs. Thompson is careful to point out that divorce mediation is not divorce advocacy. Couples have already reached the conclusion that their marriages cannot be saved when they make an appointment for mediation, she said. "We feel it is a humane approach, a timely approach and a somewhat economical solution for a divorcing couple," she said.

Since she spoke at the meeting here, it has been reported that an area couple has made an appointment with her for mediation. It has also been noted that Rev. Tim Miller of Plummer has received training and is available for divorce mediation. He can be contacted by calling 465-4464 (home) or 465-4525 (office) or by mail at Box 98, Plummer, MN.

keep her importance in perspective.

Three hours before the curtain is raised, all the company members are busy taping a floor to the state of the auditorium. This is necessary for the protection of the dancers, as well as for a more professional show.

"The surface needs a certain quality so the dancers can perform without falling," Tim stated. "Every touring company must carry its own floor."

Stress and injury are constant threats to a dancer and touring adds additional problems. "It is murder traveling," Kathy confided. "We usually perform seven nights in a row and then have maybe one night off."

Still, Kathy is enjoying touring more and more every year, especially since the dancers have developed real unity on and off the stage. She has been touring for four years and dancing for 17. Her career began at the Gainesville Civic Ballet in 1973.

Tim has mixed feelings about the constant traveling. "I like it sometimes, sometimes it's difficult. Sometimes I just want to sleep for 15 hours!" he said.

He has only been dancing for four years. After graduating from the University of Florida in 1979 with a bachelor of science degree in chemistry, he began touring with the company.

It is much more common for a man to start later in the dance world than for a woman. "Women need more time because they have to develop point technique," Kathy said.

Tim and Kathy have developed a professional quality because "we've been working together since the July after Tim started dancing," Kim commented, joking, "We are best enemies." Tim was quick to add, "And best pals."

Monday night's performance was somewhere between the 90th and 100th for the year and Tim said the program is basically the same for each performance.

"We do change because of injuries, sickness, fatigue and variety for the dancers," Kathy stated. "We see how rehearsal goes and then the director has the final word. We are learning new dances on the tour and if we feel good about it, we will perform it that night."

Tim, Kathy and the company are all in Minnesota for the first time. They began their Midwest tour recently and visited Crookston Sunday evening. Kim Tuttle (formerly Kim Pofahl), director of the show, is originally from Crookston so she had a mini-homecoming.

With stops at Fergus Falls and several places in North Dakota ahead on the itinerary, Tim concluded, "We enjoy traveling in the state of Minnesota. We have been treated so nicely."

Services Held Tuesday For Harvey Nyland

Funeral services for Harvey Nyland, 68, of Thief River Falls were held Tuesday at 2:00 p.m., at the Green Funeral chapel. Nyland died Friday evening at his home in this city.

Rev. Roger Hanson, pastor at Zion Lutheran church, officiated at the services. Mrs. Arnold Hammer served as organist and soloist. Interment will be in the Sundet cemetery in rural Climax.

Active pallbearers were Paul Helgeland, Dennis Reese, Roy Rystad, Rodney Harder, Mike Nyland and Jim Rystad. Serving as honorary pallbearers were neighbors and friends.

Peter Harvey Nyland, a son of the late Hans and Ida Ingvaldson Nyland, was born Aug. 19, 1914 at Climax. At the age of 10 years, he moved with the family to Erskine. They also lived at St. Hilaire and Trail before settling in Thief River Falls in 1928.

During World War Two, Nyland served in the U.S. Army, stationed in the Panama Canal Zone. For several years, he was employed at the sugar beet plant in Grand Forks, N.D.

Surviving are two sisters: Mrs. Joyce Reese and Mrs. Gladys Harder, both of Thief River Falls; a brother, Roger Nyland, also of Thief River Falls; and several nieces and nephews and grand-nieces and grand-nephews.

Marie Olen Services Held Here Today

Funeral services were held today (Wednesday) at 11:00 a.m., at Trinity Lutheran church for Marie G. Olen, 82, of this city. Miss Olen died unexpectedly on Sunday at her home at 939 North Knight avenue.

Rev. Berton Hushagen officiated at the services. Mrs. LaVonne Masters was the organist and Jan Peterson, the soloist. Interment will be in the St. Pauli cemetery, in Rocksbury township, with the Belmont Funeral home in charge of arrangements.

Pallbearers were Orville Feragen, Albert Balvin, Paul Tanquist, Gordon Gunderson, Kermit Finstad and Melvin Anderson.

Marie G. Olen, a daughter of the late Cornelius and Marget Engebretson Olen, was born July 24, 1900 in Rocksbury township, Pennington county. She was baptized and confirmed at St. Pauli Lutheran church. She resided with her father on his farm until 1949, when they moved into Thief River Falls. She cared for him until his death in 1965. She worked here for many years as a pastry cook for the Pennington Hotel coffee shop. Later she was employed at Froseth's Food Market.

She was a member of Trinity Lutheran church and its Golden Years.

Surviving are a nephew, Charles Hedeen and a grandnephew, Allen Hedeen, both of Thief River Falls.

In addition to her parents, she was preceded in death by one brother and two sisters.

Esther Hanson, Once of TRF, Dies April 7

Mrs. Arthur (Esther) Hanson, 92, a former resident of Thief River Falls, died April 7, at the Elim Nursing home in Fargo, N.D.

Funeral services for Mrs. Hanson were held Monday at 11:00 a.m., at the Korsmo Funeral chapel in Moorhead. Interment was the following day at the Lakeside cemetery at Biwabik.

Mrs. Hanson, the former Esther Augusta Levorson, was born Jan. 23, 1891 at Fergus Falls to Stener and Mary Levorson. She attended school and grew to womanhood in that community.

On June 10, 1916, she was married at Fergus Falls to Arthur Hanson. Following their marriage, they lived at Fergus Falls, Thief River Falls, Moorhead, Lombard, Ill.; and Biwabik. In 1968, Mrs. Hanson moved to Fargo, N.D. She lived for the last nine years with her daughter, Ruth Edinger, most recently at Glyndon.

She is survived by three daughters: Mrs. Eldien (Ruth) Edinger, Glyndon; Mrs. Rachel Asp, Minneapolis; and Mrs. Allen (Esther) Hansen, Sheboygan, Wis.; two sons: Robert Hanson, Federal Way, Wash.; and Daniel, Grand Rapids; 24 grandchildren and 25 great-grandchildren.

She was preceded in death by her husband, who died in 1961.

Minnie Myrom Rites Held At Zion Monday

Funeral services for Mrs. Minnie Myrom, 86, of Thief River Falls, were held Monday at 2:00 p.m., at Zion Lutheran church in this city. Mrs. Myrom died Friday at her apartment at Riverside Terrace.

Rev. Roger Hanson officiated at the services. Melba Penning was the soloist and Jerry Joringdal, the organist. Interment will be in Greenwood cemetery with the Green Funeral home in charge of arrangements.

Pallbearers were Alan Deraney, Dennis Sabo, Orlan Sabo, Gary Sabo, Loren Sabo, and David Sabo.

Mrs. Myrom, the former Minnie Sorenson, was born Feb. 26, 1897 in Norden township of Pennington county, to Soren and Mattie Sorenson. She attended the City View school and grew to womanhood in the Norden community.

On March 21, 1922, she was united in marriage to Harry Myrom at Thief River Falls. The couple farmed in Norden township. Following Myrom's death on Nov. 11, 1963, Mrs. Myrom sold the farm and moved into Thief River Falls.

She was a member of Zion Lutheran church and the VFW auxiliary.

Surviving are three daughters: Mardella Sabo, Thief River Falls; Dory Safberg, Oroville, Calif., and Mrs. Danny (Marlys) O'Connor, Yorba Linda, Calif.; 15 grandchildren and 22 great-grandchildren.

Also surviving are two sisters; Anna Olson and Ethel Larson, both of Thief River Falls; two brothers: Henry Sorenson, Alexandria, and Charles Sorenson, Thief River Falls; and several nieces and nephews.

In addition to her husband and parents, she was preceded in death by one son, a daughter, two brothers and five sisters.

Wm. Anderson Rites Held At Spencer, Iowa

William A. Anderson, 78, formerly of Thief River Falls, died March 28, at the Scottsdale Memorial hospital in Scottsdale, Ariz.

Funeral services for William A. Anderson were held Saturday, April 2, at 10:30 a.m., at the First Congregational church in Spencer, Iowa with Dr. Patrick D. Shelley officiating. Interment was in the Northlawn cemetery at Spencer.

William Anderson was born Feb. 19, 1905 at Thief River Falls to Andrew and Anna Johnson, now deceased. His childhood years were spent in this community. Following his graduation from Lincoln high school in 1924, he became involved in the area of agriculture.

He was married March 11, 1944 in Chicago, Ill., to Lola Henrich. They lived in Chicago until 1948, when they moved to Los Angeles, Calif. In 1955, they moved to Spencer, Iowa, where they have since made their home. For a number of years, Anderson was co-owner and manager of the Spencer Rendering company, retiring on April 1, 1974. Since then, he and his wife have enjoyed traveling, spending their winters in Texas, Florida and most recently in Arizona. They had their second home at Mesa.

He was an active member of the First Congregational church, having served on the church council and on numerous committees. He was a charter member of the Golden K Kiwanis, the Moose and the Eagles.

He is survived by his wife, two sons: Kenneth Anderson, Chicago, Ill.; and Robert, Spencer, Iowa; four grandchildren, two brothers: Chester of Reseda, Calif.; and Lester, East Grand Forks; and four sisters: Myrtle Packard, Sherman Oaks, Calif.; Alice Smith, Burbank, Calif.; Mildred Bulkley, Thousand Oaks, Calif., and Evelyn Kurt, North Hollywood, Calif.

He was preceded in death by one sister and a brother.

Seven Citizens Commended For Volunteerism

Alex Easton, president of Northland community college in Thief River Falls, has commended several Thief River Falls residents as part of "Volunteer Recognition Week" in Minnesota. Governor Rudy Perpich has proclaimed the week of April 17 through 23 as "Volunteer Recognition Week."

Betty Walton; Marv Lundin, Darla Twomey, Myrtle Myrin, Margaret Saetre, Dr. John Seaverson and Richard Evans were commended by Dr. Easton as volunteer members of the Northland community college advisory board.

Easton noted that they spend considerable time and energy serving as members, helping the college in various ways. The advisory board serves as community liaison, as a main promoter of the college throughout the area, and as general advisor to the president. Easton stated that "these services are invaluable as the college continues to strive to improve its services and impact in our service area."

He added that "the college is fortunate to have these individuals as members of our advisory board, and we hope that community members will feel encouraged to contact any of them as a communication link to the college."

Governor Perpich in his proclamation said, "Our communities, our state and our nation have been strengthened through the dedicated involvement of volunteers in all aspects of our society."

Women Pilots Donate Flights For Charities

For the third year, women pilots who are members of the Minnesota chapter of Ninety-Nines, are flying daffodils to all parts of the state for the American Cancer Society's annual Daffodil Days.

Ninety-nines is an international organization which was first begun in 1929 by 99 of the 117 women pilots in the entire United States at that time, hence the name. Amelia Earhart was the first elected president. Today there are over 5,600 members in 22 countries. Ninety-two members in Minnesota fly a variety of airplanes and are also involved in a variety of occupations such as doctors, nurses, homemakers, teachers, airline pilots, technicians and many more. Many of them volunteer their time, money and planes to fly blood for the Red Cross and daffodils for the American Cancer Society.

Girls can earn a solo license at age 16 and become private pilots who can take passengers on flights at age 17. Age is no barrier, as one member earned her private pilot license at age 71.

Any woman pilot may join the Minnesota chapter. Student polits may join as a 66 (not quite a 99), and will receive support and enthusiasm from the members to earn their private pilot licenses. Husbands are affiliated with the group as 49½s, or "better halves".

To keep proficient and safe as pilots, the women engage in safety seminars, proficiency races, and fly on service missions for their communities.

They have been ferrying blood from the donor site to the regional laboratory in St. Paul for the Red Cross for eight years and have been transporting platelets twice a week between Fergus Falls and St. Paul for almost a year.

First year they delivered daffodils, there were 24 women who flew. Last year, 40 members flew the equivalent of more than half way around the world within the state of Minnesota, delivering half a million flowers. This year, close to a million daffodils are expected to be delivered by the Minnesota Ninety-Nines.

ALTHOUGH COFFEE and refreshments served after meetings are a popular item with members of the Pennington county committee on aging, dramatic increase in attendance at the last meeting was credited to publicity generated by the group's efforts to obtain a center for activities of the area's senior citizens. Morris Howick, chairman of the committee, noted that over 53 people attended Monday's meeting in the basement of city auditorium, compared to a previous attendance record of 37. Meetings are regularly held at 1:30 p.m. on the second Monday of each month.

Border Stations To Remain Open 24 Hrs. A Day

Congressman Arlan Stangeland says he has persuaded two agencies of the federal government to keep border crossings at Baudette and Warroad open on a 24-hour basis.

"This is a victory for everyone in northwest Minnesota," Congressman Stangeland said. "This will help our farmers, our small businesses and our law enforcement officials."

The U.S. customs service and the immigration and naturalization service (INS) told the congressman that the two crossings would remain open on a round-the-clock basis, although the staffs at both stations would be reduced by one INS inspector.

The possibility of closing the Baudette and Warroad stations was raised January 4 when the customs service proposed a regulation change in the "Federal Register" which wuld have affected the border crossings.

"This is an intelligent decision," Congressman Stangeland said. "People in those communities depend on the border stations for their fire-fighting and medical services. In addition, the decision to keep the stations open will help agriculture, tourism and local businesses."

Congressman Stangeland said he was actively involved in putting pressure on the INS and the customs service to keep the stations open. Of particular concern to him was the possibility that the two agencies would close the stations and declare a 20-mile "free-zone" for border crossings between the two towns.

"That would have been a nightmare for our law enforcement officials," Congressman Stangeland said. "It would have been an open invitation to every criminal to enter the United States through our area. This decision will eliminate that possibility."

Congressman Stangeland also offered congratulations to the residents of northwst Minnesota who contacted the federal agencies to protest the proposed changes. "Your letters were very useful in persuading the administration to keep these stations open," he said.

Conference On Dual Heritage At Brainerd

Children's Home society of Minnesota's Brainerd Friends chapter is sponsoring the "Dual Heritage: Forging Tomorrow's Identitv Today" conference on Saturday, May 7, from 9:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. at the Brainerd senior high school. The program will be presented by the post legal adoption services of Children's Home society of Minnesota.

The conference is designed for Minnesota families with members stemming from Korea and Latin America. The broad impact of international adoption on our culture will be presented from an anthropologist's view and an adoptive parent's perspective.

Korean, Latin American and USA cultural details will be compared by examining daily life activities, the utilization of living space, consumer skills and interpersonal communication.

The implications of dual heritage will also be discussed, relating to parenting, the adopted child's identity quest, social services to the bicultural family and promoting effective communication skills.

Early registration is encouraged. Registration fee is $10 per person. Lunch is an additional $5 per person. Bag lunches are welcome. There will be cultural demonstrations during the lunch hour.

For additional information, call or write: Brainerd Friends Chapter, Michael or Esther Reagan, Deerwood, Minnesota 56444, or phone (218) 764-2277.

Courage Center Seeks Award Nominations

Nominations are now open for the 1983 Phillips awards, sponsored by Courage center. The Phillips awards are presented each year to honor individuals with physical disabilities who have achieved financial and vocational independence and to stimulate and encourage the employment of people with disabilities.

Winners receive $500 honorariums and special plaques, all made possible by a grant provided by Rose and Jay Phillips of Minneapolis. To be eligible, nominees must be vocationally and financially independent and have physical disabilities severe enough that their continuous employment during the past three years is considered a significant achievement.

Winners will receive their awards at a public ceremony September 22 at Courage center, 3915 Golden Valley Road in the Minneapolis suburb of Golden Valley.

Deadline for nominations is June 1. For information and nomination forms contact William B. Hopkins, Public Affairs Director, Courage Center, 3915 Golden Valley Road, Golden Valley, Minnesota 55422, 612-588-0811.

Courage center is a non-profit United Way organization serving people with physical disabilities and those with speech, hearing and vision impairments. Services include physical and occupational therapy, a transitional residence for young adults, craft training, camping programs, sports and recreation, amateur radio instruction and more. Last year, over 15,000 physically disabled children and adults benefited from Courage center programs.

Fun Night For Families Set Thursday Night

Family fun night in observance of the "Week of the Young Child" in Thief River Falls will be conducted Thursday from 6:30 to 8 p.m. in the city auditorium. "Week of the Young Child" is scheduled April 17-23.

Sponsoring the event is the Northwest chapter of the Minnesota Association for the Education of Young Children (MAEYC). Mayor Bob Carlson is scheduled to attend the fun night to sign a proclamation declaring the full week observance.

Children's activity at the fun night will be geared toward pre-school and early school youngsters and parents are expected to join in activities with their children.

Nine centers will be arranged in the auditorium with supervised activity at each. The centers will include children's movies, play-dough, coloring, children's books, creative garbage, housekeeping, riding trucks, obstacle course and tumbling mats. Balloons will be available to all children taking part in the event and public attendance is encouraged.

LEC Reports 13 Cases April 12

Law Enforcement Center report dated Tuesday, April 12, listed 13 cases investigated by Thief River Falls police department by reporting date, including the following:

April 3 — Gregory Krause, New Brighton, reported that while his vehicle was parked on the 200 block of North Maple Avenue, it had apparently been struck by another vehicle which left the scene. Damage was estimated at $400.

April 4 — Glendenning Motorways personnel reported theft of four boxed Toro lawn mowers, value $1,400, from their building. No sign of forced entry was apparent. Case is under investigation.

April 4 — Country Class Arts personnel reported an unsuccessful attempt had been made to enter the business through the rear door during the prior evening. No apparent damage resulted from the attempt.

April 4 — Theft of household items valued at $78 was reported by a Thief River Falls resident, who noted that the items were taken from her former residence while she was in the process of moving. Case is under investigation.

April 5 — Jon Furuseth, Thief River Falls, reported that his son's bicycle, value $80, had been stolen from their residence.

April 6 — Dale Swenson, Thief River Falls, reported theft of a gas tank and hose, value $50, from a boat at Courtesy Auto Sales. Case is under investigation.

April 6 — Evan Armstrong, Thief River Falls, reported that his son's trumpet, value $300, had been stolen from the Lincoln high school band room sometime during the previous month.

April 7 — Noel Joppru, Thief River Falls, reported that his bicycle, value $129, had been stolen while he was at Franklin middle school. The bicycle was later recovered.

April 8 — Harold Buck, Thief River Falls, reported that his garage had been vandalized. Damage was estimated at $100.

April 8 — Richard Spyhalski, Thief River Falls, reported that his son's bicycle, value $40, had been stolen from their yard.

April 8 — Curtis Lemky, Thief River Falls, reported theft of some antique car parts, value $100. Case is under investigation.

April 9 — Scott Hemmestvedt, Thief River Falls, reported that one of his tires, value $100, had been slashed while his vehicle was parked on the 100 block of West Third Street.

April 9 — Report was received from a Thief River Falls resident that a mobile home owned by James Myrah, Moorhead, had been vandalized. Damages included two broken windows and a bent rear door. Case is under investigation.

Letters to the Editor

To The Editor:

Re: the editorial of April 6 concerning the Greenbush School Board and the Greenbush Education Association.

The GEA does not necessarily oppose the volunteer system per se, but opposes the manner in which this situation was handled. The master agreement is a legal, binding contract upon both parties. To my knowledge the only way to legally change a binding contract is for both parties to discuss and agree to the change. The GEA was not even offered this courtesy.

The local administration cautioned the board that a unilateral change in the contract was indeed a violation of the master agreement. The board chose to ignore this advice. The GEA feels its position could be jeopardized if future, more serious unilateral decisions are made by the board.

I feel the March 28 meeting between the board and the GEA provided a reasonable solution to this misunderstanding.

Board member Kilen's remarks about granting leaves to certain teachers during the school term should also be clarified. The GEA has never asked the board to grant such leaves. Mr. Kilen has served on the board for six years; surely he has heard the words, "inherent managerial rights." I believe these types of leaves fall into this category.

Greenbush Education Association

Open letter to Mr. Robert Block, Supt. of Schools, Thief River Falls, MN.

Dear Mr. Block:

Throughout my years as a student from grade school through high school and college I was taught by my instructors never to accept things at face value. To continually question, assess and weigh what was presented to me in class and what I observed in the world in which I lived. Subsequently, I have attempted to instill this same type of questioning mind in my own children.

I was very surprised, then, to hear you state on the radio on Saturday morning (4-10-83) that you felt students were not qualified to assess the quality of their education. Further, you were quoted by the Thief River Falls Times as saying, "Personally, I feel that there is a need for students to simply go to school and learn without having to get involved in the operation of the program."

Who is better qualified than the student to asscertain whether or not the education he is receiving is sufficient to prepare him to function adequately in this highly competitive society in which we live?

The program belongs to the student. The student and teachers should be involved in a cooperative effort to improve the quality of the program.

I think it's a sad commentary on the system if our children are being discouraged from questioning and evaluating what is presented to them, or discouraged from participating in the development of their educational programs. This type of thinking brings to mind Germany under Hitler, or the thinking of Communist countries. It is the complete antithesis of what our nation stands for.

I, for one, hope that all the students in Thief River Falls will continue to evaluate and question what is presented to them. For in this way we are all forced to maintain the highest standards of education and professionalism.

"SHORTY GEORGE" costumes added a 1940's flair to the "Dance Alive" program Monday evening in the Lincoln high school auditorium. As the final concert of the year for the Thief River Falls concert association, the company entertained with ballet, jazz and modern dance. Posing for a photo after the show were company members, from left to right, Lisanne Benesh, Sam Cagnina, Tari Loseke, Kathryn Dandois, Tim Heflin and Susan DeHoff.

IN NEED of someone to claim him, this dog is currently in the care of the society for the prevention of cruelty to animals. He was found April 7, wandering in the area of the New Solum town hall. He is reported to have a very affectionate personality and be very well mannered. If not claimed within a reasonable length of time he will have to be destroyed. His owner or persons wishing to adopt him should contact either Mary Gunderson at 681-5664 or Linda Johnson at 523-3045.

Cub Pack 199 Met March 28 At St. John's

Cub Scout Pack 199 met at St. John Lutheran church in Thief River Falls on March 28, with Den three serving as host. Meeting was opened with presentation of colors and singing of the national anthem. LaVonne Masters gave the invocation.

Following reports on tours taken during the month by each of the dens and Webelos, a cake auction was held to raise money for the Canadian exchange hospitality fund and Cub day camp.

Recognition of achievement was given to the following scouts: (Den 2) Scott Carlson, two silver arrows under the wolf; Cory Gustafson, silver arrow under the wolf; Lance Hendrickson, silver arrow under the wolf; (Den 3) Darrin Grindeland, gold arrow under the bear; and Brad St. George, third red bead.

Webelos all received their Aquanaut badge. They included Darrin Bakke, Scott Daniels, Jeremy Dicken, Matt Dupree, Gary Engstrom, Greg Gengler, Todd Mack, Robert Olson, Paul Sjerseth, Greg Smidt, Trevor Swanson and Jamie Wold. In addition, Troy Lemer earned the Sportsman badge and Dale Shooltz earned the Athletic and Bobcat badges.

Upcoming events for the pack include the Scout Expo from 2 to 5 p.m. Sunday, April 24, in the sports arena (this will preclude the April pack meeting); Pack meeting at 7:30 p.m. May 23, with Dens 2 and 4 as hosts; exchange trip to Canada on June 3, 4 and 5; and Cub day camp at the fairgrounds from August 15 to 19.

Funding Meet Slated At Detroit Lakes

Alternate funding workshop will be held at the Detroit Lakes vocational-technical institute on Friday, April 29 from 10 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Jointly sponsored by the northern lights library network and the Minnesota office of public libraries, the workshop is free of charge and open to all who are interested.

Persons who will find it especially valuable are library staff, trustees and board members, social service personnel, health providers, and United Fund agency staff.

Workshop is designed to give participants an opportunity to identify alternative funding sources and to increase their understanding of private philanthropy. Those attending will receive practical information on writing and presenting a proposal. Structures and strategies for fund raising will also be explored.

For further details and registration, call or write to Northern Lights Library Network, Box 246, Detroit Lakes, MN 56501; phone (218) 847-3427.

Rev. Berggren To Speak In Local Church

Rev. Paul W. Berggren will be the guest preacher at a series of gospel services at the Evangelical Free church in Thief River Falls, Sunday through Wednesday, April 20. Services will be at 11 a.m. and 7 p.m. on Sunday and 7 p.m. Monday through Wednesday. There will be special music at each service.

Rev. Berggren is a field evangelist and Bible teacher with the church ministries department of the Evangelical Free church of America. Before coming to his present position he served as director of church planting in the North Central district of the denomination. Prior to that he pastored several churches in the upper midwest.

Career Day For Juniors To Be May 4

Career information day for juniors at Lincoln high school in Thief River Falls will be conducted Wednesday, May 4, under sponsorship of the local chamber of commerce, Northland community college and the Thief River Falls area vocational-technical institute.

A similar event was conducted last fall for seniors at Lincoln. Current plan is to continue the information days on an annual basis for juniors, giving them more time in their senior year to define their career goals.

Speakers representing businesses, professions and trades will present information about education needed, work conditions, advancement possibilities, wages and other aspects of the occupation.

MacFarlane Is New President Of Otter Tail

John C. MacFarlane

John C. MacFarlane was named president and chief executive officer of Otter Tail Power company by the company's board of directors meeting in Fergus Falls Monday following the annual meeting of company shareholders. He succeeds Robert M. Bigwood as the company's chief executive.

Bigwood, who will retire as an active employee of the company at year-end, will continue as chairman of the board, the position he was elected to a year ago.

MacFarlane is a native of Hallock and a 1961 electrical engineering graduate of the University of North Dakota. Starting as a staff engineer in Otter Tail's electrical department following his graduation, he served in several engineering and management capacities in the company's North Dakota division.

MacFarlane was elected vice president for planning and control in 1978, executive vice president in 1981 and president in 1982.

The shareholders elected MacFarlane and Dayle Dietz to three-year terms on the board of directors. Reelected to an additional three-year term was James L. Stengel, Milbank, SD. Ted Peet, Wolverton, who has served as a director since 1965, retired effective at the time of the annual shareholders meeting.

Mrs. Dietz is an instructor at North Dakota state school of science, Wahpeton, ND. She has served two terms in the North Dakota state legislature, holds a master's degree in marketing and distribution from Moorhead state university, and is associated with her husband in Bob's Foods, Inc., Wahpeton.

The Gondoliers Operetta Set At Moorhead

Fargo-Moorhead civic opera company will present as the final production of the season Gilbert and Sullivan's "The Gondoliers." This was the first show produced by the newly former opera company in 1969. Performances are April 28, 29 and 30 at Moorhead senior high with curtain time at 8 p.m.

This operetta is considered to be Gilbert and Sullivan's finest musical collaboration. It is a humorous story set in Venice with singing Gondoliers, beautiful young girls looking for husbands, a Spanish duke, a lost prince and much confusion.

Tickets are $7 for adults, $4 for students, and $4 for senior citizens (Thursday only). Reservations can be made by calling (701) 282-1369 from 11 a.m. to 4 p.m. on Monday through Friday and the Saturday of performance, beginning April 11, or by sending a stamped, self-addressed envelope to Box 1182, Fargo, ND 58107.

April 22 Is Deadline For Grant Monies

The priority deadline for students to apply for a Minnesota state scholarship or grant for the 1983-84 school year is April 22.

Applications received by April 22 will be given priority over applications received after that date. Students unable to make the priority deadline should continue to apply, however. Eligible students who apply after that date will receive awards as funds are available.

Students may obtain application forms from high school counselors, financial aid officers at post-secondary institutions, and from the Minnesota higher education coordinating board (HECB) which administer the program.

Minnesota residents who will be full-time, first-year undergraduate students at one of more than 160 eligible state post-secondary institutions may apply for scholarships. Awards are based on scholastic achievement and financial need.

For the grant program, any Minnesota resident who will be a full-time student may apply during any year of undergraduate study. Grants are based solely on financial need.

The amount of funding available and process for determining awards will be established by the Minnesota legislature this spring.

During the current school year, about 46,000 students are receiving awards totaling approximately $29 million.

State awards range from $100 to $1,400 per year but cannot exceed one half of a student's financial need. The maximum award, however, has been limited to $1,050 for the past two years due to funding constrainments. The Minnesota legislature is considering a change in the process for determining awards which, if adopted, would likely result in larger awards for low and lower middle income students.

Home Energy Conference At Rochester

In an effort to promote new technology in housing, the national center for appropriate technology, Rochester area vocational technical institute, and Staples technical institute are co-sponsoring an international conference and exposition on superinsulation in housing.

The conference is designed to meet the needs of the architect, builder, consumer, developer, energy consultant, insulation contractor and others who are interested in energy efficient construction.

The conference will be held at the Kahler hotel in Rochester, beginning on Thursday, April 28, with a special workshop for educators. The general conference and exposition will be held Friday and Saturday, April 29 and 30.

Topics covered during the conference will be: economics of superinsulation, weatherization for new construction and retrofit, air vapor barriers, air to air heat exchangers, design and construction, moisture control, and indoor air quality. There will also be construction demonstrations and numerous exhibits.

Persons interested in registering to attend the conference may contact the Rochester AVTI at 507-285-8645. Companies or individuals interested in exhibiting at the conference should contact the Staples technical institute at 218-894-2430, extension 554.

Registration For Dog Courses Set April 20

Agassiz Kennel club is offering dog training and obedience classes this spring, with sign-up slated Wednesday, April 20 at 6:30 p.m. at the sheep barn on the Pennington county fair grounds. Owners are asked to leave dogs home for the first meeting.

Short club meeting will be held after registration. Anyone interested in dog training, breeding or hunting is welcome to join the club. Special reduced rates are offered for club members.

Obedience, showmanship and conformation classes for beginning and advanced trainers will be offered for 10 weeks at a cost of $18. Bird hunting dog training and field trial work are also slated with separate classes for pointer, retriever and flushing breeds. Both courses are scheduled for 10 weeks, with training at a cost of $18 and field work set at $25.

All dog owners are eligible to take dog obedience classes. Dogs will be taught the meaning of heel, sit, stay and down. They will also learn to stand for examination and come when called. Course is designed for owners wanting to compete in AKC dog shows.

Showmanship class will teach children how to show a dog and present their animal properly to a judge. 4-H members involved in the dog project or competition or those interested in AKC dog shows are welcome to attend the instruction. Gait and stack will be covered.

Owners planning to enter dogs at breed competition at an AKC dog show are offered a conformation class. Course covers showmanship and training dogs to gait and stack. Classes can also aid a dog in feeling more comfortable with strangers, different dogs and noises.

Hunters interested in training a bird dog for hunting are invited to sign-up for the obedience or field trial classes.

AKC dog shows are held twice a year in Grand Forks, ND and CKC dog shows are scheduled throughout the year in Winnipeg. Agassiz kennel club will have a show in the fall. Dog owners can also compete at the Pennington county fair in obedience competition.

$5,000 CHECK WAS PRESENTED to Richard Spyhalski, president of Northwestern hospital services, by Cathy Belmont (right), president of the hospital auxiliary. Dorothy Larson, gift shop manager and board member of the auxiliary, also joined in the presentation. Majority of the auxiliary funds are earned from the gift shop located in the north lobby of Northwestern hospital. The check will be used to continue paying for the purchase of a cardiac monitor for the hospital. After three years of effort, the auxiliary has earned $41,000 and has $19,000 to raise toward its goal to pay for the monitor.

NORTHLAND COMMUNITY HOSPICE was recently awarded $500 by the Agassiz health systems agency to organize and present a one-day seminar on hospice care for physicians, nurses, social service personnel, ministers and interested lay persons. JoAnn Thibert (left), an Agassiz board volunteer, presented the check to Susan Olson, Northland community hospice chairman. Hospice is a program of care for the terminally ill which allows for patient choice and total family involvement. Aggasiz is responsible for planning in 22 counties and grant applications were awarded to address the three special problem areas of accident reduction, teenage pregnancy and community resources for the elderly and disabled.

team. Men's city hockey with eight teams, would be charged $50 per team plus $1 per player per game. Men's basketball with five teams, and ladies volleyball with 200 participants, would be charged $20 per team. Public skating and open hockey with varying participation, would be charged 50 cents per individual for 75 minutes of ice time.

Total possible revenue from these fees was estimated at $13,000.

In addition, rental fees for other activities were set at $75 per day for dry floor activities, and $30 per hour or $200 per day for ice rentals at the sports arena. Ice rental at the old arena was set at $25 per hour or $150 per day. $10 per hour would be charged for labor required of city employees. Flea markets would be charged $25 for use of parks, and special requests for use of public parks which required city employees to do extra work such as moving tables would be charged a $25 fee. City council would retain the right to waive fees. Rentals were estimated to bring in a total of $3,188.30.

Additional savings of $5,050 were anticipated to result from cuts in programs and personnel. These included $2,800 for bath house attendants at the beach, since the bath house has been torn down; saving of $1,500 through elimination of one paid baseball coach; a cut of $250 from the current $500 budget for golf lessons; and elimination of $500 cost of the swim club budget. Note was made that the same number of coaching positions would still be filled, but would be paid through state work study program rather than the parks budget.

Alderman Bill Penning objected to the proposal, stating concern that the fees would reduce participation in recreation programs, and would be particularly harmful relatively poor people. He also noted that a drop in participation could end up costing more through increases in vandalism and mischief.

Wiebolt replied that it was not the intention of the fee structure to eliminate anyone from participation, noting that the fees were really quite low "token amounts," and adding that provisions had been made to give the department supervisor authority to waive fees for those who could not afford them.

In response to a comment from Penning that $15,000 was "only a few lousy bucks compared to a budget of $300,000," Mayor Bob Carlson responded that it wasn't when that budget was looking at a $63,000 deficit. Carlson also commented, "I don't really think that $5 per year will drive anyone into the streets."

He noted that most other communities in the state have had fee structures in operation for 10 years, questioning whether Thief River Falls hasn't been "just a little too liberal" in maintaining reasonable rates for recreation, as well as utilities.

When the matter of approving the committee's recommendations came to a vote, the fee structures were approved seven to one, with Penning casting the only dissenting vote.

Request from the Pennington county fair board to be issued a 3.2 beer license also drew a lot of comment. License was asked for a closed-in area to be built on the west end of the grandstand, with hours of operation from 2 to 11 p.m. Licensing committee recommended that the permit be approved only on the grounds that strict conditions be met, including that beer be kept in the designated area; that age be checked at each entry and exit, that sellers not be allowed to consumer beer while working; and that law enforcement be authorized to shut it down if any violations occurred.

Opposition was expressed by Aldermen Penning and Don Goodrich, on the grounds that beer was unnecessary to fair activities. Note was made that fair activities were generally directed towards young people such as the 4-H groups. Matter was tabled until the April 26 meeting to allow time for the general public to submit comments on the proposal.

Zoning change was requested by Daryl Norberg, who owns a 15 unit rest home south of the L.B. Hartz warehouse. Norberg asked that his property be rezoned from industrial with a special use, to R3 residential, to allow him to build a 15 unit addition to his building. Planning commission had recommended denial of the request on the grounds that they had not received sufficient information on which to base a decision.

Norberg noted that preparation of documents requested by the planning commission was an expensive proposition, and would be useless to him if he could not get the rezoning. After considerable discussion, a motion was passed to return the matter to planning commission with a recommendation that a rezoning be granted on condition that all necessary requirements be met first.

Presentation of a preliminary plan for the Third Street improvement project also drew a lot of comment. Project is scheduled by the Minnesota department of transportation for letting in 1984, with construction in 1985. Primary oppoisition to the plan resulted from closing off the south end of Red Lake Boulevard, leaving access open to Davis Avenue at fourth street. Problems with parking in the area of the Eagles club and traffic flow were cited as reasons for objection. Since the final plan will still have to be drafted by MnDOT, council approved the preliminary plan, but noted their objections to the changes developed for the Davis Avenue and Red Lake Boulevard area, as well as at Pine Avenue, because of access problems for residents.

Since the plan calls for widening of the Third Street Bridge to four lanes, other discussion developed regarding the need to move up the First Street bridge widening project, since First Street will be used as a detour while Third Street bridge is out. Also discussed was the need to develop another railroad crossing to allow emergency vehicles to cross the tracks while trains have the main streets blocked. Greenwood Avenue was discussed as the likely candidate for a crossing. Mayor Carlson said he would attempt to set up a special meeting with MnDOT representatives, city council and the Pennington County board of commissioners to discuss these issues.

Proposal from the utilities committee was approved after considerable discussion, which would compensate project crew chiefs with an additional 40 cents per hour. Note was made that the pay would only be effective on projects lasting more than 21 days, and was primarily for use during underground work, since the line foreman could not supervise all ongoing jobs at once.

In other business the council:

— Tabled a policy to collect or pay back utilities customers for one year in cases where they were inadvertanently over or undercharged. Action was tabled to allow the city attorney to check on the legality of the policy.

—Directed the city attorney to start procedures to annex properties belonging to Ed Fisher, Mrs. Monica Rustad and the Stanley Lemky estate. Properties are located north of Sixth Street and west of Barzen Avenue.

— Heard that the sanitation department would begin alley pickup of garbage twice a week, starting Monday.

— Approved settlement of salary negotiations with the police federation. Settlement included a $25 per month increase in the base salary; $5 per month increase in longevity; and change in severance pay so that severance would be based on half of a maximum of 120 days or 60 days of pay. Employees must have a minimum of five years service to qualify for severance pay. Pay is retroactive to January 1.

— Approved transfer of the beer license held by John Moir to Russel Moen, owner of Gary's Bar.

— Approved payment of $3,500 budgeted for Falls Delivered Meals to their account.

— Approved request by the Arts Council to use LaBree Avenue between Second and Third Streets for their annual art festivities on June 23.

— Approved increases in parking fines to $3 for overtime and improper parking; $5 for double parking; $10 for handicapped parking; and with $1 added after 10 days, and $20 if it goes to court.

Registrations For Selective Service Rise

Registration of 18 year old men with the selective service continues to increase in Minnesota, according to statistics released by Robert P. Knight, Minnesota state director of the selective service system.

Area counties and number of men registered include: Clearwater, 507; Kittson, 297; Marshall, 723; Pennington, 745; Red Lake, 330; and Roseau, 633.

As of the end of February, Minnesota ranks number 15 in the nation with a registration compliance percentage of 98.58. This compares with the national compliance percentage of 95.6.

Since the beginning of 1983, 8,883 new registrations have been received in the state boosting the total number of young men born 1960-1965 who have registered to 193,401. Nationally the total number of registrations through February is approximately 9.7 million.

Knight stated that more men are registering as a result of initiatives taken to make men aware of the requirements.

Within 30 days of his 18th birthday, a man must go to a post office and fill out a form which asks for his name, address, telephone number, social security number and date of birth.

IRS Institutes Large And New Tax Penalties

One of the most sweeping changes in the 1982 tax law revision is a set of new and larger tax penalties for infractions of IRS rules, according to the Minnesota society of certified public accountants. For one common violation, what used to be a $5 penalty is now up to $50.

The IRS has an array of penalties for various mistakes, oversights, tardiness or attempts at frivolity. You can be penalized, say CPAs, for forgetting something as simple as forgetting to report your social security number.

Law requires you to report you social security number to banks, mutual funds, or employers — to anyone who pays you fees, interest or dividends. By not reporting your number (this is also known as your "taxpayer identification number"), the IRS has a difficult time tracking down your income — but they will. They will also charge a penalty of $50 for each omission of the number.

So, if you failed to report you social security number when you opened an interest-earning account, notify the bank promptly and avoid the penalty.

On the other hand, if in your trade or business, you pay someone more than $600 a year, you must send a form 1099 (information return) to that individual and to the IRS. If not, you will be fined $50. This is up from $10.

The IRS expects you to file your tax return by April 15. However, you can ask for and get an automatic four-month extension. But if you file more than 60 days after your extension ends, you are liable to a minimum penalty of either $100 or the amount of tax due — whichever is less.

In addition, if you file late there is a penalty of five per cent of any tax not paid (up to 25 per cent) for each month the return is late. No matter when you file your return, you must pay taxes on time or risk a penalty for paying late, plus interest on the late payment.

CPAs advice if you plan to file your return after April 15, send the IRS what you expect to owe. If it turns out you paid too much, you can apply for a refund when you file. (Naturally, if taxes have been withheld from your pay and you don't expect to owe anything beyond that time, you don't have to include a payment.)

Late payments for a timely filed return incur a penalty of one-half of one per cent per month (up to 25 per cent) of your unpaid tax.

Here's what happens if you file late and pay late. Let's say you owe $1,000 in taxes and you request an extension to August 15. Then you put off filing again without obtaining an additional extension, and don't file or pay until November 15.

You will owe a $150 penalty ($50 a month from August 15) for filing late, plus a $35 penalty ($5 a month for seven months from April 15) for paying late. In addition to this $185, interest is charged on the late tax payment. The interest is compounded daily. At the current interest rate of 16 per cent, this adds up to $98 for the seven months. Your total penalties with interest come to $283, a high price for procrastination!

CPAs note that if you can show a good cause for not paying on time, you may be excused from the penalties. The steepest new penalty is levied if, upon audit, it is determined that you substantially underpay your tax bill. If you underpay by $5,000 or more, your penalty will be 10 per cent of your underpayment.

If the IRS considers your tax return "frivolous," it will penalize you $500. Frivolous means you've left out information the IRS needs to correctly calculate your tax. Some people leave out information as a tax protest. No matter what the reason, you risk a heavy penalty.

Taxpayers who challenge the IRS in court and lose face a $5,000 penalty if their case is found to be based on a groundless position. This penalty is up from $500. However, if it turns out your position is not so groundless and you beat the IRS in court, the government may have to pay you up to $25,000 in legal expenses. This is new and applies to cases initiated between now and 1985.

A penalty is not the same as a fine. A fine results from a criminal act, like falsifying your tax return or deliberately evading taxes. A penalty results from mistakes or poor judgment.

WILL IT WORK?
Q: Can all persons with measurable hearing loss wear a hearing aid successfully?
A: No — but in most cases a trial period of wearing a hearing aid is advised. However good the audiometric tests, they cannot always forecast the likelihood of success. The Hearing Aid Evaluation, for instance, is designed to determine the best possible hearing aid system by using varied audiometric speech and intensity level testing, but it cannot measure the subjective variables that contribute to a subject's success with amplification. Even poor discrimination, a leading indicator, can be helped in some instances. All too often, predetermined notions prevent the hearing-impaired subject from even trying a hearing aid.
There are those who, because of various contributing factors, may be poor candidates for hearing aids; the professional in charge of your hearing health care needs can best determine this.

Viking

Mrs. Orville Peters
City, 681-3250

Hilda Larson, Mrs. Selma Peters and her granddaughter, Kristen Peters of Viking and Mrs. Ella Larson and Debbie of Thief River Falls recently returned from a trip to Honolulu, Hawaii, where they were joined by Borghild, Mrs. W.F. Gaskill, of Oxnard, Calif. One of the highlights was a visit with Mr. and Mrs. Winston Larson a nephew of Hilda and Ella's. They all attended the Calvary by the Sea Lutheran church which was on a beautiful setting by the ocean with mountains in the background. The people there dressed very casual and were very friendly. Since it was Palm Sunday they brought palms and layed them around the altar. Some of the palms had been brought by Winston. The visitors were all introduced by their sponsors. There were people from Roseau, MN., Wisconsin, Minneapolis, MN and several other states, They then went to the Larson home for a delicious brunch. Winston is a retired Col. of the marines. His mother lives in Mahnomen and his dad was the late, Alfred Larson, formerly of Viking.

Mrs. Selma Peters and Kristen Peters together with Mr. and Mrs. George Alofouzos and family of Wausau, Wisc., Mr. and Mrs. Paul Miramonte and Jamie, Mr. and Mrs. Dean Kukowski spent the Easter weekend in the Twin Cities area at the Jerome Peters home and at the home of Mrs. Fern Peters.

486 Passengers Board Republic Last Month

Republic airlines announced record traffic levels for March and the first quarter, but says the financial results will not reflect this improvement.

Locally, the Thief River Falls branch of Republic boarded 486 passengers in March, the first time less than 500 passengers were boarded since March of 1969. Quarterly total for 1983 is 1,314 passengers compared to 1,569 at this time last year.

"More than 25 per cent of Republic's March revenue passenger miles were generated by passengers using free promotional coupons or deeply-discounted fares," said Daniel F. May, president and chief executive officer.

March revenue passenger miles reached a record 1.05 billion, up from 821.6 million a year ago. Passenger boardings increased to 1,926,246 from 1,607,502, also a new record. Passenger load factor reached an all-time high of 69 per cent compared with 58 per cent in March 1982. Cargo ton miles jumped 43 per cent to 7.2 million from 5 million a year ago.

First-quarter revenue passenger miles totaled 2.55 billion, passenger boardings were 4,722,895, passenger load factor reached 58 per cent, and cargo ton miles increased to 18.7 million. A year ago, passenger miles were 2.16 billion, 4,309,723 passengers were carried, load factor was 53 per cent, and cargo ton miles were 14 million.

"It is disappointing to set traffic records yet incur a significant financial loss," May said. "Unfortunately, that is what has happened to Republic as well as other carriers. To protect Republic's market share, it was necessary for us to match the low fares of our competitors. As a result, yield — revenue generated for each passenger mile flown — in the first quarter of 1983 declined about 20 per cent compared with a year ago. This is expected to result in a greater first-quarter loss than a year ago.

May said the deep-discount fares are expiring as the peak summer traffic period nears. "With a strong summer travel season and the continued recovery of the economy, we do not anticipate airlines returning to those fare levels."

The Aging Eye Is Topic Of TRF Workshop

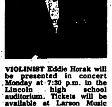
Minnesota society for the prevention of blindness and preservation of hearing (MSPB-PH) will conduct a one-day workshop on common age-associated diseases of the eye on Friday, April 22 at the Best Western Inn, Thief River Falls.

Workshop, entitled "The Aging Eye: A Workshop for Nurses," is designed for RNs, LPNs and other licensed health care professionals who work with the elderly population.

Goal of the program is to expand the participant's awareness and general knowledge of vision needs in the older population. Sessions on anatomy and physiology and selected eye diseases — their signs and symptoms, etiology and appropriate therapy programs — will be led by Dr. William Ramsay. A 90-minute session on techniques for communicating with and helping the elderly adjust to their vision loss will be conducted by Marcia Jagodzinske, rehabilitation teacher from Minnesota state services for the blind and visually handicapped.

Program fulfills the requirements for mandatory continuing education as established by the Minnesota board of nursing for registered nurses. Nurses may receive either six or seven contact hours, the total depending on their length of participation.

Cost of the workshop is $17.50 and includes seminar handouts, a comprehensive manual, and coffee breaks. Lunch may be reserved for an additional $5. For more information contact Sharon Russell at Northwestern hospital services in Thief River Falls, 681-4240. To register, send a check (payable to MSPB-PH) with your name and address to MSPB-PH, Thief River Falls Seminar, 1208 Pioneer Building, St. Paul, MN 55101. Pre-registration is required by April 16.



VIOLINIST Eddie Horak will be presented in concert Monday at 7:30 p.m. in the Lincoln high school auditorium. Tickets will be available at Larson Music company and at the door. Horack was a member of the Golden Strings for 19 years at the Radisson hotel in Minneapolis, played eight years in the Minnesota symphony orchestra and was concertmaster at the Roehampton music festival in London, England. He was also a featured violinist with the Henry Busse orchestra.

To serve you better with up-to-date equipment and ideas, we will be attending the Midwest Graphics trade show. We will be closed this Friday, April 15 at noon and all day Saturday, April 16. We hope this does not inconvenience you. Thank you, The Quick Print Center.

United Blood Services Lists Action To Take

United Blood Services (UBS) of the Upper Midwest, located in Fargo, ND, provides all blood and blood components to one-half million people served by 48 hospitals in Minnesota, North Dakota and South Dakota, including Northwestern hospital in Thief River Falls.

In the past few weeks, UBS has had some questions from persons in the Thief River Falls area who have used blood in hospitals that require replacement. The company has provided answers for some of the more common concerns about United Blood Services.

As a non-profit community blood center relying on 100 per cent volunteer blood donors, UBS does not use a "credit" system, insurance coverage plans, or any other incentive plan, nor does it charge a non-replacement fee or require replacement of blood transfused. Some hospitals, however, do charge this additional fee if blood is not replaced.

It is the policy of the UBS to aid residents of towns in its service area in eliminating these non-replacement fees, if they are required by a hospital. If active donors, members of active donor groups, or members of their immediate families use blood in a hospital that requires replacement, the patient or a family member should contact UBS to cancel the replacement fee. The company is able to provide this service because of the continuing support from volunteer blood donors in Thief River Falls and many other communities.

Persons who need blood replacement should contact the local blood drive coordinator, or Janet Gallagher or Robert Ware of United Blood Services at (701) 293-9453. Following information should be available:

Patient's name, address and phone number;

Name, address and phone number of the hospital in which the patient received blood;

Date patient was admitted to and discharged from the hospital;

Patient's hospital account number; and

Number of blood units received by the patient.

If anyone receives blood in a hospital serviced by UBS, there will be two types of blood related charges on the patient's bill — but absolutely no replacement deposits, fees or requirements.

First, there is the blood center processing fee, which is the actual cost of recruiting, drawing, testing, processing, storing and distributing a safe, usable unit of blood. This fee is most often covered by the patient's health insurance, and is the only fee charged by UBS.

Second, there will be a charge by the hospital to cover its expenses in typing, crossmatching and administering the blood to the patient. Again, these fees are most often covered by health insurance.

Persons who have questions about United Blood Services, blood fees or blood replacement, please contact United Blood Services in Fargo.

Social Security Men Here Tues.

Ted Hoversten and Neil Rowe, field representatives of the Grand Forks social security office will be in Thief River Falls at the city auditorium on Tuesday, April 19 from 9:30 a.m. to 2 p.m.

Minnesota-Massachusetts Series

Despite the lopsided results that sent shock waves throughout the hockey world, Thief River Falls' Tim Bergland said he still enjoyed the experience of participating as a member of Team Minnesota against Team Massachusetts in the weekend hockey series matching high school seniors.

It was supposed to be an even three-game series at the University of Lowell arena in the Boston area matching the top players from the two recognized areas of top high school hockey programs in the United States. If anything, Minnesota was generally considered the favorite.

But Massachussets won by astonishing 14-3, 6-2 and 8-0 scores in sweeping the Friday-Saturday-Sunday series by a combined 28-5 margin.

Bergland was one of seven Section 8 players on the Minnesota squad. The others were Mike Sauer and Don Smith of Bemidji, Paul Erickson and Chad Johnson of Roseau, Craig Mack of East Grand Forks and John Bjorkman of Warroad.

Reason for the scores was pretty simple, said Bergland: the Massachusetts squad had been given adequate practice time as a team while the Minnesota delegation had a single 45-minute practice session before the first game in which they fell behind 11-0. Sounds much like the United States trying to form its customary last-second team for world competition against polished international competition.

Despite the scores, Bergland isn't convinced Massachusetts has superior hockey players to Minnesota. In fact, he says, "I think individually we were better. I never really noticed one guy on their team."

It was just a simple matter of practice time, he said.

Bergland had a goal and an assist in the series while skating on a line with Steve Orth of St. Cloud and John LaBatt of Minnetonka. He said he felt he did all right during the series, but admitted, along with the rest of the Minnesota players, he was embarrassed by the results. A chance for a quick exit might have been welcomed, he said.

Tours and banquets occupied off-the-ice time on the trip, a rare treat for the group of high school kids. It was the first trip to the Boston area for most of them, except Bergland. "It's the only other place in the world where I've been," he joked.

It was a "nice" experience, said Bergland, who had to forfeit his senior year of high school baseball eligibility to participate in the all-star games that included a Minnesota North-South series the previous week in Duluth. That decision to skip baseball, though, came at a time when it wasn't known for sure if the Prowlers would field a team this spring because of budget cut-backs.

Promoters hope the Minnesota-Massachussets series will continue, maybe alternating the sites each year between the two states.

Meanwhile, people are still shaking their heads over the results. Some wonder if maybe the scores might even have a negative effect on Minnesota players trying to land major college scholarship money. Recruiters might be influenced into taking a longer look at the Massachussets products, maybe taking potential scholarships out of the hands of Minnesota high school players.

Wait till next year. . .

Miscellaneous

+ Warroad high school hockey coach Rube Bjorkman told the Warroad Pioneer that he has decided to take a break from coaching and is now working in the personnel department at Marvin Windows. He said he feels he wants to sit back and take a look at the sport for a change. Coach of the Warriors the past three years, Bjorkman coached previously at Greenway-Coleraine, RPI in Troy, N.Y., the University of New Hampshire and the University of North Dakota. He was chosen earlier this year to receive the prestigious Cliff Thompson Award for metitorious service from the Minnesota state high school hockey coaches association.

+ Players who appeared in the MJCAA national tournament dominated the first and second team selections for the 1982-83 national junior college athletic association All-American hockey team. University of Minnesota-Crookston sophomore Erick Grafstrom of Roseau was a first-time selection and UMC teammate Jeff Strandell, a freshman from East Grand Forks, was named to the second team. Other first-team selections were goalie Dan Perillo of Canton, N.Y.; forwards Scott Metz of DuPage, Ill. and Tim Preston of North Country community college in Saranac Lake, N.Y.; plus defensemen Jim Ward of Canton and Scott Sova of North Country. Strandell was one of three Minnesotans on the second team, along with forwards Gerald Balstad of Rainy River and Brad Johnson of Rochester. Other second-team picks were goalie Guy Madigan of Ocean county college in Toms River, N.J. and defensemen Mark Taylor of Canton and Mike Dontana of DuPage. Canton, DuPage, North Country and UMC competed in the MJCAA national hockey tournament this year at Lake Placid, N.Y. where Canton beat UMC 11-3 and North Country 5-2 for the title, with UMC beating DuPage 8-6 for third place honors.

SOFTBALL SHOWMAN Eddie Feigner will make an appearance in Thief River Falls this summer when The King & His Court will play the Thief River Falls fast pitch softball all-stars Wednesday, June 29, at 8 p.m. on the fairgrounds diamond. In his 38th successive season on the road, Feigner is still firing away at 105 miles-per-hour speeds, exhibiting some 30 different pitches and striking out the side as if on command. To add to the show, he pitches between his legs and while blindfolded. He has been profiled in Sports Illustrated, interviewed on numerous television talk shows and featured in current television commercials for Miller beer, which he says has helped increase his popularity that often produces standing-room-only crowds. His four-man softball team includes shortstop Dave Barnett, comic first baseman Gary West and catcher Eddie Feigner, Jr., his son. Ticket information will be made available at a later date by the sponsoring Thief River Falls fast pitch softball league.

LHS Baseball Team Expects To Have Successful 1983 Season

Lincoln high school baseball team, given a new lease on life this spring by a community fund-raising effort that saved the program, ticketed for elimination as a budget move by officials, hopes to take advantage of the opportunity by turning in a successful 1983 season.

And coach Charlie Corpell figures it will be.

"I think the potential is there for a good baseball team," pointed out Cornell. "These kids have played a lot of baseball in the high school, Legion and Babe Ruth programs. I'm enthusiastic. I'm looking forward to the season."

Although they fell behind a couple of weeks in battery workouts as the fate of the program was debated, the Prowlers shouldn't be hurt by the delay in the long run, said Cornell. However, he figures the still-undecided future of the sport at the school has cost the team a few younger players.

Tom Drury, a work-study student from Northland community college, will assist Cornell with the younger players this spring.

Cornell figures the Prowlers should be adequately stocked with pitching, hitting and defense.

"We've got a number of pitchers," he said. "Maybe we don't have a Scott Sabo (a former Prowler now a starter on the University of Wisconsin team) in the group, but we've got some good high school pitchers."

The mound staff is headed by Wollin, Johnston and Bottem, who have high school pitching experience, and includes Ortloff, Drees, Nyland and Huot, who have pitched effectively in Babe Ruth, Legion B and high school junior varsity programs.

Defensively there are a lot of variables, with the pitching rotation dictating the line-up since Wollin, Johnston and Bottem are all infielders. Wherever they line-up, though, Cornell feels comfortable with the Prowlers' defensive set.

Hitting is always the question mark, no matter what level of ball you play, explained Cornell. "It's going to be a matter of who hits the ball that will tell who gets to play," he said. "It doesn't matter if you're playing high school or pro ball, if you can hit the ball they'll find a place for you to play; that's the name of the game: hitting the ball. These guys have hit the ball well before, but batting averages are so deceptive in high school ball because of the limited number of at-bats."

Thief River Falls will open its 1983 schedule Thurs., April 21, at home against Red Lake Falls, a 4:30 p.m. game on the fairgrounds diamond.

Cornell, whose team was 10-7 a year ago, figures the Prowlers can be competitive in North Half Region 8AA. Bemidji won the Region 8AA title a year ago, mainly behind the pitching of lefthander Bryan Hickerson, now a starter on the University of Minnesota staff.

"I don't think there's a dominant team in the North Half," noted Cornell. "To my knowledge, nobody has a Bryan Hickerson this year."

Northland Teams Open Schedules On Saturday

Northland community college spring sports teams — baseball for men and softball for women — are scheduled to open their 1983 schedules on the road Saturday.

Coach Chet Engelman's Northmen start the year with a twinbill at Brainerd and coach Deb Jacobson's Northwomen open with a doubleheader at Fergus Falls.

Northland, along with the rest of the Minnesota Community College Conference (MCCC) members, won't be fielding golf and tennis teams this spring.

There are 18 players out for baseball this year at Northland, including sophomores Dave Kays, Mark Lundin, Todd Bergland, Steve Drury and Greg Harder of Thief River Falls and Scott McKeever of Middle River. Drury is a transfer student from the University of Minnesota-Crookston.

Freshmen on the squad include Jeff Cwikla and Brent Walton of Middle River; Ladd Bjugson, Bob Rockwood, Todd Graalum and Scott Trana, Fargo; Kevin Sanders and Jeff Imgrund, Thief River Falls; Rick Serfling and Joe Ramiller, Deer River; Keith Huerd, Warroad; and Bill Krohn, Newfolden.

Former Lincoln high school and Northland player Wayne Huseth is assisting Engelman with the coaching duties this spring.

It's business as usual for the Northmen, with unpredictable weather, a short schedule and lack of a scouting report on the opposition all adding up to an uncertain season outlook.

"We're going to think we can win," said Engelman. "We've got five pitchers, and if we can hit the ball a little. . ."

McKeever and Sanders headline the pitching staff, with Huerd, Rockwood and Drury also slated for mound duty. Kays, Harder, McKeever and Sanders might be the top Northland weapons at the plate.

Northland will get a quick indication where the Northmen can expect to fit into the Northwest Division picture since Brainerd, according to Engelman, looks like the pennant favorite.

"If we can win two this weekend we'd be in great shape," he said. "In fact, if we could come up with a split we'd still be in pretty good shape."

Northland will play a pair of games at Fergus Falls Wednesday before the home opener here Sat., April 23, vs. the University of Minnesota-Crookston.

Whitey Olson To Address TRF Sports Boosters

Whitey Olson, Lincoln high school tennis coach, will be the guest speaker Thursday at the weekly 12 noon Thief River Falls Sports Boosters luncheon meeting in the basement of the Rex Cafe.

Rest of the spring schedule will feature baseball coaches Charlie Cornell and Chet Engelman of Lincoln and Northland community college, respectively, as guest speakers April 21; Lincoln boys and girls golf coaches Jack Boyer and Ruth Onkka April 28; and Northland softball coach Deb Jacobson May 5, with election of officers also scheduled that day.

Matt Fontes To Play For Sioux

It was announced today (Wednesday) that Northland community college sophomore Matt Fontes will sign a letter-of-intent to attend the University of North Dakota next year and play basketball for coach Dave Gunther's Fighting Sioux.

Fontes, a 6-4 product of Canton, Ohio, completed a two-year basketball career at Northland this winter that established him as one of the school's all-time best players.

His outstanding 1982-83 season, which helped Northland post an 18-4 record and a third place finish at the Minnesota Community College Conference (MCCC) state tournament, found him leading the team in scoring (630 points, 28.6 average), rebounding (280, 12.7 average), assists (103), recoveries (77), blocked shots (46) and field goal percentage (63 per cent, 245-for-389).

Those figures helped earn him a bundle of post-season honors as he was named to the all-division, allpstate, all-state tournament and all-region squads.

He finished his two seasons at Northland with 1,100 career points, surpassing David Dickey (1,073) for the No. 2 spot on the school scoring list that is headed by Terry Harris with 1,440 points.

Dickey, incidently, was a Canton product who helped direct Fontes to Northland, and like Fontes, Dickey followed an outstanding two-year career in Thief River Falls by signing with Gunther at North Dakota after the 1974-75 season.

It was also disclosed today that Harris, an all-state and all-region player with the Northmen who completed his playing career here with the 1980-81 season, is expected to enroll at the University of Wisconsin-Superior for the 1983-84 season where his considerable basketball talents are expected to aid the Yellowjackets. He's a 6-6 product of Dearborn Heights, Mich. who is still in the Thief River Falls community.

Meanwhile, Scott McKeever of Northland, a 5-10 guard from Middle River who has also been the target of recruiters from four-year

Prowlers Split Tennis Opener

Season-opening action for the 1983 Lincoln high school tennis team Monday at the Grand Forks Tennis Center found the Prowlers winning by a 3-2 margin over Detroit Lakes, but losing by a 5-0 score to Crookston.

Crookston also swept Detroit Lakes 5-0 to finish the triangular with 10 points, followed by Thief River Falls with 3 and Detroit Lakes 2.

"We were generally pleased," said Thief River Falls coach Whitey Olson after the match. "I think our inexperience really showed, but I thought we played respectable tennis for our first time out."

Thief River Falls winners against Detroit Lakes were Al Erickson, 6-2, 6-2 over Paul Folkert at No. 2 singles; Dan Imgrund, 6-4, 6-0 over Jim Gilbert at No. 3 singles; and the tandem of Steve Bendickson and Ken Kompelien, 6-4, 6-2 over Steve Quam and Dalen Remos at No. 1 doubles.

Thief River Falls didn't fare as well against Crookston, losing all five matches in straight sets.

"Crookston played well. They have a nice team," acknowledged Olson. And the Pirates have a line-up that doesn't include a single senior: three juniors, a sophomore, two freshmen and a seventh grader. Detroit Lakes, meanwhile, used one senior and six sophomores while Thief River Falls utilized seven seniors, a sophomore and a freshman (two different combinations were used at No. 2 doubles).

Thief River Falls will be at East Grand Forks Thursday for another triangular involving the Prowlers, Green Wave and Moorhead at 3:15 p.m.

Kevin Sorter Wins County Pistol Shoot

Kevin Sorter of the Silverton 4-H club was the winner of the 4-H Shooting Sports pistol shoot held recently at the law enforcement center in Thief River Falls. Taking second place was Ricky Blazek of Smiley 4-H and third place went to Jason Wheeler of Happy Acres 4-H. Dale Nelson of Silverton 4-H received honorable mention.

Shooting Sports is a 4-H project in its second year of existence in Minnesota and Pennington county.

In the first phase of the project, 4-H members are introduced to the air pistol, archery and air rifle. All equipment is provided for them. 4-H members may also earn their DNR firearms safety certificate through the project.

County project leaders are Gary and Bev Finke of Thief River Falls who attended state project training at Camp Lincoln in September the past two years. Many other community resource people have assisted. Les Borning gave a presentation on bird feeding; Dana Klos is teaching the archery sessions.

The range in the law enforcement center was used for pistol shooting. Air pistols were leased from the Daisy company. Air rifles were bought with money donated by the American Legion club in Thief River Falls. Borrowed archery equipment is being used. Each member is also expected to do a wildlife project. These may be winter bird feeding, making plaster casts of animal tracks, setting out a wood duck house, etc.

Set Of Weights Are Needed For Weight Room

New Lincoln high school weight room is still adding equipment and anyone with a set of weights they would like to donate can call 681-2700, extension 222 or 223, said Thief River Falls athletic director Russ Smith.

Flood Warning System

Thanks to a new automated flood warning system, the Department of Natural Resources has re-opened the group camp at Whitewater State Park in southeastern Minnesota. The facility, located in the scenic Whitewater River Valley, has been flooded on several occasions and concern for the safety of the campers resulted in the closing of the camp for the past two summers.

Due to the extremely high cost of relocating the group camp to a flood-free location, the DNR sought an alternative solution to improving the existing flash flood warning measures.

DNR's Division of Parks and Recreation, in cooperative with the Division of Waters, Bureau of Engineering, Minnesota Department of Transportation and National Weather Service, designed and installed the new automated flood warning system.

Funded by the Legislative Commission on Minnesota Resources, the system consists of three precipitation gauges and two river level sensing gauges which utilize radio telemetry to send data to the park office. A microcomputer is used to compute, display and store this data.

A sudden rise in the river during the night hours when the office is unstaffed causes the system to alert park personnel by phone at their residences.

Amount of rainfall required to cause flooding in Whitewater State Park is determined by the National Weather Service and called to the park office where it is entered in the microcomputer.

National Weather Service Office in Rochester will continue to maintain telephone and radio contact with the park manager to provide weather related information. Volunteers in the Whitewater River basin may provide backup rainfall data in case of hardware failure. Officials say the combined flash flood system will provide sufficient time to safely evacuate all campers before the onset of flooding.

In addition to providing a direct benefit to Whitewater State Park, the National Weather Service will be able to use this rainfall data to better predict flash flooding in other portions of southeastern Minnesota.

Further details on the flood warning system can be obtained by contacting Jim Solstad, Minnesota Department of Natural Resources, Division of Waters (612) 296-9226. Information relating to campground and group camp reservations should be directed to Jeanne Wilson, Whitewater State Park (507) 932-3007.

Twins' Bat Day Planned For Sunday

First Bat Day in Minnesota since 1976 is set for the Metrodome in Minneapolis Sunday, April 17, when the Twins host the defending American League West Division champion California Angels at 1:15 p.m.

Bat Day will feature the give-away of full-size little league bats to the first 15,000 youngsters (14 and under) entering the stadium. Red in color, the bats are made by Louisville Slugger and are adorned by the signature of Twins' first baseman Kent Hrbek, who in fact was among the throngs attending the same event when he was growing up in Bloomington.

Distribution of the bats will take place at all stadium gates, starting at 11:15 a.m. Tickets may be purchased at the Metrodome or by mail (tickets $8 and $4), directing orders to Twins Ticket Office, The Metrodome, 501 Chicago Ave. S., Minneapolis, MN 55415, and including $1 for postage and handling.

Backcourt Club Has Report On Monthly Meet

Thief River Falls Backcourt Club held its monthly meeting April 8 at the Rex Cafe. Various subjects were discussed and are as follows:

+ Everyone present at the meeting felt the need to hire a director for the 1983-84 school year. The person would be in charge of lining up schedules, making sure coaches were lined up for each practice, etc. It was decided that a retired person or someone who has time to devote to this project should be hired. Salary would be negotiable. Anyone interested should call Don Balmer at 681-6194 or Vern Treat at 681-5440.

+Fourth and fifth grade boys basketball game schedule was reviewed. Games will be played every Tuesday evening at Franklin middle school, for the month of April. Officials are needed for these evenings.

+ Backcourt club would like the teams to have uniforms. A proposal to ask local business for support was suggested. More will be done on this through the next few months.

+ Fund raisers were suggested to try and raise some monies. Several suggestions were made, but car washes and bake sales were the most popular ideas.

+ A tentative plan to send one "outstanding" male and one female basketball player to a clinic each year was discussed. The deciding factor for this project would be the financial position of the club. It was decided to contact Red Severson and obtain more information about his summer clinics. It will be discussed further after more information is available.

+ Vern Treat showed the club members a sample of pictures taken by Rick Thomton. The club decided the pictures were excellent quality and reasonably priced so it was decided to go ahead with taking group pictures. Parents will be contacted later to see if they wish to purchase a picture of their child.

+ All communications with Backcourt members will be put in the paper and over the radio stations. Please read the sports section of the paper for your child's practice schedule and all meeting times.

All Backcourt Club members, school, basketball coaches, volunteer coaches and parents are working very hard together to make Thief River Falls a "winning" basketball town, according to a club official. We need volunteers to help, we need financial support from anyone in a position to help, but mostly, we need community involvement and support at games, fund raisers and general input at the Backcourt meetings. If anyone would like more information about the Backcourt Club, call Don Balmer at 681-6194 or Vern Treat at 681-5440, or just come to a meeting. Meetings are scheduled the first Saturday of every month at the Rex Cafe at 9 a.m. Next regular meeting will be May 7. Remember, we need your support!

— Youth Basketball —

First games of the Thief River Falls Backcourt Club fourth and fifth grade boys basketball program were played Tuesday in the Franklin middle school gym.

Knox defeated Washington 58-39 as Kainz scored 18 points for the winners, a figure matched by Martell of Washington.

Northrop edged Mark Twain 24-23, with Thompson scoring six points for the winners, a total matched by Swanson and Brousce of Mark Twain.

Games will resume Tuesday at 6 p.m. at Franklin.

BASS FISHERMEN ACROSS this bass crazy nation of ours all are asking the same question: "Where will the next world record bass come from?" Well, I've fished in most of the big bass spots so I guess my guess is about as good as the next guy's.

There are a lot of bassin' men still putting their money on Florida's giant strain despite the fact that the present world record largemouth, a 22 1/4 pounder, came from Georgia. Others think it can again come from Georgia's fertile lakes, or neighboring Alabama.

Then, Texas has transplanted Florida's giant strain in a number of its lakes and bass in the 15-pound-plus area have been caught, with some whoppers popping 17-pound lines. And the Carolinas have come up with some mighty big catches.

But, my friend, Glen Lau, one of the nation's outstanding underwater photographers, says he came face to face with one in California's Miramar Lake that weighed at least 28 pounds, and knows of a dead bass found floating and weighed out at 24 pounds. So, I go with Glen's choice and vote for California to come through before 1985.

HEY TOM: I know you now make depth sounders, but I wonder did you use one before you got in the business?—Angelo Demet

CIAO ANGELO: My first depth sounder was a bucket of cement tied to a rope. The ones we use today are just as important to finding fish as are beagles to a rabbit hunter. I never go without a couple on my boat and use them continuously especially when fishing in big, unfamiliar water.

DEAR TOM: What are these "green trout" I keep hearing about in Alabama?—Hatch Matcher

HEY HATCH: Although rainbow trout do live in mountainous streams in Alabama, those "green trout" you hear about actually are largemouth bass. That's what my grandpa, my daddy, and many oldtimers still call them. Bass can survive in water reaching temperatures of high 80's but trout don't do well over 72°.

Bear Hunting Deadline Nears For Application

Sportsmen who would like to hunt bear in Minnesota this fall must have their applications in by May 2, reminded the Department of Natural Resources.

A computerized drawing will select 3,550 applicants for the 1983 hunt, which will run from September 1 to October 16.

Preference will be given to applicants who have previously applied but were not selected. The driver's license number or identification number issued in lieu of a driver's license number by the Department of Public Safety is necessary for computerized identification.

Wildlife officials emphasized that without the inclusion of one or the other of these numbers the applicant will not receive preference in this year's drawing or drawings for future hunts.

Officials stressed, however, that even without the number, would-be bear hunters are still eligible for the drawing this year.

Public Safety ID number must be applied for and there is a waiting period before it is issued. This means prospective hunters who intend to use the ID number on their drawing application should apply for one as soon as possible.

Hunters who wish to hunt as a party must place their applications together in one envelope and it will be treated as one application in the drawing. That is, all will be selected or none will be selected. No more than four persons may apply in any one party.

Application forms and other details on the drawing and the hunt are available at hunting and fishing license agents.

Cost of a bear hunting license is $15 for residents and $100 for non-residents plus a 75-cent issuing fee.

Officials said the estimated bear population has increased allowing an increase in the number of hunting permits over last year. The season is also being opened earlier this year to improve opportunities for taking nuisance bears causing property damage.

Hunters will be allowed to use firearms or bow and arrow.

Outward Bound Planning For Summer Camps

Midwest's only outword bound school, Minnesota Outward Bound, has released its summer schedule for youth 14 years of age and older. Leadership courses two or three weeks in length are available from May through September. Parents who are interested in improving their children's self-confidence, enhancing their social skills, focusing their personal goals, or diverting them from the unproductive paths should know that outward bound has provided positive programs for youth for more than 40 years.

Primary activity at Minnesota outward bound is canoeing in the border lakes region of northern Minnesota and southern Canada. Participants meet in Duluth or International Falls, where they are organized in groups of eight to 12, each group headed by two well-trained and highly-qualified outward bound instructors. Outward bound provides all necessary equipment and provisions. Always emphasizing safety, instructors lead their groups through a series of carefully planned activities, including first-aid training, canoeing, camping, rock climbing and wilderness travel. Participants learn through these activities to take responsibility for their own actions and to work effectively with others.

"As a non-profit organization, we've come through the recession quite well," says Marketing Director Ben Wright, "largely, I believe, because we focus our efforts on providing a personal growth experience that is meaningful, long-lasting, fun and difficult to find anywhere else. Parents appreciate the healthy alternative that outward bound offers to young people in these challenging times."

For more information about its summer programs for youth, write or call: Minnesota Outward Bound School, P.O. Box 250, Dept. P, Long Lake, MN 55356 or call (612) 473-5476.

Wildlife Group Holds Contest For Youngsters

More than 100 children from 35 states, Canada and the Netherlands have been named winners in a contest sponsored by Ranger Rick magazine to invent a catchy slogan about saving energy.

Those slogans were designed on either a button or a bumper sticker by more than 9,000 children from all over the world who entered this year's annual contest.

Winners were announced in the April edition of Ranger Rick, the monthly children's magazine published by the National Wildlife Federation.

First prize winner was Kae O'Neal, 9, of Orlando, Fla., who used a baby's footprint on her eye-catching bumper sticker that read: Use Foot Power. Her entry won her a trip to a wildlife camp in North Carolina.

Second prize winner was Jessica Graham, 11, of Cleveland, Ohio, who designed a sunny slogan for a button that read: Let The Sun Be Your Socket. She won a 35 mm camera.

Winning binoculars as third prize winners were Karen Howell, 10, of The Hague, Netherlands, and Shawn Novacek, 11, of Primrose, Neb.

Among the fourth prize winners presented with Ranger Rick duffle bags were Tim Baumgart, 12, of Cottage Grove, Minn. and Shara Bautz, 8, of Crosby, N.D.

Five Minnesotans were among the large list of fifth prize winners earning bald eagle jigsaw puzzles, including Scott Anderson, 13, of Hallock; Emily Camp, 11, Cottage Grove, Patrick Curley, 12, Eagan; Christine Larkin, 10, Anoka; and Keith Niedfeldt, 5, Kasson.

UMC Clinic For Basketball Set June 13-17

A basketball clinic sponsored by the University of Minnesota-Crookston (UMC) for boys and girls who will be in grades four through ten next year will be June 13-17 at the UMC Sports Center.

Grades four through seven will meet each day from 9 a.m. to 12 noon, and grades eight through ten will meet from 1 to 4:30 p.m.

Entry fee entitles each participant to a personal evaluation of skills and ability, five days of learning basketball fundamentals, participation in contests for awards, a UMC basketball clinic T-shirt, instructional movies in basketball, and most importantly, the opportunity to learn more about the game from experienced, qualified coaches, according to director Gary Senske, head basketball coach at UMC.

Girls' coordinator is Harlen Stahlecker, and boys' coordinator is Herb Hasz, Crookston Central high school coaches.

Registration is open to all individuals who will be in grades four through ten in the fall of 1983. The cost will be $30 for those in grades four through seven and $35 for grades eight through ten.

Registration forms may be obtained by contacting Gary Senske, Basketball Clinic Director, University of Minnesota, Crookston, MN 56716; telephone 281-6510, extension 417.

Public Notices

Card of Thanks

I feel greatly indebted to so many people during 41 days I was hospitalized at St. Luke's and Northwestern Hospitals. To Dr. Heinrichs and Dr. Crary, to the many nurses and to Pastor Amundson. A special thanks for the special care in the intensive care units, to my family and friends for gifts, cards, and good wishes that helped me so much to survive hard, difficult and painful days. Thank you all so very much and God bless you.

Delmar Hagen 1t30c

NOTICE

Badger school is accepting bids on school insurance. The insurance specifications can be picked up at the school office. Bids will be accepted up to May 6, 1983 at 4:00 p.m. The bid or bids will be awarded at the May 9, 1983 regular school board meeting. The board reserves the right to reject any or all bids or portions thereof.

Call Supt. Keith F. Kopphahn if more information is needed. 528-3201.

Card of Thanks

I'd like to thank Dr. Bray and all the nurses for the fine care given me while a patient at Northwestern Hospital. Also to Pastor Galland for his visits and prayers. Thanks to all who sent cards, gifts and to the many who visited me there. May God bless you all for your love and concern.

Mrs. Sheldon Mortrud 1t30p

Thank You

Special thanks to Dr. Garske and nurses for their special care; also to the Therapists for their excellent treatment. Also to friends and relatives for flowers, cards and prayer.

Petition of State of Minnesota, by Richard P. Braun, Its Commissioner of Transportation, for the Right to Make Minor Alterations or Changes in County Ditch No. 1 in Pennington County

Notice of Hearing

TO ALL PERSONS INTERESTED IN COUNTY Ditch No. 1 IN PENNINGTON COUNTY:

YOU, AND EACH OF YOU, WILL PLEASE TAKE NOTICE, that the State of Minnesota, by Richard P. Braun, its Commissioner of Transportation, has filed a Petition with the County Auditor of Pennington County, pursuant to Section 161.28 of Minnesota Statutes 1982, praying that he be allowed to make minor alterations or changes in County Ditch No. 1. That attached to said Petition now on file with the County Auditor are plan sheets showing said minor alterations or changes petitioned for. That the portion of said County Ditch No. 1 as now located which is proposed to be changed or altered is described as follows:

Approximate Present Location of a Portion of County Ditch No. 1 (RN)

Beginning at a point distant 50 feet north of the centerline of First Street in the City of Thief River Falls from a point distant 190 feet east of the intersection of the centerline of said First Street with the (LOR) centerline of T.H. 59; thence run in a general southerly direction and under T.H. 59 for approximately 600 feet and there terminating.

Arppoximate Proposed Location of a Portion of County Ditch No. 1 (RN)

Beginning at a point distant 30 feet north of the centerline of First Street in the City of Thief River Falls from a point distant 190 feet east of the intersection of the centerline of said First Street with the (LOR) centerline of T.H. 59; thence run in a general southerly direction and under T.H. 59 for approximately 600 feet and there terminating.

That said Petition alleges that it is advantageous and desirable in the construction and maintenance of Trunk Highway No. 59 that said minor alterations or changes be made, and that said minor alterations or changes petitioned for will not affect the functioning nor impair the efficiency of said Pennington County Ditch No. 1.

YOU WILL FURTHER TAKE NOTICE, that said Petition will be presented to the County Board of Pennington County, in the Court House in Thief River Falls, Minnesota, on the 10th day of May, 1983, at 2:00 o'clock P.M., at which time all persons interested in said ditch system may appear and be heard and present arguments for or against the granting of said Petition.

Commission On Farm Crisis Has Report Summary

(The following is a summary of "The Farm Financial Crisis: An Agenda for Action," a report of the governor's commission on the farm crisis, as prepared by the Minnesota agricultural statistics service.)

Many Minnesota farmers and ag-related businesses are hurting financially, with economic conditions unmatched since the Depression of the 1930's. The problems stem from low farm prices, devalued ag exports, weakening in the equity value of farmland and equipment, excessive interest rates, and a poor economy in general.

The governor's commission cited the following occurrences as evidence of the Minnesota farmer's economic plight:

(1) While the number of farm foreclosures is still relatively small, in 1982 they were two to five times higher than the rates of the 1970's.

(2) Farm bankruptcies in Minnesota are also up; 200 were filed in 1982 versus an annual average of 20-25 during the 1970's.

(3) The U.S. Farmers association reported approximately 2,400 farm sales advertised in the state during September-December, 1982.

(4) Farm loan delinquencies increased during 1982 and the status of some farm borrowers this year is not favorable. At the end of last year, Minnesota FmHA reported an overall delinquency rate of 24 per cent; by March 1, 1983, the delinquency rate had climbed to 52 per cent.

(5) Debt loads of Minnesota farms nearly doubled between 1978 and 1982.

(6) Average farmland values in Minnesota dropped 10 per cent from 1981 to 1982. The combined effect of lower land prices and inflation resulted in a "real" decline of 15 per cent.

(7) Agri-suppliers have experienced the "ripple effect" of the farm cost-price squeeze. Many cooperative-affiliated local suppliers are finding it increasingly difficult to service debt in their area. Liquidations or bankruptcies of such institutions is expected to increase.

Underlying all of this, the commission found a significant human stress factor which should not be discounted — uncertainty, tension, mistrust among those feeling financial pressures, which has led to family problems and conflicts between lenders and borrowers.

Conclusions reached by the commission were as follows:

(1) The avilability of money is not the problem. There is enough funding available to meet the capital operating needs of Minnesota farmers. The real problem is the reluctance of lenders to extend credit to borrowers because of their economic situation.

(2) The farm economy won't change much during 1983. Consequently, many farmers need immediate short-term assistance to "weather out" the current conditions.

(3) Because farm assets have been devalued since 1982, the adverse effect on the loan-to-asset ratio is making it very difficult for some producers to get operating credit.

(4) Traditional financing sources are adopting a more conservative approach in lending practices. As a result, FmHA estimates a 12 per cent increase in loan requests over 1982. Minnesota FmHA offices are understaffed to handle such an increase.

The commission concludes that the only long-term solution to improving the farm economy is a rebound in commodity prices. Without such price strength, the current farm depression will continue indefinitely. The bottom line is that farmers must be able to cover their costs and provide for their families. This is the only permanent solution to the state's farm financial crisis.

In the meantime, - the commission suggests the following:

(1) Make funds available to hire emergency clerks within FmHA so loan requests can be completed quickly;

(2) Establish an office of state farm finance ombudsman which would set up and provide for a state-wide system to provide financial advice for farmers and lenders;

(3) Immediately enact a state-guaranteed farm operating loan program.

(4) Enact a state-guaranteed forebearance loan program for farmers whose real estate mortgage or contract for deed loans are in default.

The commission has recommended that these proposals be enacted soon. If not enacted and if the income situation continues to deteriorate, it then recommends a real estate foreclosure moratorium be enacted in the fall. The commission also recommends that any proposed changes in the ag credit or homestead credit tax law provisions not place further burden upon farmers.

Midwest Co-op Annual Meet Elects Damm

Robert Damm, a dairy farmer from Medford, WI., was elected president of the Midwest Breeders cooperative board of directors in balloting held after the cooperative's annual meeting recently.

Damm succeeds Robert Thompson, a Clarks Grove farmer, who retired from the Midwest board after serving as president for the past eight years.

Thompson served on the Midwest board since its creation in 1967 and served on the board of one of Midwest's ancestors, Consolidated Breeders cooperative of Anoka from 1957 until 1967.

Midwest, an artificial insemination (AI) cattle breeding cooperative headquartered in Shawano, WI, held its 43rd annual meeting attended by 150 delegates and 93 alternates, plus numerous guests. The delegates were chosen in district meeting and represent 25,000 Midwest members in Wisconsin, Minnesota, Iowa, Upper Michigan, eastern Nebraska and northern Missouri.

The cooperative recognized its top 10 herd owners in the categories of milk and butterfat production. A total of 19 awards were given out, the highest number ever presented in the program's seven-year history.

The list of recipients included 13 dairy producers who were in the top 10 for the first time. Also for the first time a separate category for herds milking three times a day was created.

Winners are chosen in accord with their November 1982 Dairy Herd Improvement association (DHIA) records and their use of Midwest sires.

This year, it took a rolling herd average over 20,000 pounds of milk and 774 pounds of butterfat to qualify for the Midwest top 10 list.

The Best Graphite Rod Value in America — Smaller (yet strong) Rod Diameter For Incredible Sensitivity

Shakespeare

Your Choice
EACH

What does a Graphite Rod Do for the Fisherman?

It casts a lure farther. It casts more accurately because the rod is lighter and the lure travels farther.

Graphite rods provide a new dimension in sensitivity because in the past, the characteristic of a rod was limited to construction. Lower level vibrations can be perceived as well as greater distinction between types of vibrations. These two sensitivity factors result in feeling light "pick-ups" that can go unnoticed or in detecting those marginal hits that seem to be a weed or bottom condition.

Lightweight but top speed combine to make casting much easier. A decided advantage to the fisherman who is out there on the lake or stream all day and fishes continuously.

The stiffness of the rod allows for faster setting of the hook. This will put more fish on the stringer.

As stated by tournament fisherman, Ted Capra, "If you're jigging for walleye or using crankbaits for bass, the least little tap could be a bite. In a day's time a 100% graphite rod could mean an extra 3 or 4 fish which you might miss".

After fishing with a graphite rod, you'll never use anything else. The difference is like night and day.

The Question of High or Low

If you are going Bass fishing at your favorite lake when the water is high, fish high. Try surface plugs in flooded areas and over the grassy spots. When the lake level is low then fish low. Get down to 20 or 30 feet off rocky points and over submerged rock piles or sunken islands in the middle of the lake.

Minnesota
Lakes . . . and a whole lot more!

FREE STATE TRAVEL AND FISHING INFORMATION

ST. PAUL — The Minnesota Travel Information Center can help you plan your summer fishing vacation to the land of . . . sky blue waters . . . or is it the land of lakes . . . or didn't someone say recently, lakes and a whole lot more?

To help you pick your fishing spot in all this natural beauty, the travel information center can give you free literature on campground accommodations, public accesses, lakes, rivers and travel facilities.

For novice fishermen or someone unfamiliar with Minnesota's most popular lakes, Fishing in Minnesota explains what type of fish can be found in the state and generally when and where to find them. There are fishing tips and a section on fishing Lake Superior.

An order blank is available at the center for maps showing the location of public water access sites.

For this year's trip, you may want to look through the Canoeing, Hiking and Backpacking in Minnesota brochure, a comprehensive listing of rivers and trails in the state. Names, locations, descriptions and information sources are given for more than 3,000 miles of foot trails and over 35 canoeable rivers in Voyageurs, the state's only national park; two national forests, 64 state parks and 55 state forests.

For help in selecting your accommodations, several associations distribute their brochures at the Travel Center. Ask for the hotel and motel hotel, resort, or campground guide. These brochures give descriptions and reservation information to suit a variety of needs.

Ask for a state highway map too. It's all free for the asking. The State of Minnesota Travel Information Center is located in the St. Paul skyway system at 240-dd Bremer Building, 419 North Robert Street. Stop in Monday through Friday between 8 a.m. and 5 p.m. The center is a service of the Minnesota Tourism Division.

There's a browsing area where visitors can pick and choose the literature they want. If downtown St. Paul isn't convenient, requests can be called in toll-free on any weekday. In the Twin Cities, call 296-5029. In Minnesota, outside the Minneapolis/St. Paul metropolitan area, call 1-800-652-9747. Outside Minnesota — write: Minnesota Tourism Division — 240 Bremer Bldg., 419 No. Robert St., St. Paul, MN 55101.

When you make a request for information, be specific about your destination if you can. The Travel Information Center breaks up Minnesota into six tourism regions: Metroland (Twin Cities area); Hiawathaland (southeastern Minnesota); Arrowhead (northeastern Minnesota); and Heartland (which runs north to south through the upper central portion of the state). Each of these regions prepares a brochure of its own. In addition, cities and resort areas have their own publications that are free for the asking.

Which Color is Best?

Selecting the perfect color lure is not difficult, it is almost impossible! Artificial lures come in an array of colors that, let's just say leave little to the imagination.

Here are some basic suggestions for different species of fish.

WALLEYES:	1st	— Orange
	2nd	— Yellow
	3rd	— Black
NORTHERNS:	1st	— Red and White
	2nd	— Yellow and Red
	3rd	— Silver
BLUEGILLS:	1st	— Yellow
	2nd	— Black
CRAPPIES:	1st	— White
	2nd	— Gray or Black
BASS:	1st	— White
	2nd	— Fluorescents

A good rule of thumb when selecting colors is on bright days use bright colors, dark days, dark colors.

Springtime Walleye Action

While the vast majority of fishermen take to trolling, when it comes to walleye fishing, the fact is that particularly during the spring, casting can be far more effective.

On opening weekend, those walleyes for the most part are in extremely shallow water, about two to four feet. It won't take many passes over the top of those fish with a boat and motor and those fish will be gone like a shot.

Casting for walleyes is done primarily with a jig and swimming minnow combination. Select a ⅜ oz. jig head with virtually no feathers or body, just a bare hook. Carefully thread the minnow through the mouth, out the gills and then turn the hook and hook the bait through the belly portion and out of the back. (See illustration). This system will not only keep your minnow attached to the jig while you cast, but will more importantly give your bait a very effective up/down action as you make the retrieve. Allow the jig to sink to the bottom and bring it back very slowly. Remember it is almost impossible to use too slow of a retrieve especially early in the season. Every three to five feet use a very slight upward action on the rod which will cause the jig to move upward and then back down.

In selecting a rod and reel for this type of fishing, a spinning rod six to six and a half feet is ideal. Use the reel of your choice equipped with six to eight pound monofilament. Walleyes in shallow water can be tough to catch, but a simple cast often times turns the odds in your favor.

Avoiding the Catfish Sting

Contrary to popular belief, the whiskers, or barbels of a catfish do not have the ability to sting. Those whiskers are highly sensitized scent organs that enable the catfish to find food.

The sting comes from the front spine on the dorsal and pectoral fins. To hold a catfish while removing the hook, just flatten the dorsal fin with the palm of your hand and grasp with your thumb and finger behind the pectoral fin on both sides of the fish.

Fishing Slow? Try the Night Shift

When those mid-summer dog days arrive; when your favorite fishing lake is teeming with pleasure boats; water skiers are plowing up the surface and the fish seem too lazy to bite; that's the time to start working the night shift. Rest up under the air conditioner during the heat and activity of the day and go fishing after sunset.

Many game fish are fundamentally night feeders and usually become even more so during hot weather periods of the year. Daylight hours are uncomfortable. Walleyes will seek deeper, cooler water while Bass and Northern usually retreat to heavy cover, where they are extremely hard to reach with lures and baits. After dark, the fish venture out to the edges of their cover and move up to shallower water to feed. They are hungry and are much more active.

The walleye is a good example of a night feeder and your chances of hanging into the larger bass are much better at night.

Work the edge of weed beds and along the steep drop-offs when night fishing. These are prime spots after dark. If you are fishing an unfamiliar lake, scout the lake during the day to locate likely spots. They will be most difficult to find at night, although a fish locater can be a real asset.

For Walleyes, use much the same lures as you would in the daytime. Crank baits are good along drop-offs and over rocky points. For Bass, spinner baits are usually effective along the edges of sunken weed beds. Surface plugs are also good for fishing over underwater weed beds.

All told, night fishing will be more productive and you may enjoy a feeling of solitude that in itself can be a new experience.

Try Something New

If you have never float fished a river, you really should try it.

There are countless miles of good fishing rivers in the upper midwest and in fact, all over the U.S. from trout streams of the north to bass infested bayous of the deep south. In between are those intermediate size streams that hold every species of fish imaginable.

It is most important to plan your trip. If you are unfamiliar with a stream, contact your state fish and game department. Most states have maps of rivers showing such problems as rapids, falls, dams, etc. All things you should know in advance.

For what it's worth, old timers claim that a float trip down the Chippewa river from Eau Claire to the Mississippi river is one of the most productive fishing expeditions you could make.

By Sight or By Sound That is the Question

A good rule-of-thumb for fishing artificials is to reel your lure up to the tip of your rod and stick your rod straight down into the water. If you can still see the lure at the length of your rod, then use lures that attract the fish by sight, such as minnow-type Rapalas, Shads, etc. If the water is not clear and you are not able to see your lure below a foot, then use lures that attract by sound — rather than sight. The fish cannot see the lure any better than you can, so dig out the noisy lures for better results.

Fish "Mouth to Mouth"

By releasing fish alive, we guarantee the future of good angling. In releasing a played-out fish, hold by tail and move gently back and forth to force water through the gills. When strong enough, the fish will swim away under its own power.

Great Lakes Coming Back

Originally estimated to take hundreds of years to be cleansed of excess nutrients that were devastating fish life, the Great Lakes are rapidly returning to their former state.

With the restrictions, by both the U.S. and Canada, placed upon the dumping of contaminants into the lakes, along with better management of these prime fishing waters, biologists are now predicting a natural purging of the Great Lakes is expected within 2 or 3 decades.

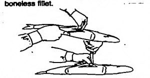
No Bones About These Northern Fillets

Northern Pike taste great, but everyone hates all those pesky bones. Here is a simple and quick method of filleting.

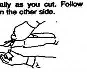
1. Lay fish belly down and hold by the head — cut down just back of the head until you hit the backbone. Turn the knife and slice along the top of the backbone all the way to the top fin by the tail. Turn the knife up and cut off the boneless fillet.



2. Lay the fish on it's side and make a quarter inch cut on the outside edge of the "Y" bones cutting toward the rear of the fish to the point where the first piece was cut off.

3. To start the side meat fillet cut down to the spine just back of the head.

4. Continue to cut lengthwise along the outside edge of the "Y" bones. Lift the flap of meat gradually as you cut. Follow same procedure on the other side.



5. To finish filleting, lay the fish on its side and remove meat from each side that remains from the dorsal fin to the tail. There are no "Y" bones in this area.

6. All that is left to do is skin the fillets. Do not cut extremely close to the skin, and slice out the red blotches that appears just under the skin. This removes strong oils and that "fishy" taste.

All Twisted Up?

While out fishing, any make of line can fall victim to line twisting and can cause lots of frustration. To un-twist your line, simply remove all lures, sinkers and swivels you may have at the end of your line and drag it behind your boat while you let out the portion of line which is twisting up on you. After only a minute of trolling with nothing on your line, simply reel in the line and get back to fishing!

For Walleyes, Backwards is Best

There are a number of things that separate a "good" walleye fisherman from one less successful. Lure selection, color, knowledge of the lake structure, and Lady Luck are some of the reasons only a small percentage of fisherman catch the majority of the fish.

When it comes to fishing for walleyes, boat control is one of, if not the most important, single aspect to filling your stringer.

It is one thing to locate a good school of fish on an underground island or point, but another to keep your boat in good position in order to effectively seduce Mr. Walleye.

Not too many years ago the term, "backtrolling" became common in the vocabulary of serious walleye fishermen. While it is uncertain just who started and perfected backtrolling, the best bet seems to be Marv Koep and the original group of guys that made up the Nisswa Guides League. While some of the old timers like Harry Van Dorn had been backtrolling for years, this was the first time it was given a name.

The term backtrolling means nothing more than operating the boat with a gas or electric motor — backwards.

Once you have found the depth the walleyes are using, the secret becomes speed and position of the boat. Operating from the rear of the boat in a reverse direction has several advantages: 1) You are able to troll at a slower speed. For the most part, walleyes are lazy, and when it comes to trolling, the slower the better. 2) Directional control. Response time from actually turning the motor and having the boat follow is much greater than trolling in a forward direction.

While backtrolling can be easily executed with most any fishing boat, splash guards which deflect the water away from the transom are considered a necessity if you're going to stay dry.

Like anything else, backtrolling takes a little practice, but the time is well spent if you want to catch fish.

"Fill Your Reel"

To get the most distance while casting, a common problem is the amount of line you may have on your reel. This is especially true with the spin-cast type of reels where the loss of only 10 yards of line will make your casting noticeably shorter. Keep your reels filled to about ⅛ of an inch from the outside edge of the spool for best results in casting and retrieving your lures.

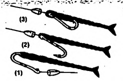
Rigging a Plastic Worm

If fished properly — slow and enticingly — the plastic worm is a real bass killer. With the famous "Texas Rig" you can work all types of cover with an almost 100% weedless lure. Snake it through weeds, over and around brush and logs, and along any form of bottom.



To tie on a "Texas Rig", string a bullet sinker on your line with the tapered end toward the rod; then (1) work a worm hook — with the offset shank — through the head of the plastic worm and out again on the side. (2) Rotate the hook shank so you can (3) reinsert the point into, but not through, the worm's body.

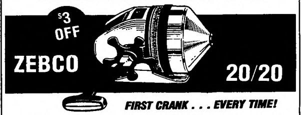
50,000 CASTS AND THE PICKUP SYSTEM NEVER MISSED THE LINE!



FIRST CRANK . . . EVERY TIME!

The 20/20's roller pickup arm and ceramic pickup pin tracked the line, with a specially designed and patented groove in the reel cover, back onto the spool. Of course, most people who pick up a 20/20 never get past being amazed at how it seems to become part of the hand. Its shape is something new, too. A shape designed with one thing in mind. The hands of a fisherman. And, as easy as 20/20 is to handle, it's got that much control too. It casts whisper quiet. As smooth as it looks. And Zebco's exclusive Straightline™ drag system responds without as much as a blink of hesitation.

Adding Sinkers

Small split shot sinkers are often used to help keep your baits down to where the fish are. For best results, it is often to only attach the sinkers by pinching it to your line finger tight so as not to damage your monofilament line and place them at least a foot above the hook and not all in one big glob. For best results, try to space them about an inch apart.

Monofilament Knot Strength

If you've been losing fish due to breaks in the knot, you can use a simple test to check your line's knot strength.

Tie an overhand knot in the line of foot or two from the terminal end. Wrap the line around your hands on both sides of the knot and exert a steady pull. If the line breaks, move up a yard and try again. Unusual abrasion or general line wear may have weakened the leading section of the line. When you reach the point where no further breaks occur, cut off the weak section and check to be sure the existing line still fills the reel properly. Better wear gloves when making this test. Monofilament can cut your hands under this sort of pressure.

Electric Fishing Motors Are Fisherman's "Silent Partner"

Imagine you've drifted onto a hot fishing bed. You've had a couple of good strikes, but the current keeps pulling you downstream. Frustrating? You bet. Now imagine that instead of cranking up your big outboard to get back upstream, you simply turn a switch. All you hear is the click of the speed control, and you glide back into position. Silently. Without spooking fish.

That's one big reason why fisherman all across the country are saying that if you fish from a boat, you should be using an electric fishing motor.

Electric motors allow fishermen to move their boats effortlessly from one location to another. Without moving fish. Use your heavy outboard to get you to your location, then let the electric outboard take you to where the fish are. Troll, work a shoreline, or hold your position in strong crosswinds and choppy water. Variable speed control allows you to master any situation, whether it's navigating strong river currents or gliding from one fishing bed to another.

Fitting the right electric fishing motor to your boat is important. Although electric motors are rated by "thrust", not "horsepower", a simple system matches the weight of your boat to the minimum electric motor thrust range. This system (see chart) serves as an easy first-time guide for potential electric motor buyers. A boat weighing 400 pounds, for example, demands an electric motor with at least 6-9 pounds of thrust. A boat weighing 1400 pounds, on the other hand, requires 15-18 pounds of thrust or more to assure easy handling.

250 YARD SPOOLS 3.99 Reg. 4.99

Of course the lure or bait catches the fish but once you have one hooked, the only link between you and the fish is the line you are using. Think of the frustration you would experience if you lost that trophy fish because your line broke.

Many things should be considered when selecting the proper line for your type of fishing. Take into account the diameter, the stretch factor, the overall strength, knot strength, resistance to wear, castability and color.

Although there are several monofilament lines on the market, only a couple are really premium lines. Namely Trilene and Stren. For the choice between these two compare the manufacturer's specifications and choose the best suited for conditions under which you fish.

Check especially the stretch. Too much stretch can make the difference in a well set hook and no set at all. Knot strength can be more important than over all strength. The line is only as strong as the knot. Prove it to yourself. Just tie a simple overhand knot in a piece of ordinary 10-pound test nylon monofilament and pull. The line will probably break without much strain. Although many fishermen prefer a certain knot of their choice, the favorite knots of professionals seem to be the improved clinch and Palomar knots.

Performance levels of monofilament may vary a good deal. This is especially true of line constructed of a blended nylon (alloy) chemistry. The better lines are made from the homopolymer chemistry.

For castability, the softer the line the better the line will handle on your reel.

Choose either a clear or visible line, depending on clarity of water or if you like to watch the line for strikes. In ultra clear water, a clear line usually is best.

Fishing Headaches?

While spending a day out on the water many people experience severe headaches towards the end of the day. These headaches are often caused by eye strain as the sun reflects off the water. It is best advised to wear polarized sunglass to cut through the harmful glare and prevent headaches.

Soak Your Line

For less tangles and better casting distance, it is not a bad idea to soak your spools of line the night before you plan on doing some fishing. With many of the reels today it is a simple matter to pop off the spool and soak it in a glass of water before you head to your favorite fishing hole. The line absorbs the water and will become limper and easier to work with.

SOME FAVORITE and TRUSTED KNOTS

Trilene® Knot

1. Run end of line through eye of hook or lure and double back through the eye a second time.
2. Loop around standing part of line 5 or 6 times.
3. Thread tag end back between the eye and the coils as shown.
4. Pull up tight and trim tag end.

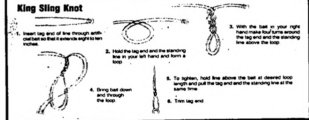
Palomar Knot

1. Double the line and form a loop three to four inches long. Pass the end of the loop through hook's eye.
2. Holding standing line between thumb and finger, grasp loop with free hand and form a simple overhand knot.
3. Pass hook through loop and draw line while guiding loop over top of eyelet.
4. Pull tag end of line to tighten knot snugly and trim tag end to about ⅛".

Improved Blood Knot

1. Overlap the ends of your two strands that are to be joined and twist them together about 10 turns.
2. Separate one of the center twists and thrust the two ends through the space as illustrated
3. Pull knot together and trim off the short ends.

King Sling Knot



1. Insert tag end of line through artificial bait so that it extends eight to ten inches.
2. Hold the tag end and the standing line in your left hand and form a loop.
3. With the bait in your right hand make four turns around the tag end and the standing line above the loop.
4. Bring bait down and through the loop.
5. To tighten, hold line above the bait at desired loop length and pull the tag end and the standing line at the same time.
6. Trim tag end

Bobbers are Back

Not too many years ago there was a comeback of one of, if not the most basic of tools ever used to catch a fish — the bobber. While no one knows for sure just where the "comeback" began, a good guess would be Lake Mile Lacs in central Minnesota. Fishermen had become smarter than their predecessors with the advent of backtrolling, structure, slip sinkers, and of course, that little green box called a locator.

With all the fancy stuff set aside, someone decided to go back in time and try fishing with a simple leech attached to a bare hook supported a foot or so off the bottom with an old fashioned plastic bobber. The tactic was simple. Everyone knew that once the sun had set the walleyes would move up on the many shallow bars and reefs during the night time hours. The first of Mille Lacs night fishermen did the trick casting up onto those reefs with lures such as count down Rapalas and they did indeed catch fish. Not only were limits more plentiful, the fish that were caught were just plain bigger than those taken with more conventional methods during the daylight hours.

Before long the number of boats grew and grew, then grew some more and before long about the only thing you were going to catch casting in the dark was fishing line that didn't belong to you but rather the four or five guys on either side of you.

The time was right, bring on the bobbers! The idea was simple — find the bottom, come up about a foot and let the bait do the rest.The old fashioned bobber was all you needed and the results were spectacular. Another great plus of bobber fishing was the fact that boats could be anchored rather than be driven across the shallow reefs spooking every single walleye within two hundred yards.

The only problem was casting or getting the rig into the water. Trying to cast a leech with a bare hook and sinker hanging six feet from the end of the rod in the dark without hooking your partner in the other end of the boat was a challenge.

A little ingenuity, a couple of simple modifications and the modern day slip bobber became a reality. The slip bobber was designed so that the line would freely pass through the bobber allowing the angler to take the bait all the way up to the tip of the rod. A small stopper device attached to the line did the trick guaranteeing exact depth and making night fishing a lot safer.

The old fashioned bobber would get yet another taste of modern technology. The only problem with night fishing, bobber style, was trying to see the stupid thing. Before long a tiny nickle cadmium battery had been inserted inside the bobber with a small light — you guessed it, they work like a charm.

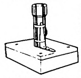
Mark Your Spots in the Dark

Staying close to a fishing hot spot in the dark can be a real problem. Here is a handy gadget you can build at home that makes night fishing easy.



Start out with a piece of styrofoam approximately 14 inches square by three inches thick. Next, cut a piece of one-half inch plywood of the same size. Drill four holes through the plywood and foam and attach the two with nuts and bolts. You can also glue the two pieces together, if you choose. Next, attach an L-shaped shelf bracket to the plywood so that the upright portion of the bracket is in the center of the board.

When the bracket is attached securely, tape a flashlight with a red reflector around the top of the light. Finally secure an anchor line with a fairly heavy weight (at least three ounces) to the base of the plywood.

As you can imagine you now have a light with which to mark your favorite fishing spot. If you choose, two sets can be used to ideally make a line to troll your favorite reef, just as you would use simple flat markers during the day.

Tip For Tough Days

When fishing action slows or even stops for almost any kind of fish, it is often a good idea to reduce the size of baits you have been using. A finicky fish is often not willing to grab a big meal, but a smaller bite size treat is often what will get his attention.

End Flying Scales

One tip that might come in handy if you don't like to see scales flying all around the house when you're cleaning sunfish and crapple is to scrap off the scales while the fish are submerged under water in the sink!

Where oh Where are the Fish!

It's hot! The sun is blazing, it's July or August. That doesn't keep you from fishing, but you're having a tough time finding them. All your fishing logic tells you to locate the deep holes because that is where the big fish are sure to be "holed-up". So you find the holes and all you can entice from them are undersized walleyes and maybe a perch or two. So you take off for another deep hole you know of. On the way you suddenly cut the motor to avoid that rocky reef that lies just below the surface. Stop right there! Don't go over or around that reef. It is a good possibility there are some very large fish right on top of those rocks.

You tell yourself that no fish is so dumb as to be lying around in a foot or two of water when it is 100° in the shade. There is an answer. The fish aren't dumb, they are hungry! FOOD! That's the answer. Those rocks are loaded with crayfish, schools of small minnows and all sorts of fish tid-bits. This smorgasbord attracts big fish that have one thing in mind. They want to eat!

Look for rocky, wind-washed reefs that drop-off immediately to deep water. Those big fish aren't dumb either, they want a quick retreat to deep water available.

Since the whole fish world is a matter of survival, that is why you probably found the little ones in the deep holes. They did not want to be mistaken as part of the smorgasbord themselves.

So don't pass up those reefs — just make a few passes at them. Maybe it will be your day on a hot summer day.

All Wet?

Spending a day out on the water without your raingear can be a chilling experience. The wind can often make waves worse than any rain storm. It is a good idea to pack your raingear along even though the sun is shining on shore. Rain gear can always come in handy to keep you warmer and drier while you're out fishing.

STEARNS SURVIVAL WEAR

Life jackets with a conscience. Every Stearns Personal Flotation Device is U.S. Coast Guard approved to assure you that each PFD meets or exceeds these safety standards. Your Personal Flotation Device is for Your Safe Survival!

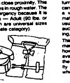
THERE ARE 5 TYPES OF LIFE SAVING DEVICES!

TYPE I
A type I PFD (Personal Flotation Device) has the greatest required buoyancy and is designed to turn most unconscious persons in the water from a face down position to a vertical and slightly backward position and to maintain the person in the vertical and slightly backward position and, therefore, greatly increase his or her chances of survival. The Type I PFD is suitable for all waters, especially for cruising on waters where there is a probability of delayed rescue, such as large bodies of water where it is not likely that a significant number of boats will be in close proximity. This type PFD is the most effective of all the types in rough water. The TYPE I PFD is easiest to don in any emergency because it is reversible and available in only two sizes — Adult (90 lbs. or more) and child (less than 90 lbs.) which are universal sizes (designed to fit all persons in the appropriate category).



TYPE II
A Type II PFD is designed to turn the wearer to a vertical and slightly backward position in the water. The turning action is not as pronounced as with a Type I and the device will not turn as many persons under the same conditions as the Type I. The Type II PFD is usually more comfortable than the Type I. This type PFD is normally sized for ease of emergency donning and is available in the following sizes: Adult (more than 90 lb.) — Medium Child (50 to 90 lb.) and two categories of Small Child (less than 50 lb. or less than 30 lb.). Additionally, some models are sized by chest sizes. You may prefer to use the Type II where there is a probability of quick rescue such as areas where it is common for other persons to be boating, fishing, swimming and other water activities.

TYPE III
The Type III PFD is designed so that the wearer can place himself or herself in a vertical and slightly backward position, and the device will maintain the wearer in that position and have no tendency to turn the wearer face down. A Type III can be the most comfortable, comes in a variety of styles which should be matched to the individual use, and is usually the best choice for water sports, such as skiing, hunting, fishing, canoeing, and kayaking.

This type PFD normally comes in many chest sizes and weight ranges; however, some universal sizes are available. You may also prefer to use the Type III where there is a probability of quick rescue such as areas where it is common for other persons to be engaged in boating, fishing, and other water activities.

TYPE IV
A Type IV PFD is designed to be grasped and held by the user until rescued as well as to be thrown to a person who has fallen overboard. While the Type IV is acceptable in place of a wearable device in certain instances, this type is suitable only where there is a probability of quick rescue such as areas where it is common for other persons to be engaged in boating, fishing and other water activities. It is not recommended for non-swimmers or children.

TYPE V
Type V PFD is a PFD approved for restricted uses. No Type V PFD is currently approved for use on recreational boats.

YOUR PERSONAL FLOTATION DEVICE
You are required by Federal Regulations to have at least one Coast Guard approved Personal Flotation Device (PFD) for each person in your recreational boat unless all your PFD's are in serviceable condition, are readily accessible, are legibly marked with the Coast Guard approval number and are of an appropriate size (within the weight range and chest sizes marked on the PFD) for each person onboard

Filling the Basic Tackle Box

Trying to put together the perfect tackle box can be as complicated as trying to work a Rubic's cube blindfolded. Fishing tackle today is as varied and broad as the population of black flies in mid-June. There are however some basics to go by.

Spoons

Some things just never become obsolete and the old fashioned red and white Daredevils are a must in any fisherman's tackle box. The ⅝ oz. Daredevil is one of those lures that just keeps on catching fish year after year. While most often used for northerns, spoons are ideal for lake trout, smallmouth, largemouth, and even an occasional walleye. Other good choices as to color would be the five of diamonds (red diamond pattern over yellow), a solid silver, and black and white.

Jigs

Probably the simplest of all the artificials, the lead head jig is another sure fire bet when it comes to fish catching. ⅛ and ¼ oz. sizes are most common and basic colors are white, yellow, orange, green, and black.

Crank Baits

Floaters such as the floating Rapala, the Little N, and of course, the old Arbogast Jitterbug are all good choices. Another great choice is the Zara Spook from Heddon. Intermediates running anywhere from six to twelve feet when retrieved such as the Rapala Count Down, the Rebel, and Thin Fin

Divers, such as the Hell Bender or Whopper Stopper will do the trick on those days when the fish just don't want to leave the bottom.

Live Bait Rigs

There is no single item in your tackle box that is more versatile, regardless of the species you're after, than the live bait or Lindy rig. The live bait rig consists of nothing more than a hook, a swivel, and a slip sinker. The secret is to make sure you have a selection of sinkers from $^1/_{16}$ to ½ oz.

Needle nose pliers. Here is a tool that not only works like a charm to take hooks out of a big fish, but repairs reels, motors, and who knows what else.

Extra line. More than one good day's fishing has been ruined because of a shortage of line. A extra spool of medium weight line six or eight pound test is perfect.

Small screwdriver. Sooner or later you'll be glad you have it.

Insect repellent. Just as the fish start to bite, so do the mosquitoes. Make sure when selecting insect repellent that it is packaged in such a way that it won't leak.

A compass. Sure it's easy to find your way home, but get out in the fog someday and that compass just might save your life.

Sinkers. While they aren't very fancy, there are literally hundreds of tricks that can be done with a selection of sinkers.

Stringer. While there are any number of stringers on the market, the old fashioned rope type is still the first choice.

Wire leaders. When fishing for northerns, leaders are a must. However, you'll seldom have use for anything over eight inches.

A small dispenser of reel oil.

A good fillet knife. It's also a good idea to have some kind of sharpening tool. The crock stick type sharpener works like a charm.

A small bar of soap. A good fisherman will tell you that fish have a keen sense of smell. Change gas tanks, work on your outboard, and your hands are covered with gasoline or oil residue. A small bar of soap does the trick when it comes to removing unwanted materials from your hands.

Bobbers. Choose a selection of both slip type or casting bobbers as well as the old fashioned snap on style.

Longer Life For Reels

Many of the fishing reels on the market today are built better than ever before, but simply not taking the time to watch where you lay your outfit could ruin even the most expensive equipment. NEVER lay your reels flat on the ground or placed under-water. Both will cause unwanted grit to get into the reel that will wear down the gears & quickly hamper your reels performance & life.

No Boat? Try Walking

Maybe you cannot "walk on water" but a lot of fish are pulled out of the Great Lakes by "walking the shore". Fishing from shore, from piers, rocks or breakwater structures as well as mouths of streams entering the lakes.

Use a longer, more sensitive rod and a reel with large line capacity. Try salmon or trout spawn strung on the hook or tied in spawn bags. Use a slip sinker and some floating device to keep the spawn off the bottom such as miniature marshmallows. For artificials, try small spoons, spinner baits, and plugs like the Rapala — both floaters and count-down models.

Shore fishing can sometimes produce on inland lakes as well. Try this method for large-mouth bass. When the wind is blowing fairly strong directly into a rocky point, beach the boat and fish the point from shore. Cast directly into the wind and retrieve straight into the point. Under these conditions, bass are often lying right off the point feeding on food being carried to them by the wind. Fishing with the wind presents your bait in a natural way — "Borne on the wind" so to speak. In addition to spoons, try minnow imitating plugs.

It Ain't Easy — But It's Fun

In practically all lakes, the bottom is a very interesting landscape. Much like the surrounding land it has hills, hollows, straight drop-offs, gradual drop-offs, creek channels, long narrow points, flat areas — you name it. Study this surrounding land area and try to imagine what the continuation of the contour extending on into the water will look like. For instance if there is a bluff or a high bank at water's edge, it is almost a certainty that the bluff will continue on down below the surface of the water. The same applies to a long narrow point of land. That point does not stop when it reaches the water — it continues on out into the lake.

The secret to finding fish is to locate the irregular contours of the lake bottom because under most conditions, that is where fish live. Why? Because here is where cover and food is found — both essential to fish life.

If you are fishing a larger lake, you can usually obtain a contour map and when used with a depth finder, you can pin-point exact spots. If, at times, you like to try out those smaller "sleeper" lakes, forgetting all the technology, and just enjoy the sport of trying to outwit the fish and mother nature too, then take a "fun" trip. Read the land, tie a heavy weight on a line for finding holes and humps in the lake and map the bottom yourself. You probably will not catch as many fish, but the ones you do catch can sure bolster your ego.

Fish Stringer Tips

When using a fish stringer to hold your catch, it is best advised to thread the stringer through BOTH the lower and upper lips of your fish. NEVER thread the stringer through their gills and out the mouth for he will die quickly when you damage his gills in any way. Don't thread the stringer through only his bottom jaw, because while trolling you will force water into his mouth and he will actually drown!!

Smallmouth — Often Ignored

Set the hooks into a four pound smallmouth and you'll think you've hooked into old Moby Dick himself. Pound for pound there just isn't a harder fighting fish than the smallmouth. But how do you go about being a good smallmouth fisherman?

Like most other species of fish, the main secret to catching smallmouth is habitat. For the most part smallmouth bass never travel very far. Odds are that they will spend their entire lives in a reasonably small area of the lake.

Smallmouth bass will very seldom be caught in more than 20 feet or water. For the most part you'll be better off staying anywhere from right next to the shoreline to within seven to ten feet of water.

Ideal smallmouth country: Local bays, lake sections with bunches of small or submerged islands, and gradually dropping shorelines with softball size rocks. Bays seem to afford protection out of the wind but remember a shallow muddy bay won't do the job. Odds are that you will find the bays more productive early in the year rather than mid-summer. A good, hard bottom with a variety of rock structure will be far more productive. Islands, on the other hand, seem to hold smallmouth all year long. If you find an area of a lake that has several islands situated in the same basic area, odds are you're not too far from some great smallmouth fishing.

Early Season or Pre-Spawn Smallmouth

If you're fishing the first few weeks of the season, chances are that the smallmouth will not have even started to spawn. The water temperature must reach and stay at approximately 56 degrees for the spawning ritual to begin. Don't be fooled by a sudden warming in the weather. The water temperature will gradually have to increase in order for Mrs. Smallmouth to do her thing.

For the most part, spawning will not take place until mid or late June. While it can be tougher to catch smallmouth earlier in the year, it can be done. If you're after pre-spawn fish, a real early season secret is to check out running water. Find a river with reasonable current coming into a lake and you'll probably find smallmouth. Another good early area are those spots between two different lakes because the narrow structure causes a current between the lakes. Moving water means smallmouth; especially in the spring.

Another secret to early smallmouth fishing is bait. While you will find casting to be your best choice later in the year, the leech and plain hook does a great job on early season fish. A simple lindy rig or for that matter, a bare hook and sinker slowly trolled over the rocks with a leech would be your first choice for spring time action. Once again, remember, habitat. Your best results will be from three to ten feet of water and rocky shorelines with gravel or varied sized rock bottoms.

When fishing artificials for smallies, a good rule of thumb is to stay small. Spinner baits as well as jigs can be very effective in the ⅛ or ¼ oz. sizes. Try tipping your favorite jig with a small piece of nightcrawler. While crawlers usually aren't a great choice when used in the conventional method, pieces of crawlers used to tip a jig can be very effective.

If most good smallmouth fishermen were to have just one choice of artificials, that choice would have to be the crank bait. Once again the smaller sizes from ¼ to ½ oz. will be most productive. The Rapala, Rebel, and Little-N are all good choices. Remember smallmouth love crawfish and the darker color selection, especially brown will be most productive.

When casting a good looking shoreline, it's a good idea to cast ahead of the boat making your retrieve at an angle from the shore rather than straight toward the shore. You will have less chance of spooking the fish and at the same time be able to cover more of the actual shoreline area with each cast.

A Man With a Vision for Kids

Steve Lund had that vision and built America's only professionally staffed fishing school for kids. And because Steve Lund was so committed to his vision, Camp Fish was born and stands second to none as every kid's dream come true.

Where else could a young boy spend several days learning the secrets of fishing from a championship fisherman? Where else does a 14-year old girl learn the savvy it takes to land a muskie? This is not fantasy land but adventureland. Kids learn to cast better, which lures to use for which fish, which to use at certain times of day, how to use locators, which foods certain fish eat, structure fishing, ecology and the relationship of man and nature.

Camp Fish practices, teaches and promotes "Fish and Release". Unless a fish is to be mounted, all are returned to the water.

Lund's deep-seated caring for children and for nature led to the development of Camp Fish. After climbing the corporate ladder, Lund felt the man he was becoming was not too rewarding. He quit and turned to his hobby of making fishing lures. He founded the successful Lund Lure Company. But something still bothered Lund. He felt young people needed more attention. TV, too-busy parents, disrupted families, urban blight and all the problems of kids in modern society combined to inspire Lund to create Camp Fish. A fishing camp for kids. It took a lot of work, a lot of frustration, considerable sacrifice and a lot of faith, but Steve Lund finally put it all together. He found the right location. Leech Lake in Minnesota. Lund sold his business, bought a disbanded exclusive girl's camp, moved his family and spent months renovating buildings, recruiting professional fishermen, hired counselors and finally, with the opening of fishing season, opened the doors to Camp Fish.

The camp staff now includes Coast Guard approved guides, water safety instructors, biologists, a nurse, professional fishermen, and even a professional chef. Every staff member was hand picked. Each must care about children, have lots of patience and believe in Camp Fish goals.

Although classes and evening seminars cover all the basics, the program features lots of open-water fishing so that youngsters can apply what they've learned. Lund's program is so comprehensive that a person completing all phases would be fully qualified to work as a professional fishing guide.

It's not just for kids, either. It's a father and child experience that can cement a lifetime relationship that is unsurpassed.

Electronic Fishing Is Here To Stay

The most successful anglers on any lake or reservoir are those who fish it day after day and year after year until they can pinpoint the spots that consistently produce fish. They have discovered through experience where — and what depth — they can expect to find the kind of fish they want in any season. They also realize that these productive areas change throughout the year depending on water level, temperature, food and other factors.

Before the advent of the LOCATOR® there was only one way to obtain this priceless information — through trial and error. It was a time-consuming process and it meant that a vacationing angler on a strange lake was always under a severe handicap. Barring luck, he was sure to spend most of his precious time fishing where there were no fish.

Now, with the aid of the LOCATOR®, you can eliminate the guess-work and concentrate on areas where the kind of fish you want are most likely to be. If you are after lake trout in mid-summer, you won't waste time over the shallows. The LOCATOR® will enable you to quickly find the deepest parts of the lake and explore them until signals on the sonar unit actually indicate the fish themselves.

If you are after walleyes or bass in hot weather you know the big ones will not be close to shore, but instead will be along rock or gravel reefs or bars, probably from 15 to 25 feet deep. The LOCATOR® will show you promising structures beneath the unrevealing surface of the water and you can concentrate your fishing efforts where the fish are, not over an unproductive mud bottom or in water too shallow to hold fish during this season.

Most fisherman start with the "flasher" type sonar device. These are inexpensive, simple to operate and do a very good job of reading the bottom and locating fish. The latest development in electronic fishing is the "graph" or chart recorder. These units print out on a roll of paper the actual structure of the bottom, schools of fish and even single fish. You get a permanent "picture" of the underwater area. Since graphs have more power than flashers you will also be able to obtain more detailed information on any spot in the lake.

Although these electronic sonar fishing devices are great for information and a lot of fun to use, remember you still have to catch the fish — and as every fisherman knows — that can be downright frustrating at times. Especially when you know where they are.

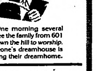
This is 601 Meadow Lane — someone's dreamhouse on the way to fulfillment. Yet the poet reminds us that no house becomes a home the minute a family moves in.

It takes a heap of livin'

And something more it takes. Our living needs the firm undergirding of faith in God. Our days require aim and purpose which religious conviction alone can inspire.

Down the hill is a vital center of this community. At the neighborhood church scores gather each week for worship, for spiritual renewal.

Sunday	Monday	Tuesday	Wednesday	Thursday	Friday	Saturday
Mark 16:1-11	Luke 24:13-35	Luke 24:50-53	I Corinthians 15:1-11	Romans 9:1-29	Romans 9:30 10:4	Romans 10:5-21



Just you watch. One morning several months hence you'll see the family from 601 Meadow Lane head down the hill to worship. And you'll know someone's dreamhouse is on the way to becoming their dreamhome.

Grygla

Lillian Sundberg, Grygla, 294-6146

Mrs. Clara Gram spent last week visiting at the homes of Dale Gram and Mae Williams in Bloomington.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Raduenz, Robin and Darin returned on Friday from Atlanta, Ga. where they had attended funeral services for Mrs. Raduenz's father. Sympathy is expressed to the family.

The Grace Lutheran church women hosted a birthday party for all of their members and also for the members of Our Savior's ALCW at the Grace church dining hall on Thursday evening. Pastor Smerek and his nephew from Williston, N.D. were also guests. Twelve tables were decorated in appropriate colors and decorations representing the months of the year. The guests sat at the table which was decorated for their birthday month.

Donna Jelle, president of the GLCW gave the welcome address and presided at the party. A program of songs, music, skits and a speech by Adelaide Lillevold was enjoyed. She spoke about the trials and successes "On Life's Highway". Adelaide gave a very inspiring talk which was appreciated by everyone. Several ladies presented a skit called "Road Signs" which also was very interesting. A group of young girls sang "One Day At A Time" and the Grace church sextet sang, "We Have This Moment" accompanied by Ada Smerek. A door prize was won by Pastor Smerek which was given by Sherry Schmidt. Hostesses for the party were Elida Nelson and Tina Loberg. Ice cream and a beautifully decorated birthday cake baked by Janice Peterson was served. Some of the 8th grade girls served as waitresses.

The Grygla senior citizens met at the Community Center on Friday, Apr. 8th in the afternoon. Cards, games and crafts were enjoyed. The birthdays of Mrs. Clara Gram, Pastor Smerek and Chester Tengesdal were honored. Guests besides the regular members were Mr. and Mrs. Amos Thompson, Mr. and Mrs. Juel Aune, Mr. and Mrs. Luverne Aune of Minneapolis, Pastor Smerek, Leonard Newhouse, Mrs. Melvin Englund, Clara Gram, Stacy Englund, Mrs. Dale Anderson of Middle River and Mr. and Mrs. Thorfin Ostby. Hostesses for a delicious lunch were Polly Englund, Lois Anderson and Margaret Tengesdal.

Mrs. Cora Olstad, Curtis Olstad and Tom Kostick of Cedar visited at the Hans Hanson home this past weekend. Mr. and Mrs. Rod Twito and Sarah were Saturday evening guests at the Hanson home. Mr. and Mrs. Hanson were supper guests at the Twito home.

Jeffrey Ellingson of Thief River Falls and Mr. and Mrs. Hans Hanson were dinner guests at the Olstad Trailer camp on Sunday.

The Agassiz retired teachers association members met at the Roland Sundberg home on Friday forenoon. DeLoris Engevik, president presided at the meeting. An election of officers was held. The entire slate of officers was re-elected to serve for another year. Discussions regarding legislation pertaining to retired teachers were held. Members were urged to write letters to legislators asking for support of House File No. 233 and Senate File No. 112. Altha Benson enrolled as a new member of the Agassiz RTA.

Mr. and Mrs. Karl Sundberg attended the Sportsman Show at the Grand Forks arena on Friday and also visited relatives there.

Mr. and Mrs. Gerald McLean, Tony and Chris and Mr. and Mr. Karl Sundberg were supper guests at the Steve Sparby home on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. John Dyrseth, Cameron and Kristen of New Brighton visited at the Carl Dyrseth home during the weekend. They and Mr. and Mrs. Dyrseth were Sunday dinner guests at the David Ulrick home.

Mr. and Mrs. Leland Thomas and Mr. and Mrs. Carl Dyrseth visited at the Raymond Tollefson home in rural Bemidji on Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Matt Wick of Thief River Falls and Mr. and Mrs. Leland Thomas were supper guests at the Carl Dyrseth home on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Roger Hoeper, Bobby, Danny and Jason of Stephen and Stacy Holthusen visited with Mrs. Ray Wilkins at the Red Lake hospital where she is recovering after surgery.

Mr. and Mrs. Arne Kujanson and Carl Dalos were dinner guests at the Ernest Selle home on Sunday. Other visitors during the past few days were Mr. and Mrs. Dick Jokela, Charles Dablow and Mark Loberg.

Guests at the Harland Lee home on Friday were Mrs. Dale Anderson of Middle River, Melford Gram, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Warne and Mr. and Mrs. Harland Lee Jr. of Thief River Falls. Other visitors were Mr. and Mrs. Duane Kotrba and Cara of Thief River Falls.

Guests at the Tengesdal home on Wednesday to help Chester celebrate his birthday were Mrs. Dennis Moen, Dawn and Kelly of Two Harbors and Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Sorteberg of Roseau. Visitors on Friday were Pastor Smerek, Mrs. Bert Amundson of Plummer and Mr. and Mrs. Roy Paulson.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Neuschwander and Mr. and Mrs. Allan Black of Middle River were visitors at the Allard Morken home on Sunday.

Visitors at the Norman Eggen home on Sunday were Chester, Rueben and Margaret Tengesdal.

Allison Quam of Goodridge spent a week visiting her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Allard Morken. They took her back on Thursday.

Guests at the Adeline Sorenson home on Sunday were Clara Gram, Inga Olson, Minnie Bucholz and Nora Engelstad.

Mrs. Nora Engelstad returned from Grace City, N.D. where she had spent the past two weeks visiting at the Ronnie Bucholz home.

Guests at the Erwin Johnson home on Sunday were Mr. and Mrs. Archie Prosser of Middle River and Alice Hook.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Sundberg, Mr. and Mrs. Karl Sundberg and Roland Sundberg visited at the John DeVries home at Puposky on Monday.

A successful dinner theater presentation sponsored by the Grygla Lioness club was enjoyed by a large attendance. The play entitled "Take Your Medicine" was a huge success and was appreciated by everyone present and the dinner, also was excellent.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Nelsen attended the baptism of their grand-niece, Thea M., daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Otterstad of Pengilly on Sunday. The baptism rites were performed by Rev. James Ulvig at the First Lutheran church in Bemidji. The baby wore her mother's baptismal dress. Mr. and Mrs Halvor Reise of Bemidji, the baby's grandparents, hosted a two-o'clock dinner in her honor. Guests were Jon Otterstad, the baby's brother, Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Otterstad, Ed Swenson, Mrs. Milo Molstad and Kristi, Mr. and Mrs. Laurenz Hegstad, Mr. and Mrs. Ernie Tell, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Odegard and Rev. James Ulvig and daughter, all of Bemidji and Mr. and Mrs. Harold Nelsen.

Our Savior's church family fellowship held a meeting at the church on Sunday evening. An interesting program of slides showing scenes in Australia, Norway and Sweden were given. Hostesses were Mrs. Eunice Stavenes and Mrs. Engeborg Byklum.

Baking Soda Simplifies Home Dental Care

Dental health is a prime concern of every family. Many home bathroom cabinets feature a bewildering array of turquoise gels, magenta mouthwashes, special denture cleansers, tooth polishes and stain removers.

Instead of buying so many different products, you can rely on ARM & HAMMER® Pure Baking Soda as the one easy and inexpensive answer to oral hygiene needs of the adults in your family. For many years, dentists have been recommending baking soda for oral hygiene. Now, new studies have proven this all-natural dentifrice removes plaque, a gummy substance containing bacteria that coats teeth. Yet baking soda is safe to use every time you brush. It's as gentle as ordinary toothpastes.

To Brush

To use, either sprinkle baking soda directly onto a damp, soft bristle toothbrush, or sprinkle baking soda into the palm of your hand and then dip your damp toothbrush into it. Place the brush against the gum line, and move the brush back and forth using a short scrubbing motion. Brush the outer, inner and chewing surfaces of all your teeth.

After you brush with baking soda, rub tongue over your teeth. They'll feel different—so clean you can really tell the plaque is removed.

Good habits are important too. You should brush thoroughly and carefully after every meal, but especially before bedtime, since plaque is best removed while still fresh. Also, do not forget to floss. Flossing removes plaque from between the teeth and under the gum line where a toothbrush cannot reach. And, visit your dentist at least twice a year for a check-up and a cleaning.

Baking soda is also an effective and refreshing mouthwash or gargle. Just dissolve one teaspoon of baking soda in a half glass of water. It actually neutralizes odors and leaves your mouth feeling fresh and clean.

For more tips on proper dental care send a stamped, self-addressed envelope to: Fight Back Against Plaque, ARM & HAMMER, P.O. Box 369, Piscataway, NJ 08854.

Now, count your savings, and don't forget to smile!

U.S. Is Still A Leader - But For How Long?

Our self-esteem as the world's leading industrial nation has been battered somewhat but Americans still retain the highest living standard in the world, despite emergence of West Germany and Japan as highly successful competitors.

Many citizens mistakenly believe the United States has been overtaken. This error is understandable. Both West Germany and Japan have garnered large shares of the U.S. domestic auto and steel markets and compete against us aggressively in other countries. Japan also has been gaining on us in computers, and leads in the technology of using robots to perform repetitive manufacturing functions.

In addition, according to the U.S. Chamber of Commerce, the growing belief that the United States no longer has the highest living standard can be traced to misleading comparisons based on money exchange rates.

Under this sytem, exchange rates, which convert foreign currencies into dollars, are used to compare the gross domestic product (GDP) per capita of various nations. GDP is the value of all goods and services produced by a country.

"By 1980, this type of comparison shows that the standard of living in several other countires has surpassed that in the United States," an economic analyst for the U.S. Chamber, Jennifer Brown, explained in a recent paper. "West Germany's per capita GDP, for example, was 17 per cent higher than the U.S.'s, Denmark's was 15 per cent higher, while Sweden's was 31 per cent higher."

These conclusions are erroneous. The system has two major drawbacks. First, fluctuations in exchange rates can change relative GDP ratings even though there is no actual change in value of output. Thus, if GDP per person is $2,000 in the United States and four thousand pounds in Great Britain, Great Britain has half the U.S. rate, or $1,000, when the pound is valued at four pounds per dollar. But simply change the value of the pound to two pounds per dollar and rated output for both countries becomes the same, $2,000.

The other problem, according to the chamber, is that use of exchange rates tends either to overstate or understate the value of a country's output, since rates reflect only the prices of internationally traded goods and services.

Americans will be glad to learn that economists have devised a more accurate method of comparison, using what are known as "purchase power parties," or PPPs. These compare what it costs to buy a specified basket of goods and servicees in each of 34 countires.

Comparison of per capita gross domestic product for 1980, using exchange rates and then PPPs, reveals the following: (United States equals 100) U.S. 100, 100; Belgium 106, 77; Denmark 115, 81; France 107, 83; West Germany 117, 88; United Kingdom 82, 61; Netherlands 104, 72 and Japan 61, 74.

In a recent article, "U.S. News and World Report" magazine reported that a study by the Union bank of Switzerland also shows U.S. living standards are higher based on what paychecks will buy. In Los Angeles, for example, an employee worked only about half as long as a Londoner to pay for a basic package of goods, services and housing. Even after deductions, hourly pay in New York averages $7.60 in 12 occupations studied, including both factory and white collar workers. In Tokyo, the average is $6.70 an hour. Yet in Tokyo a worker pays over twice as much for food, over four times as much for rent and almost twice as much for gasoline.

Want to save money on desserts your family will love? Keep cocoa pudding mix on hand for economical, delicious chocolate puddings.

COCOA PUDDING MIX

Just one cup of unsweetened cocoa is enough to make twelve servings of chocolate pudding...and that's real economy, especially if you have a whole family of chocoholics!

To make the mix, simply combine one cup Hershey's Cocoa, two cups sugar and two-thirds cup cornstarch until well blended. Store this mix in a covered jar. When you need a hurry-up dessert, for each serving use one-fourth cup of the powder, two teaspoons butter or margarine and one-half cup milk. Combine the ingredients in a saucepan, then stir constantly over low heat until the pudding thickens and bubbles. Pour into serving dishes, cool and chill until ready to serve. Add a dollop of whipped topping, if desired.

Strandquist

Mrs. Irene Larson, Strandquist

Last Monday Ella Boen accompanied Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Thompson to Fargo, where they visited with John Boen and Verne Lefrooth who are both patients at St. Luke's hospital following surgery.

Eddy and Marcy Nelson spent the Easter holidays with son Kevin in Minneapolis. Easter Sunday they were dinner guests at the Les and Toni Walton home. Monday they visited with Gary Dirks and John Taylor at Anoka. They returned home Wednesday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Troska, Stephanie and Scott of Stephen, Arnold and Melvin Kittelson of Karlstad, Tim and Leone Renstrom visited with Willard Renstrom Sunday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Flaten visited with son Emory Flaten, who is a patient at United Hospital at Grand Forks after surgery. They also visited Mrs. Edwin Lund, who is now at the rehab center at Grand Forks.

Marlys Lefrooth, Anna Setten and Yvonne Boen attended a district meeting of the church at Kennedy Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Morris Lindstrom visited at Howard Brandts in Thief River Falls Sunday evening.

Evelyn Kline visited Anna Rud Sunday.

Strandquist Senior Citizens

Our center is open now after being closed since before Christmas last year. We will have our first meeting at the center April 14 at 1 o'clock. Bertha Fredrickson will be our hostess. Anyone who is interested in visiting our center or to be a member of our club is welcome to come and join us any or every Thursday. We need more interested senior citizens to get involved at our center. Please come and join us, maybe you could get to like it if you would try. We need new ideas.

There are four chairs missing from our center, all were there when we closed the center last fall just before Christmas. If you have borrowed them and taken them out, would you please return them to the center, we will need them now that we are starting again.

Memorials have been given from our center in memory of Amanda Johnson a dear friend and member and also for Florence Stennes a former member and our first leader.

Irene reporting

FACTUAL NEWS REPORTING EFFECTIVE ADVERTISING

More Dollars For Washington?

Following editorial is from the Morris Sun:

A short time ago the Democrats were claiming that Reaganomics would bring on another great depression. The president's three-year tax cut program would cause runaway inflation, liberal economists warned.

Today, we can see that these predictions were nothing more than rhetoric. The Commerce Department reported last week that the U.S. economy is growing at an annual rate of four per cent this quarter. Meanwhile, the inflation rate has dropped to 2.8 per cent, down from a peak of nearly 20 per cent in the Carter years.

But the good economic news hasn't caused politicians to abandon the tax and spend mentality. Just as the economic recovery is picking up steam, the liberals are seeking to raise taxes and give the public sector a bigger piece of the pie.

The House Democratic budget plan, passed by a close vote last week, would complete the process of undoing the tax cuts enacted during Mr. Reagan's first year in office. It took two years for the tax cuts to produce the desired result: an economy growing faster than the rate of inflation. Now that Reaganomics is accomplishing its goal, the liberals would dismantle the program.

The House Democrats' bill calls for $30 billion in increased taxes. The bill doesn't specify how the revenues would be raised, but the party's leadership has admitted that the move would involve repealing the tax rate cut set to become effective in July.

Liberals have often used the argument that taxes must be increased in order to reduce the federal budget deficit. In case anyone has any illusions about this bill, we should note that the measure would increase spending for social programs by $33 billion. The liberals' desire to cut the federal deficit seems to be limited to the tax side of the equation.

The $33 billion tax hike would come on top of last year's $100 billion tax increase. And the Social Security "compromise" bill would add another $125 billion in higher taxes.

It is difficult to tell how much the House bill would hurt the economy. But there can be no doubt that such a tax increase would make economic recovery a slower, more painful process. For the people who are depending on economic growth to create new jobs, this bill is bad news. Sending more dollars to Washington is no way to promote recovery.

There is absolutely no justification at this time for a bill that puts a bigger burden on the taxpayer in order to increase spending for transfer payments and social services. Despite all the howls of protest about so-called budget cuts, federal spending now consumes 25 per cent of the GNP, More than at any other time in the nation's history.

In constant dollars, federal spending targeted to low income persons has jumped from $30.7 billion in 1970 to over $77 billion in this fiscal year. Total spending on transfer payments and social programs will exceed $424 billion next year $6500 for every man, woman, and child in the United States.

The Republican-controlled Senate is in the process of deliberating on a budget bill. The differences between the House and Senate bills will be worked out in Conference Committee. For a responsible budget to emerge, the Senate should enact at least $30 billion in tax and spending cuts.

Orthography and Orthoepy

A book entitled "Orthography and Orthoepy" was published by F.V. Irish and printed in Ohio in 1888, stressing spelling and pronunciation in the English language. The following paragraph was a part of that book:

"In promulgating your esoteric cogitations or articulating your superficial sentimentalities and amicable, philosophical or psychological observations, beware of platitudinous ponderosity. . . Let your conversational communications possess a clarified conciseness, a compact comprehensibleness, coalescent consistency, and a concatenated cogency. . . Eschew all conglomerations of flatulent garrulity, jejune babblement, and assinine affections. . . Let your extemperaneous decantings and unpremeditated expatiations have intelligibility and veracious vivacity without thodomontade or thrasonical bombast. . . Sedulously avoid all polysyllable profundity, pompous proxility, psittaceous vacuity, ventriloquial verbosity, and vaniloquent vapidity. . . Shun the double entrendre, prurient jocosity and pestiferous profanity, obscurant or apparent!"

In other words, talk plainly, briefly, naturally, sensibly, truthfully, purely and keep from slang. Don't put on airs, say what you mean, mean what you say. . . and don't use big words.

Poor Role Models

Following editorial is from the Ely Echo:

In doing the story in this week's Echo on Ely Community Resources, two points were continually made by Director Patti Zupancich: 1. Young people growing up today do not know what standards of behavior should be because most of their role models have no standards; 2. They are not aware of the consequences that some types of behavior can lead them into.

Much of our society today has accepted the concept that there is no such thing as "right" or "wrong," only "lifestyles" or "patterns of behavior" where nobody is required to meet specific criteria, only some vague pursuit known as "whatever turns you on, baby."

At one time the churches were the arbiters of behavior standards, standards which were supposed to be enforced through the family. Certainly a large part of the population failed on one aspect or another, but everybody knew what the standards were. Unfortunately, some of the churches have gotten so wrapped up in being "relevant" and exhibiting "understanding" that the 10 Commandments are carefully avoided as probably not applicable to modern society, and just about any behavior is tolerated as long as the individual can profess "love" for his fellow man, whatever self-definition that may encompass. It is certainly easier to accept then obeying God.

With some of the churches involved elsewhere, standards then become the business of parents, television, motion pictures and printed media. And parents are handicapped by the media, which by and large, tend to show parents as bumbling, money-hungry, ineffective, self-centered, undisciplined or downright mean. Parents are thus discarded, which leaves TV, movies, books and magazines to set models. So what kind of heroes do kids have? We are all aware of the beer-guzzling athlete or the macho character who tosses off a few straight shots and settles the world's problems with his fists and a fast car. We also have the "cool cat" who snorts coke, smokes weed and outwits the stupid police, mercenary employers and a whole cast of other fictional boobs in a glorified ripoff that makes him a hero. Women are often depicted as loyal merchandise owned by the macho hero, sympathetic but not-too-bright counselors to the incompetent, mentally disturbed mothers, or glib manhunters. Intertwined in the plots are frequent scenes of our fearless hero or heroine jumping in and out of bed with an assortment of persons, not necessarily of the opposite sex, apparently to indicate that among other attributes, their sex glands are also functioning well.

And then society wonders why kids wind up in jail or in a hospital as a result of drunken driving, in trouble with the law for settling disputes with their fists (or tire irons, chains, knives or guns), in drug rehabilitation centers, in delivery wards with unwanted pregnancies or in a doctor's office with BD. In the movies, TV, books, or magazines, there are no consequences, at least to the "good guys." In real life, the consequences are usually immediate, harsh and sometimes overwhelming.

Our society has developed a slogan called "tell it like it is." Perhaps it is time for the churches, schools, TV, movies and the printed page to begin "telling it like it is." First, of course, we may have to sit down and sort out the mess to determine what "it is" really is.

Borrowed Nonsense:

An artist painting out west noticed a local man watching him work. "Ah," the artist exclaimed, "I'm sure you too have experienced the golden fingers of dawn reaching into the sky, fiery rims around shaggy clouds covering the sun, burning horizons at sunset and dark clouds sailing across the yellow moon."

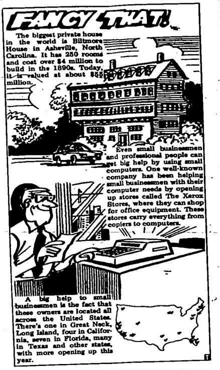
"Not lately," the native replied. "I been on the wagon for more than a year."

Interesting Opinions:

"There is a tacit assumption by most people that impossible things in life are accomplished by men other than themselves, as if there were a race of superior men on earth."

—Reginald Heber Smith

FANCY THAT!



The biggest private house in the world is Biltmore House in Asheville, North Carolina. It has 250 rooms and cost over $4 million to build in the 1890s. Today, it is valued at about $55 million.

Even small businessmen and professional people can get big help by using small computers. One well-known company has been helping small businessmen with their computer needs by opening up stores called The Xerox Stores, where they can shop for office equipment. These stores carry everything from copiers to computers.

A big help to small businessmen is the fact that these owners are located all across the United States. There's one in Great Neck, Long Island, four in California, seven in Florida, many in Texas and other states, with more opening up this year.

THE VOICE of BUSINESS

by Richard L. Lesher, President
U.S. Chamber of Commerce

Lesher Releases Results of Social Security Survey

Congress has finally passed the Social Security "bail out" plan. A triumph of bipartisanship. Tip O'Neill is happy. Robert Dole is pleased. And although your responses to the reader survey on Social Security are still pouring in, I thought this would be the appropriate time to see what you thought of the Social Security "compromise" bill.

The January survey asked readers to vote for a combination of measures which would close the projected $150 to $200 billion funding gap facing Social Security in the next seven years.

Well, you outdid yourselves. A majority of readers agreed on a package worth $300 billion which would actually allow Congress to reduce Social Security taxes and maintain the solvency of the system.

Summarizing the survey results, you voted 13 to one to include all government workers and nonprofit employes in the Social Security program, and agreed to delay cost-of-living adjustments for one year and then adjust COLAs downward. and you overwhelmingly rejected increasing payroll taxes or taxing Social Security benefits. I only wish Congress had shown the same courage and wisdom.

Thus while the survey showed that Americans wanted to see benefits brought back into line with the ability of American workers to pay for them (Social Security benefits have increased by 205 per cent since 1970, while after-tax wages have grown by only 110 per cent) Congress refused to make any meaningful adjustments of the COLA. Instead Congress voted out a package that is three parts tax increase to one part spending restraint.

The survey shows that when the American people asked for spending control and no new taxes, Congress responded with just the opposite — new taxes and more spending.

I don't usually presume to tell the readers of this column what to do, but I would sleep better at night if some of you would run for Congress.

Here are the survey results to date:

1. Currently, civilian federal employes (including members of Congress) are excused from participating in Social Security. The same is true for nonprofit employes and many state and local government workers. These employes should be required to participate.

Amount: $110 billion, yes — 91 per cent, no — seven per cent.

2. Laws are already on the books to increase Social Security payroll taxes on both workers and businesses in 1985, 1986 and 1990. All of the tax increases should be put into effect as of Jan. 1, 1984.

Amount: $133 billion, yes — 17 per cent, no — 73 per cent.

3. Currently, Social Security benefits are increased every July, at the same percentage that the Consumer Price Index (CPI) went up the previous year. We should delay these increases for six months.

Amount: $40 billion, yes — 62 per cent, no — 30 per cent.

4. We should skip the cost-of-living adjustment (COLA) in 1983, resuming it as usual in 1984.

Amount: $94 billion, yes — 49 per cent, no — 40 per cent.

5. We should still provide COLAs every year, but make these two per cent less than the increase in the CPI.

Amount: $103 billion, yes — 57 per cent, no — 34 per cent.

6. COLAs should be two per cent less than CPI for 1983 and 1984, but then equal to it in the years following.

Amount: $66 billion, yes — 28 per cent, no — 55 per cent.

7. Currently, Social Security retirement benefits are not subject to federal income tax. We should make benefits suject to tax, with the proceeds going into the Social Security trust funds. Note: Amount of tax paid if any would still depend on the person's total income from all sources.

Amount: $134 billion, yes — 36 per cent, no — 55 per cent.

Note: Totals do not add up to 100 per cent because some readers did not respond to every question.

The first federal legislation to train the unemployment and the poor for better occupations was the Manpower Development and Training Act in 1962, according to a publication of the U.S. Department of Labor.

TIPS FOR HOMEOWNERS ...ASK THE EXPERTS

Q. Our grandchildren visit regularly and spend a lot of time in our home. Though they're usually always supervised, sometimes curiosity leads them to investigate and we are fearful when they stray near electrical outlets. We realize that children will be children, but we still like to prevent an accident of electrical shock. What can you recommend?

A. In keeping with the "Ounce of prevention . . ." way of thinking, child resistant safety precautions are becoming more and more common in homes and places where toddlers and young children might be present.

To help guard against mishaps at electrical outlets, General Electric Company, Wiring Device Department has developed new safety wall outlets expressly for installation where such tampering might pose a problem. Each safety outlet uses a newly designed sliding shutter system that prevents single objects from being inserted into a plug slot. Here's how they work:

The outlet is designed so that the spring-loaded shutter opens when both blades of a light or electrical appliance plug are inserted simultaneously. It is difficult for a child to stick and probe the live slot with any single object even though the twin blades of a plug will easily move the shutters aside during normal use.

These outlets are ideal for a child's room, playroom, living room, hallways or any area with wall receptacles within the reach of children. More good news is that these safety outlets are easy to install and they fit a number of present decors already having standard outlets.

Of course you want to protect your grandchildren. Write for more information on the child-resistant safety outlets to General Electric Company, Wiring Device Department, 225 Service Avenue, Warwick, RI 02886.

Minnesota Hog Inventory Up Eight Per Cent

Minnesota hog producers had an inventory of 4,170,000 hogs and pigs on March 1, 1983, up eight per cent from a year earlier and seven per cent above the Dec. 1, 1982 inventory, according to the Minnesota agricultural statistics service. Of these, 592,000 were breeding hogs, up 12 per cent from a year earlier and 3,578,000 were market hogs and pigs, up seven per cent.

Market hogs in the under-60-pound weight group were up 10 per cent from last year. Those in the 60-119-pound weight group were up five per cent. The 120-179-pound weight group was down three per cent while the number in the 180-pound-and-over group was up 17 per cent.

Minnesota's December-February pig crop totaled 1,755,000 head, 14 per cent above a year ago and four per cent above the September-November pig crop. The 225,000 sows that farrowed averaged 7.80 pigs per litter compared with 7.30 a year earlier.

Hog producers in Minnesota intend to farrow 265,000 sows during March-May. This would be 15 per cent above the number farrowed a year earlier. June-August farrowings are expected to total 260,000, four per cent above last year.

Inventory of all hogs and pigs on March 1, 1983 in the 10 states conducting quarterly hog surveys is estimated at 41.6 million head, three per cent above last March. This is eight per cent below March 1981 and is the first increase in the March inventory level since 1980.

Breeding inventory, at 5.91 million head, was six per cent more than a year ago. This is the first increase in the March breeding herd since 1979. Market hog inventory, at 35.7 million head, was two per cent above last year.

The December 1982-February 1983 pig crop was 15.5 million head, 10 per cent more than last year. There were 2.08 million sows that farrowed during the past quarter, an increase of five per cent from a year ago. Sows farrowing averaged a record high 7.44 pigs per litter compared with 7.11 last year. The litter rate was the highest on record for a December-February quarter.

Hog producers in the 10 quarterly states intend to farrow 2.58 million sows during March-May of this year. This is eight per cent more than during the comparable period in 1982. Farrowing intentions for June-August are 2.35 million head, seven per cent above the same period last year.

STRAIGHT TALK

— by —

Albert D. Hattis, Associate Professor of Business and Holder of the Schwan Endowed Chair for Free Enterprise,
Southwest State University, Marshall

A legislator in one of our states, I understand, is recommending a "fair play" state law and constitutional amendment. The fair play law amendment would establish certain procedures designed to assure that all of our politicians always tell the truth. It would provide for appropriate penalties when a politician is caught in a lie. Its provisions would assure that from the time the politician starts running for office, and all during the term for which he is elected, all promises would be reported and the actions taken to fulfill those promises would also be reported.

Eliminating political hokum and hot air would do a lot toward the solution of the air pollution problem. It would also make it easier for us, as citizens, to vote. Just imagine our politicians not being able to stretch the truth, even a little bit. . . having to admit that the citizens pay for what they get. . . having to disclose office hours, attendance, reasons for voting in unique and illogical ways (i.e., the Surgeon General has judged that smoking is hazardous to our health while our congressmen appropriate money annually so that the department of agriculture can provide for tobacco price supports).

According to the proposal, when someone decides to run for political office, he or she reports to the closes police station to have a "numbered mug shot" taken, which must be retaken every 365 days. That numbered mug shot would be used in all news releases involving the politician so that all of his constituents could recognize him.

For years I remember getting political literature from a little old man supporting my congressman. Many years later I discovered that the picture of my congressman in all of his literature was taken when he was about 25, and that picture was never updated. My congressman was in his 60's. . . he was the little old man passing out the literature and pictures (taken 40 years earlier).

A listing of all promises and commitments would be kept based upon a tape recorder permanently attached to the politician at the time of his police registration and picture-taking. The tapes would be locked into the recorder and removed only by the photographer. They would be sound activated and capable of storing 8,760 hours of conversation.

A computer would analyze the tapes and determine whether any promises had been made or broken, and the computer printouts would be released to all of the media. If any of the promises made before or after the election were not kept, there would be an automatic impeachment process, handled by a master computer, that would send impeached politicians discharges and one set of tickets to their place of residence. If the broken promise involved fraud or other law violations, the master computer could send appropriate notice to the right penitentiary and issue the court order for incarceration for the appropriate period of time, with tickets being provided to the politician, along with the court order, conveying him to the penitentiary.

Politicians who personally profit from their political activities would automatically be taxed to the extent of that profit. Any salaries resulting from nepotism would impose a triple damage order on the relative who had been paid and on the politician who hired his relative.

The whole concept here is that politicians must play fair.

This proposed law amendment is far superior to the original version which had each politician elected for one term, and then sacrificed to some idol, by fire, at the end of that term, automatically, and without appeal. It was felt by the originators of this law or amendment that there might be an honest and forthright politician somewhere sometime, and that such a person's experience could be useful to the state and nation, as well as to the Guiness Book of Records staff.

I know that many feel that it is completely proper for all politicians to say or do anything to themselves or to anyone else, because that is how the breed functions. The point behind this legislation is to try and improve the breed, develop a civilized and sophisticated political leader who can be trusted. With all of these high-tech companies working on genetic engineering, we should not give up. . . an honest and forthright politician is a real possibility. If not during this generation of politicians, maybe at some point in time in the not too distant future.

I think that the concept of a fair play amendment certainly deserves consideration and support from all of us. After all, we can outvote all of the politicians who will want to retain the "old boy good days" approach to the political process.

The motto of the fair play law-amendment supporters is "Remember the Abscam!" That's Straight Talk!

An appliance store ad featured a solid state color TV set with a 19-inch screen for $119, at a one-day-only-store-sale. The ad included a bank card symbol. When I arrived at the store, I was told that this was a one-set only sale for cash, and that checks or credit cards were not acceptable. I shocked the salesman by producing the cash. He and the store manager tried to switch me over to another TV set selling for $289. This ad and set were a "come on" to get suckers, like me, into the store for the old "bait and switch" game.

Some ads for a new electronic portable typewriter weighing less than five pounds and less than two inches high, promoted some interesting features. The typewriter can operate off batteries or AC power, has a new printing head, lots of extra symbols, a screen and incorporates a calculator. It is cheaper than most student electric typewriters.

These ad claims sounded good and the product is selling well. I bought one of these typewriters and found that unless you use some very expensive special paper, the typing is hard to read, corrections are difficult to make, its replacement supplies are expensive and not readily available, and it doesn't retain memory from line to line, like most usable electronic typewriters. Frankly, as a 4-plus decade typist, I don't believe that the "world's most advanced electronic portable typewriter" is going to be very useful to many people.

Every day thousands of personal home computers are being sold based on ads that say. . . "the world of computers is all around us". . . "computer literacy is essential for our kids". . . "expand your horizons". . . "they are really not complicated". . . "for the same price as a video game machine you can now own a personal home computer". . . "play video games". . . "learn new things". . . "balance you budget". . . "answers for your financial decisions". . . "Select the right securities". . . "keep good tax records easily."

From what I can determine as one of the purchasers of a PHC, most start out with the advertised console at a cost of $200 to $300 but end up using it as a video game machine once the new owner discovers that the basic units need lots of "peripherals", including memory expansion (required for most tasks), a printer, monitor, speech synthesizer, telephone coupler (modem), remote controllers, cassette cables, disk drives (supported by a disk drive controller), an R-232 interface, software modules, disks, cassettes and much more.

The PHC buyer will find himself with a significant growing investment before he can do many of the things he had hoped to be able to do. Personally, I started with a less than a $200 purchase (after rebate) and now have about $3,000 in my "layout."

What bothers me about these personal home computers is that hundreds of thousands are being sold, and I hear the same question, again and again, from buyers: "Why did I get one?" I haven't heard too many good answers. The only people I know who honestly feel that they are achieving something with a PHC are engineers, accountants, teachers, some corporate managers and a limited number of other professionals. A PHC costs more than a video game console, needs joysticks (which are extra) and game modules that are more expensive than similar games used with a video game console.

Furthermore, if you really want to balance your budget or analyze investments, et al, you will find that the entry of information into your PHC becomes a major continuing project with lots of preparatory work and programming is not easy.

If you look carefully at your auto ads, you usually find EPA estimated mileage emphasized in bold type, with a small asterisk. Down at the bottom of the ad in miniscule type, you can find a statement, "Use estimated mpg for comparison. Your mileage may vary according to weather, speed or trip length. You can expect actual highway mileage to be less. California mileage will be even lower."

The point. . . I am surprised at some of the advertising I observe. It makes me increasingly skeptical. I find myself asking sellers, frequently, to prove their claims, because I am increasingly sick of deceptive advertising that plays on our assumption that we can trust one another, and that we have a certain amount of pride and dislike having to admit that we were "taken in" by untrue ad claims.

I think that advertisers, including those who shower our homes with mail order catalogs, have an obligation to be square shooters and tell it like it is. I suspect that accurate and honest advertising could be the most effective kind.

A Simple Dessert Pleasure

Discover joys of baking and entertaining by expressing one's individuality. Pastry Petal Cups are simple to prepare, they offer aesthetic interest and have the subtle taste of natural Cheddar cheese. These pastries are designed into petals and can be filled with fresh fruits.

Pastry Petal Cups offer the opportunity to be both simple and elaborate, straightforward and imaginative. People appreciate the individual effort that is involved in preparing pastry, the selection of fresh, wonderful berries and the final touch of whipped cream. The pastry is made easy because there is no rolling, no fitting into a pie pan or individual tart molds. Instead, the pastry is rolled into a log and sliced. Six slices are used to make a petal design in a muffin pan.

This dessert fare depends not on pomp or show; but on the natural goodness of a cheese pastry and an artistic touch of selecting and slicing nature's most beautiful fruits.

This dessert pleasure is expressive of your personality and satisfying to your taste.

Pastry Petal Cups

- 1 c. all-purpose flour
- 1/3 c. (1 1/3 oz.) shredded LAND O LAKES® Natural Cheddar Cheese
- 1/3 c. LAND O LAKES® Sweet Cream Butter
- 3 tbsp. cold water

In small mixer bowl combine flour, cheese and butter. Beat at med. speed until mixture forms coarse crumbs. Add water; continue beating at low speed until mixture forms a ball. Form into 12" roll. Wrap in waxed paper; chill until firm (2 hr. or overnight). Heat oven to 400°. Cut log into 1/8" thick slices. Grease and flour a 12 c. muffin pan. To form each cup: place 1 slice in bottom of each cup. Place 5 slices around sides of cup, overlapping slightly; press edges into bottom slice to seal. Bake for 12 to 18 min. or until lightly browned. Cool 10 min.; remove from pan. YIELD: 12 pastry cups.

Fly Swatter Is African Symbol Of Achievement

By David M. Maxfield
Smithsonian News Service

There were no wailing sirens, no long black limousines, but there could be no mistake about this man's identity. Huge red umbrella signalled the arrival of the Fanti chief as the colorful procession moved through the festival crowd in Ghana. Atop the umbrella was a gilded carving shaped like the native babadua, a plant that towers over other plants just as that day the chief looked out over his followers.

African societies, like their American counterparts, have drummed up a wealth of emblems that telegraph the power and achievements of their movers and shakers. In addition to the ceremonial umbrellas, Africans have fashioned fly whisks, beaded crowns, fans decorated with ostrich feathers, big brass anklets worn by wealthy women and a long list of other items to let all know of their importance.

One society's fly swatter, it seems, is another's status symbol. Though seldom used to bat at insects, elaborately decorated fly whisks made of costly materaisl are a key part of many an African chief's ceremonial regalia, serving as important political signals that extend the ruler's gestures and rivet attention to him.

Crowns, worldwide emblems of power, take the shape of tall, bead-embroidered conical caps among the Yoruba of Nigeria. Sculptured birds, human figures and faces created by the beads relate to the mystical power of the monarchs, while beaded fringe that partially conceals the king's face symbolically separates him from the material world, thus uniting the ruler with the Yoruba ancestors.

As for the fans decorated with ostrich feathers, these were carried by Nigerian notables but used more for show than cooling (a social custom not unknown elsewhere). And the country's wealthy Ibo women gladly suffered the inconvenience (to us) of wearing round, plate-like anklets of hammered brass permanently attached to the leg by blacksmiths: the larger the anklet, the greater the prestige!

"What does this custom say?" poses art historian Roslyn Walker, who along with Edward Lifschitz organized the recent "African Emblems of Status" exhibition at the Smithsonian's National Museum of African Art in Washington, D.C. "— I don't have to worry about inconvenience: . . I have someone to take care of the house. I am a lady of leisure. My husband has taken care of me."

Throughout the exhibit, pinned to the theme that all societies reward individuals for "correct social behavior and superior achievement," a similarity of symbols between America and Africa kept surfacing. Persons of great wealth can afford custom-made ornaments created from expensive materials, the curators explain: the Dogon women of Mali decorated their complex hairstyles with costly brass pins, while the women of Senegal wear a "virtual treasury" of gold-washed silver fashioned into ornaments of complex design.

In African homes, as well, there are similarities between the two cultures. In Timbuktu, the need for security and seclusion dictated the style of houses once built by successful merchants trading in gold and salt throughout the Sahara. Shutters and doors, carved and decorated with metal appliques, concealed as well as revealed wealth — an ingenious balancing act practiced more and more in large American cities.

There is another important cultural similarity: Powerful and high-ranking Africans are expected to share some of their bounty with the less fortunate. "As long as some of what is coming in is going out, everyone is happy," Walker explains.

Today throughout Africa, change, propelled in turn by the forces of colonialism, Christianity, Islam and independence, is lapping over old traditions and altering the continent's art forms. European colonial powers frequently provided salaries to African rulers as compensation for the total allegiance once paid by their followers. But high costs made it difficult for these leaders to keep up with the traditional pomp of their courts, according to the late anthropologist William Bascom, and royal patronage of art forms began to delcine.

Independence brought a shift in political power from the back country to increasingly western-looking cities. Old cultural values eroded further. Now, reports one American newspaper correspondent, "the hinterlands — vast, unruled and untaxed tracts — are irrelevant and often forgotten."

Along with this change have come other powerful influences; multinational corporate ties and international-assistance and loan programs. "Before the United States and other nations began giving tractors and heavy machinery, the African societies were self-sustaining, structured," Walker comments.

Consequence of these complex forces, concludes art historian and archaeologist Frank Willett of the University of Glasgow, is that the "materialistic values of Western society, which are its easiest to export, are almost everywhere replacing the traditional African spirtual ones." Walker adds: "When the underpinnings of religion are gone, the art goes with it."

Some things remain unchanged, however. In contemporary African life, mainly in the cities, prestige clothing and textiles — "but no other objects" such as traditional masks and ceremonial items — continue to be "very important," Walker comments. "What clothing said about status and prestige in the past is still the same."

And yet the materials of clothing are showing signs of change. "We are seeing textiles that have a lot of Lurex, shiny man-made fibers produced from petroleum derivatives, Walker says.

Tribal customs, nevertheless, do endure in many parts of Africa. Continent, after all, is almost incomprehensibly large — the United States could be superimposed on the Sahara desert and not even touch the coast of Africa at any point — and its mere size indicates the dangers of generalization. For art historians and anthropologists, moreover, the field work required to keep up with change far outstrips available time and resources.

In many of the 40 African societies studied for the Smithsonian exhibition, status based on achievement played a role in tribal life, especially in those governed by council's of elders rather than kings. "Prestige objects in most societies are associated with status and wealth," Walker says, "but when there is some democracy, the average person does have a chance to achieve."

Among the Dan people of Liberia and the Ivory coast, for example, young women who have successfully completed their initiation into womanhood dance, in public ceremonies, holding before them small wooden chairs belonging to the village elders. With these "grandfather chairs," symbolic of heritage, order, authority and ultimate wisdom, the young women display their marriageable status to the community.

Among the Suku, Yaka and Pende peoples of Zaire, young men who have completed rites of manhood display their readiness for adult status in performances highlighted by carved and decorated masks symbolic of hunting, sexuality and other aspects of adult life.

Africans also commission and use art works to show the status achieved in their communities; successful Dan chiefs often commission carvings and brass castings that represent their favorite wives. These are prominently displayed before guests.

Though the objects signify that one has achieved certain position and knowledge, "they also represent a certain level of wealth, since one has to pay for the symbol," Walker says. "The two are interrelated." In addition, well-to-do Africans, who have the best access to the best craftsmen, may commission a carver from another village because he has a good reputation. "These people want the best."

But when it comes to the conspicuous display of status, the hats worn in some tightly ruled societies are definite head turners. A collection of headgear made of buttons, cowry shells, beads, feathers and fiber, which have been woven, appliqued, crocheted, knotted and braided into caps, hats and cloches, would surely delight the most determined American status seeker.

Spa Secrets To Try At Home

Can spas really make someone look and feel younger? Remarkably, spa-goers seem to leave a few years behind after every spa visit. The serenity, change of scenery, new fitness and health regimens, all play an important part in releasing tension and making up for the "neglect" of day-to-day living.

Now, women who may never get the opportunity to visit one of the country's top name spas, can try some of these beauty "miracles" right in the privacy of their own homes. The makers of DOVE Beauty Bar have gathered some of the best tips from spas and pass them along to you. For instance:

- For total relaxation try this Beauty Bath recipe from the Canyon Ranch Spa: Add 1-½ lbs. of rock sea salt to warm bath water. Get comfortable. Close your eyes and you'll actually feel like you're taking an ocean swim! Soak for 20 minutes, then shower off.
- To keep skin young and healthy looking, be sure to remove make-up nightly and follow faithfully with a thorough cleansing. And, for a pampered "spa" feeling, treat yourself to a three-minute facial with the creamy lather of DOVE Bar, a gentle cleanser that can't dry skin the way soap can. Rinse thoroughly with warm water (never hot!) and then with cool water.
- The skin on your hands is just as important to pamper as the rest of the skin on your body. To instantly repair over-exposed, rough hands mash a ripe banana with olive oil. Massage into rough spots on hands. Rinse. Your hands should now feel smooth and silky.
- Finally, you really are what you eat. What you don't include in your diet is just as important as what you do. A balanced diet will nourish your body and skin from within. Eat plenty of fresh fruits and vegetables; drink lots of water and stay away from cigarettes and alcohol.

Now, look and feel good while saving money and enjoy the ultimate in spa pleasures...right in the comfort of your own home!

The first Congressional attempt to guarantee jobs to those who wanted them was the Full Employment Bill of 1945, which stated that all Americans "have the right to useful, remunerative, regular, full-time employment." However, the measure was defeated, according to a publication of the U.S. Department of Labor.
